Amendment No. 19 STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION

BY THE GOVERNOR WHEREAS, Act No. 81-1190 of the Legislature of Alabama passed during the Third Special Session, 1981, provides that an election be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of Alabama; and WHEREAS, said Act further provides that the election be held on March 2, 1982; and, WHEREAS, The Constitution of Alabama, 1901, requires that notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, be given by a Proclamation of the Governor; and,

WHEREAS, such Proclamation is to be published in each county in the State of Alabama for at least four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for such election: NOW, THEREFORE, I, Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of

Alabama, 1901: PROCEDURE FOR FILL-ING VACANCIES IN OF-FICE OF JUDGE OF CIR-CUIT COURT AND THE OFFICE OF JUDGE OF THE DISTRICT COURT AT COUNTY; MOBILE MOBILE COUNTY JUDICIAL COMMISSION.

All vacancies in the office of judge of the circuit court and the office of judge of the district court of Mobile County which shall occur subsequent to January 15 1982, shall be filled in the manner and for the time as herein provided.

The Mobile County judicial commission is hereby created for the purpose of nominating to the governor persons for ap pointment to such a vacan cy. The members of such commission shall be (a) two persons who are members of the Alabama state bar, and (b) two persons who are not members of the Alabama state bar, and (c) one judge of the circuit court of Mobile County.

All members of such commission must reside in the territorial jurisdiction of the circuit court of Mobile County.

The two members of such commission who are required to be members of the Alabama state bar shall be elected by the members of such bar who are regularly licensed and qualified to practice law in this state and who reside in the territorial jurisdiction of the circuit court of Mobile County. The executive committee of the Mobile County bar association or its successor body in such capacity, is authorized and directed to make rules, not inconsistent with this amendment, for the election of such members of such commission as are required to be members of the Alabama state bar. Such executive committee shall certify in writing to the probate judge of Mobile County the names of the persons elected as members of such commission by such members of such bar

The senators and representatives in the Alabama legislature from Mobile County shall elect the two members of such commission who are required not to be members of the Alabama state bar. Such senators and representatives shall certify in writing to such probate judge the names of the persons elected by them as such members.

The judges of the circuit court of Mobile County shall elect the member of such commission who is reguired to be a judge of such circuit court. The judges of such circuit court shall certify in writing to such probate judge the name of the circuit judge elected by such circuit judges as such

The terms of office of all members of such commission shall be six years, except that the terms of office of the two members of the state bar first elected shall be for one and two years respectively, and of the two members first elected by the senators and representatives in the Alabama legislature from Mobile County shall be for three and four years respectively, and the term of the circuit judge elected by the circuit judges shall be for five years; the length of such terms of office of the members of such commission being indicated by the respective electing bodies. The terms of the initial members of such commission shall begin on January 16, 1982. A vacancy in the office of a member of such commission shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner as such member was originally chosen.

The probate judge of Mobile County shall record all such certificates of election and shall safely and permanently keep the original certificates. Forthwith upon his receipt and recordation of every such certificate, he shall send to the governor a certified copy of every such cer-

No member of such commission shall be eligible to succeed himself as such member or for nomination to the governor for appointment as judge of such circuit court or district court during the term of office for which such member shall have been selected.

The members of such commission shall not receive any salary or other compensation for their services as such members. No member of such commission other than the member required to be a judge of the circuit court shall hold any public office, and no member of such commission shall hold any official position in any political par-

If, subsequent to January 15, 1982, a vacancy occurs in the office of judge of the circuit court or in the office of judge of the district court of Mobile County. such commission shall nominate to the governor three persons having the qualifications for such office. Such nomination shall be made only by the concurrence of a majority of the members of such commission. The governor shall appoint to the office in which the vacancy exists one of the three persons so nominated for such office. Any vacancy occurring in the office of judge of the circuit or district court of Mobile County, which is required to be filled by appointment on nominations made by a judicial commission, shall be made within ninety days from the date of the submission of such nominations. In the event the governor fails to fill the vacancy from such nominations within such period. the appointment shall be made by the chief justice of the supreme court of Alabama. The appointee shall hold such office until the next general election for any state officer held at least six months after the vacancy occurs and until his successor is elected and qualified; the successor shall hold office for the unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified.

This amendment shall be self-executing

Sheriff asks state for hefty pay hike

by Marcia M. Sears Sheriff James F. "Buddy"

Glasgow is going to the legislature for a raise.

He is seeking a 'salary adjustment' that could boost his annual pay from $20,000 to $36,298.

The sheriff was left behind when all the deputies on his staff received big raises last October first. His deputies are tied to the state trooper pay scale, and the state granted the troopers significant raises. The result was that. five men in his department are now making more money than the sheriff, whose salary is fixed

The bill that the sheriff hopes will be introduced and passed in the legislature would set his salary at "not less than 15 percent more than the chief deputy of Shelby County." Chief Deputy James Jones is now drawing legislature, the act would put the sheriff's salary on an escalator scale that could go up every time the troopers get raises.

The money to pay the salaries for the sheriff and his department must come from the county treasury, not from the state treasury, and this has been a recurring irritant to the Shelby County Commission.

The county must pay whatever salary is dictated by the trooper pay scale, and the result is that county deupties now receive far higher salaries than other county employees. The county has been in a tight financial condition for several years and this year other county employees received no raise at all.

The law tying the Shelby County sheriff's department to the $31,564 per year. If passed by the trooper pay scale was passed during the regime of former sheriff C.P. "Red" Walker. Only one or two other counties in the state have a similar tie.

Legal advertising of the proposed new act is beginning in this week's issue of the Reporter. After four weeks, it could be introduced in the legislature. It provides that the increased salary "shall become effective immediately upon (the act's) passage and approval by the Governor."

The sheriff at present also receives $5,000 in expense money, but this is not part of the proposed new act, and would presumably not be changed.

If passed, the sheriff would be the highest paid elected public official in Shelby County, outdistancing the superintendent of education and the probate judge.

a Vincent man last week on charges stemming from two eastcounty cases. The first case involved the arson of a car and the terrorizing of an elderly couple, while the second incident involved a 72-year old woman robbed at knife-point in her house.

Ricky Melvin Dates, 20, of Vincent was picked up Thursday, February 11, and later that day confessed to both crimes, according to Investigator Richard Fox. He is charged with arson and first degree robbery.

Fox said the two apparently related incidents happened this

It was Thursday, January 21, and Bill and Florance Florey were spending a quiet evening at their home on Railroad Avenue in Vin-

Shortly after 9 p.m. someone broke into their garage and started a fire with papers inside their car. The elderly couple became aware something was up when they heard a person running around their house beating on the walls.

Quickly, they called their son, Sam, who lived a few minutes away. When Sam arrived, no one was in sight, but shortly the car horn began blaring in the garage. When he opened the car door, the smoldering interior burst into flames. It was a mystery.

Saturday, January 30, 72-year Sheriff's investigators arrested old Ruby Smothers suspected nothing amiss when she entered her Vincent home about 5 p.m. For nearly two hours she watched TV, ate supper and talked to a friend on the phone. She thought she was alone.

> But when she entered her bedroom, a black male suddenly grabbed her from behind an stuck a knife to her throat. When he demanded to know where her car keys and money were, she didn't argue.

Nor did she argue when he forced her upstairs, into a closet, and told her to stay put.

The man disappeared, leaving her car and keys behind, and taking the $10 and credit cards she had in her purse.

Fox and Vincent Police Chief George Humphries spent the next two weeks in an intensive search, collecting evidence and questioning suspects. Finally, Humphries "talked to a guy (Dates) who liked to start fires, and brought him down to the (Sheriff's) office,"

"He was very obliging. We told him we had some stuff (evidence) on him and he confessed," Fox said.

Fox said Dates previously had several minor brushes with the law. He is now being held on $100,000 bond for arson and rob-

Baseball and softball are right around the corner.

So is the mosquito season. Both subjects were taken up when the Alabaster Council met Monday evening.

In order to have city ball fields well lighted for night games, city fathers are spending $6,783 for new lights. But the new type of lighting will actually be saving the city $600 a year, Councilman Jack Reagin reported.

He explained that was the average cost of replacing light better view of fly balls. One of the more unpleasant aspects of warm weather was also brought to the council's attention by Reagin.

Recalling that spraying had started late last year, Reagin suggested gearing up earlier for the campaign against mosquitoes.

He reminded the council that new equipment for spraying had been purchased last year and pointed out that a more coordinated effort was needed.

A Port South resident who was present at the meeting, suggested that equipment might be pooled by Alabaster, Pelham and Helena in order to wage a more effective battle against the pesky insects.

In other action, the council approved a citizen participation plan to help the city become eligible for certan grants. This ensures that public hearings will be held on grant projects which will include street and sewer improvement.

On another subject, the council heard a resolution that had been adopted by the City of Fairhope, and agreed to consider taking similar action at the next meeting.

The resolution was for the city to buy only American-made goods unless those goods were unavailable.

Councilman Cal McCune said he would be in favor of such a resolution.

The council will also make an appointment to the board of adjustments at the next meeting Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin reported that the term of longtime board member Don Bunn had expired. If he would like to be reappointed, Bunn's name will be considered along with the names of other individuals who would like an opportunity to serve. Letters from Thompson High School and Thompson Middle School were read to the council, thanking the city for the gifts of $2,500.

That is the amount given each year to the city's three schools.

Two letters from area residents were also read which praised the services of the fire department's paramedics.

Council members also added their own commendations to the services performed by Fire Chief John Cochran and those who work with him.

Simmsville high and dry for now

by David F. Moore

Too little too late means Simmsville residents have even longer to wait before water is piped into their community.

But board chairman Leon Archer says the Westover Water Authority is not opposed to extending its service to Simmsville. A spokesman for Richard Shelby says the congressman will support Simmsville residents in an attempt to procure a FHA loan to finance the extension.

Last Thursday an estimated 45 residents met at Simmsville Chapel to find out why they couldn't hook on to Westover's system, and to hear what Shelby's spokesman had to say on the issue. But no one from the Westover Water Authority attended the meeting.

Archer told the Reporter last weekend that he would have been glad to attend the meeting, but no one called him about it.

He said although the board unanimously rejected Simmsville's latest petition for the extension, it had by no means ruled out the possibility. In fact, Archer said the Authority's newest well and tank will allow it to extend service into other areas, and that Simmsville had top extension Feasibility studies on the extension, made three years ago, were based on at least 100 customers signing up for water, Archer said.

Since then, interest rates on loans for such projects has skyrocketed from 5% to 11 3/8%. According to Archer, this makes necessary minimum water rates of $13.25, based on 100

Only 67 signatures and deposits were presented to the Authority by the January 26 quarterly deadline set by FHA for loan applications, Archer said. He was also told that some 13 additional residents said they wanted the service, too, bringing the total to 80.

Archer said Roger Traywick, FHA's Columbiana administrator, told him that 80 signatures would up the minimum water rates to $15.75. For 6000 gallons, Archer figured monthly bills would run $33.75.

"With the signatures we had, with the minimum billing so high. and the time element involved. (the board) didn't think it would be wise to add Simmsville at this time," Archer said. He said the board's major concern was to not put itself into a position that might lead to higher rates for its present customers. "The board still has Simmsville in mind," he added. "We're looking for either more people, or lower interest rates. We could make the application by the end of the year, or it could be several years."

Archer said the FHA told him January 20 that the Authority could apply for the loan. That was the day the system's new well went on the line.

That day he said he called about 15 people in Simmsville who had signed a petition for

Maylene city is talked up

How about incorporating a town called Maylene?

This is the latest suggestion in the new-city incorporation game, designed to thwart Alabaster's annexation plans.

A move is underway to try to incorporate the subdivisions of Eaglewood Estates and Woodland Hills along with parts of the Maylene community, into the new city.

Clay Gingo, a backer of the plan, says he wants to see this area kept out of the City of Alabaster's annexation plans. He told the Reporter, "If Alabaster doesn't exclude us, we will incorporate."

He said he has met with favorable response in an informal canvass he conducted recently.

On March 9 the Shelby County officials Monday night for having attained the title of "Certified Maylene Church of God to Municipal Clerk." Mrs. Payton has been the city clerk of Calera for register new voters from 2 to 6 Board of Registrars will be at the several years and received her accreditation two weeks ago. Presenting p.m., and Gingo intends to be her an award is Mayor Cart Prichard, with councilmen Roy Hadaway available to talk with anyone who wants to talk about the proposed incorporation.

Other areas east of Maylene have discussed incorporating into the towns of 'Liberty' and 'Saginaw' but those plans have been tabled for the time being.

Smarter poll workers urged

Poll workers who will preside at the amendment election on March 2 are being urged to become better informed on election procedures.

Probate Judge Tommy Snowden has sent a letter to all poll workers asking them to attend a special class before the election.

The classes are scheduled at three different locations, to make it easier for workers to attend one of them.

The schedule follows: February 18, Wilsonville City Hall at 7 p.m.

February 23, Calera Town Hall

February 25, Pelham City hall at 7 p.m.

We read 98% of our customers' meters each month. That means only about 2% ever get estimated. And that only happens because of factors beyond the company's control, such as locked gates and doors, and inclement weather. When it is impossible to read a meter, the company will estimate the meter reading. And any difference between the estimated usage and the actual usage is corrected when the meter is read the next month. We always try to avoid estimating anyone's reading for two months in a row. But in any case, no customer ever ends up paying for more, or less, electricity than is actually used.

Alabama Power

water three years ago. The only problem was that the Authority had to act on the decision by FHA's loan deadline.

Apparently, not everyone in Simmsville wants on the water line, but much support is there. As Mrs. Richard Harris said, "We feel like if we'd had more time, we could have gotten 100 names."

Harris says the iron content in Simmsville well water is so high she's not sure it's even safe to drink. She knows for certain it's no good for washing white clothes.

Most Simmsville residents use filtering systems, Harris said. But these systems are not wholly effective, and are expensive to keep According to Harris, about 20 residents oppose the movement for Westover water because they have so much invested in filtering As for her own feelings, she said, "I don't care how much it costs. I want good water!"

Richard Shelby's district represenative Andy Dearman, who attended the Thursday meeting, pledged the congressman's support in helping procure a FHA loan for the extension work.

"I believe they'll be able to get water from some nearby system if they can find some more customers," Dearman told the Reporter. "It may take a little time, though, but Congressman Shelby will help if someone says they'll do it."

He explained there's no government jurisdiction requiring one system to provide water to another area. In the case of Simmsville, Dearman said water service would be at the discretion of either the Pelham, Alabaster or Westover water works.

Archer said that once work began on the extension, Westover could probably complete the project within six months. But first the Authority has to wait until the FHA offers it another quarterly loan.

Rogers heads cancer drive

Dr. Norma Rogers, principal of Valley Elementary School. Pelham, was appointed Crusade Chairman for the Shelby County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. The announcement was made Monday by chapter president Don Murphy during the board's quarterly meeting at Shelby Medical Center.

Upon making the appointment Murphy said, "Aside from our on-going education program, this annual fund raising project is our most important responsbility. We are very grateful for Dr. Rogers accepting this appointment. Past performance in many areas have exhibited her organizational ability and willingness to work."

Murphy added, "Our goal in Shelby County will exceed $16,000. We made last year's goal, and I'm sure, with Dr. Rogers leadership, we will make this year's (goal) also." The Crusade begins March 17.

Dr. Rogers will announce her county committee chairman in early March.

A report was made by publicity chairman Tom Kimbrough, in which he commended the local press for their cooperation in publicizing the recent "Smoke-Out" promotion. Kimbrough thanked local businesses for displaying "Smoke-Out" posters and related materials.

Ken Williams, state cancer division board member, discussed the important role that Shelby County plays in his division responbilities.

Other board members in attendance were Bob Barrett, Columbiana; Homer Richardson, Helena; Mrs. Alta King, Helena; and Betsy Keith, Field Representative for ACS.

According to Barr, management level executives, are chosen for sponsorship.

The businessmen, provided with special teaching packages, work with students one class period per week for a semester. Barr said the business program will be incorporated into social studies classes.

Pelham may review water hike

by David F. Moore

Pelham's month old water rate hike may be in for revision. The city council voted Monday night to review the controversial new rates in 60 days.

The motion for review was made by Councilman Ken Maynard, who two weeks ago presented for study to the council, a proposed rate revision which would slice in half the recently enacted 114% hike.

In levying the current rates, Maynard said he believed the council's intentions were good and its objective honorable. But, "In my opinion we raised the rates too much," he said.

Maynard's motion to review the rates actually died from lack of a second, only to be resurrected by a woman in the audience and the late arrival of Councilman John Tanner.

Tanner, unaware of the proceedings, took his seat during the silent lull between Maynard making the motion and Mayor Burk Dunaway announcing it dead. It was as Dunaway moved on to other business that the woman pointed out that Tanner didn't get to hear the motion.

Tanner's tardiness put him in the hot seat. Except for the ticking of an electrical timer on the back wall, which sounded like a Chinese water torture, total silence fell on the chamber.

Finally, Tanner said, "If we have a councilman with questions (on this issue), I'll second the motion."

Ray Hamilton said he would vote to review the rates, but first asked for 60 days to see how much the new rates, only in their first billing cycle, would actually

"That's fair," said several people in the audience.

The vote passed then without any objections.

Maynard is actually the one who moved at the January 4 meeting that the council adopt the current rate hike. Now, he explained to the Reporter, he feels that was a mistake.

"The more questions people

March 9 2:00 - 6:00 p.m. Church of God In Maylene and reidentify at this time.

asked me (about the rates and the proposed improvements to the water system), the more information I realized I didn't have," he said. "If we ever get to a point where we don't acknowledge our mistakes, we need to be replac-

"I feel like we've been excessive and I'm glad to see the boys are going to reconsider (the matter)," Maynard said.

However, the councilman did stress the need for capital improvements to the Pelham water system, especially in light of the emergency rationing required last summer during peak usage. To meet all the needs of residents, he said the planned $250,000 improvements could be made today, and $100,000 per year could still probably be spent over the next six or seven years.

Maynard said his proposal is meant more as a guideline than an actual substitute for the new

The proposed revision would not change the current $4.50/1000 for the first 3000 gallons of water or the $1.50 charge for the next 1000 gallons. However, everything from 4000-20,000 gallons would cost $1.00/1000.

Anything over 20,000 would jump back up to $1.50/1000. Maynard said this jump might help discourage high water consumption.

However, Dunaway later told the Reporter that as for the current new rates generating revenue, "They (the councilmen) won't know much more in 60 days than we know now. They might know something in six months, though."

Dunaway, standing behind his philosophy of operating the city in the black, said he would still rather generate the money to pay off, at the worst, a short-term loan to cover capital improvements.

Dunaway also pointed out that the city needs some sort of collateral to get any sort of loan. The Water Board only made some $15,000 last year, he said, hardly enough to justify a $250,000 expenditure.

Maynard said he estimated by summer usage figures that his revised rates would generate $167,000 per year. After operating costs, he said that would leave some $150,000 to go towards improvements.

The current rates are expected to bring in $360,000.

Poll officials have chance to shape up

Poll workers have a chance to get an education before the March 2 election, and we hope they get it.

These people are dedicated to the public interest, and they have a fine attitude of public service, but as the last several elections have shown, they do not know how to handle the paper work correctly.

Not all of them, of course, but somany of them fail to read the instructions and to fill out the forms properly, that the election results could easily be challenged.

This newspaper has been at the courthouse on election night for years and years, and the situation is getting worse, rather than bet-

We assume that the March 2 election will be one of the easier ones to report, because there are no party candidates. This should give the election officials a chance to learn their craft, so they will be prepared for the elections that have Republican and Democratic primary ballots in late summer.

Time after time, this newspaper has seen ballots come in from polling places incorrectly filled out. The official ballots are different from the ballots that are to be opened at once and counted for the early returns. Yet many of the officials do not see the difference, put them in the wrong envelopes and create massive confusion with the officials at the courthouse.

The officials at the courthouse are not blameless either, because they never seem to get a reporting system figured out in advance.

Last time, Shelby County was the last county in the state to report, and that was a presiden-

The machines have been in use for years, but many of the poll officials have not learned how to take advantage of the quick way the machines tally the votes. Counties that still use the paper ballot reported much earlier than Shelby County last time. It's a disgrace.

The county is running three "schools' for poll workers this time, and we hope all the workers, including those who have worked at the polls before, will attend.

Governor states case for amendments

by Fob James

The huge public works program growing out of Alabama's oil lease windfall will pump more than $1 billion into the state's economy in the next three to five years and creates an estimated 20,000 new jobs in the construction industry itself and in the plants which provide the building materials.

That is just the beginning. Economists say the infusion of that much money into the economy will have a rippling impact for at least 10 years and ultimately will provide not 20,000, but more like 134,000 new jobs.

Before that can happen, however, the program drafted by my administration and approved by the Legislature must be ratified by the people in the constitutional amendment election on March 2. The first three amendments on the ballot will crank up the legal machinery necessary to get the oil lease plan working.

Scrap cardboard is unloaded at center

Amendment No. 1 establishes a perpetual trust fund for investment of the oil lease money and preserves the entire principal for future generations. Amendment No. 2 authorizes a $520 million bond issue to meet the state's urgent building needs, and because the bond money will be invested and will earn some $150 million, the bond issue proceeds will eventually increase to more than $650 million. This amendment and the appropriation bill include the following appropria-

•$150 million to renovate and build classrooms for our public schools and colleges and to provide updated equipment for our trade schools.

•$300 million for highway and bridge construction.

•$65 million to renovate existing mental health facilities. •$65 million to construct new prisons. •$50 million to initiate a joint venture with the federal government to deepen the Mobile ship channel.

•$22 million for the State Capitol and Office Complex.

•$7 million to improve our state parks and acquire public hunting and fishing land.

•$6 million to renovate facilities for the Department of Youth Services.

•$2 million to repair the State Coliseum. •$.5 million to purchase new equipment for the Alabama Public Television Network.

There is no pork barrel in any of these projects. Amendment No. 3 allows $600 million in state funds to be used for low-interest housing loans to low and middleincome homebuilders.

Adding the $650 million from the bond issue and the $600 million in housing, more than $1 billion in new capital will be available to get the state's economy moving at a faster pace.

Economists estimate conservatively that building homes for people who have never before been able to afford them will mean perhaps 6,000 new jobs. Building material manufacturers also will have to increase their work force to supply the materials for new home construc-

The total construction and materials in new housing and the public works projects will account for an estimated 20,000 new jobs. It should be emphasized that all of these jobs will be created in private industry. The state will foot the bill, but the work will be done by contractors hired on competitive bids.

Where then do we get the figure of 134,000? It comes from the rippling effect of infusing a large sum of money into the economy over a relatively short period of time. It's like throwing a rock into the water. The ripples spread out from the point of impact again and again in an everwidening circle.

The same thing happens in the economy, says the Center for Business and Economic Research at the University of Alabama. the effect of the new money injected into the economy keeps on spreading farther and farther. The Research Center says the effect of this oil lease money will be felt for at least the next decade.

It works like this: People hired to fill the new jobs are going to spend the money they earn on food, clothing and perhaps a car. In turn, the merchants with whom they trade will feel an increase in their business, and they too will spend the additional money. The grocer, for instance, may have to hire an extra clerk.

The new clerk now has money to spend, and he too spends it for the necessities and maybe a few luxuries. As the cycle goes around, it grows bigger with each turn. Similarly, some of the building projects will attract other industries when they are finished, putting still more people to work. Finally, in 10 years the economists say the $1 billion cash transfusion will produce approximately 134,000 jobs.

This program is only possible through the ratification of Amendments No. 1, 2 and 3. I urge your total support in the passage of these important amendments. Vote "Yes."

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton-Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

She liked chicken salad and he liked chicken salad and they sold chicken salad here. Maybe the best chicken salad sandwiches in town. That's why they always came here when they were in the mall. She found a seat in the back and he got in line to order two sandwiches and two cups of coffee and some potato chips.

Ever so often, while he waited, he would wave to her and she would wave back.

And later on they thought about it and were glad. It showed people she was his sweetheart and he was her fellow.

It was that time. They had come to this place to talk about diamonds with the old fellow who stood behind the counter.

He said they seemed a little happier than most. And they agreed with him, their happiness spilling out and getting on everything.

He showed her one ring and then another, handling them gently, like one would handle a baby. And after a little he asked: "How long you been married?"

"If we live to see Tuesday, the 16th," he answered, "we will have been married one day."

Her name is Amy. She came down the street where I lived and helped me put my world back together in a most delightful way. If you see her name sprinkled through my writings, it's because we discovered two could be twice as happy as one.

And if you see her and ask who she is, they'll tell you she is the new Mrs. Bird and she lives with Mr. Bird in his house in Shelby or in her house on 6th Court South in Woodlawn.

This for every guy who played ball in the old Shelby County League and for every lady who yelled in Vincent and Wilsonville and Columbiana and Siluria and Helena, and most of all in Ster-Garvis Goodwin, surely one of the best of us all, is seriously ill in Baptist Medical Center, Montclair. A little card, saying you remember, will be greatly appreciated by his family.

Scrambled

It's funny how difficult it is to identify people when they're not in the place you're accustomed to seeing them.

As I made my way across a soggy field at one weekend event, several people whose faces were familiar shouted and waved.

Returning their greetings, I wondered where in the world I'd ever seen them before.

At another gathering the same day, I ran across a man in a cowboy hat I was sure I should know.

Since we were at a horsey event, I assumed he had some connection with the equine

But appearances can be deceiving. When I later put a name to the face, it turned out I had never seen this fellow in any kind of Western attire before nor anywhere near a horse.

Even the face of a well known football star didn't register with me when I saw him at a recent high school event.

Maybe it had something to do with the fact that I'm not a fan of the school he played for.

At any rate, when I saw this fellow talking to one of the spectators, I thought I saw a family resemblance and assumed they were father and son.

It turned out the older man was a football fan of the school where mister well known had played.

There's another side to the coin in the identification game that's just as frustrating as drawing a

Hospital lawsuit stalls hearing

No hearing was held Tuesday, so no decision was reached on any of the five proposals for new hospital beds in the north-Shelby south-Jefferson area.

The State Health Planning and Development Agency had scheduled a hearing on proposals from Shelby Medical Center, St. Vincent's, Riverchase Medical Center, Baptist Medical Centers and Brookwood, who are competing to build 100 to 125 new hospital beds.

But Riverchase MC had started a lawsuit last week against Allan Koch, the executive director of the agency, his staff and the entire agency board, and the court asked the board not to conduct the hearing until the judge could go over charges in the lawsuit.

Riverchase claims in the suit that Koch solicited the other hospital applications in an attempt to defeat the RMC proposal, which was the first one filed with the board.

County Circuit Court.

total blank. And that's remembering who the person is, but they're sure you won't know them. Before you can say, "Of course I remember you," they're off and running with an account of who they are and how they know you.

Then there's the person you run into a way off somewhere who speaks and gives you the impression they know you.

The direct question is about the best way to learn the names of these folks, if you really want to know.

But I don't recommend putting someone on the spot in demanding recognition the way I did in church one Sunday.

Thinking I knew one of the college students in the congregation, I said a word of welcome followed by the question, "Well, you know who I am don't you?" For a minute, I thought the answer was going to be no.

However, the dear boy came up with the right answer before I had to identify myself.

Come to think of it, he probably couldn't place me because he'd only seen me racing around his school taking pictures. I guess it's true, people just don't look the same when they're not in the place you're accustomed to seeing them.

Davis says every 15 tons of cardboard that is recycled saves 300 trees. He admits that during and after the January ice storm, he fell behind in moving scrap at his yard, but he has poured $2,000 worth of concrete since the storm, which allows trucks to get to the back of the yard and move scrap faster. He says his operation pumped $385,000 into the city's economy last year. In addition he claims he has handled 11,000 pounds of nylon and polyester scrap fiber, that the city formerly had to haul to a farm near Shelby to burn. In good weather, Davis claims he recycles 100,000 pounds of materials which saves the city money, provides jobs for several people, helps the environment and the economy.

Writer thinks some homes are as unsightly as waste business

Letter to the Editor:

It was with a measurable amount of mirth that I read the article concerning the Columbiana City Council's action against Mr. Benny Davis. This parallels the action and subsequent showdown at the OK Corral, which resulted in the demise of the McLaurey brothers, Billy Clanton, and the flight of Billy's brother, Ike.

Although the above is merely jest on my part, I think that it is rather ludicrous that in these trying economic times, when someone is gainfully employed in pursuit of an honest and legal livelihood that their efforts should be deterred in such a manner. The City Fathers should lend their influence and considerable business acumen towards improvement of an enterprise, instead of trying to get rid of same, which with a little effort could become a credit to this fine coun-I would further hope that those who are casting stones at Mr. Davis would have the foresight to consider the possibility that they might one day need employment as do many fine citizens at the present time. The possibility of Mr. Davis or some other enterprising individual having a job to offer would be an invaluable asset for our community.

As a small business man myself, I know the day-to-day difficulties that sometimes seem insurmountable, without having to deal with neighbors turning an otherwise successful endeavor into failure.

Lastly I would point out that there are in the vicinity of Mr. Davis' business some unsightly and disheveled private residences. Surely the Council does not intend to take similar action on these citizens!

Abortion:

Debate hits Shelby County

by Shelba Nivens

Next Wednesday, a public hearing will be held on Alabama's two latest abortion

These are bills which could greatly affect the lives of many Shelby Countians. For, according to area counselors and doctors contacted by the Reporter, they see great numbers of women who are either seeking abortions or are seeking counseling to help them decide whether or not to have abortions.

Ron Kendall of the Chilton-Shelby Mental Health Center in Calera said, "Quite a few females who have become pregnant come in to see us, seeking advice on whether to terminate the pregnancy. Many are unmarried and not sure if they want to have the baby or not."

Dr. Paul C. Perry, gynecologist and obstetrician at the Greater Shelby Women's Clinic in Alabaster said he also sees a lot of women seeking abortions.

Both married and single women seek abortions, they said. Some are older women. Many are girls in their early teens.

Presently, fourteen is the legal Pregnancy Act" states, that at age of consent for an abortion in Alabama.

The state of the s

If one of the bills in question, Bill No. H 421, is enacted, it will become "The Adolescent Abortion Act of 1982," and will: "...prevent the performance of abortions on any unmarried woman who is less than nineteen years of age without the consent of her parents to the extent constitutionally permissible."

The bill provides for some ex-

Kendall said, concerning the bill, "I don't think it's going to help the problem if parents must consent."

He said that he does, however, try to get the parents involved.

He does not think a girl's parents should be told if she does not want to tell them, because this would be violating her rights,

A private family counselor. who does not wish to be identified, said that he sees the pregnancy of a young, single girl as one for the whole family, not just for the individual.

Alabama Women's Agenda, a Montgomery based group which opposes "The Adolescent present, roughly 60% of the young women between the ages of 13-15 years are accompanied by their mothers when they seek abortions. They add, however, that many mothers who accompany their daughters on trips to abortion clinics have not informed the husband or father of the Kendall said he thinks that abortion should be a choice made by the physician and the mother, and in some cases, the father. He added that he wished there was some way the males responsible for the pregnancies could be written into the bill.

Kendall said counselors at the mental health center do not advise women one way or the other about abortions, but provide information and let them make their own decisions.

"We give them alternatives (to abortion). If they want to get an abortion we can refer them (to an abortion clinic), and they can come back to us for counseling if need be," he said.

Perry said, "I don't recommend abortions. I don't do abortions. The reason I don't is that I think it is taking a human life."

He added, "I think it is unfair, though, for anyone to say it is wrong to have an abortion unless they offer some alternatives. It would be hypocritical for us to say we care about fetal life and not care about the mother and what happens to her."

He said he tries to find out why a girl wants an abortion--whether it is lack of shelter, support, etc., -- and tries to help her in that

The bill in question states, in part, "In deciding whether to grant such consent (for an abortion, the woman's parents or guardians shall consider only the best interests of the woman."

It further states that, if one or both of the woman's parents or guardians refuse to consent to the performance of an abortion, or if she elects not to seek their consent she may seek judicial authority for an abortion.

"...a judge of the district court in the county where the abortion is sought," must then determine whether the woman is "mature and capable of understanding the consequ...ces of a decision to have an abortion..."

"If such judge determines that she is not mature and capable of understanding the consequences of a decision to have an abortion, (then the petition must be denied, unless the judge determines) that the performance of an abortion would be in her best interests."

Alabama Women's Agenda says, "...this law is designed to punish the young women who would have been exercising responsibility by acquiring either abortifacient contraceptives or an abortion..."

Perry said the bill is necessary because an adolescent who has already proven to be irresponsible about her sexuality has no business making this decision concerning abortion.

According to the proposed Adolescent Abortion Act a woman's understanding of the consequences of a decision to have an abortion must include "her awareness of the fact that abortion is inherently different from other medical procedures because it involves the purposeful termination of a potential human life," and that "there are risks to her ability to bear a child in the future associated with the performance of abortion..."

The Alabama Women's Agenda states in part "...physicians perform abortions on teen-age women because in their judgment, the young woman's physical and/or mental health are jeopardized by the continuation of a pregnancy." Not to mention the fact that most physicians are paid for their services.

Kendall said if an abortion is performed in the first three months of pregnancy, it is safe. He added, "In the fourth month on, we are talking about the possibility of the fetus living."

The bill says that when a woman seeks court approval for an abortion, "completion of these proceedings shall be given precedence over other pending matters so that the court may reach a decision promptly and without delay so as to serve the best interests of the woman."

Alabama Women's Agenda states "Teenagers are generally advanced in pregnancy (10 weeks and up) when reaching the decision to confirm pregnancy. The inevitable delay, even with provisions for 'precedence' and 'priority' could easily throw her into the next trimester and place abortion beyond her economic means."

Concerning a woman's emotional health after having an abortion, Kendall said that some girls can handle (having an abortion) emotionally, but some cannot and must have counseling afterwards. He added that sometimes an abortion is therapeutic in itself because the woman feels that she has gotten rid of her problem.

A private family counselor said that to some of the women he sees, abortion is a cold thing, but some have a lot of guilt over it.

Perry said that he sees a lot of women who have had abortions and wish they never had. especially if the abortions were performed when they were very young.

Perry also said he realizes that sometimes there are "crisis pregnancies," and the bill provides for adolescent abortion in a "medical emergency."

The bill defines "medical emergency," as "a situation in which, in the best medical judgment of an attending physician based on the particular facts of the case before him, an unmarried woman is substantially likely to suffer death or grave permanent physical handicap unless an abortion is performed within the next 24 hours."

The second bill, if enacted, would establish "The Abortion Funding Policy Act."

In opposition to this bill, the Alabama Women's Agenda says that if it is enacted, specific effects would be felt in funding for contraceptive counseling as well as abortion and abortion-related counseling by state employees. They also stated that it would effect funds which provide for the use of contraceptive abortifacients such as I.U.D.'s and possibly low dose estrogen birth control pills.

The bill states that the Act would "prohibit the use of tax monies, funds held in public treasuries and public funds to pay for abortions except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term, and to prohibit use of the same for advertisements or counseling that encourage abortion."

"Abortion" as used in the bill is defined as "the use or administration of any instrument, medicine, drug, or any other substance or device for the purpose of terminating pregnancy and preventing the development of a fetus as a live human being."

At the hearing to be held February 24 in the House Chamber at Montgomery, the House Health Committee will hear public argument for and against the two bills.

Groups supporting the bills and groups opposing the bills are urging their followers to be at the hearing and to write letters to their representatives expressing their wishes concerning passage of these bills.

The Reporter contacted both J.T. (Jabo) Waggoner, Jr. and Otis H. "Sonny" Moore, in an effort to get information and their opinions on the proposed bills. However, both men stated that they are not on the Health Committee, but on other House Committees with which they have been busy. As a result, they were not even aware of the proposed abortion bills or the hearing to be held next Wednesday.

Both Waggoner and Moore promised to call the Reporter office from Montgomery on Tuesday of this week, if they learned something. At press time, neither had called.

Chelsea student works as page

A University of Montevallo sophomore from Chelsea has been getting a first-hand look at the legislative process.

Carol Bradford marks her second year as a page for State Sen. Lister Hill Proctor this spring.

Bradford spent three days in Montgomery last spring observing, looking up bills, and getting food and coffee for the senator from Alabama's 18th Senatorial District.

This year the recent snow and ice storm kept her from serving more than one day in the legislature's opening week, but she plans to serve again later this

ford, of Chelsea, helped her get

When Bradford was a senior at Chelsea High School, Mrs. Bradford met Sen. Proctor when he visited a Parent Teacher Organization meeting.

She said he told the group, "If I can help you sometime, let me know."

So she did. A co-worker at South Central Bell who had worked in Sen. Proctor's reelection campagin encouraged Mrs. Bradford to ask the senator how Carol could become a page.

Mrs. Bradford called Proctor and he arranged for Carol to serve in the legislature's next ses-

"When this opportunity opened up I jumped on it," Miss Bradford said. "I'm very interested in law and always have Carol had a variety of experiences as a page. In addition to looking up bills for the senator, she got to meet local representatives Jabo Waggoner of Vestavia and Sonny Moore ofSterrett, as well as Lt. Gov. George McMillan.

She also had the opportunity to sit in on committee meetings where, she said, "a lot of work is done," and in on the joint session addressed by Gov. Fob James.

Carol, 18 last year, was older than most of the other pages, many of whom were 12 to 14 years old. She said they were often asked to get food for the senators while she was able to spend more time looking up bills. "If the senators need a bill they want to Jush up on they'll ask you to go get it," she said.

This year Carol took her sister Katherine, a senior at Chelsea High School, to Montgomery to serve as a page with her.

Her sister, she said, "was really excited about attending the session, but thought it looked a little disorganized."

Carol had a different impression the first time she watched the action on the senate floor. "I remember sitting and thinking and watching them," she said. "I thought it was fascinating!"

Miss Bradford got a special privilege while serving as a page. "You're really not allowed to sit in a senator's chair, but Sen. Proctor asked me to sit in his," she said, adding, "That would be something, to sit there as a senator."

Boy scouts hold camporee at

Hargis Retreat by Bert Seaman

Members of Boy Scout troop 550 were eager to get to their first Camporee.

As it turned out, the new troop from Camp Branch was the first to arrive at the camp site at Hargis Retreat Friday evening.

And by the time opening ceremonies were held the following afternoon, members of seven other Shelby County troops had also pitched their tents at the site.

Counting the adults, there were approximately 500 participants in this year's Vulcan District Camporee.

The competitive events Saturday afternoon included a stretcher race, log snaking, bow saw relay, merit badge identification, flag pole relay, three legged race and scout law relay.

A church service followed by an awards ceremony Sunday morning closed out the annual event.

The Shelby County troops which took part in the Camporee were: 254, 296, 5, from north Shelby County; 354, Chelsea; 548, Alabaster; 20, Elliottsville and 547, Pelham.

Sawing speedsters

Anthony Jones (I) and Bryan Coyne team up for the bow saw relay.

Serving coffee

Danny Goggins, Scoutmaster of troop 548, and some of his boys take a break around their campfire between competitive events.

Pinewood racers

Michael McClain (1), had to win six races to capture 1st place when Montevallo Cub Scouts held their Pinewood Derby. Bobby Hendon came in 2nd in the event and Ralph Vogel (r) won a 3rd place ribbon.

Valentine prize

Little Allan Deuvaul Horton was the recipient of a hand-knitted blanket, cap and booties, from Wal-Mart stores for being the first baby born at Shelby Medical Center on St. Valentine's Day. The blanket and accessories were hand knitted by Janet Harless. Making the presentation is Dennis Smith, left, Advertising Manager, with Allan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex A. Horton of Columbiana. The baby weighed 10 pounds and was on his way home to see his two sisters as the photo was taken.

Helena feels it's 'dumped on'

by David F. Moore

Helena City Council couldn't say much when health officals closed the county landfill there last month. But they do plan to say something about garbage left uncovered after landfill workers had moved their equipment from Ron Erwin brought the matter before his fellow councilmen Monday night, saying he had visited the closed landfill site and noticed piles of garbage uncovered. While in operation, landfill workers had covered dumped refuse daily.

"I'll guarantee you it's a mess," said Erwin, who also described the situation as a health

HPD Chief Gary Carter explained that landfill workers had moved their equipment out the week of the ice storm. But apparently conditions had been such that the dump could not officially be closed until several days later, and the gate remained unlocked. In the meantime, Carter said several trucks had dumped there.

The council agreed that the commission should pay to have the exposed refuse covered. Mayor protem Bill Harris instructed city clerk Frances Parrish to contact county commissioner Don Murphy about the situation, since he had spoken with the council before about the

In another matter, the council referred four representatives of the Evangelical Presbyterian Church to the Board of Adjustments. In addition to an extension to the two year limit levied on a trailer the church uses, the represenatives also sought permission to locate a second trailer on the highway 95

Permission to use the first trailer had been granted two years ago to allow the new church to start a construction program. But as one of the representatives pointed out, while the church had grown and needed more space, high interest rates had prohibited the planned construction.

Since outright trailer locations within city limits are prohibited, Harris said the council would have to look into the legality of another extension. The Board of Adjustments would have to meet to hear the requests, he said.

The council assured the represenatives that the church itself had no problem with zoning, but that the trailer was the issue. In other action:

•Councilman James Kwater said the city needed to inspect a house in Fox Haven that appeared to be leaning. Kwater also said several driveways in the subdivision, and the spaces between some of the houses did not appear to meet city requirements.

·As the result of a noise complaint brought to Erwin, Chief Carter said this weekend he would have a detail watch for dirt-bikers riding on the pipelines in the city.

•It was pointed out that a trailer Joel Bearden, Jr. had been given permission to locate on his property, had been set up in sight of the road, instead of in back of his property as originally designated. Harris said Bearden had explained the mistake to him, and the council agreed the trailer would have to be moved.

•At Erwin's suggestion the council also agreed to spend $435 for three pressbox window covers retention week, March 21-27.

at the new ballfield. Said Harris, "I don't see how we have any choice--broken windows would cost even more." •Billy Ray Hines said a resident had complained about the garbage truck running over and breaking the gas line in his front yard several times. The council said it would contact the collector on the matter.

•Erwin said a hole in the roof of a shelter at Joe Tucker Park, caused by a falling branch, needed repairing. Chief Carter was asked to check into numerous nuts missing from bolts in the •Randal Johnston's request to set up road-block collections for Helena's little leaguers was granted.

Purples triumph at UM's College Night

A play with a surprise ending resulted in a victory for the Purple side Saturday night in the University of Montevallo's 64th annual College Night.

"The Recognition," directed by Cameron Watson of Shelbyville, Tenn., was set in a New York City train station where an old conductor is telling a story about a young actor coming to the big city many years before to pursue his career.

The rival Gold production was "The Geriatric Follies," about life in a nursing home in the year

During the intermission Friday and Saturday nights, the UM Alumnus of the Year, Dr. Bonnie Strickland, chairperson of the University of Massachusetts Department of Psychology was introduced. Also recognized were the 1981-82 Mr. and Miss University of Montevallo. They are David Askins of Albertville and Beth Bradford of Huntsville.

The 1982 College Night was dedicated to Dean of Student Life Jim Wilkinson. The Purples now hold a 33 to 29 lead in the competition, which adopted its present format in 1921.

SCHS counselor gets ovations

by Shelba Nivens

A Shelby County High School teacher was given three standing ovations by the student body last Friday.

In a special assembly program honoring the school counselor, who is leaving for a new post in Montgomery, Student Council president Gregg Smith declared February 12, 1982, "Gladys Payne Day."

Students and faculty stood and applauded.

Presenting a gift of appreciation to Mrs. Payne on behalf of the faculty, home economics teacher Ida Windsor said she had always trusted the counselor's judgement in dealing with students' problems because she really cares about the students.

Windsor said Payne had often come to her saying, "I've got a problem," when in actuality it was a student's problem that had her so concerned.

Principal Bulger told the student body that she has done things for him many times and added, "You don't know of the times she has done things for you -- or the times she has stopped me from doing things TO you."

Presentation of an appreciation gift from the Jr. Civitan Club was made to Payne by Fran Niven. Beth Reeves presented a gift on behalf of the annual staff.

But, highlight of the program was presentation of the annual "SCHS Teacher of the Year Award" to Mrs. Payne.

In presenting the award, student council vice-president Kelly Ellis said that in looking back over the records, it was found that Payne had never received the award, and the students thought she deserved the honor. The student body affirmed this statement with a second standing ovation.

Composed and smiling, the school counselor expressed her appreciation of the honors to students and faculty. They responded with another standing ovation and cheers.

She had promised some of the students that she would not become emotional during the farewell program, said Payne. And she kept her promise.

But at the close of the program, which ended with singing of the school alma mater, she burst into tears.

Payne has worked in the Shelby County school system for twenty years, and has been at Shelby County High since 1968. This week, she begins her new duties as Coordinator of Orientation at her old alma mater, Alabama State University.

Miss Frances Sloan will replace Payne as school counselor at Shelby County High.

K-Mart ready for Pelham

K-Mart is finally coming to Pelham.

Mayor Burk Dunaway announced that the contractor for the long awaited project, McWhorter Construction of Anniston, last Wednesday applied for a building permit. Plans are to begin construction of the 63,337 square-foot facility as soon as possible.

Project developer is Ashy-Dickham-Powell, LTD., of Eunice, Louisiana, who will lease the building to K-Mart, Dunaway said.

Opening is expected some time in November.

On Monday the city council passed a resolution to float a tax exempt bond issue for project. The bond issue, however, hinges on a pending court decision on the legality of such exemptions.

Bond issue or not, Dunaway said the contractor would have probably started excavation work at the site Tuesday if it hadn't rained.

The mayor had no figures on the financial impact the store will have on the area. But as for K-Mart's locating in Pelham, he optimistically proclaimed, "I think it's great!"

A sign announcing the store's location was erected some three years ago at the intersection of highways 31 and 105.

Briarcliff celebrates Valentine's

GLADYS PAYNE

Briarcliff residents turned the calendar back 60 years when they celebrated Valentine's Day.

To carry out the theme of the "Roaring 20's," at Saturday's gala event, the ladies dressed as "flappers," and the men donned bowler hats and striped vests. Even the partygoers who wouldn't get on the dance floor couldn't keep their feet from tapping to the lively tunes played by the Banjo Club of Birmingham.

When residents voted on a "Flapper of the Year," Martha Scott won the title. Her escort was Francis Luellen.

K-Mart ready for Pelham

K-Mart is finally coming to Pelham.

Mayor Burk Dunaway announced that the contractor for the long awaited project, McWhorter Construction of Anniston, last Wednesday applied for a building permit. Plans are to begin construction of the 63,337 square-foot facility as soon as possible.

Project developer is Ashy-Dickham-Powell, LTD., of Eunice, Louisiana, who will lease the building to K-Mart, Dunaway said.

Opening is expected some time in November.

On Monday the city council passed a resolution to float a tax exempt bond issue for project. The bond issue, however, hinges on a pending court decision on the legality of such exemptions.

rained. The mayor had no figures on the financial impact the store will have on the area. But as for K-Mart's locating in Pelham, he optimistically proclaimed, "I think it's great!"

A sign announcing the store's location was erected some three years ago at the intersection of highways 31 and 105.

Roundball Roundup

Basketball season dribbles out

by Richard Crosby

It's over. The regular season for basketball teams came to an end last week. No more bus rides, buying ice for cokes, or filling up the popcorn machine.

The air is gone from the dozens of basketballs that in the past four months have bounced countless times on the floor, rebounded off the glass, and poured, dropped, fallen and been slammed through the nets.

In some cases a sigh of relief may be heard, in others, the chanting and cheering is boosting teams to state playoffs. So give the teams a round of applause, and get behind the winners. Shelby County needs another team to represent itself in Tuscaloosa.

To wind up the season, here's the final Roundball Roundup with the team and their records.

Shelby County 12 wins - 10 losses

The Wildcats are a mighty happy bunch after a big win last week over Pelham. That's right - over Pelham. It went into overtime as the Wildcats held back the charging Panthers to claim a tough 60 to 59 win. Bruce Martin scored 22 and Thomas Simon 16 in the victory. With the score tied and 27 seconds remaining, Shelby County went for one shot, but forgot to shoot and the game went into the three minute overtime period.

The Wildcats took a three point lead, mainly attributed by foul shots. With eight seconds left, Pelham had the ball inbounds, trailing by one point, but what would have been the winning shot bounced off the rim as the buzzer sounded defeat for the home-court favorites.

"It was the best ball game we played all year," Coach Don Piazza exclaimed. "Our kids kept their composure, they didn't blow up. That made the difference for us."

On Friday night the Wildcats won a lackluster game from Montevallo 43 to 34. Bruce Martin had 14 points, with ten of those coming from the foul line.

Briarwood 10 wins - 9 losses

The Lions actually have another regular season game that was played on Tuesday night. A win there puts them in another deciding game on Wednesday. A win there, and results were not in time for these pages, and Briarwood is in the state playoffs at Gadsden Coliseum. Last week Briarwood lost to Thompson 34-58. Peter Clemens had 14. On Tuesday the Lions beat Calera 48-43. Clemens had 17 and Jeff Nelson 14.

The best win of the year was Friday night as Briarwood beat Trinity of Montgomery 49 to 43. Clemens went wild, scoring 26 points and grabbing 23 rebounds. Mike McCrary scored 10.

Calera 4 wins - 16 losses

The Eagles lost to Briarwood 43-48. Richard Russell scored 17 and Eric Cader 10. The season ended on a winning note as Calera whipped Cathedral Christian 57 to 43 at Samford Univeristy. Russell had 28 points and Edward Wilson 14. Of note was Wilson's 60 foot hook shot as the third quarter ended. The ball hit nothing but net as the Eagle fans went wild.

Thompson 14 wins - 11 losses

Thompson beat Childersburg 50-49 on Monday. Chris Thomas dropped in 28. On Tuesday Thompson ravaged Briarwood 58-34. The season ended sourly for the Warriors as they fell by 30 points to powerful Bibb County on Friday night.

Pnazek wins 100th

It's a milestone not often reached in high school basketball. Usually because a coach doesn't stay long enough at a school. Kurt Pnazek has been around and plans to stay around. The big man who graduated from Birmingham-Southern is in his sixth year at Montevallo High School and last Thursday he won his 100th basketball game.

Pnazek came to Montevallo from Minor Christain where he began his coaching career after college. His first year at the helm of the Bulldogs produced a team that placed second in the state. They also won the Area, Region and were county tournament runnerup with a 23-8 record.

In the '77-78 season the Bulldogs were 21-8 under his guidance. They won the county tournament, Area, and placed second in the Mid State Tournament and the Thompson Montevallo won the County Tournament for a second time the following year. The 22-6 record was marked by an Area Championship. In the '78-79 season the Bulldogs posted a 15-9 record and were Area runnerups.

Last season the Bulldogs won 11 of 26 games and placed third in the Calera Tournament. The regular season ended this year with a 8-14 record and a trophy for second place in the Calera Tournament.

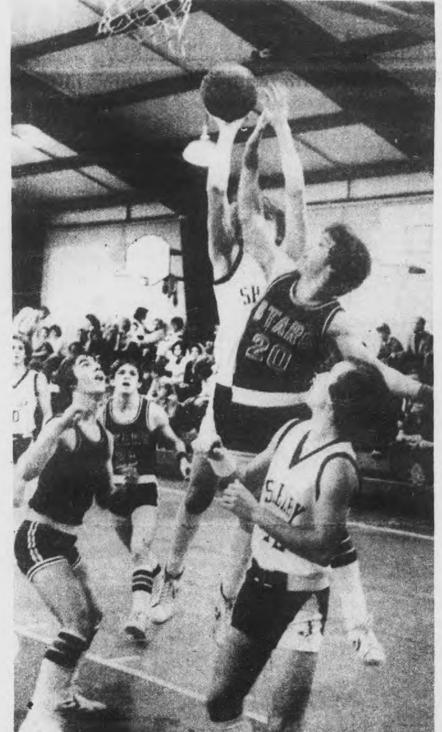

The win last Thursday over West Blocton gave Pnazek the milestone. In his six years at Montevallo his teams have filled the trophy case with 15 additions. He and his wife Susan live in the Southern Hills subdivision in Calera.

Jeff Chism reached the semifinals of the state wrestling sectionals last weekend. The Montevallo wrestler pinned two opponents to reach the semis in the 145 pound weight division.

Coach David Bailey said that Chism finished fourth in the state and surprised a lot of other coaches with his determination. It was the first state meet for Chism's brother Andy also advanced in the meet. He won his first match and advanced to the quarterfinals before being knocked from the brackets. The state meet was held at Oxford Civic Center.

Raiders place second in district

by Richard Crosby

Shelby Academy is in the state playoffs but didn't get the berth it wanted. The Raiders settled for second place in the District VII Tournament last Wednesday night after losing to Minor Christian 50 to 57.

The loss forces the Raiders to hit the road in the first round of the playoffs and they must play a district winner in that game. Shelby would have hosted a first round game had the Raiders won their tourney.

In last week's championship game Shelby looked like it would topple top ranked Minor. In the first quarter the Raiders jumped to a 6-0 lead, but Minor came from behind and led at the first buzzer 10 to 8. The Raiders shooting went from cold to icy as the ball refused to drop in the second period. Minor took a 27 to

Calm down, turkey was killed legally

by David F. Moore

Oops!

Mike Brown was in the right place at the right time. But we have to confess, it certainly didn't look that way, and it almost got him in trouble. Here's the scoop:

Saturday, January 16: Mike comes by the Reporter office in Columbiana with a 23-pound turkey he bagged that afternoon while deer hunting. Sporting an 11-inch beard (the turkey, not Mike), he is understandably proud of the kill and asks if we'd run

Lady Falcon volleyball team honored

State Rep. Smith and State Sen. Lister Hill Proctor sponsored the resolution.

I agree. It's cold and windy so I work fast, reeling off several quick shots and jotting down the info. Before leaving the office that evening, I write the cutline for the picture, thinking it'll run in that week's sports section.

Monday, January 18: I finish shooting the roll of film with Mike's bird on it and send it, via messenger, to Columbiana from the Pelham office. By the time the film is developed, however, it's too late to meet that evening's sports deadline.

The picture is temporarily canned. Significantly, though it inavertently slips by us, turkey season also ends this day.

Monday, January 25; sports editor Richard Crosby runs Mike's picture, along the cutline saying the turkey was shot "last Saturday," and that Mike "wasn't about to let him fly by." I'm in Pelham this day, and don't catch the slip. Get the picture?

Thursday, January 28: The newspaper is out and it's not long before conservation officer Willie Morris' telephone starts ringing. The callers are turkey hunters-- irate turkey hunters.

Says Morris, "When they saw the article in the paper, bigger than life, and turkey season's over and here's this guy with the audacity to put his picture in the paper-well, I had to check it out. My supervisor saw it, too. We were all concerned."

So, to set the record straight, Mike Brown shot his turkey, very legally, on January 16.

The Reporter naturally regrets any misunderstanding the cutline might have caused. What makes the story even more ironic, is that Mike had been deer hunting in the first place...

To make playoffs

Falcons chances slim

If the University of Montevallo Falcons are to make the 1982 NAIA District 27 Basektball Playoffs, there is realistically only one way for them to do so, and that is to win next week's Southern States Conference Tournament.

Mathematically, the Falcons could tie for the fourth and final playoff spot if they beat Talladega College Birmingham-Southern College this week and 'Southern loses to Talladega, but the latter is not

No, the SSC Tournament championship and the automatic district berth that goes with it seem to be the Falcons' best bet, and UM coach Dr. Bill Elder admits that is his team's goal.

"We've had to revise our thinking and gear up to win the tournament," Elder said. "It won't be easy, especially since we've got to go on the road first, but we are capable of doing it.

'We have continued to play with intensity and good, hard effort, but we just haven't gotten any breaks lately. If the guys don't get discouraged and keep up the fight they've shown lately, we've got a chance. I've been pleased with their effort, and sooner or later we'll start winning again."

The Falcons dropped both their games last week on the road, falling at Columbus 70-65 and at Jacksonville State 79-73.

The two losses stretched the Falcons' losing string to four, all on the road, but their overall record is still a very good 16-10.

tough our district is," Elder remarked. "We could wind up with one of our best records ever and not even make the playoffs!" Montevallo's regular season closes out this week with home games against Spring Hill on Wednesday, Feb. 17, and rival Birmingham-Southern on Saturday. All games are at 7:30, with the Spring Hill and 'Southern games being preceded by UM women's games at 5:15.

The Southern States Conference Tournament opens up on Monday, Feb. 22, with 5th-place Montevallo going on the road for the first round, to either Birmingham-Southern or Alabama-Huntsville. Which place the Falcons travel to will not be known until Feb. 20.

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

Enjoyed the Hospitality Room at the District VII Tournament last Wednesday night. I arrived to late for the fried chicken and shrimp, but ate enough sandwiches and hushpuppies to make up for it. Thanks go to the Rebel Boosters and wives for the buffet.

The County Baseball Tournament will be held at the University of Montevallo field this year. That will be a big boost for the affair as the field is kept in top-notch shape by coach Bob Resiener and staff. Plus, the lighting and seating capacity should add to the cofers of the coaches association.

Football fans can revel this week as the spring campaign began around the county on Monday. While some squads will be missing key players who still have on their tennis shoes, the rest are out in gear and loosening up for inter-squad and jamboree contests next month.

Churches around the area might have missed some folks last Sunday. The spring-like weather brought out golfers in droves. According to local golfaholics, courses were brimming, especially in the afternoon.

While we're on the subject of golf....several teams will be fielded by county schools this spring. Whether there will be a county golf meet or not is in doubt, but it would be nice if it could be arranged.

Fishing is picking up on Lay Lake. Saturday and Sunday were big days as the water level rose due to the number of boats seen. Folks will have to start calling in and brag if they want to be mentioned.

Well, it's that time again. Stay tuned.....

Golf tournament to feature TV stars

George Lindsey's Tenth Annual Celebrity Weekend will take place in Montgomery, April 23-25. The benefit has donated over a half-million dollars to Alabama's physically and mentally handicapped, with the bulk of the money raised going to the Alabama Special Olympics program and the George Lindsey Aquatic Center at Partlow State School in Tuscaloosa.

Popular country singing star, Earl Thomas Conley, has been added to the lineup of stars appearing at the George Lindsey "Great Stars Show" April 24 in the Montgomery Civic Center. Already committed to the show are "Hee Haw's" Nashville Edition, Charley Pride, Roy Clark and Mel Tillis with their complete Las Vegas shows.

Tickets during the month of February are on sale by mail order only through the Montgomery Civic Center, P.O. Box 4037, Montgomery, AL 36101. Tickets are $12 and $15 and order should contain a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Lady Falcons have one chance to make state tourney roster

There is still a chance the University of Montevallo Lady Falcons will get to play in the AAIAW Division II State Tournament which they are hosting on Feb. 25-27.

The Lady Falcons' hopes remained alive with two key games last week, only one of which involved Montevallo. The Lady Falcons whipped Talladega College 73-62 as freshman sensation Corliss Cooper scored 27 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, Tammy Johnson and Diana Olszewski scored 11 apiece, and Janet Ingram tossed in 10.

The other big game was North Alabama's 77-75 win at Jacksonville State. That dropped JSU to 3-3 in North District play, while Montevallo is 2-5 in the district.

If Jacksonville should lose at Stillman on Feb. 15, and Montevallo then beats JSU on Wednesday, Feb. 17, there would be a tie for the third and final playoff berth from the North. A one-game playoff for that spot Lady Falcons and Lady Gamecocks would have split during the regular season.

"I really don't know when we would be able to play it off if there is a tie; maybe on Friday if Jacksonville doesn't have a game," said Coach Becky Glass. "Of course, I may be looking ahead too much. We've been playing pretty well lately, and I think we can do it. I hope so; it sure would be nice to play in the state tournament since we're

The win last week left the Lady Falcons with a 4-17 overall record, with two regular season games remaining.

On Wednesday, there is that all-important game with Jacksonville State, and on Saturday, Feb. 20, the Lady Falcons tangle with Spring Hill. Both games will be at home in UM's Myrick Hall, and begin at 5:15, followed by games involving the UM men's team.

Alabama Conservancy schedules annual meeting

"Environmental Protection and our free enterprise system" will be theme of The Alabama Conservancy's 1982 annual Gaylor Nelson, Chairman of the Wilderness Society, will give the keynote address for the meeting to be held February 26 would then be required, as the and 27 at the Botanical Gardens in Birmingham.

A special children's conference will feature films, star-gazing outdoor adventures, arts and crafts and more. These activities are for children in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Interested persons may call the Alabama Conservancy office at 871-0389.

nature club. With good weather not far away softball fever seems to be catching around Montevallo. There will be a meeting next Thursday, Feb. 25, for all representatives of teams that are interested in playing in any of the bridge class and an outdoor leagues this spring. The softball program this year will include a recreational and sanctional league. There will also be a ladies league if enough ladies are interested. The ladies league will possibly be organized through the different churches in the area. League games would begin the 2nd or 3rd week of

A special congratulations to Lisa McConnel and her beginning gymnastics class who performed so well last Monday night at the University of Montevallo's

Also, congratulations go to the following children who took first place in the paint your Valentine contest held by MPRD: 5th grade, Karen Payne; 4th Grade, Brandy Lucas; 2nd Grade, Jennifer McKinnon; 1st Grade, Joy Glass; 5 year old Kelly Pickett and Kindergarten, Suzanne Stumpf.

The calendar of events is: Saturday, February 20, Dixie Youth baseball registration at Orr Park from 9 a.m.-1 p.m.; Monday, Feb. 22, Karate, 5:30 p.m. for youth and 6:30 p.m. for adults; Thursday, Feb. 25, 7 p.m., softball organization meeting at Orr Park.

Free help for filing taxes

If you need some free help filling out your basic federal income tax forms, you can get it Saturdays at the Montevallo Area United Way Service Center, 18 Middle Street.

Two University of Montevallo senior accounting majors, Donna Madison and Marley McWilliams, will help anyone fill out the basic federal income tax forms. They will be in th Service Center 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays, Feb. 20-April 10, except March 13.

Dr. Marvin Narz, who teaches income tax and accounting at the UM College of Business, said the two students will complete only the basic, simple tax return forms -- "nothing elaborate," he said.

The free help is a joint project of the UM College of Business, Phi Theta women's business professional sorority, United Way, and the Internal Revenue Service's taxpayer education program, Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA).

Anyone who needs help should bring his or her W2 form and duplicate tax return forms from previous years.

For more information, phone 665-1942.

The VITA program also offers the free tax return service at Pelham City Hall on Mondays, 1-4 p.m.

Chelsea Scout Troop awards 5th Eagle

Bert Pittman of Chelsea has just become the fifth boy scout from Chelsea's troop 354 to receive honors as an Eagle Scout.

On the average, only four out of 100 scouts in the Birmingham area ever make Eagle, the Chelsea group was told recently by John Godsey, a member of the Birmingham Area Camping Committee.

However, records show that troop 354 has only had around 83 boys in its program since it was chartered in 1972. And out of that 83, five have become Eagle Scouts.

Godsey, a scout leader for John Ritchey, Assistant District around fifty years, presented Pittman with his Eagle award during morning worship service Sunday at the K-Springs Church of God.

Pittman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Pittman. He is a 1981 graduate of Chelsea High School and a student at UAB. The eighteen-year-old has been a boy scout ever since the Chelsea troop was organized. He was a cub scout at the age of eight.

National Boy Scout Sunday was observed Sunday at K-Springs with Boy Scouts participating in the Service. Col.

Commissioner of Scouts presented the congregation with a charter certificate in appreciation of the church group's sponsoring

In his talk on the meaning of Boy Scout Sunday, Godsey assured parents and members of the congregation that when boys are on weekend scouting trips, they are not missing Sunday morning worship services. As a matter of fact, they have a worship service each night when they are camping, he said.

Chelsea Scout Master Ray Shirley said his group began the year with an exciting weekend near Chattanooga January 23-25.

"The troop had planned to hike the twenty mile perimeter trail in the Chickamauga National Military Park," he said, "But we could not complete the trail on its designated route because most of the markers had been destroyed by vandals."

He said the scouts hiked most of the day, however, and when they reported back in, park managers talked with them about the condition of the trail and decided the Chelsea troop deserved recognition for hiking the hike.

Sixteen scouts and seven adults earned the twenty-mile patch.

After a good hot meal, topped off with peach cobbler cooked in a dutch oven on the fire, the boys bedded down for the night on ground wet from rain and melted snow. The next morning, Sunday, they arose to find everything frozen over.

After breakfast, they broke camp and headed for Lookout Mountain, Tenessee.

"It was very, very cold on top of the mountain but the view was beautiful," said Shirley. "We left there coming home and the scout's spirit was still high from the great experience of winter camping."

Shirley commends his troop highly. But, according to Godsey, it also takes good scout leaders to make good scouts and to help a boy achieve the rank of Eagle.

Working with Shirley in the Chelsea scouting program are Elbert Pittman, Gene Anderson and William Patterson.

The first four boys to earn the rank of Eagle Scout in troop 354 were James F. Luellen, Jr., Tracv Horne, Farrell Sweeney and Marty Thomas.

Four from the troop earned the honor of attending the Boy Scout National Jamboree and seven have been to the Philmont National Scout Range.

Going to National Jamboree were Marty Thomas, James Myers, Farrell Sweeney and Wayne Shirley.

James Myers, Jack Shaw, Marty Thomas, Bert Pittman, Tracy Horne, Carl Holcombe and Eric Pittman went to Philmont.

Troop 354 camped last Thursday through Saturday at Hargis Retreat near Chelsea in the Vulcan District Winter Camparee.

Then, on February 27 the Chelsea group will participate in the Vulcan District First Aid-Oree at Shades Valley High School. This will be competition events to test troops on their knowledge of first aid.

Central United Methodist Church in Alabaster will sponsor community services during the 23:34 - The Shadow of Guilt. Lenten season.

Theme of the services will be "The Shadows of the Cross," with pastors of the community preaching.

"It is our desire to offer a time of worship leading to the holy season of Easter," said Pastor Tom Hammons.

He added, "We are using a time frame in order for working people to have the opportunity to worship at this time."

A soup and sandwich lunch will be served without reservation for the cost of $2.00. A babysitter will also be available.

The services will include congregational singing, special music, and a meditation, and will begin at 12:05 each Wednesday during Lent.

Speakers and their texts will be as follows:

February 24 - Rev. Roy Griggs, Siluria Baptist Church, Luke

March 3 - Rev. Terry Maynard Elliottsville Cumberland Presbyterian, Luke 23:43 - The Shadow of Promise.

Soldier retires

Shelby County native Jewel T. Watts has retired from the army after 35 years of service.

The son of Velma and Simon Davis, he grew up in the Columbiana area and entered the service at the age of 18.

According to his sister Alleene Atchison of Columbiana, he served three years in Germany during World War II. "I've heard him say that Leon Moore, who died here in Columbiana recently, saved his life many times," she recalled.

Watts was a supervisor at the Anniston Army Depot for the past twelve years. He retired in December, and plans to live in Anniston. He and Mrs. Watts have four sons, Jim, Kenneth, Don and Jewel T. Watts, Jr., all of Anniston.

Other sisters of Watts living in Columbiana are Kathryn Bozeman, Frances Foster and Lois Byers. His brother Coy Davis lives near Shelby.

Permanent trust fund from oil, gas leases

Amendment No. 1 STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, Act No. 81-1190 of the Legislature of Alabama passed during the Third Special Session, 1981, provides that an election be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of Alabama; and

WHEREAS, said Act further provides that the election be held on March 2, 1982; and,

WHEREAS, The Constitution of Alabama, 1901, requires that notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, be given by a Proclamation of the Governor; and

WHEREAS, such Proclamation is to be published in each county in the State of Alabama for at least four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for such election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, 1901:

"Section 1. Creation of Trust Fund. For the continuing benefit of the State of Alabama and the citizens thereof, there is hereby created an irrevocable, permanent trust fund named "The Alabama Heritage Trust Fund" which shall be funded and administered in accordance with the provisions of this amendment. Section 2. Definitions.

As used in this amendment. the following words and phrases shall have the following respective mean-

nance Authority" means (i) the public corporation and instrumentality of the State organized pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 80-585 enacted at the 1980 Regular Session of the Legislature or (ii) any other public corporation and instrumentality of the State which performs substantially the same functions as said corporation organized pursuant to said Act No. 80-585 and which is declared by the Legislature to be a successor thereto or replacement thereof

"Amortized Premium" when used with reference to any Eligible Investment acquired for a purchase price (exclusive of accrued interest) reflecting a premium above the face or par amount thereof, means an amount determined by first dividing the total dollar amount of the premium at which such investment was purchased by the number of days between the date of purchase and the maturity of such investment (or other date when the principal thereof is contractually required to be paid to the holder thereof) and by then multiplying the quotient so obtained by the number of days between the date of purchase and the date as of which such amount is to be determined.

"Board" means the Board of Trustees of the Trust

"Commission" means the "Alabama Heritage Trust Fund Legislative Oversight Commission" created in this amendment. "Eligible Investments"

means any of the following:

(1) demand deposits (whether or not interest bearing) in Federally Insured Banks, interest bearing time deposits (whether or not evidenced by certificates of deposit) in Federally Insured Banks, and banker's acceptances endorsed and guaranteed by Federally Insured Banks; provided that noninterest bearing deposits shall constitute an Eligible Investment for moneys in the Trust Fund for only so long as sound business practice shall require such moneys to be held in such deposits pending the investment thereof in other Eligible Investments or the disbursement thereof in accordance with the provisions of this amendment: provided further that the acgregate amount of deposits (including both demand and time deposits) of the Trust Fund in any one bank at any time plus the aggregate amount of banker's acceptances of such bank then held by the Trust Fund (i) shall not exceed ten percent (10%) of the total Trust Capital and (ii) shall not exceed ten percent (10%) of the combined capital, surplus and undivided profits of such bank unless any excess of the combined amount of deposits and banker's acceptances over ten percent of such combined capital. surplus and undivided profits shall be secured by obligations described in subdivisions (2) and (3) of this definition having at all times a market value (exclusive of accrued interest) at least equal to such excess amount of deposits and banker's acceptances, including accrued interest thereon:

(2)bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness that are direct obligations of the United States of America or that are unconditionally guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the United States of America; (3)bonds, debentures.

"Trust Fund" means "The Alabama Heritage Trust Fund" created by this amendment.

"Trust Income", when used with reference to any period, means the net income received during such period from the investment and reinvestment of all assets of the Trust Fund, determined in accordance with the provisions of Section 5(c) of this amendment.

tion 5(c) of this amendment.
"Trustee" means a member of the Board of Trustees of the Trust Fund. "Section 3. Management of Trust Fund Vested in Board of Trustees. (a) The Trust Fund shall be under the management and control of the Board, and all powers necessary or appropriate for the management and control of the Trust Fund shall be vested solely in the Board. The Board shall have a membership of nine Trustees consisting of the Governor, the State Treasurer, the Director of Finance (or such other official as may by law succeed to the responsibilities of the Director of Finance), two Trustees appointed by the Governor, two Trustees appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, and two Trustees appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Governor, the State Treasurer and the Director of Finance shall each serve as a Trustee ex officio, and the service of each such official as a Trustee shall begin and end concurrently with the beginning and end of his or her tenure in such office. As promptly as practicable after the effective date of this amendment, the other Trustees shall be appointed for the following initial terms: the Trustees to be appointed by the Governor shall be appointed for terms beginning immediately upon their respective appointments and ending at noon on October 1 in the first and second calendar years, respectively, next following the calendar year in which this amendment shall become effective; the Trustees to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor shall be appointed for a term beginning immediately upon his or her appoint ment and ending at noon on October 1 in the third calendar year next following the calendar year in which this amendment shall become effective; and the Trustees to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall be appointed for a term beginning immediately upon his or her appointment and ending at noon on October 1 in the fourth calendar year next following the calendar year in which this amendment shall become effective. Thereafter, the term of office of each appointed Trustee shall be six years, commencing at noon on the October 1 on which the term of the immediate predecessor Trustee shall end. (b) If at any time there shall be a vacancy among the appointed Trustees, a successor Trustee shall be appointed to serve for the unexpired term applicable to such vacancy. The appointment of each appointed Trustee (other than those initially appointed). whether for a full six-year term or to complete an unexpired term, shall be made by the same officer of the State who appointed the Trustee whose term shall have expired or is to expire or in whose position on the Board a vacancy otherwise exists and shall be made not earlier than thirty (30) days prior to the date on which such Trustee is to take office as such. Each appointed Trustee shall hold office from the effective date of his or her appointment until his or her confirmation or rejection by the Senate as provided in subsection (c) of this section, and, if confirmed by the Senate, until the expiration of the term (or portion thereof) for which he or she was appointed; provided that if the term of any Trustee shall expire prior to the reappointment of such Trustee or prior to the appointment of his or her successor, such Trustee shall continue to serve until his or her successor is appointed, and if such Trustee is reappointed for a new term after the expiration of the immediately preceding term which he or she has been serving, his or her new term of office shall be deemed to have commenced at noon on the October 1 on which the immediately preceding term shall have expired. Trustees shall be eligible for reappointment without limit as to the number of terms previously served.

(c) At the beginning of every regular session of the Legislature the Governor shall certify to the Senate the names of all who shall have been appointed as Trustees since the commencement of the last regular session of the Legislature, and the Senate shall confirm or reject each of them as it shall determine to be in the best interests of the State. If the Senate takes no action during such regular session with respect to any Trustee whose appointment was so certified, such Trustee shall be deemed to have been confirmed by the Senate. If the Senate rejects the appointment of any Trustee, such rejection shall immediately terminate the service of such Trustee and the resulting vacancy in the membership of the Board shall be filled by a subsequent appointment made in accordance with the provi sions of subsection (b) of this section. Trustees appointed during a regular session of the Legislature shall not be subject to confirmation or rejection by the Senate until the regular session of the Legislature next succeeding their ap-

person holding a full-time office or position of employment with the United States of America, the State, any county or municipality in the State, or any instrumentality, agency or subdivision of any of the foregoing, shall be eligible for appointment as a Trustee. Any person who is an appointed Trustee shall be deemed to vacate his or her office as such Trustee by the acceptance of any office or employment which, had such person held such office or been so employed at the time of his or her appointment as a Trustee, would have rendered such person ineligible for appointment as a Trustee. Service by any person as a member, director, trustee or other participant in the management or administration of any governmental agency, board or commission, or public educational institution, or other public body of the United States of America, the State, or any county or municipality or other political subdivision shall not render such person ineligible for appointment as a Trustee unless such service constitutes full-time employment. Any appointed Trustee may be impeached and removed from office as a Trustee in the same manner and on the same grounds provided in Section 174 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, or successor provision thereof, and the general laws of the State for impeachment and removal of the officers of the State subject to said Section 174 or successor provision thereof. The Governor, the State Treasurer and the Director of Finance may not be impeached and removed from office as a Trustee apart from their impeachment and removal from the respective offices by virtue of which, ex officio, they serve as Trustees. (e) The Governor, the State Treasurer and the Director of Finance shall perform the duties of Trustees, ex officio. without any compensation other than that to which they are respectively entitled as Governor, State Treasurer and Director of Finance. Appointed Trustees shall be entitled to such compensation for their services as may from time to time be provided by law duly enacted by the Legislature, but the power to provide compensation of appointed Trustees shall be discretionary with the Legislature and nothing in this amendment shall be construed to confer upon such Trustees an absolute right to any compensation for their services. Each appointed Trustee shall be reimbursed for expenses actually incurred in the performance of his or her duties as a Trustee. (f) A majority of the

of business by the Board. and decisions shall be made on the basis of a majority of the quorum then present and voting, with each Trustee to have a single vote. No vacancy in the membership of the Board or the voluntary disqualification or abstention of any Trustee shall impair the right of a quorum to exercise all of the powers and duties of the Board. The Governor shall be the chairman and presiding officer of the Board, and the Board may appoint such other officers to perform such duties, not inconsistent with the provisions of this amendment or applicable law, as the Board shall deem necessary or appropriate. In addition to such regular meetings of the Board as may be provided by law or by bylaws or rules duly adopted by the Board, special meetings of the Board may be called by the Governor acting alone or by any three other Trustees acting in concert, in each case upon two days' notice to each Trustee given in person or by registered letter or telegram; provided, however, that such notice to each Trustee may be waived by such Trustee, either before or after the meeting with respect to which such notice would otherwise be required. Any meeting held by the Board for any purpose shall be open to the public, except that executive or secret sessions may be held by the Board when the character or good name of a person is involved. All proceedings of the Board shall be reduced to writing on behalf of the Board and maintained in the permanent records of the Board, a copy of which shall be filed in the principal office of the Board and shall be open for public inspection there during regular business hours. The principal office of the Board shall be the principal office of the Direc-

or business associations, has any direct or indirect pecuniary interest, including but without limitation thereto decisions of the Board concerning the investment of moneys constituting part of the Trust Fund in any deposit or obligation of any bank or corporation in which such Trustee may have such an interest. If there shall be brought before the Board any matter in which a Trustee shall have any interest which may conflict with his duties as a Trustee. he or she shall immediately make a complete disclosure to the Board of such interest and shall thereafter withdraw from participation in any deliberation and decision of the Board with respect to such matter.

(h) The Board shall have all of the powers necessary to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this amendment, including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the following powers:

(1) to adopt, alter and repeal bylaws, regulations and rules for the regulation and conduct of its affairs and business;

(2) to make, enter into and execute contracts, agreements and other instruments and to take such other actions as may be necessary or convenient to accomplish any purpose for which the Trust Fund was created or to exercise any power expressly, or by reasonable implication, granted by this amendment:

(3) to enter into contracts with, to accept aid and grants from, to cooperate with and to do any and all things that may be necessary in order to avail itself of the aid and cooperation of the United States of America, the State or any agency, instrumentality or political subdivision of either thereof in furtherance of the purposes of this amendment;

provided, however, that any obligation created or assumed by the Board shall not create any pecuniary obligation or liability of the State or the Trust Fund other than such as shall be payable out of moneys appropriated by Legislature to defray the expenses of the Board in carrying out the purposes of this amendment. No lien or charge against any assets of the Trust Fund for any purpose whatsoever shall be created by or result from any law enacted by the Legislature or any action taken by the Board or any other department. agency or instrumentality of the State.

(i) The expenses of making and disposing of investments such as brokerage commissions, legal expenses referable to a particular transaction, transfer taxes and other customary transactional expenses shall, as provided in Section 5(c) of this amendment, be payable from the investment income of the Trust Fund, but no administrative or other expenses not specifically required to make or dispose of a particular investment shall be payable out of any assets of the Trust Fund. The Legislature shall provide for the administrative and other necessary expenses of the Board in the same manner as it provides for the expenses of operating other departments and agencies of the State.

"Section 4. Sources of Trust Capital. (a) There shall be transferred from the general fund of the State into the Trust Fund, as the initial Trust Capital, moneys in an amount equal to the sum of (i) all proceeds of any Oil and Gas Capital Payments received by the State at any time after January 1, 1981, and on or before November 1. 1981, and (ii) all income or profit derived from the investment and reinvestment of the proceeds of such Oil and Gas Capital Payments (including income or profit derived from the investment and reinvestment of previously derived income or profit) prior to the transfer of such proceeds into the Trust Fund, less and except the following:

(1) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit which has been disbursed by the State, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the use of the Board of Corrections pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 81-764 enacted at the 1981 Regular Session of the Legislature;

(2) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit which has been disbursed by the State, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the use of the Department of Mental Health pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 81-770 enacted at the 1981 Regular Session of the Legislature; (3) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit which has been appropriated by the Legislature, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the use or benefit of the Alabama Housing Finance Authority and which, as of the effective date of this amendment, is required by any then applicable law to be held apart from the Trust Fund and not Included with the moneys to be transferred into such fund as part of the initial Trust Capital:

(4) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit exceeding $6,000,000 which has been appropriated by the Legislature, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the reimbursement of the counties of the State for expenses incurred by such counties in the incarceration or confinement of convicts or other prisoners who are the responsibility of the State; and

(5) any amount of such exceeding

proceeds, income or profit

$10,000,000 which has been appropriated by the Legislature, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the support and encouragement of educational, agricultural and industrial activities involving basic and applied scientific research and development Promptly following the effective date of this amendment, the State Treasurer shall take all actions necessary to transfer to the Board the possession, control and management of the initial Trust Capital. If at the time of such transfer into the Trust Fund all or part of the initial Trust Capital is invested in certificates of deposit or other investments which cannot be converted into cash prior to the maturity thereof without loss of interest or other penalty, the State Treasurer shall directly transfer such certificates of deposit or other investments to the Board as part of the initial Trust Capital without first converting the same into cash. In the event that any certificates of deposit or other investments shall be transferred into the Trust Fund, the initial Trust Capital shall include only the income or profit from such certificates of deposit or other investments that has been received by the State on or before such transfer or that constitutes accrued interest, amortized discount or other amounts which, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, should be considered as having been earned by the State as of the date of such transfer. To the extent that any income or profit derived from such certificates of deposit or other investments is referable to any period after the transfer thereof into the Trust Fund. such income or profit shall constitute Trust Income and shall not constitute part of the Trust Capital (except to the extent otherwise provided by Section 5(a) of this amendment)

Any provision of this amendment to the contrary notwithstanding, no Oil and Gas Capital Payment received by the State after November 1, 1981, or any income from the investment thereof, shall, unless subsequently authorized by law, be transferred into the Trust Fund.

(b) The Trust Capital shall be augmented by any Trust Income which, as provided in Section 5(a) of this amendment, shall have remained in the Trust Fund beyond the end of the Fiscal Year next succeeding the Fiscal Year during which it was received without having been appropriated for any purpose by act of the Legislature. The Trust Capital shall also consist of (i) such other moneys or assets as the Legislature may by law appropriate and transfer to the Trust Fund as a permanent part thereof and (ii) such other moneys or assets as may be contributed to the Trust Fund from any source.

"Section 5. Investment of Moneys in Trust Fund; Appropriation of Trust Income (a) Except to the extent otherwise provided in Section 6 of this amendment, the Trust Capital shall be held in perpetual trust and shall not be appropriated by the Legislature or expended or disbursed for any purpose other than to acquire Eligible Investments in accordance with the provisions of this amendment. All Eligible Investments acguired, in whole or in part, with moneys constituting part of the Trust Capital shall to the extent of such moneys constitute part of the Trust Capital, but any Trust Income derived therefrom shall be subject Thursday, February 18, 1982, Shelby County Reporter Page B-11 withdrawal by the Legislature to the extent provided in this amendment. Until and including the last day of the Fiscal Year next succeeding the Fiscal Year during which any Trust Income shall be received into the Trust Fund, the Legislature may at any time and from time to time, whether before or after the actual receipt of such Trust Income, enact laws appropriating all or any part of such Trust Income for any lawful purpose, and any Trust Income so appropriated may be withdrawn from the Trust Fund at any time after the receipt thereof; provided, however, that the right of the Legislature to appropriate any Trust Income prior to the actual receipt thereof shall not be construed to authorize the recognition and withdrawal of any moneys equivalent to such Trust Income prior to the actual receipt thereof into the Trust Fund. If any Trust Income shall not be appropriated by a law which becomes effective on or before the last day of the Fiscal Year next succeeding that during which it was received, such Trust Income shall thereafter cease to be subject to appropriation and shall become part of the Trust Capital to be held in the Trust Fund on the same terms and conditions as are applicable to all other assets constituting the Trust Capital. Any Trust Income appropriated by a law becoming effective on or before the last day of the Fiscal Year next succeeding that during which it was received shall remain Trust Income even though it is permitted to remain in the Trust Fund after the end of such Fiscal Year, and any such Trust Income shall be subject to withdrawal from the Trust Fund at any time thereafter in the manner provided by law for the purposes for which it shall theretofore have been appropriated.

(b) To the extent practicable, the Board shall keep all moneys at any time held in the Trust Fund (including both Trust Capital and Trust Income) invested in such Eligible Investments as shall, in its sole and uncontrolled judgment, produce the greatest Trust Income over the term of such investments while preserving the Trust Capital. In making any investment of moneys held in the Trust Fund, the Board shall exercise the judgment and care, under the circumstances prevailing at the time of such investment, which an institutional investor of the highest standard of prudence, intelligence and financial expertise would exercise in the management and investment of large assets entrusted to it not for the purpose of speculative profit but for the permanent generation and disposition of funds, considering the probable safety of capital as well as the expected amount and frequency of income. The Board shall have full power and authority to select the Eligible Investments in which moneys held in the Trust Fund shall at any time be invested, and, to the extent not inconsistent with any express provision of this amendment, the Eligible Investments so selected shall be acquired from such issuers, underwriters, brokers or other sellers on such terms and conditions, shall be acquired for purchase prices reflecting such discount below or premium above the par or face amount thereof, shall bear such dates and be in such form, denominations and series shall mature or be subject to mandatory redemption on such dates, shall bear interest at such rate or rates payable at such intervals or, alternatively, shall provide income to the holder thereof in such other manner (including, without limitation thereto, the purchase of such investments at a discount which represents all or part of the income or profit to be derived therefrom), shall be unsecured or secured in such manner, shall contain such provisions for prepayment or redemption at the option of the issuer or obligor, and shall contain or be subject to such other provisions as shall, in all of the foregoing respects, be determined by the Board in the exercise of its sole and uncontrolled judgment. The Board shall have full power and authority to invest the Trust Capital in long-term investments producing Trust Income in accordance with such schedule as the Board shall, in the exercise of its sole and uncontrolled judgment, determine to be in the best interests of the State, and in determining such schedule the Board may emphasize preference to near-term

needs. The Board shall have complete and uncontrolled discretion in making

shall be invested, as to the purchase price or other acquisition cost to be paid or incurred in acquiring investments for the Trust Fund, as to when investments constituting part of the Trust Fund shall be sold, liquidated or otherwise disposed of, and, notwithstanding the provisions of Section 100 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, as to the amount and nature of the price or other consideration to be receiv ed by the Trust Fund upon the sale, liquidation or other disposition of investments constituting part of the Trust Fund: provided, however, that to the extent the provisions of this amendment authorize the withdrawal of moneys from the Trust Fund (including both Trust Capital and Trust Income) pursuant to appropriation by the Legislature, the Board shall invest the maneys so subject to withdrawal in investments which shall mature or otherwise be subject to liquidation on such terms as will provide cash when required for withdrawal from the Trust Fund. No law shall be enacted nor any action taken by the executive department of the State which impairs or interferes with the power, authority and discretion conferred upon the Board by this amendment with respect to the acquisition, management, control and disposition of investments at any time constituting part of the Trust Fund. (c) The Trust Income for any period shall be the net income (determined as hereinafter provided) actually received in cash or cash equivalents during such period from the investment and reinvestment of all moneys held in the Trust Fund (including both moneys representing Trust Capital and moneys representing previously received Trust Income that has not become part of the Trust Capital). No accrual or other accounting calculation or classification shall constitute the basis for recognizing Trust Income unless the moneys in question shall have been actually received and paid into the Trust Fund. The Trust Income for any period shall consist of the aggregate interest received from investments during such period plus any profit realized during such period from any payment, sale, liquida-tion or other disposition of investments resulting in the receipt of an amount greater than the purchase price thereof, less (i) any to income and any losses with respect to investments which are required to be charged against the income of the Trust Fund for such period pursuant to the provisions of subsection (d) of this section, (ii) any accrued interest paid as part of the purchase price of investments acquired during such period, and (iii) all expenses of selling and disposing of investments during such period such as brokerage commissions, legal expenses referable to a particular transaction. transfer taxes and other customary transactional expenses. For purposes of determining the amount of the Trust Capital at any time held in the Trust Fund, any investment acquired for a purchase price reflecting a discount below its face or par amount shall, at all times prior to its payment, sale, liquidation or other disposition, be valued at its original purchase price. If any investment is acquired for a purchase price reflecting a premium above its face or par amount, then, for purposes of calculating Trust Income, the cumulative interest or other income theretofore received from such investment as of any time shall be reduced by the then applicable Amortized Premium of such investment. For purposes of determining the amount of Trust Capital at any time held in the Trust Fund, any investment acquired for a purchase price reflecting a premium above its face or par amount shall, at all times prior to its payment, sale, liquidation or other disposition, be valued at its original purchase price less its then applicable Amortized Premium. (d) The Trust Income shall be adjusted in accordance with the succeeeding provisions of this subsection if the application of generally accepted accounting principles in connection with the annual audit of the Trust Fund requires any negative adjustment of income, including the recognition of any reduction in value or write off of investments for reasons relating to the probability of their payment or collectibility, or if any loss is realized upon any payment, sale, liquidation or other disposition of any investment resulting in the receipt of any amount less than the value thereof determined in sions of this amendment; provided, however, that no reduction in value of any investment shall be made because the rate of interest or other yield thereon has fallen below the market rates then applicable to comparable investments. Any audit adjustment resulting in a charge against income or any loss realized from the payment, sale, liquidation or other disposition of investments, as the case may be, shall be charged first against any Trust Income which, as of the time such adjustment is made or such loss is realized, has accumulated in the Trust Fund and is then available for withdrawal, whether or not theretofore appropriated, and if the amount to be so charged is greater than the amount of accumulated Trust Income subject to withdrawal, such amount shall be charged against Trust Income thereafter received in the current and succeeding Fiscal Years until the full amount of such audit adjustment or loss, as the case may be, has been recovered or made good out of the investment income of the Trust Fund. and from and after the time that such audit adjustment is made or such loss is realized, as the case may be, no income of the Trust Fund shall be considered Trust Income for purposes of this amendment until the full amount of such adjustment or loss shall have been so recovered or made good. In the event that, as a result of any audit adjustment or any realized loss, the aggregate amount of income appropriated and withdrawn from the Trust Fund as of any time during or at the end of any Fiscal Year exceeds the ag gregate Trust Income which, taking into account such adjustment or loss, should have been available for withdrawal at or before such time, then, and in such event, the excess amount so withdrawn need not be returned to the Trust Fund from the general fund of the State or from any other source of funds available to the State, but the amount of such excess withdrawal shall be recovered through charges against future income of the Trust Fund as above provid-

(e) To the extent appropriate and not at the time prohibited by law, the Board shall use the facilities of the State Treasurer in the administration of the Trust Fund, including, but without ation thereto, the keeping of records, the management of bank accounts, the transfer of funds and the safekeeping of securities evidencing investments.

(f) The Board shall cause an annual audit of the Trust Fund to be performed for each Fiscal Year by the State Auditor or, in the discretion of the Board, by an independent accounting firm and shall cause a report of such audit to be prepared in accordance with applicable accounting principles and made public within ninety (90) days following the end of the Fiscal Year covered thereby. The Board shall cause to be prepared and publicized such financial and other information concerning the Trust Fund as may from time to time be provided by law duly enacted by the Legislature, but in the absence of any law directing the preparation and publication of different reports, the Board shall cause to be prepared and made public, within thirty (30) days after the end of each quarterly period in each Fiscal Year, a report containing (i) a statement of the Trust Capital then held in the Trust Fund showing any changes thereto since the last quarterly report, (ii) a statement of the Trust Income then held in the Trust Fund showing receipts and withdrawals therefrom during the quarterly period in question and further showing the portion thereof previously appropriated and the portion thereof subject to appropriation but not then appropriated. (iii) a statement of the investments then held in the Trust Fund including descriptions thereof and the respective values thereof, (iv) a statement of the Trust Income received to date during the current Fiscal Year, (v) if such report covers the first, second or third quarterly period, an estimate of the Trust Income anticipated for the entire current Fiscal Year and for each of the remaining quarterly periods thereof, and (vi) an estimate of the Trust Income anticipated for the next succeeding Fiscal Year and in each of the quarterly periods thereof.

"Section 6. Alternative Disposition of Certain Trust Fund Moneys. (a) By any duly enacted law or laws, whether becoming effective before or after the effective date of this amendment, the Legislature may appropriate moneys constituting Trust Capital or Trust Income or a combination of both for the use or benefit of the Alabama Housing Finance Authority in such aggregate amount as, when added to any amount excluded from the initial Trust Capital pursuant to clause (3) of the first sentence of Section 4 of this amendment, shall not exceed the sum of $19,500,000. All or any part of the moneys so appropriated may be held in the Trust Fund until disbursed for the purpose for which appropriated, or all or any part of such moneys may be immediately withdrawn from the Trust Fund and transferred to the Alabama Housing Finance Authority for the use thereof or, alternatively, transferred to the State and held by it until used to pay expenses for and on behalf of such authority, all in accordance with such law or laws as may from time to time be enacted by the Legislature.

(b) In order to provide an alternative source for the moneys appropriated for the use of the Board of Corrections pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 81-764 enacted at the 1981 Regular Session of the Legislature, the Legislature may, by any duly enacted law or laws, whether becoming effective before or after the effective date of this amendment, appropriate moneys constituting Trust Capital or Trust Income or a combination of both for the use of the Board of Corrections in making capital expenditures; provided, however, that the aggregate amount so appropriated for the use of the Board of Corrections and withdrawn from the Trust Fund shall not exceed an amount computed as the difference between $45,000,000 and the sum of (i) the amount excluded from the initial Trust Capital pursuant to clause (1) of the first sentence of Section 4 of this amendment and (ii) all other amounts at any time appropriated by the Legislature from the proceeds of bonds of the State or other sources for the use of the Board of Corrections in substitution for or replacement of all or any part of the moneys appropriated pursuant to said Act No. 81-764.

Section 8. Legislative Oversight Commission. (a) There is hereby created the Alabama Heritage Trust Fund Legislative Oversight Commission to consist of the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House. and five members each from the House of Representatives and the Senate to be appointed by the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor, respectively. If the Legislature is in regular session at the time this amendment shall become effective, the original members of the Commission shall be appointed at such regular session, and if the Legislature is not in regular session at the time this amendment shall become effective, the members of the Commission shall be appointed at the next regular session of the Legislature. The original members of the Commission shall serve for the remainder of their elected terms of office as members of the Legislature, and the terms of office of members of the Commission shall thereafter correspond to the full four-year terms for which members of the Legislature are elected. If at any time there shall be a vacancy among the appointed members of the Commission, a successor shall be appointed from the same body of the Legislature as that to which the previous incumbent belonged, and such successor shall serve for the remainder of the unexpired term of such previous incumbent. (b) The Commission shall hold an organizational meeting at the State Capitol within ten (10) days after the appointment of the original members thereof and shall elect a chairman and vice chairman from among its members. Thereafter, the Commission shall meet, from time to time, at the call of the chairman or vice chairman or upon the request of seven or more members with such notice and in accordance with such procedure as shall be prescribed by the rules of the Commission. (c) The Commission shall adopt its own rules of procedure for the transaction of business, except as otherwise provided in this amendment. A majority of the members of the Commission shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of transacting any business or performing any authorized duties. All members of the Commission, including both those who serve ex officio and those who are appointed, shall have an equal vote. The Commission shall keep full and complete minutes in writing of its proceedings, and every action taken shall be authorized by duly adopted resolution recorded in such minutes. (d) Each member of the Commission shall be entitled to his or her regular legislative compensation and per diem and travel expenses for each day he or she attends a meeting or conducts business of the Commission, and such compensation and expenses shall be paid as provided by law out of the funds from time to time appropriated by the Legislature to pay the expenses of administering the Trust Fund (e) The Commission shall monitor and evaluate the management of the Trust Fund by the Board, shall report to the Legislature on both the present and future availability of Trust Income for appropriation by the Legislature, and shall recommend to the Legislature the enactment of such laws respecting the Trust Fund as the Commission shall deem desirable; provided, however, that nothing contained in this amendment respecting the Commission shall be construed to authorize the Legislature to enact laws inconsistent with the express provisions of this amendment."

"Section 9. Amendment Self-Executing. amendment shall be selfexecuting, but the Legislature shall have the right and the power to enact laws supplemental to this amendment and in furtherance of the purposes and objectives thereof, provided that such laws are not inconsistent with the express provisions of this amendment.

Amendment No. 2 STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, Act No. 81-1190 of the Legislature of Alabama passed during the Third Special Session. 1981, provides that an election be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of Alabama; and WHEREAS, said Act further provides that the election be held on March 2, 1982; and, WHEREAS, The Constitution of Alabama, 1901, requires that notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, be given by a Proclamation of the Governor, and,

WHEREAS, such Proclamation is to be published in each county in the State of Alabama for at least four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for

such election: NOW, THEREFORE, I, Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, 1901

"The State of Alabama is authorized to become indebted and to sell and issue its interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an aggregate principal amount exceeding $520,000,000. The expenses incurred in the sale and issuance of said bonds shall be paid out of the proceeds derived from the sale thereof. The proceeds of said bonds shall be paid into the State Treasury, shall be kept continually invested pending the expenditure thereof, and shall together with the income derived from the investment and reinvestment thereof (including income derived from the investment and reinvestment of previously derived income), be retained in one or more separate accounts of the State Treasury until expended for the purposes authorized in this amendment and in the manner provided by law. The proceeds of said bonds remaining after payment of the expenses of selling and issuing the same, together with the investment income derived from said proceeds, shall be used solely for the purpose of paying the capital costs of public facilities and works of internal improvement consisting of (i) public roads, streets highways and bridges, (ii) buildings, equipment and other facilities for public schools, public technical and vocational schools and public institutions of higher education, (iii) state prisons, facilities for the housing, training, education or rehabilitation of prisoners, and other facilities necessary or useful in connection with prisons and other penal or correctional facilities, (iv) mental hospitals and other mental health facilities. (v) the improvement of navigation in Mobile Harbor by the deepening and widening of channels therein and the construction and installation of dock and wharf facilities in Mobile Harbor and on navigable inland waterways, (vi) the renovation and restoration of buildings in the main governmental complex of the State, including the State Capitol Building and the present headquarters office building of the State Highway Department, (vii) the construction and equipment of a new headquarters office building for the State Highway Department, (viii) facilities for the Alabama Department of Youth Services, (ix) the renovation and restoration of the State Coliseum in Montgomery County, (x) public parks and park facilities, the acmaricultural activities in Alabama coastal waters, bays and sounds, and (xi) equipment for the Alabama Educational Television Commission. "The Legislature shall enact appropriate implementing laws to provide for the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this amendment, to appropriate and allocate the proceeds thereof, together with the investment income derived from said proceeds among the hereinbefore described

Governor; and, WHEREAS, such Proclamation is to be published in each county in the State of Alabama for at least four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for such election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, 1901:

"Any provision of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901 or amendments thereto to the contrary notwithstanding, Legislature may from time to time by law provide for the payment by the State of Alabama of expenses incurred by the Alabama Housing Finance Authority (organized pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 80-585 enacted at the 1980 Regular Session of the Legislature) in the exercise of the powers granted to it by law, including, but without limitation, expenses incurred by the Alabama Housing Finance Authority in the issuance of its bonds and the utilization of the proceeds therefrom to make or acquire mortgage loans to private persons, firms or corporations that are secured by mortgages on single or multi-family residential property located in the State. The Legislature may appropriate moneys from any available source for the direct payment of such expenses or it may authorize the transfer of moneys to the Alabama Housing Finance Authority to be used for that purpose

Notwithstanding the payment by the State, either directly or indirectly, in any manner authorized herein. of the expenses incurred by the Alabama Housing Finance Authority, no bonds or other evidences of indebtedness issued by the Alabama Housing Finance Authority shall be deemed to constitute an indebtedness of the State within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory provision whatsoever, nor shall any action taken by the Alabama Housing Finance Authority be deemed to constitute a lending of money or credit by the State to any individual, association, or corporation, or a participation by the State in works of internal improvement, within the meaning of Section 93 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, as amended.

This amendment shall have no force and effect after December 31, 1983, and shall not constitute a part of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901 after such date, but the expiration thereof on such date shall not be considered by any court as a reason for holding unconstitutional any law which would have been constitutional without the adoption of this amendment.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982. upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the

The state university shall be under the management and control of a board of trustees which shall consist of two members from each congressional district in the state, an additional member from the congressional district which includes the site of the first campus of the university, the superintendent of education, and the governor, who shall be ex officio president of the board. The members of the board of trustees as now constituted shall hold office until their respective terms expire under existing law, and until their successors shall be elected and confirmed as hereinafter required. The additional trustees provided for by this amendment shall be elected by the existing members of the board, and confirmed by the senate in the manner provided below, for initial terms of not more than six years established by the board so that one term shall expire each three years in each congressional district. Successors to the terms of the existing and additional trustees shall hold office for a term of six years, and shall not serve more than three consecutive full sixyear terms on the board; provided however that a trustee shall retire from the Board and vacate office at the annual meeting of the board following that trustee's seventieth birthday. Election of additional and successor trustees or of trustees to fill any vacancy created by the expiration of a term or by the death or resignation of any member or from any other cause shall be by the remaining members of the board by secret ballot; provided, that any trustee so elected shall hold office from the date of election until confirmation or rejection by the senate, and, if confirmed, until the expiration of the term for which elected, and until a successor is elected. At every meeting of the legislature the superintendent of education shall certify to the senate the names of all who shall have been so elected since the last session of the legislature, and the senate shall confirm or reject them, as it shall determine is for the best interest of the university. If it reject the names of

thereupon elect trustees in the stead of those rejected. No trustee shall receive any pay or emolument other than his actual expenses incurred in the discharge of his duties as such. Upon the vacation of office by a trustee, the board, if it desires, may bestow upon a trustee the honorary title of trustee emeritus, but such status shall confer no responsibilities, duties, rights, or privileges as such.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Constitution, the legislature may hereafter, by general law, provide for the promotion of, the production, research, distribution, marketing, use, improvement and sale of swine and swine products. The legislature may provide for the promotion of swine and the swine industry by research, education, advertising and other methods, and the legislature is further authorized to provide means and methods for the financing of any such promotional activity by prescribing a procedure whereby producers of swine may by referendum held among the swine producers in this state levy upon themselves and collect assessments, fees, or charges upon the sale of swine for the financing of any promotional program or activity in cooperation with processors, dealers and handlers, of swine and swine products. The legislature may make provisions for the nonpayment of assessments by swine producers and shall make provisions for the refund of assessments to any swine producer dissatisfied with the assessment program. The legislature shall provide for the collection and distribution of any such assessments or charges by dealers, handlers, processors and purchasers of swine and swine products and provide penalties for failure to make collection and distribution of such assessments. The legislature shall provide for the designation of a nonprofit association or organization organized for the promotion and betterment of swine and swine products to administer and carry out such promotional program which shall include the conducting of elections or referendums among swine producers. The legislature may provide the manner by which such referendum is held, including the procedure for application for approval to conduct the referendum, the appropriate action to be taken

PROCEDURE FOR FILL-ING VACANCIES IN OF-FICE OF JUDGE OF CIR-CUIT COURT AND THE OFFICE OF JUDGE OF THE DISTRICT COURT AT MOBILE COUNTY; MOBILE COUNTY JUDICIAL COMMISSION.

All vacancies in the office of judge of the circuit court and the office of judge of the district court of Mobile County which shall occur subsequent to January 15, 1982, shall be filled in the manner and for the time as herein provided.

The Mobile County judicial commission is hereby created for the purpose of nominating to the governor persons for appointment to such a vacancy. The members of such commission shall be (a) two persons who are members of the Alabama state bar, and (b) two persons who are not members of the Alabama state bar, and (c) one judge of the circuit court of Mobile County.

All members of such commission must reside in the territorial jurisdiction of the circuit court of Mobile County.

The two members of such commission who are required to be members of the Alabama state bar shall be elected by the members of such bar who are regularly licensed and qualified to practice law in this state and who reside in the territorial jurisdiction of the circuit court of Mobile County. The executive committee of the Mobile County bar association or its successor body in such capacity, is authorized and directed to make rules, not inconsistent with this amendment, for the election of such members of such commission as are required to be members of the Alabama state bar Such executive committee shall certify in writing to the probate judge of Mobile County the names of the persons elected as members of such commission by such members of such bar. The senators and representatives in the Alabama legislature from Mobile County shall elect the two members of such commission who are required not to be members of the Alabama state bar. Such senators representatives shall certify in writing to such probate judge the names of the persons elected by them as such members

The judges of the circuit court of Mobile County shall elect the member of such commission who is required to be a judge of such circuit court. The judges of such circuit court shall certify in writing to such probate judge the name of the circuit judge elected by such circuit judges as such

The terms of office of all members of such commission shall be six years, except that the terms of office of the two members of the state bar first elected shall be for one and two years respectively, and of the two members first elected by the senators and representatives in the Alabama legislature from Mobile County shall be for three and four years respectively, and the term of the circuit judge elected by the circuit judges shall be for five years; the length of such terms of office of the members of such commission being indicated by the respective electing bodies. The terms of the initial members of such commission shall begin on January 16, 1982. A vacancy in the office of a member of such commission shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner as such member was originally chosen. The probate judge of Mobile County shall record all such certificates of election and shall safely and permanently keep the original certificates. Forthwith upon his receipt and recordation of every such certificate, he shall send to the governor a certified copy of every such cer-

If, subsequent to January 15, 1982, a vacancy occurs in the office of judge of the circuit court or in the office of judge of the district court of Mobile County, such commission shall nominate to the governor three persons having the qualifications for such office. Such nomination shall be made only by the concurrence of a majority of the members of such commission. The governor shall appoint to the office in which the vacancy exists one of the three persons so nominated for such office. Any vacancy occurring in the office of judge of the circuit or district court of Mobile County, which is required to be filled by appointment on nominations made by a judicial commission, shall be made within ninety days from the date of the submission of such nominations. In the event the governor fails to fill the vacancy from such nominations within such period, the appointment shall be made by the chief justice of the supreme court of Alabama. The appointed shall hold such office until the next general election for any state officer held at least six months after the vacancy occurs and until his successor is elected and qualified; the successor shall hold office for the unexpired term and until his successor is elected and qualified.

This amendment shall be self-executing.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of this election upon Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982. upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama of 1901, be given by publishing the same once a week for four successive weeks next preceding Tuesday, the 2nd of March, 1982, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said coun-

Grandpa's pants

Back in the '30's, Ola Pate added strings to the straps on Donald Pate's overalls, making them long enough for him to wear until he was five. Two generations later, a tot named Josh is wearing Grandpa Donald Pates' overalls-and also trying to eat his pocketknife. (Photo by David F. Moore) tle help from mom, recently "wrote" a letter to Grandpa Pate, asking for a pair of real overalls just like he wears all the time. Well, not JUST like grandpa's, because Josh wears size 0, or size 1.

Grandpa, apparently tickled to oblige the lad, dug around in an old wardrobe and finally found just the ticket to fill the bill: a pair of Osh-Kosh, B'Gosh! overalls his mother, Ola Pate had bought him as a toddler in Shelby back in 1934.

A quick check revealed the old overalls no longer fit grandpa, so he sent them off to Grayson, Georgia, where little Josh lived with his dad and mom, Mike and

Commission grants raise to county work force

by Marcia M. Sears

Employees of Shelby County finally got a raise.

The raise came about Monday, when the county commission voted in a revised budget for the last six months of the fiscal year, based on new income.

The raise does not apply to any employees of the sheriff's department or to part time workers. The sheriff's department has a separate pay scale which is higher than that of other county employees.

The raise will amount to about 8 percent, and will come out to $45 bi-weekly or $22.50 per week.

The vote to revise the budget was not unanimous. Commissioner Don Murphy argued against the raise, saying, "I am raise right now. These are hard times. We have 3,000 unemployed in Shelby County.

The economy is just not there." Commissioner Harold Davenport argued, "We've got foremen and equipment operators that are only making $10,000 to $11,000 per year." Davenport felt the employees should be paid a living

Murphy countered, "They're making a living, and not one of them has been laid off."

Murphy argued that the budget revision was based on one-time temporary funds of $332,432 which will not be available next year. But the budget passed by a vote of 3 to 1.

The county gained these funds from four sources that they could opposed to anybody getting a not predict when the budget was made last September: $178,000 from the hospital tax; $62,225 in reimbursement from the state for holding state prisoners; $268,000 in a settlement from the tax reappraisal case; and $9,207 in savings from the resignation of solid waste director Carlton Franks.

The original budget showed revenue sharing funds would bring in $185,000, but since those funds will not come in this year, that amount had to be subtracted.

The total employee raises for the final six months of the year come to $115,000.

Other big items in the revised budget are: Attorney fees in the tax case, $41,282; and increased premiums for health insurance, $36,000.

The sheriff's department is scheduled for two new automobiles, six portable radios, two radar guns, and a salary adjustment for a sergeant totaling $27,100.

The tax assessor will get $16,000 additional, the health department will get an additional

Also included are $20,000 for repairs to the courthouse: $16,500 for the landfills; $14,000 for a patrol for the highway department; and $2,500 for supplies for the board of education.

The budget also included provision for increased expense allowances to the tax assessor, tax collector, chairman of the commission and the sheriff. Bills are pending for the first two, and are being considered for the last

Contradictions surface

Orr murder trial gets underway

by Bert Seaman

Three statements made by the defendant on trial for the murder of Annie Laurie Orr of Montevallo were read from the witness stand Tuesday afternoon.

The statements, all dictated to policemen and signed by the defendant Victor Kennedy, were read by Sheriff's Department Chief Investigator Reed Smith while the jury was out.

The first statement, made at the Montevallo Police Department on December 24, 1980, contradicts the other two, given on 26 and 29 December, respectively, at the Shelby County Sheriff's Department. According to the first statement, Kennedy did not enter the Orr house, while the others state that he did.

At press time, the judge had not yet determined whether the jury would be allowed to see and hear the statements.

Smith's recital of the statements followed the testimony of Dr. Joseph Embry, a forensic pathologist from the State Department of Forensic Sciences.

During two hours of testimony, Embry testifed that Mrs. Orr, who was found dead around 9 a.m. that Christmas Eve, died from suffocation.

The 86 year old woman was found by her son, Dr. Milton L. Orr, who was the second witness for the state.

Because the state is asking for the death penalty in the case, six prospective jurors opposed to that punishment were dismissed during the jury selection process Monday. The trial itself began Tuesday.

Witnesses for the state testified that Mrs. Orr was found with a pillow case over her head with masking tape tightly bound around it.

She was lying on her side on her bed.

Embry diagrammed the bruises found on her arms, legs, torso, and forehead and reported that she had been sexually assaulted.

Witnesses said the room was in disarray with drawers pulled open and sheets torn off the bed. Kennedy's statements said that he and co-defendant Daryl Grayson had been looking for money.

Testimony indicated that the Orr home had been entered through an open basement door.

In his opening statement, District Attorney Billy Hill told the jury the state intended to show that the defendant had broken into Mrs. Orr's home on Nabors street during the night, assaulted her, tortured her, and demanded money.

The defense counsel, Bill Denson, contends that co-defendant Daryl Grayson was the perpetrator, and that Kennedy to testify that a wallet belonging did not participate in any of the to Mrs. Orr was found on the attacks on the elderly woman.

Grayson is now undergoing mental evaluation, at Bryce Hospital, and will stand a separate trial later. However, he is expected to testify later in the present proceeding.

Mrs. Orr's granddaughter Laurie Gene Orr, the last nondefendant to see her alive, was the state's first witness.

She was followed on the stand by her father, Dr. Milton L. Orr Jr., former Montevallo Police Chief Troy Kirkland, Montevallo physican Dr. Lewis Kirkland, Shelby County Coroner Billy Thompson, Ambulance driver Billy Price, and pathologist Mike

On Wednesday, a neighbor whose yard the two defendants allegedy went through after leaving the Orr home, was expected lawn at about the time the crime was discovered.

The district attorney said he also intends to call other members of the sheriff's department, three Pelham policemen and three other staff members of the department of forensic sciences to testify.

Ready for distribution

This Friday and Saturday, each food stamp recipient family in Shelby County can receive five pounds of the cheese delivered last week to Columbiana. Five tons of processed American cheese will be made available to Shelby County food stamp recipients Friday and Saturday at the Community Services Building in Columbiana. Amendment 20

State gets crack at Alabaster

All the voters in the state get a chance to vote on a matter that affects only Alabaster next Tues-

The vote will come on Amendment 20. The amendment route was apparently the only way an oversight in 1973 could be corrected. The problem concerns the tax structure of Alabaster, but the passage of the amendment will not increase city taxes in any

According to city officials, the city voted to go from five mills to ten mills in ad valorem taxes in 1973 at the time a new classification system for property tax assessments was put into effect. Many cities throughout the state did the same thing at that time.

The city had verbal assurance from Tommy Snowden, who was tax assessor at the time, that the

This is the second board meeting at which teachers have turned out en masse. Approximately 300 were present.

Underlining the board's contention, Business and Financial Affairs Coordinator Jim Davis said that local revenues through February 23 are down by $121,427.

But UniServ Director Wayne Sumners insists the figure is misleading in the area of ad valorem taxes which includes license tags.

He points out this is the first year the tags are being purchased over a 12 month period and the amount should be "caught up" by the end of the year.

to correct the oversight, the amendment was considered Because the taxes for those years have already been collected, there is no possibility that the passage of the amendment could result in more taxes. The present mayor and council of Alabaster were not in office at the time the error was made. Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin says it is unfortunate that it comes up at a time when possible annexation elections to the city of Alabaster are in the news. He emphasizes that the amendment has nothing to do with annexation, although some of the antiannexation forces have tried to link the two together.

Because of the structure of Alabama law, amendments to the state constitution must be voted on statewide, even if they affect only one city or one county in the

Maylene postmaster installed

"This is the most postal employees I've ever seen at one of these," commented Post Office Customer Service Director Jack Ferguson at an installation ceremony for Maylene's new postmaster Carolyn Terrell.

Around seventy people helped celebrate Terrell's appointment with cake and punch after the February 17 ceremony at the Maylene post office.

Post offices in Shelby and surrounding counties were represented by thirty postmasters and other postal employees. Also present were officers of the National Association Postmasters, postal service auditors, a postal systems examiner and the postal service's national vice president of the southern region.

Sectional Center Manager/Postmaster Charles D. Moore of Birmingham installed the new postmaster.

Moore said that 3,400 people, including postal employees in Shelby County, work under him and they are some of the postal service's best.

Moore also said that he foresees a great future for women in the postal service.

Terrell, a native of Maylene, has successfully completed many postal training courses.

She has served as a postmaster relief in the Wilton office and as the officer-in-charge at Wilsonville post office. For the past ten years, she has served at Calera post office as clerk, postmaster relief and as an officer-in-charge.

For four years she was state vice president for the postal clerk's union.

She is a member of the Wilton Bible Baptist Church and is active in civic affairs in the community. The new postmaster is married to James V. Terrell. They have two daughters, Towana, 16, who is head cheerleader at Shelby Academy and Tara, 12, who is a member fo the Shelby Academy

Car, train tangle on Hwy 11

by David F. Moore

Margaret Davis and and her daughter Jana left Harpersville Friday evening to visit family members in the hospital. They had no idea they'd arrive at Shelby Medical Center in an ambulance.

Mrs. Davis, driving a 1973 Mercury, plowed into a freight train at the Seaboard Coast Lines crossing on highway 11 in Simmsville. The accident occurred at 5

"I didn't see the train," Mrs. Davis told the Reporter from her hospital bed Saturday. "The sun was blinding me, plus they don't have any guard rails that come down. That's a bad crossing, anyway."

When she realized they would hit the train, Mrs. Davis said she tried to cut away from it as she jammed on the brakes. "I guess if I hadn't locked up the brakes it would have been worse."

Her leg was pinned under the steering wheel and it took the Pelham rescue squad and Chelsea volunteer firemen 45 minutes to free her. She suffered three broken ribs, a broken nose, numerous abrasions and a cut to the bone on her leg.

"I was concerned more about my daughter than anything." Mrs. Davis said her daughter was unconscious and covered with blood.

At SMC 16-year old Jana was given 20 stitches in her forehead. Her nose was broken and her foot either fractured or sprained.

Mrs. Davis said she was told her car caught on fire briefly, but the crew from the train extinguished it.

Amendments mean $14 million to county | Good

by David F. Moore

Meringue and all, Governor James' windfall investment package amounts to a $667.5 million piece of pie. If the package passes Tuesday's general vote, Shelby County's piece of this pie will mean nearly $14 million in capital improvements.

Voters will be asked on March 2 to cast a "yes" or "no" ballot on 23 amendments to the state constitution. (The full text of the amendments can be read in the "B" section of this week's Reporter.)

It is only the first three amendments, however, which form the nucleus of the governor's investment plan for the $449 million in profits the state realized from leasing oil and gas drilling rights in Mobile Bay.

Basically:

Passage of the first amendment would set up a perpetual trust fund with the windfall profits. The money would be invested in 20-year, high return U.S. Treasury notes.

•The second amendment authorizes $520 million in general obligation bonds which would be retired from interest earned on the notes. Additional interest on the notes would jack up the total available to the state for capital improvements to $667.5 million.

Furthermore, amendment two 'itemizes specific capital expenditures from the sale of the general bonds.

authorizes the legislature to appropriate $19.5 million to the Alabama Housing Finance Authority. This would enable the AHFA to continue through 1983 to offer qualified home buyers low mortage rates (13-7/8% last year).

Passage of amendment three is not essential to the workings of James' overall windfall package, nor can its monetary boost to Shelby County be specified.

But if passed, in all likelihood, the amendment would offer a shot to the arm of the county's sagging housing industry. This in turn would probably benefit some of the 2,657 people the state says are unemployed here.

Benefits to Shelby County schools and highway projects • The third amendment from the passage of the first two amendments, however, are spelled out.

The board of education stands to receive $1.17 million for the purpose of renovating and/or building new schools.

The largest single lump of the county's share, $11.9 million, will go to the construction of two additional lanes on highway 280 between Harpersville and the Coosa River, and the building of a new four-lane bridge across the

In addition, $242,250 will be used to widen and repave highway 119 from U.S. 280 to the Lake Purdy bridge.

The county highway department will receive $434,053 for capital improvements to county roads over a two year period.

Finally, $225,745 will be made available for improvements to Oak Mountain State Park near

Under The Courthouse Dome

Some county commissioners think the sheriff pulled an underhanded trick on them last

They had met to revise their budget, when new money came in, and the sheriff asked them to back his request for an additional expense allowance of $5,000 per year. They agreed, and factored it into the new budget.

But he did not tell them he was planning to seek a big increase in salary through the legislature. Just a few days later, the commissioners learned of it, and feel he should have mentioned it to them during the budget revision talks. All the money for the salary will have to come through the county's treasury. The increase, if it, the repairs might not be passed, would amount to $16,000, making his salary $36,298.

The county budget has been tight for years, and the commission has generally given the sheriff's office everything it has asked for. Last fall, however, the budget was even tighter than usual, and some items had to be need it to compete with Tenpostponed. Then, when the state nessee producers who can prounexpectedly gave state troopers automatically received the same ed. raise. This threw the commission's budget out of balance by road across the Cahaba at more than $110,000.

Ice damaged highways re-opened to trucks

County highways that were county industry." damaged by the January ice storm have been re-opened to truck traffic.

The change came Monday at ficer of Allied Products, said his company needed to use seven miles of county highway 13 to transport coal from a new mine near Green Pond to their Alabaster and Montevallo opera-

Engineer Gary Ray told the commissioners that highway 13, in the western section of the county, was still in bad shape from the freezing and the subsequent thawing following the storm. He said that if trucks used the highway, the county could expect to perform major repairs on at least one lane of it by this summer. He added if the county waited until after the spring rainy season to allow truck traffic on necessary.

But Wilson said that if he had to wait several weeks it would put several people out of work and 'cut a considerable payroll.'

"The coal is strictly for our own use, mainly for our lime operation; but some for a concrete plant we've just bought. We duce lime cheaper and take a raise, Shelby County deputies business away from us," he add-

Ray mentioned that the slab Booth's Ford might be used as an The commissioners' patience is alternate, but Wilson said it would take $20,000 to $25,000 to could be used.

Discussion on the matter brought out the concern the commission has for Allied Industries. which Commissioner Harold Davenport called a "big in-

Commissioner Jake Morris said that if the ban were lifted on one highway, he would insist it be lifted on all county highways, the Commission meeting when because several in his district Jack Wilson, Chief Executive Of- have been closed to truckers.

Davenport finally made the motion to do away with the temporary resolution closing damaged roads and open them all over

For any problems, the commissioners indicated they would look at each case individually.

Personnel Board

sticks to its guns

The Law Enforcement Personnel Board is sticking to its guns.

At Thursday's meeting, the panel decided that the date of permanent employment for four employees of the Sheriff's department would not be chang-

Those dates were determined at the January board meeting. But the decision involves back pay and benefits and the County Commission says they won't accept that date without bringing it up at another meeting.

Nov. 6 is the date the commission started paying the workers as fulltime employees, but the board set Aug. 30 as the date two employees should have become permanent and Oct. 1 as the starting date for two others.

The confusion on the date revolved around the four having been continued as provisional workers when an eligibility list was available.

Since this was a violation of personnel board rules, the board changed the date in order to be in compliance.

The rules state that a temporary worker cannot continue on the job 10 days after the establishment of an eligibility list. And the list for radio dispatchers was available Aug. 20.

One of the dispatchers was rehired as a temporary employee Aug. 22, the other on Aug. 30. Since CETA funding was discontinued Sept. 30, the board decided that two employees who had been working under that program should count Oct. 1 as their date of permanent employment.

The certification of the eligibility list seemed to be the stickler in determining the date for fulltime employment.

The board's consultant, Joe Curtin, has said the list was certified when Sheriff Buddy Glasgow asked for it. That date was Nov. 6.

However, the board reasoned that they only certified the names of the three top scorers which they present to the sheriff.

They believe that the establishment of a list should be the basis for determining the permanent employment date.

Expressing the irritation felt by board members, Chairman Teddy Brasher declared, "We get these things after they've already been done!"

He also noted that the situation had arisen because "We're not working close enough together."

The "we", Brasher was referring to was the Sheriff's department, the county commission and the board.

In order to inform everyone of the board's decison on the matter of permanent employment, a memo is being sent to the commission, sheriff and chief deputy and one copy will be posted for deputies to read.

In the event the commission refuses to change the date, it would be up to the four employees to institute legal action if they wanted to pursue the matter of back pay.

Since the board does not have the authority to enforce salary payments, the employees would have to institute legal action to get back pay in the event the commission refused to change the

Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

There was a cold wind blowing. A sharp, icy wind that cut through my pants and stung my legs and left my eyes damp. A wind that ruffled the hair or George Foster's dog, Lady, and twisted the dead sage and ran off through a corn field. A wind that came in little puffs, one after another, that left the birds half afraid and half excited, so that any noise would cause them to

Lady pointed on the top of a bare hill. She was so still that only a little twitching at the end of her nose, let us know she wasn't a picture. But the birds flushed before we could get there and we followed Lady off down a hill and through a honeysuckle swamp and found two singles and killed 'em as dead as two bird

We went after another covey back of Summer Hill Church, on another little hill, with only one dead pine tree between us and a snowbank somewhere the other side of Nashville. But Lady found birds again, and they flushed again before we got there. But we got three more, in the thickest swamp between told him, "She's 138 years old."

Verbena and Decatur. And along about Tuesday or Wednesday, Amy and I will have birds for supper and hot biscuits and rice and thick gravy.

I met her the third day after they opened the Nursing Home on the north end of Shelby Memorial Hospital. We got along like two little run-a-way boys from the first minute.

That was around twenty years ago. But every Thursday, the same as then, I go by to see her: Mrs. Ruby Patton, Briarcliff Nursing Home, Alabaster, Alabama. She's poorly now, having already had 90-odd birthdays, and we talk about it almost every Thursday.

Today she was telling me how bad she felt an that she might not see 90 more birthdays.

"You know," I chirped, "I dreamed about you last night." "What did you dream?"

"I dreamed you were coming down the road walking on six sticks, and some guy who was standing next to me asked: "Who in the world is that?"

"That's Mrs. Ruby Patton," I

At any rate, our editor later looked up from the still bare If you write for a living, you Bert was gone, and politely screamed: "Oh no! Where's a lot of fun. Playing Sherlock and Dr. Watson, the rest of the crew deduced that Scrambled Eggs was--more or less--in Bert's head. And my editor knew page four would look somewhat empty if all this space was blank.

"You!" My editor's eyes gleamed.

My father once warned me about being in the wrong place at the wrong time, but it was too late now.

"Write me a column. Scrambled Eggs, or something."

"But I can't spell! I can't even cook!" My protests were lost on a crazed sports editor singing loud gospel rock in the background. Was he really working?

"Hurry up," my editor in-

I closed my drooping jaw and sauntered into the typesetting room. Always I had carried a high regard for all columnists, whether I agreed with their viewpoint or not. Daily, weekly, monthly, whatever, I figured it had to be a painful experience to sit down and have to produce a column. What if I went crazy at the keyboard and wrote something absolutely outRAGEous and "they" ran me out of the county, angered citizens, irate judges, pistol pointing cops and deputies, maybe even a mean mother cow or two?

Worse yet, what if I sat down at the keyboard and not one single thought entered my mind? Not one little four, even three lettered word dribbled into my fingertips? It's happened before. The "great white bull" has gouged many a famous writer from Ernie H. to ol' what's his face. Such responsibility! I could feel major panic rumbling in my tummie-wommie. Please! Anything but a COLUMN! Bert! Help! But Bert was in Chelsea...

That's when I knew I had to control myself.

All these thoughts splattered my mind in the course of a few uneventful footsteps towards the typesetting room.

"You can do it," my editor said nicely, in positive sort of voice. Maybe the terror in my eyes had clued her into the terror in my mind. "But a column? Please!

Anything but a column!" One last attempt. "Listen," she told me. "Just sit down and write what comes to you. Let the words flow. You can do it. It'll probably write itself."

pages on the layout table, noticed need to hear that sort of thing every once in a while. I mean, sometimes it's HARD to produce. Shoot, most of the time it's hard enough just to spell.

> "Okay," I said, resolved to fate. "I'll call it 'Over Hard.' But let's not get carried away with this column business, okay?"

> I sat down and looked at the "white bull," changed from Ernie's day of paper and pencil in a Paris cafe, to a word processor in paneled room. I had to write a column. So I would do it. I could do it.

As I started writing the first sentence, at that moment I appologized for any snide comment I might have ever said about anyone's column, and I knew that anyone who ever talked that way, had never writen one themselves. Then I resolved to let the words flow, and as long as they were true, it wasn't my problem if no one liked them.

The Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

Alabama voters in something less than record numbers will go to the polls next Tuesday to decide the fate of 23 proposed amendments to the State Constitution. Nine of the propositions are statewide in application, but only the first four have stirred up any interest.

If past precedent means anything, no more than 10-to-15 percent of the state's registered voters will take the time to participate in this referendum. There has been only one instance in modern times when voters became excited about a constitutional referendum. In December, 1955, they turned out in droves to overwhelmingly reject the socalled Goodwyn Amendment, a plan which would have imposed a stiff new income tax on the people. It has attracted scant attention, but one of the amendments on the ballot next week, No. 17, stems from the racially troubled days of the 1950s. Sam Engelhardt, then a member of the State Senate, secured the ratification of an amendment which abolished his home county of Macon. He took this drastic step to prevent the black majority in that county from gaining political control.

His plan to slice up Macon in pie-like fashion was declared inbut the amendment still remains he plans to enter the ministry.

as a part of the State Constitution. The amendment on the ballot next Tuesday, sponsored by Rep. Thomas Reed of Macon, a black, would simply repeal the Engelhardt amendment once and for all.

Odds and Ends---Nobody can accuse Gov. Fob James of being political when he appointed State Sen. Bishop Barron of Montgomery to the State Court of Criminal Appeals. Sen. Barron has more often than not disagreed with the governor's legislative programs. In fact, he is one of the few lawmakers who publicly has opposed the James plan for investing/spending the oil lease millions. Another twist---Barron has been an outspoken opponent of judicial pay raises.

Law enforcement officers have taken the lead in an effort to raise the legal age for drinking back to 21. They say that since the law was changed to allow 18-yearolds to buy and consume alcoholic beverages that there has been an alarming increase in traffic accidents in this age group, many of them involving drivers who had been drinking.

State Sen. Bob Hall of Pinson has announced he will not be a candidate for reelection this fall. His reason for retiring from politics at the age of 38 is as valid by the U.S. Supreme Court, unusual as it is commendable---

Teacher regrets leaving

Letter to the Editor:

All decisions one has to make are difficult ones. Our hardest one has been our decision to leave Alabaster and Shelby County after seventeen delightful years. These have been our happiest and most rewarding years and it is not an easy move from such frineds that we treasure so much.

As we grow older we have to think selfishly about our future and a move back nearer our birthplace is the best for us.

Teaching for thirteen years in Shelby County before retirement has endeared me to many friends whose children I was privileged to call 'mine' for the school year. It is with keen interest I have watched them grow and develop into adults. The Shelby County Reporter will keep us in contact with people and events of the area. M.D. worked with Plantation Pipe Line until his retirement in 1975.

We are going to keep busy with hobbies but are not going to be too busy to welcome friends who find their way to our new home. The address will be: 155 Matthews St., Clover, S.C. 29710.

> Best wishes to all, M.D. & Elizabeth Stowe

Principal praises Alabaster

Open Letter to Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin, City of Alabaster: On behalf of the teachers, students, and parents, I would like to express our appreciation to you and the City Council for the $2500 donation which you recently gave to Thompson Elementary School. Part of the money will be used to purchase a 16 mm film projector for the school, which will be available for use by all our teachers and students. Other proposed uses for the money include buying additional textbooks and repairing playground equipment. As you can see, we have definite plans for the wise use of this money.

It is a great personal feeling to know that our city government is concerned for the schools and the education of our children. This is evidenced by your donations to all three of the Thompson schools and the other nice deeds the City does for us throughout the year. Again, we thank you for the $2500 donation. Hopefully, your support will continue in the years to come.

> Sincerely, Leslie Harrison Principal Thompson Elementary School Alabaster, AL 35007

ed because they said it was an eyesore.

But the city will not be able to take any action against the scrap dealer, the mayor reported, unless he is found to be in violation of two state ordinances.

One concerns keeping the right of way clear and the other makes it mandatory to shield an operation such as Davis' from view.

"Right now we're in a state of limbo," Falkner declared.

He has plans for the type of fence that would obscure his operation, Davis told the council, and he's waiting for state approval to put it up.

Relenting somewhat, the council lowered the fee they had intended to charge Davis for a business permit from $500 to $100

In other action, the council approved a plan to initiate a merit system for city employees.

Next, the council approved a recommendation made by Councilwoman Jones that the city establish a merit system for city employees.

The mayor appointed Jones to head the committee which will draw up the plan.

Working with her will be water and gas department chairmen, department heads and other members of the council.

Montevallo municipal code eyed

Members of the Montevallo City Council are studying a new, 115 page municipal code.

The updated document, plus copies of two Montevallo charters, were presented to council members Monday night by Montevallo attorney Steve Sears.

City Administrator Don Hughes told council members that the current version of the code has been in production for the past 18 months.

Sears reviewed each of the 13 chapters of the document and answered questions about its preparation.

Council members will study the new version of the city code for two weeks. The code will be considered for adoption at the March 8 meeting of the governing body.

In other action, James B. Frazier, a Montevallo resident, presented an application for an on premises license to sell alcoholic beverages in a proposed private club. The club's membership would be limited to University of Montevallo students, faculty, staff and alumni.

In an accompanying letter Frazier stated that his proposed club would be located near the intersection of Vine and Main Streets near Ranelli's Restaurant.

Among those present and speaking in favor of granting a license were the president of the Montevallo Chamber of Commerce, Don Lovelady and the vice president of UM's Student Government Association, Ricky Manuel.

Councilman Grady Parker made a motion to postpone action on the application until the March 8 meeting of the council. The motion carried.

Also appearing before the council Monday night was Tony Hall, owner and operator of a truck terminal in Montevallo. Hall's terminal is located in a residential section of the city in violation of city zoning laws.

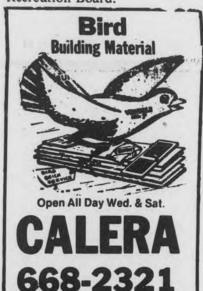

Last summer Hall had been asked to move his business to another location. Hall explained Monday night that he has purchased property in Montevallo's Industrial Park and is in the process of establishing a terminal on his new property. Council members voted to extend the deadline for moving the business until January 1, 1983.

Administrator Hughes told council members that the water board is in the process of drilling a new water well for the city's water system. Drilling is taking place in the city park.

Council member Billie Lacey reported that the project to replace and upgrade downtown sidewalks is underway. New concrete curbs and surfaces are being poured this week at the intersection of Main and Shelby Streets.

Councilman Johnny Holsomback presented a detailed map of a new addition to the city cemetery. Council members accepted and adopted the new addition.

In other action Herbert Milstead was nominated to a vacancy on the city's Park and Recreation Board.

VOTE "YES" FOR AMENDMENT TWENTY

This amendment will NOT increase any taxes in the city of Alabaster.

Why is this amendment to the state constitution on the March 2 ballot?

Because of a technical oversight back in 1973. At that time cities were allowed to make a one-time adjustment in tax rates because voters had approved a new classification system for property tax assessments. To do that, the law required that the adjustment would not bring in more money than had been received the previous year under the old system.

The law also asked that the city get written certification from the county tax assessor that showed the adjustment was justified.

The city had verbal assurance from the tax assessor that the change was justified, but the state auditors later ruled that verbal assurance was not enough.

This amendment corrects the error. It is only a technical correction.

VOTE "YES" ON AMENDMENT 20.

Taxes in Alabaster WILL NOT increase.

Federal farm program reduces crop acreage

Acreage reduction programs for wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley, oats and upland cotton have been annouced by Secretary of Agriculture John Block.

Tommy Baker, chairperson of the Shelby County Agricultural Stabilizationand Conservation Committee said his group will accept applications for the 1982 farm programs until April 16.

"To be eligible for loans and target price protection farmers must sign up and comply with the acreage reduction program requirements," Baker said.

For reducing their wheat acres by 15 percent, farmers will be eligible for the $4.05 per bushel 1982 target price for wheat, a regular loan rate of $3.55 per bushel, and a grain reserve loan rate of $4.00 a bushel.

Farmers who reduce their feed grain acreage by 10 percent will receive federal target prices of $2.70 per bushel for corn; $2.60 for sorghum and barley; and $1.50 per bushel for oats.

They will also be eligible for loan rates of $2.55 per bushel for corn, $2.42 for sorghum, $2.08 for barley, and $1.31 per bushel

According to Baker, 1982 wheat and feed grains will be eligible for immediate entry in the farmer-owned grain reserve. Feed grain reserve loan rates are $2.90 a bushel for corn, $2.75 for sorghum, $2.37 for barley and $1.49 per bushel for oats.

The upland cotton program offers farmers a target price of 71 cents per pound and a loan rate of 57.08 cents per pound for reducing their cotton acres by 15 percent.

"The acreage reductions and higher loan rates will help stregthen farm prices," Baker said.

The land taken from production and devoted to conservation uses must be eligible cropland and protected from wind and water erosion.

Participation in the 1982 farm programs is voluntary. However, only those farmers who take part in the programs will be eligible for benefits according to the ASCS official.

Sara's Fine Foods to Open Soon!

Sara is the daughter of Lloyd and Margaret Chesser, Founders of Lloyd's Restaurant in 1937. Stanley and Sara worked with their parents until it was sold in 1971.

They know all about the restaurant business. So the family decided that Chelsea and the other towns around need a restaurant.

We hope to be open real soon. We will also have a separate family game room and an ice cream parlor.

Our address is on the Old Highway 280, next to the old "Lloyd's Restaurant." When open we want to welcome all of our friends and old customers.

> Thanks, The Second Generation Stanley and Sara

No people allowed, but Rover's welcomed by David F. Moore There are motels, and then there exclusive motels. But when the sign out front reads "No People Allowed"--that's EX-CLUSIVE.

Room, please

David Charlton checks Dolly, a Nashville doberman, into the Motel for Pets, while her owner Floyd Smith visits the Dobbs family on Valleydale Road. ## Helena FD improves emergency services

Helena Fire Department and city council recently drew up a three year plan for the development of the Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Program. They used consulting services from Birmingham Regional Emergency Medical Services System.

The purpose of the program is to reduce death and disability due to medical emergencies in the Helena area.

Plans include training fire and police department personnel, upgrading existing equipment and purchasing additional equip-

Also included in the plan is a CPR for citizens program.

One of the department's training goals is to offer First Responder courses for fire and police department personnel.

The first course began January 22 at Helena Fire Station. The ten week course is designed to teach life saving medical techniques to those who may be first at the scene of an accident or other medical emergency.

Instructors for the course are paramedics Bart Wilkerson and Jerry Lamb, both county residents.

A further accomplishment of a goal set out in the EMS plan is the recent purchase of EMS equipment.

A ten ton hydraulic rescue kit, used for freeing a victim from a mangled vehicle or a collapsed building; a scoop stretcher and folding backboard, used to pick up and safely move accident victims; and military anti-shock trousers used for preventing or treating shock were purchased by the department.

Jim House, BREMSS spokesman said, "The attainment of the goals set out in Helena Fire department's EMS plan will result in vastly improved emergency medical services for those served by Helena Fire Department."

This may sound like a joke, but the motel has been the livelihood of proprietor David Charlton for a quarter of a century. And although he appears to have a good time with the establishment, he doesn't take it too lightly.

"It's a business, and you've got to run it like that," Charlton insists. "You're handling the most precious commodity there is--these little cotton-pickers right here! Now sit up straight!" he says, struggling to give a haircut to the guest in his arms.

Charlton can also give guests baths and blow-dries, not to mention fancy, private rooms.

This particular guest, a white poodle, is one of many registered at Charlton's Motel for Pets, a boarding kennel unique not only to Shelby County, but to the entire south.

The phone rings. Charlton answers, dog in arms.

"Yesm 'mam," he says, "On highway 280, near the Cahaba River. You can't miss us. We look more like a hotel than the Sheraton."

It's true. The kennel, with its central lobby and 3/4-size wings looks for all the world like most any motel on the strip in Panama

The two long wings house individual, four-by-six, rooms, each with a fenced and "shade-conditioned" 20 foot run in the rear. No heated pool here, but the rooms do have heating elements inside the concrete floors to keep guests comfortable in the winter.

A special, indoor wing is available for cats and smaller house dogs. Charlton serves "delicious, a' la carte" meals, prepared to the owner's instruction.

The "resort" accomodates more than 100 guests, and as with any exclusive establishment, reservations are prefered. During human vacation season and holidays such as AEA, Charlton says the motel is usually booked

Some of his guests have come from as far as California, and Charlton says he has four or five regular clients who come from Atlanta.

"You know, if I were 25 years younger, and interest rates were lower, I'd franchise this place," says the 58 year old inn keeper.

Originally, the motel was the brainchild of the late Dr. Jack Baker, a Birmingham vet who dreamed up the concept some 30 years ago, Charlton explains.

Baker, who lived near 280 in a large old house soon to be razed for an office building, had his eye on the then vacant motel site for some time. But the property was tle Man Popwell, who didn't want to sell. However, Little Man did quote Baker a price, and granted him first refusal should he decide to sell.

Several years later, Little Man told Baker he'd sell. The property's value, however, had greatly increased over the originally quoted price.

"Little Man was a gambler, but he was an honest man,' Charlton says. "He kept his word and offered Jack the land at the price they'd agreed on earlier."

"In 1956, Jack built the motel. As far as kennels go, I'd say he was 10 or 15 years ahead of his time."

But the following year Dr. Baker died, leaving the motel to his wife, Claire Baker of the Baker Dairy Company. Charlton, who as a young man worked in the Baker ice cream plant and later attended GM's diesel engineering school in Michigan, in 1958 found himself working at the motel with Mrs. Baker.

When she died 13 years ago, Charlton purchased the motel from the estate. He and his wife Amy now run it with two fulltime workers and one part-time

"You know you're getting old when you start getting dogs from young married couples who were babes in arm when their parents brought in dogs years ago," Charlton says, strapping a dog into the blow-dry cage. "But I guess that's only natural."

As one might figure, over the years Charlton has had several guests who stick in his mind.

A doberman named Fritz holds the distinction of being the longest registered guest--seven years. When Fritz's lady-owner died, her husband was unable to even touch the tempermental pooch, but at the same time, unable to put it to sleep. So he booked Fritz at the motel.

Five years later the man became sick and his daughter owned by renowned gambler Lit- asked Charlton to put Fritz to leave their pet -- that's no big sleep. Despite Fritz's nasty attitude--he hadn't let anyone touch him all this time--Charlton couldn't bare to have him destroyed, so he kept him on at the motel. "What the heck," he says. "Fritz didn't eat much..."

> Then there was the boxer that had been there so many times, "if you didn't tie his latch down, he'd be back up to the lobby before you would," says Charlton. "He was a sharpie."

sometimes put on a show, too. "Seeing a kid cry when they

But it's not always the pets that make for the stories. Owners deal." smiles Charlton, "And some of the ladies cry-that doesn't bother me too much either. But to see grown men boohooing when they leave their dog--that gets me!"

As fitting an exclusive resort, life for the guest is generally quiet. But if a rabbit hops into the yard, or a visitor passes the fence, half the resort's population explodes in barking. Charlton is often asked if all the barking bothers him.

"I say, not nearly so much as the silence. If I don't have any noise, I don't have any business!"

'Stand still!'

Westover FD starts campaign

Here's a way to help the Westover Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, and your central air conditioner, too.

Gary King, a Westover volunteer who also works for a Birmingham air conditioner service, will give your central AC unit a spring checkup at a special rate. The proceeds go to the fire department.

A check will be made on your unit's operation, electrical circuits and refrigerant. The condensor will be cleaned and motor oiled if necessary.

For appointments and more information, call WVFD Chief Perry Willingham, 669-4566, assistant chief Joe Green, 678-9866, or King, 678-6698.

Teachers keep smiles

The Alabama Smile Keeper (ASK) program was presented to the Shelby County public school personnel last week.

This dental health education program is a cooperative effort between personnel of Shelby County public schools, the Alabama Department of Public Health, the Jefferson and Shelby County Health Departments.

Third grade teachers met Wednesday in the Learning Resource Room of the Columbiana Board of Education Building. They received comprehensive oral health and hygiene information which will aid them in teaching dental health concepts in the classroom.

Brushing and flossing information was given to teachers, along with a detailed explanation of how good oral hygiene can help prevent dental decay and periodontal disease. They were told that frequent ingestion of sugary foods can contribute to dental decay. Proper diet and nutrition were stressed.

When the teachers are ready to teach a dental health unit in the classroom, they now have books, posters, guides and other educational literature provided by the Bureau of Dental Health.

As a follow-up to the teacher workshop, dental education consultants from the Bureau of Dental Health and hygienists from the Jefferson County Health Department will visit the schools. They will provide brushes, floss, tablets, and an educational pamphlet for the parents of every third grade child who participates.

You work side-by-side every day. And he could sue you tomorrow for every dollar you've got.

Alabama is the only state that lets one worker sue another over job-related injuries.

Of course a person should be compensated for a job-related injury. No one's arguing that. That's why we have Workmen's Compensation. And workers have a right to sue the manufacturer if the product was faulty. But this business of one worker suing a co-employee . . . is bad business. Since Alabama is the only state with a Supreme Court decision that lets this happen, new industry is hesitant to come here. It's costing us jobs. And it could cost you money. ## Over 300 show for Board of Ed meeting was orderly. Several teachers addressed the board and so did some parents.

Shelby County Teacher's Association President Rosemary Liveoak and Vice-President Tommie Harrison voiced some of the concerns of teachers.

In addition to a raise, they recommended quick action on teacher-salary benefits commit- March 23. tee; spending no more money for central office staff until teachers have had a raise; improve classroom facilities; reduce paper work and record keeping.

Another recommendation was to eliminate the "chain of command" so teachers can communicate directly with the board and superintendent.

They also asked for more input into board policy, central office decisions and programs.

After one parent expressed his feelings about the quality of education going down, Chelsea Principal Brad Stephens came to the microphone to commend his staff on their performance.

The other parent who spoke commended teachers for their hard work and dedication.

UM student debuts

A University of Montevallo student from Helena is making her UAB Town and Gown Theater debut this week.

Rebecca Luker appears as Goldie in "Two by Two," a musical play about Noah and his ark.

"Two by Two" is playing February 22-27 and March 1 at 8 p.m. and February 28 at 2:30 p.m. at Clark Memorial Theater, Birmingham.

A limited number of tickets are available. Reservations may be made by calling 934-3489.

In his report, Superintendent of Education Charles Knowles declared that one of the board's goals is to produce instructional opportunities which exceed that of other systems.

By doing this, he pointed out, quality employees can be attracted and held.

But he stressed the fact that it took "real" dollars to meet ex-

Hill dental is a third generation family-owned company which had its beginning in Birmingham fifty years ago, and now supplies equipment and dental supplies in the southeastern United States, employing some 40 persons.

President of the company, William Hill, oversees the Mobile branch, while brothers Larry Hill (General Manger & Vice President) and Al Hil (V. President-Sales & Marketing) operate out of the Birmingham facility.

Larry Hill states that their recent move from 6th Avenue South to their 15,000 sq. ft. facility in the Riverchase area will better serve their needs in terms of space, as well as the convenience of the more suburban location with its access to 1-65 and 1-459.

The new facility will operate on a computerized system, allowing for accurate and quick handling of their customers' needs.

Financing for this project was arranged by The Industrial Development Board of the City of Hoover and First Alabama Bank. Architect for the new $.5 million facility is Alberto Chiesa. Wilco Construction Company is the contractor.

The Harbert-Equitable Joint usually handles the surveying for posed of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and Harbert Internations.,

It announced, also, that Grand Opening events for the new facility are planned for the summer.

Depressed people need help from family

"People who see the symptoms of depression in a member of their family can do that person, themselves and the rest of the family a big favor by seeing to it that the depressed person receives care," Mrs. Henrietta Hubbard he President of the Mental Health Association in Alabama said.

Mrs. Hubbard explained that depression not only brings misery to the person who has the condition, it also carries over to the rest of the family. "Mental depression has been said to account for more human misery than any other condition. The truth of that statement is multiplied many times over when you consider the suffering of those who live with the depressed person."

What symptoms would indicate that someone in the family has depression? "There are many, and different people have different symptoms. Some of the emotional symptoms are anxiety, loss of self-esteem, unwarranted fears, irritability, difficulty in concentrating, feelings of guilt, hopelessness and helplessness, indecisiveness and a tendency to exaggerate minor problems and obstacles. Physical symptoms include headache, fatigue, loss of appetite, sleep disturbances, chest pains, heart palpitations and general aches and pains."

Hubbard added that depression in some cases is believed to be caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain that makes the person susceptible to the condition, which is then triggered by an event in the life situation.

"That triggering event," she said, "can by anything from a simple argument to the death of a loved one. Regardless of what starts it, the depression can be deep and prolonged, with the person getting worse and worse and not being able to do anything about it."

Because of feelings of guilt, hopelessness and a belief that they do not deserve to be helped, depressed people are not likely to ask for help Mrs. Hubbard continued. "Even if they do want help, the condition often drains them of the decision making power and energy to get it."

As a result, she concluded, it is often up to someone else in the family to make sure that the person gets treatment. "If this is done, the whole family will be much better off. Depression generally responds very well to treatment. To delay that treatment only prolongs the suffering for the depressive and for the rest of the family."

Information about depression can be obtained by contacting the Mental Health Association in Alabama, 306 Whitman Street, Montgomery, Alabama 36104.

Chair caring classes

Replacing a cane chair seat need not be a costly and lengthy ordeal -- not if you do the work yourself. Sound impossible? Mary Ellen and Marvin Davis of Stripping Workshop in Pelham say "no." These local experts say few lessons will ease anyone with a knack for doing things themselves into a useful new hob-

Classes in caning will be taught during regular shop hours. Anyone interested in setting up a learning group should call the shop and place their name on the

Each class will be limited to one of the various forms in caning -- rush, split rush, or press cane. A minimum of 10 must register for a class to be organized. Hours will be negotiable.

Classes may be spread across a once a week basis or may be taken daily for an agreed length of time.

Many refinishing skills can be self-taught. But as with most skills, practicing with the experts far outweighs the value of the best manual.

For a limited time and at a reasonable cost the Davises are offering you an opportunity to see how caning is done, and practice under them the step-by-step procedure for producing beautiful canework.

Doing it yourself almost always winds up costing less, if you do it right. Stripping Workshop carries high quality supplies for caning, refinishing, and stripping and the owners will be happy to introduce you to the right materials for your specific

Mary Ellen and Marvin carry a wide spectrum of veneers and stains and will work with you in selecting the best match.

Not every furniture repair or refinishing skill can be handled at home. Stripping workshop offers reasonable rates on almost any imaginable repair, refinishing, or stripping job.

There's almost no job too large or small for Stripping Workshop located behind Pelham Mall. Shop hours are 9 to 5 daily, 9 to 1 Saturdays, and closed all day Thursday. Call 664-1700 for class information.

DID YOU KNOW? Nuclear fuel has lessened the need for foreign oil.

Alabama Power is not dependent on expensive foreign oil for electric generation thanks to coal, hydro and increasingly to nuclear fuel. In fact, since our first nuclear plant began operation in 1977, we have generated approximately 14% of our power from nuclear and less than one percent from oil and natural gas. In 1980, for the first time in history, utilities in the United States generated more electricity from nuclear fuel than from oil.

Hetz Resurvey, to the for the farm value of the farm ingredients in the modern one pound loaf of white bread. .

If you follow that, you'll understand that the fact that the farm ingredients went up 1.05 cents in the past five years is why the price of bread went up 16.83 cents a loaf during that period. Let's put it another way. If you eliminated the farm ingredients in cost of farm ingredients of five that loaf of bread five years ago, the empty bag would still cost Then, you compare that figure 30.8 cents. Eliminate the farm inthe 4.8 cents for the wheat and the .85 of a cent for other farm ingredients and you get 5.53 cents empty bread bag today.

How do sports fans spell relief?

F-0-0-T-B-A-L-L

by Richard Crosby

Memories fade slow. Seems like just the other day Thompson was playing Eufaula...Calera was setting new school records....Pelham and Chelsea were scratching for wins....

Those memories will start fading even faster in the coming days as this year's crop of gridiron performers seek to better the results of last year's Football Is Back!!

Just when you thought you could start watching television on Friday nights and staying home for supper, something comes along. No one's complaining. Football is the biggest news around Shelby County and win or lose, fans just can't be

Most county teams have entered their second week of practice and scrimmages have already been held by several squads.

There are some tough standards that the 1982 squads will have to muscle up to. So, enough with the gab and on with the news.

Here's what the county teams have on the field, and what they must overcome to show improve-

Montevallo Bulldogs

Montevallo has about 36 potential Bulldogs suited up. They hope to improve last year's 6-4 record. Montevallo lost 11 seniors from last year's team and has plenty of positions open.

Briarwood Lions

Briarwood recorded a 6-3 rcord in 1981. The Lions have about 44 athletes out for the team which started its spring workout this past Monday. The team lost nine seniors from last year.

Calera Eagles

Calera's Danny Alverson says he has 47 out for football. The Eagles will be playing in the Single A catagory this next season. Last year the final 2A squad posted an 11-1 record. Ten of those players are lost to graduation. The Eagles will hold their annual Blue-White intersquad game next Thursday night at Oliver Park.

Pelham Panthers

Pelham's coach Joel Foshee will probably be spending a lot of time with his offensive unit. The Panthers (0-10 last season) didn't score a point until the fifth game of the season.

Vincent Yellow Jackets

Vincent lost 16 seniors from last season's 3-7 team. Coach Harold Garrett is looking to find

Football bursts upon the scene

One of the Shelby County High School Wildcats breaks free of the defensive line in a scrimmage session held last Friday. The charge is visual evidence that football has burst upon the county (photo by Richard Crosby) folks for just about every position. He reported that about 40 have dressed out for the squad and are hard at work.

Shelby County Wildcats

Shelby County also lost 16 seniors and has quite a few openings available. Last season the Wildcats posted a 4-6 record. Tonight (Thursday) the Wildcats will hold an intersquad game at 7 p.m. under the lights in Columbiana.

Thompson Warriors

Thompson has its work cut out for it. The Warriors will have the services of Arthur Johnson next year. With some other key positions filled during the next couple of weeks, the Warriors just might surprise folks. You can bet that with the tradition that coach Larry Simmons has going, Thompson will be well represented again in 1982.

Shelby Academy Raiders

Shelby Academy's coach DeWayne Kervin says he has about 22 players out for spring training. He lost six seniors from the 1981 squad which won seven games and lost four. Shelby is also hosting a giant football jamboree on March 5th.

Coosa Valley Rebels

Coosa Valley posted a 1-9 record last season and lost eight seniors - only three of which had ever played football before. The Rebels are represented by 24 athletes this year who have been working out in the new weight room at the Harpersville private school. The addition was placed in the gym and eliminated the stage. New weight machines grace the 30 by 50 foot addition which also houses the equipment. Coach Gary Franks extended special thanks to all those involved in the project.

Chelsea Hornets

Chelsea is also searching for any type of improvement. The Hornets are always a tough bunch and have plenty of pride, but the wins didn't come last season. Coach Roger Hibbs has plans to get things rolling and has good representation from the school on the field.

That about wraps up what has to be done. We'll all start getting some good looks this week as scrimmages are being scheduled. Also on tap is a Football Jamboree at Shelby County High School next Thursday night. Vincent and Pelham will tangle for two quarters beginning at 6:30. Shelby County and Jemison square-off for the same amount of time right after the Panther-Yellow Jacket contest.

County basketball teams eliminated from quest of state championships

by Richard Crosby

Now it's really over. Basketballs no longer squeek on gym floors. Last week all county teams were eliminated from state championship hopes after suffering defeats in Area and State private school playoffs.

Thompson was the host for its Area title game, but the home school lost out in the semi-finals. Sylacauga was the eventual winner. The Aggies also won the Region matchup the following night and qualified for the state tournament.

In the first round of 3A action, Thompson beat B.B. Comer 73 to 51. Lester Gaiters had one of his best games, scoring 29 points against the Tigers. Donald Bivins dropped in 17 and Donald McKnight had 10.

Shelby County kept hopes alive by beating Pelham for the second time in as many weeks. The Widlcats captured a semi-final berth by whipping the Panthers 70 to 67. Bruce Martin scored 23, Thomas Simon 18, and Don. Phillips 14 for the winners. Leading scorers for Pelham were Bobby Sutton with 16, Devin Tubert with 14, David Toner and Todd Davis with 11 each.

Childersburg advanced to the Sylacauga who blew the doors off over Pell City. Sylacauga had a first round bye.

On Thursday night, both Thompson and Shelby County were eliminated from the race. Thompson was inched out by Childersburg 55 to 54. That game marked the third straight onepoint margin that separated winning from losing. Earlier the Warriors had lost by one in Childersburg and won by one at home. Chris Thomas led the way for Thompson with 16 points. Lester Gaiters scored 10.

Shelby County lost its bid to semis with a breezy 56 to 27 win the Wildcats with a 30 point margin, 73 to 43. Kenneth Jones bucketed 12 and Bruce Martin 11 for the only two Wildcats in double figures.

The championship game on Friday night pitted Childersburg and Sylacauga in a closely contested game. The Aggies took the lead and held on all night, but not before the Tigers gave them several good scares. In the end Sylacauga took the top trophy 71

The All Tournament team was named by the coaches at the conclusion of the tourney. From Shelby County were Thomas Simon and Bruce Martin. Pelham - Todd Davis. Thompson - Rod McDade and Lester Gaiters. Sylacauga - Ted Morgan and Jon Hand. Childersburg - Darryl Shephard, Rebel Houston and Steve Swain. Comer - Derrick

In the Area 2A race being held at Vincent High last week, Chelsea was a first round loser to Montevallo 56 to 70. Jim Weston and Kent O'Shields led the scoring for the Hornets while Montevallo's Tim Jones set a season record for the team with 24 points. Also in double figures for the Bulldogs were Taylor Blackwell, J.J. Moore and Eric Tolbert.

On Thursday evening, Montevallo lost to T.C.T.S. 50 to 58. The Bulldogs had a one point lead with six minutes remaining but couldn't hold on. Tim Jones again led the scoring attack with 17 points. J.J. Moore dropped in 13 and Eric Tolbert 10.

Vincent lost its bid to repeat as Area Champion. The Yellow Jackets whipped Calera in the first round, but found Winterboro all they could handle in the

Registration dates set for baseball

Baseball leagues and associations around the county are holding their annual registrations. In order for readers to keep everything straight, the following is the list from all groups that have contacted this office.

Columbiana

Registration is set for boys ages 5 to 12 and girls for ages 5 through 18. Dates are March 6th and 13th at the Shelby County High School gym from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The players along with their parent or guardian must be present. Tryouts for the teams will commence March 15th.

Officers for the 1982 Dixe Youth season are: Charles Jones - President, Tommy Harrison - Vice President, Tom Seale -Secretary, and Bill Justice -Treasurer. For more information, contact Jones at 669-6868.

Alabaster

This program is available for boys and girls ages five to 17. Registration will be held February 27th and March 6th, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Depot in Alabaster. For further information, contact Barbara Brakefield at 663-1172.

Helena Signup is set for February 27th and March 6th at the Helena Elementary School. Times are from 9 a.m. to Noon. No details were given for ages of children. Pelham Pelham has had a good response thus far in registration. Parents can register their children February 27th and March 6th at Pelham Plaza Mall from 9 a.m. to Noon, for boys ages five to 14, and girls ages five to 18.

Chelsea The Chelsea Youth Club is holding registration for boys' ages 7-12 and girls 6-15 on March 6th, 13th, and 20th. Signup will be held in the Chelsea High School gym from 9 a.m. to Noon. For information, call Ann Harris at 678-6797.

Montevallo The Park and Recreation building is the site for registration in Montevallo. Signup will be held this Saturday from 9 a.m. till 1

Important Notes

Birth certificates are required by all leagues and must be presented at the time of registration. There is a charge for registering and playing in all the leagues. Should you want further information, contact those mentioned above or go to registration.

UM Falcons take to the field as baseball season opens

The 1982 baseball season is here as the University of Montevallo Falcons throw out the first ball this Saturday, Feb. 27, against Middle Tennessee State University at Montevallo's Kermit Johnson Field.

The Falcons will engage the Blue Raiders from Murfreesboro in a doubleheader, beginning at 1 p.m. and it promises to be the toughest opening twinbill in Montevallo diamond history. Middle Tennessee went 34-15 last Coach Bob Riesener of the Falcons is chomping at the bit to test his team under fire, to see if they will be able to better last year's best ever 37-21 record. The Falcons are defending NAIA District 27 champions, and are ranked No. 15 in the NAIA preseason coaches' poll.

Montevallo's pitching staff is a young one, with only two returning lettermen, but the new staff members all have talent and Riesener is hoping the youngsters mature quickly.

While the pitching staff is young, the regular lineup is studded with veterans. It is a lineup loaded with hitters, one which should provide plenty of fireworks throughout the 1982

The Falcons are back in action on Tuesday, March 2, hosting Miles College for a pair at 12:30

To add to the fun, a number of special events have once again been planned for the new season. One of the most successful features last year were the "Home Run Innings," and those are back, sponsored this year by Ranelli's, Jack's, Pasquale's, Dari-Delite, and the Sonic Drive-In in Montevallo.

Among the specials throughout the season will be "Church Bulletin Day" on March 7 (show your church bulletin and get in free), "Purple and Gold Nite" on March 17 (anyone wearing purple or gold admitted for half price at the UM Spring Classic), "Family Nite" on March 20 (first two family members pay, the rest admitted free), "Cap Day" on March 26, "Picture Day" on April 7 and "Merchants Nite" on April 15.

Plenty of other specials are planned, and details of these will be announced as the season pro-

Tickets for Montevallo baseball games are $2 for adults and $1 for students and children, except during the UM Spring Classic, March 17-20, when they will be $3 and $1.50 for charity.

For more information, contact the UM basball office at 665-2521, ext. 395.

CVA Lady Rebels fall short of goal

Coosa Valley Academy's Lady Rebels lost in the first round of the state basketball playoffs. Last Monday night the squad lost to Grove Hill 34 to 52.

It was only the second time that the Harpersville school had advanced into the state playoffs. Sheila Kidd was the high point scorer for the Lady Rebels. She was also named to the State All Star team.

That squad will play this Saturday night at Huntington College in Montgomery. Coach Penny Mims lauded her team for its effort during the season. "They never gave up. They have set some goals for future teams at Coosa Valley to strive to achieve."

Coach Mims started the Lady Rebels's softball team practices this week. Every year Coosa Valley has had a team they have made the state playoffs. The first game of the season is set for March 25th.

Instructing

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

Football means I have to start lugging around all that heavy sports photography gear again. For basketball I got by with just the camera and regular lens. Now I've had to add the motordrive and big zoom lens. Luckily I've still got my monopod (the thing that supports all this so I don't have to stand there holding all this up and watch my arm muscles collapse).

But football is fun despite all the equipment. The spring games are the best for picture taking because I can get out on the field during scrimmages and get some unusual shots. Unlike a co-worker whose name I won't mention (you're welcome Bert) I have yet to be demolished by a runningback or flanker.

About four years ago they threw a pass to me but I wasn't quick enough to catch it. Another advantage to spring football and especially intersquad games, I can call a play or two. The conversation with the coach goes something like this.....

> "Hey coach, how about running a pass play to the tight end on this side?"

"Because I need to get a picture of that guy jumping in the air to catch the ball."

'What's in it for me?"

"How about if you run him near the sidelines where you're standing. That way you'll be in the background of the picture."

"Sounds good...Hey you! Get in there and tell'em to run a 90 series pass right at me, and don't block me out of the camera angle this

Well, maybe it doesn't always go like that, but sometimes a photographer will say just about anything to get a good picture. Trouble is, the coach goes out and buys up 10 copies of the paper just to see how good he looks in the background.

I haven't figured out a good excuse for telling him why he didn't show up in the picture....but I'm working on it. Stay tuned.....

Falcon golf squad looks for another national title try

With sights set on a third straight trip to the NAIA National Tournament, the University of Montevallo golf team tees off the 1982 spring season Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 27-28, at the Troy State University Multi-Match at the Trojan Oaks Golf Course in Troy.

It will be the first of six spring tournaments for the Falcon linksters in preparation for the NAIA District 27 Tournament on Apr. 26-27. A win there would give the Montevallo team a return trip to the NAIA Ntaionals, where they have finished 14th and 11th the past two years.

This year's NAIA National Tournament is set for June 1-4 at the Alamance Country Club in Burlington, N.C., with Elon College as the host school, and it is no secret - Alamance is the Falcons' goal this spring.

UM golf coach Dr. Leon Davis believes his team has an excellent shot at recapturing the district crown, despite the loss of five lettermen and only two returning players.

In fall tournaments last year, Montevallo recorded thirds in the Hart-Cullman Tourney and University of North Alabama Fall Classic, slipped to fourth in the Nahboro Village Tourney, then finished strong with a comefrom-behind win in the Calhoun

The Falcons and Dr. Davis are hopeful that final fall win was just a sign of good things to come along the road down the spring season and, quite possibly, to the NAIA National Tournament in

This week's AAIAW Division II State Tournament promises to be a busy time for Coach Becky Glass and her University of Montevallo Lady Falcons.

Unfortunately, the busy times won't be on the basketball court. The Lady Falcons were eliminated from one of three playoff berths from the North District last week when Jacksonville State University defeated Stillman College on Feb. 15, nailing down the final spot.

Perhaps disheartened by that, the Lady Falcons lost to Jacksonville State themselves 69-61 on Feb. 17, then closed out the 1981-82 season with a 71-62 loss to Spring Hill College.

Montevallo finished with a 4-19 overall record, but the team was young and inexperienced (six of the roster's ten players were freshmen, all of whom played extensively), and Coach Glass has high hopes and expectations of considerable improvement next

Track club readies for Oak Mt. race

"Preparations are now under- compete. way for the third annual Parisian/Birmingham Track Club March 1982 Run coming up on Saturday, March 20," announced Ms. Bobbie Harris, race direc-

"The female 5-K Run will begin at 9 a.m. at Oak Mountain Park," said Ms. Harris, "and the 10-K Run, open to everyone, will take place at 10 a.m.

"We want to encourage all women runners to begin preparing now for the first spring run," she continued.

Last year the Parisian/BTC Run at Oak Mountain Park brought almost 500 women and men from all over Alabama to

Special features of the race will be electronic timing, finish-line refreshments and special T-shirts for all entrants.

According to ms. Harris, "The money we raise goes to fund the Special Olympics and to supplement the track programs of the local high schools. We also make contributions to varous charities throughout the year."

semi-finals and dropped from the

The All Tournament team was named at the conclusion of the championship game on Friday night as T.C.T.S. beat Winterboro for the Area crown. Named to the honor squad were Tim Jones and Eric Tolbert from Montevallo, Richard Russell from Calera, Kent O'Shields from Chelsea, and Maurice and Mike Kelley from Vincent.

Shelby Acadmy won its first game in the state private school associational tournament. The Raiders defeated Jackson Academy 42 to 39 last Tuesday. Mike Silvani led the scoring with 13 points, followed by Allen Terrell and Billy Eiland with 10 each.

On Wednesday night the Raiders took on undefeated Tuscaloosa Academy and lost 43 to 50. Tuscaloosa made Shelby its 56th straight victim in route to defending its state championship title. Billy Eiland and Rod Byrd scored 10 each for the Raiders in that game. The loss ended the season with 20 wins and 9 losses for the private school. "We're real pleased with the year," coach DeWayne Kervin stated. "We played awfully well the last week of the season. I think we went out on a high note. Everyone gave great effort and may have played above their heads."

Shelby can claim to be in the top eight basketball squads in the 56 member school organization.

Briarwood Christian School completed its final basketball game of the year last week with a 55 to 46 win over Cathedral Christian. Lee Kirkpatrick was top scorer with 13 points. Brad Byers handed in 11. The win left the team with an 11-9 record for the year.

Well, it's been a good season, with some exceptional moments. Pelham's county championship was perhaps the most exciting game of the year. Shelby Academy's fight into the playoffs and great season half of the season will be an inspiration for the school.

Despite losing out on trips to Tuscaloosa, county basketball fans can look forward to the Region being well represented by Sylacauga and T.C.T.S.

Falcons do their part to stay alive for District bid

Three straight victories to close out the regular season has given the University of Montevallo Falcons a most impressive 19-10 record, but it will all be for naught if the Falcons don't win this week's Southern States Conference Tournament.

Montevallo was to open the tournament Monday night with a game at Birmingham-Southern College. The winner would face No. 1-seeded Athens State College in the semi-finals Wednesday night at Huntingdon College in Montgomery, and that winner would play the winner of the Auburn University at Montgomery vs. University of Alabama in Hunstville game Thursday night at Huntingdon for the championship.

In order for Montevallo to make the NAIA District 27 Playoffs for a shot at the NAIA National Tournament in Kansas City, Mo., the Falcons would have to win the tournament and the automatic bid that goes with it. Montevallo's 6-6 record in District 27 play left them fifth in the final standings, and only the top four qualify for the playoffs.

Should Montevallo pull off the tournament wins and make the playoffs, the team would get the fourth spot and travel to topseeded Alabama State University on Monday, March 1.

The mission is not impossible, as UM coach Dr. Bill Elder knows. "We are not a bad ballclub; we just play in an extremely strong conference and district in which everybody sort of knocked each other off," he pointed out. "If we play hard, like we have lately, we could possibly win the conference tournament and make the playoffs. But it sure won't be easy."

With those three straight wins, the Falcons have hopefully built up some momentum for the tournament. The Falcons took relatively easy wins over Talladega College 108-76 and Spring Hill College 79-52, then squeezed out a hard-fought 42-41 win over archrival Birmingham-Southern.

Montevallo survived the Southern game despite shooting only 30.2 percent from the field and 58.8 percent from the free throw line. Fortunately, the visiting Panthers weren't much better, hitting only 40.0 percent from the field and 59.1 percent from the line.

Milton Smith's 12-foot jumper from the middle of the lane with 0:05 left put the Falcons on top for good. Clint Stewart was the only Falcon in double figures in the BSC game, scoring 10.

In addition to raising money for heart research, the jump-athon also emphasizes that jumping rope is a good way for the family to have fun and stay fit.

The event is sponsored nationally by the Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

In Alabama, the sponsoring organization is the Alabama State Association for HPERD, and local sponsors are the University of Montevallo Physical Education Club and the ment.

Helena to boast new fields when baseball season opens

by David F. Moore

A lot of work has been put into it. And it's not finished yet. But from all indications, Helena will have a new, first class ball park ready for action by the opening day of the Dixie Youth season.

Officially named the Charles W. Penhale Recreational Complex, the facility has been a community dream for a number of years. Besides hundreds of volunteered man, women, and kid-hours from enthusiastic · residents and church groups, and supplies donated from area businesses, industries and indiv- the fence 336 feet away in any duals, the facility carries a price tag of about $170,000.

The nucleus of the complex is the two-story concession stand/pressbox which overlooks the three baseball diamonds surrounding it. Two of the fields are standard little league size, while the third is larger to accommodate Dixie Majors, Dixie Boys, and church league softball

Anyone out to slug a homer on the big field will have to put a little muscle in their swing to clear direction. On the smaller fields, it's 180 feet down the lines from the plate to the fence.

Since last fall, the land has been cleared, dirt hauled in and leveled, and the concession stand built. Fence and lighting work, hampered by the weather and having to blast for the light pole holes, was just recently finished.

Rocks and debris have already been cleared from the two smaller fields, and volunteers last Saturday were doing final clearing on the large field. League President Randall Johnston said grass will probably be planted this weekend.

The scoreboards and bleachers have already been delivered and will be erected soon. Randal said the city will probably start asphalting the parking lot in the later part of March.

"It looks like in all reality we'll have the fields ready for opening date--if mother nature treats us right," Johnston told the Reporter.

The park will be dedicated during opening day ceremonies the morning of April 17.

Johnston praised the ladies auxiliary for raising money for players equipment and equipment for the oncession stand. The auxiliary is under the direction of president Sue Acton.

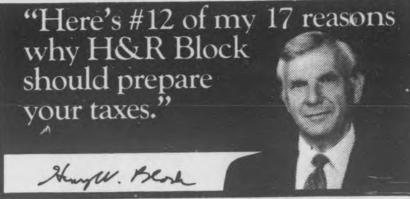

"We have a lot of unsung heroes," Johnston said. "But without the help of the ladies auxiliary, we wouldn't have money to operate the program. They're the foundation of the organization if you ask me."

Land for the new facility was donated three years ago to the city by Jack J. Hall. The federal Land and Water Conservation Fund granted $86,000 in matching funds for the project, and the city supplied the same amount either in moneyor inkind services.

Johnston said Councilman Ron Erwin has been tireless in his efforts at coordinating the work for the city.

Helena Dixie Youth will field 17 or 18 teams this season for boys 5-18 and girls 6-18. Registration will continue for two more Saturdays from 9-12 at the Helena School library, and proof of age is required.

Johnston urged all interested parties to lend a hand with the work any Saturday morning, beginning at 9 a.m. The complex is located on highway 58 in Helena, between highways 95 and

Permanent trust fund from oil, gas leases

Amendment No. 1 STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, Act No. 81-1190 of the Legislature of Alabama passed during the Third Special Session, 1981, provides that an election be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of Alabama: and

WHEREAS, said Act further provides that the election be held on March 2, 1982; and,

WHEREAS, The Constitution of Alabama, 1901, requires that notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, be given by a Proclamation of the Governor; and

WHEREAS, such Proclamation is to be published in each county in the State of Alabama for at least four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for such election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, 1901:

"Section 1. Creation of Trust Fund. For the continuing benefit of the State of Alabama and the citizens thereof, there is hereby created an irrevocable, permanent trust fund named 'The Alabama Heritage Trust Fund" which shall be funded and administered in accordance with the provisions of this amendment.

Section 2. Definitions. As used in this amendment, following words and phrases shall have the following respective mean-

"Alabama Housing Finance Authority" means (i) the public corporation and instrumentality of the State organized pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 80-585 enacted at the 1980 Regular Session of the Legislature or (ii) any other public corporation and instrumentality of the State which performs substantially the same functions as said corporation organized pursuant to said Act No. 80-585 and which is declared by the Legislature to be a successor thereto or replacement thereof.

"Amortized Premium", when used with reference to any Eligible Investment acquired for a purchase price (exclusive of accrued interest) reflecting a premium above the face or par amount thereof, means an amount determined by first dividing the total dollar amount of the premium at which such investment was purchased by the number of days between the date of purchase and the maturity of such investment (or other date when the principal thereof is contractually required to be paid to the holder thereof) and by then multiplying the quotient so obtained by the number of days between the date of purchase and the date as of which such amount is to be determined.

"Board" means the Board of Trustees of the Trust Fund.

"Commission" means the "Alabama Heritage Trust Fund Legislative Oversight Commission" created in this amendment. "Eligible Investments"

means any of the following: (1) demand deposits (whether or not interest bearing) in Federally Insured Banks, interest bearing time deposits (whether or not evidenced by certificates of deposit) in Federally Insured Banks, and banker's acceptances endorsed and guaranteed by Federally Insured Banks: provided that noninterest bearing deposits shall constitute an Eligible Investment for moneys in the Trust Fund for only so long as sound business practice shall require such moneys to be held in such deposits pending the investment thereof in other Eligible Investments or the disbursement thereof in accordance with the provisions of this amendment; provided further that the aggregate amount of deposits (including both demand and time deposits) of the Trust Fund in any one bank at any time plus the aggregate amount of banker's acceptances of such bank then held by the Trust Fund (i) shall not exceed ten percent (10%) of the total Trust Capital and (ii) shall not exceed ten percent (10%) of the combined capital, surplus and undivided profits of such bank unless any excess of the combined amount of deposits and banker's acceptances over ten percent of such combined capital. surplus and undivided profits shall be secured by obligations described in subdivisions (2) and (3) of this definition having at all times a market value (exclusive of accrued interest)

at least equal to such excess amount of deposits and banker's acceptances. including accrued interest thereon.

(2)bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness that are direct obligations of the United States of America or that are unconditionally guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the United States of

"Trust Income", when used with reference to any period, means the net income received during such period from the investment and reinvestment of all assets of the Trust Fund, determined in accordance with the provisions of Section 5(c) of this amendment.

"Trustee" means a member of the Board of Trustees of the Trust Fund. "Section 3. Management of Trust Fund Vested in

Board of Trustees. (a) The Trust Fund shall be under the management and control of the Board, and all powers necessary or appropriate for the management and control of the Trust Fund shall be vested solely in the Board. The Board shall have a membership of nine Trustees consisting of the Governor, the State Treasurer, the Director of Finance (or such other official as may by law succeed to the responsibilities of the Director of Finance), two Trustees appointed by the Governor, two Trustees appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, and two Trustees appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Governor, the State Treasurer and the Director of Finance shall each serve as a Trustee ex officio, and the service of each such official as a Trustee shall begin and end concurrently with the beginning and end of his or her tenure in such office. As promptly as practicable after the effective date of this amendment, the other Trustees shall be appointed for the following initial terms: the Trustees to be appointed by the Governor shall be appointed for terms beginning immediately upon their respective appointments and ending at noon on October 1 in the first and second calendar years, respectively, next following the calendar year in which this amendment shall become effective; the Trustees to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor shall be appointed for a term beginning immediately upon his or her appointment and ending at noon on October 1 in the third calendar year next following the calendar year in which this amendment shall become effective; and the Trustees to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall be appointed for a term beginning immediately upon his or her appointment and ending at noon on October 1 in the fourth calendar year next following the calendar year in which this amendment shall become effective Thereafter, the term of office of each appointed Trustee shall be six years, commencing at noon on the October 1 on which the term of the immediate predecessor Trustee shall (b) If at any time there shall be a vacancy among the appointed Trustees, a successor Trustee shall be appointed to serve for the unexpired term applicable to such vacancy. The appointment of each appointed Trustee (other than those initially appointed), whether for a full six-year term or to complete an unexpired term, shall be made by the same officer of the State who appointed the Trustee whose term shall have expired or is to expire or in whose position on the Board a vacancy otherwise exists and shall be made not earlier than thirty (30) days prior to the date on which such Trustee is to take office as such. Each appointed Trustee shall hold office from the effective date of his or her appointment until his or her confirmation or rejection by the Senate as provided in subsection (c) of this section, and, if confirmed by nate, until the expiration of the term (or portion thereof) for which he or she that if the term of any Trustee shall expire prior to the reappointment of such Trustee or prior to the appointment of his or her successor, such Trustee shall continue to serve until his or her successor is appointed, and if such Trustee is reappointed for a new term after the expiration of the immediately preceding term which he or she has been serving, his or her new term of office shall be deemed to have commenced at noon on the October 1 on which the immediately preceding term shall have expired. Trustees shall be eligible for reappointment without limit as to the number of terms previously served. (c) At the beginning of every regular session of the Legislature the Governor shall certify to the Senate the names of all who shall have been appointed as Trustees since the commencement of the last regular session of the Legislature, and the Senate shall confirm or reject each of them as it shall determine to be in the best interests of the State. If the Senate takes no action during such regular session with respect to any Trustee whose appointment was so certified, such Trustee shall be deemed to have been confirmed by the Senate. If the Senate rejects the appointment of any Trustee, such rejection shall immediately terminate the service of such Trustee and the resulting vacancy in the membership of the Board shall be filled by a subsequent appointment made in accordance with the provisions of subsection (b) of this section. Trustees appointed during a regular session of the Legislature shall not be subject to confirmation or rejection by the Senate until the regular session of the Legislature next succeeding their ap-

(d) Each appointed Trustee shall, at the time of his or her appointment and at all times during his or her term of office, be a qualified elector of the State, and a failure by any Trustee to remain so qualified during auch term shall cause a vacancy of the office of such Trustee. Each appointed Trustee shall have recognized competence and experience in the evaluation and management of investments. No person holding a full-time office or position of employment with the United States of America, the State, any county or municipality in the State, or any instrumentality, agency or subdivision of any of the foregoing, shall be eligible for appointment as a Trustee. Any person who is an appointed Trustee shall be deemed to vacate his or her office as such Trustee by the acceptance of any office or employment which, had such person held such office or been so employed at the time of his or her appointment as a Trustee, would have rendered such person ineligible for appointment as a Trustee. Service by any person as a member, director, trustee or other participant in the management or administration of any governmental agency, board or commission, or public educational institution, or other public body of the United States of America, the State, or any county or municipality or other political subdivision shall not render such person ineligible for appointment as a Trustee unless such service constitutes full-time employment. Any appointed Trustee may be impeached and removed from office as a Trustee in the same manner and on the same grounds provided in Section 174 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, or successor provision thereof, and the general laws of the State for impeachment and removal of the officers of the State subject to said Section 174 or successor provision thereof. The Governor, the State Treasurer and the Director of Finance may not be impeached and removed from office as a Trustee apart from their impeachment and removal from the respective offices by virtue of which, ex officio, they serve as Trustees.

(e) The Governor, the State Treasurer and the Director of Finance shall perform the duties of Trustees, ex officio. without any compensation other than that to which they are respectively entitled as Govornor, State Treasurer and Director of Finance. Appointed Trustees shall be entitled to such compensation for their services as may from time to time be provided by law duly enacted by the Legislature, but the power to provide compensation of appointed Trustees shall be discretionary with the Legislature and nothing in this amendment shall be construed to confer upon such Trustees an absolute right to any compensation for their services. Each appointed Trustee si reimbursed for expenses actually incurred in the performance of his or her duties as a Trustee. (f) A majority of the

quorum for the transaction

of business by the Board, and decisions shall be made on the basis of a majority of the quorum then present and voting, with each Trustee to have a single vote. No vacancy in the membership of the Board or the voluntary disqualification or abstention of any Trustee shall impair the right of a quorum to exercise all of the powers and duties of the Board. The Governor shall be the chairman and presiding officer of the Board, and the Board may appoint such other officers to perform such duties; not inconsistent with the provisions of this amendment or applicable law, as the Board shall deem necessary or appropriate. In addition to such regular meetings of the Board as may be provided by law or by bylaws or rules duly adopted by the Board, special meetings of the Board may be called by the Governor acting alone or by any three other Trustees acting in concert, in each case upon two days' notice to each Trustee given in person or by registered letter or telegram; provided, however, that such notice to each Trustee may be waived by such Trustee, either before or after the meeting with respect to which such notice would otherwise be required. Any meeting held by the Board for any purpose shall be open to the public, except that executive or secret sessions may be held by the Board when the character or good name of a person is involved. All proceedings of the Board shall be reduced to writing on behalf of the Board and maintained in the permanent records of the Board. a copy of which shall be filed in the principal office of the Board and shall be open for public inspection there during regular business hours. The principal office of the Board shall be the tor of Finance.

(g) No Trustee shall vote on or participate in the discussion or consideration of any matter coming before the Board in which such Trustee, personally or through family connections principal office of the Direc-

or business associations. has any direct or indirect pecuniary interest, including, but without limitation thereto, decisions of the Board concerning the investment of moneys constituting part of the Trust Fund in any deposit or obligation of any bank or corporation in which such Trustee may have such an interest. If there shall be brought before the Board any matter in which a Trustee shall have any interest which may conflict with his duties as a Trustee. , he or she shall immediately make a complete disclosure to the Board of such interest and shall thereafter withdraw from participation in any deliberation and decision of the Board with respect to such matter.

(h) The Board shall have all of the powers necessary to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this amendment, including, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the following powers:

(1) to adopt, alter and repeal bytaws, regulations and rules for the regulation and conduct of its affairs and business:

(2) to make, enter into and gxecute contracts, agreements and other instruments and to take such other actions as may be necessary or convenient to accomplish any purpose for which the Trust Fund was created or to exercise any power expressly, or by preasonable implication, granted by this amendment;

ment;
(3) to enter into contracts with, to accept aid and grants from, to cooperate with and to do any and all things that may be necessary in order to avail itself of the aid and cooperation of the United States of America, the State or any agency, instrumentality or political subdivision of either thereof in furtherance of the purposes of this amendment;

and

provided, however, that any obligation created or assumed by the Board shall not create any pecuniary obligation or liability of the State or the Trust Fund other than such as shall be payable out of moneys appropriated by Legislature to defray the expenses of the Board in carrying out the purposes of this amendment. No lien or charge against any assets of the Trust Fund for any purpose whatsoever shall be created by or result from any law enacted by the Legislature or any action taken by the Board or any other department, agency or instrumentality of the State.

(i) The expenses of making and disposing of investments such as brokerage commissions, legal expenses referable to a particular transaction, transfer taxes and other customary transactional expenses shall, as provided in Section 5(c) of this amendment, be payable from the investment income of the Trust Fund, but no administrative or other expenses not specifically required to make or dispose of a particular investment shall be payable out of any assets of the Trust Fund. The Legislature shall provide for the administrative and other necessary expenses of the Board in the same manner as it provides for the expenses of operating other departments and agencies of the State.

"Section 4. Sources of Trust Capital. (a) There shall be transferred from the general fund of the State into the Trust Fund, as the initial Trust Capital, moneys in an amount equal to the sum of (i) all proceeds of any Oil and Gas Capital Payments received by the State at any time after January 1, 1981, and on or before November 1, 1981, and (ii) all income or profit derived from the investment and reinvestment of the proceeds of such Oil and Gas Capital Payments (including income or profit derived from the investment and reinvestment of previously derived income or profit) prior to the transfer of such proceeds into the Trust Fund, less and except the following:

(1) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit which has been disbursed by the State, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the use of the Board of Corrections pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 81-764 enacted at the 1981 Regular Session of the Legislature;

(2) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit which has been disbursed by the State, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the use of the Department of Mental Health pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 81-770 enacted at the 1981 Regular Session of the Legislature;

(3) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit which has been appropriated by the Legislature, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the use or benefit of the Alabama Housing Finance Authority and which, as of the effective date of this amendment, is required by any then applicable law to be held apart from the Trust Fund and not Included with the moneys to be transferred into such fund as part of the initial Trust Capital;

(4) any amount of such proceeds, income or profit exceeding $6,000,000 which has been appropriated by the Legislature, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the reimbursement of the counties of the State for expenses incurred by such counties in the incarceration or confinement of convicts or other prisoners who are the responsibility of the State; and

(5) any amount of such

proceeds, income or profit

$10,000,000 which has

exceeding

Legislature, prior to the effective date of this amendment, for the support and encouragement of educational, agricultural and industrial activities involving basic and applied scientific research and development Promptly following the effective date of this amendment, the State Treasurer shall take all actions necessary to transfer to the Board the possession, control and management of the initial Trust Capital. If at the time of such transfer into the Trust Fund all or part of the initial Trust Capital is invested in certificates of deposit or other investments which cannot be converted into cash prior to the maturity thereof without loss of interest or other penalty, the State Treasurer shall directly transfer such certificates of deposit or other investments to the Board as part of the initial Trust Capital without first converting the same into cash. In the event that any certificates of deposit or other investments shall be transferred into the Trust Fund, the initial Trust Capital shall include only the income or profit from such certificates of deposit or other investments that has been received by the te on or bet transfer or that constitutes accrued interest, amortized discount or other amounts which, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, should be considered as having been earned by the State as of the date of such transfer. To the extent that any income or profit derived from such certificates of deposit or other investments is referable to any period after the transfer thereof into the Trust Fund. such income or profit shall constitute Trust Income and shall not constitute part of the Trust Capital (except to the extent otherwise provided by Section 5(a) of to the extent otherwise provided by Section 5(a) of this amendment).

Any provision of this amendment to the contrary notwithstanding, no Oil and Gas Capital Payment received by the State after November 1, 1981, or any income from the investment thereof, shall, unless subsequently authorized by law, be transferred into the Trust Fund.

(b) The Trust Capital shall be augmented by any Trust Income which, as provided in Section 5(a) of this amendment, shall have remained in the Trust Fund beyond the end of the Fiscal Year next succeeding the Fiscal Year during which it was received without having been appropriated for any purpose by act of the Legislature. The Trust Capital shall also consist of (i) such other moneys or assets as the Legislature may by law appropriate and transfer to the Trust Fund as a permanent part thereof and (ii) such other moneys or assets as may be contributed to the Trust Fund from any source.

"Section 5. Investment of Moneys in Trust Fund; Appropriation of Trust Income (a) Except to the extent otherwise provided in Section 6 of this amendment, the Trust Capital shall be held in perpetual trust and shall not be appropriated by the Legislature or expended or disbursed for any purpose other than to acquire Eligible Investments in accordance with the provisions of this amendment. All Eligible Investments acquired, in whole or in part, with moneys constituting part of the Trust Capital shall to the extent of such moneys constitute part of the Trust Capital, but any Trust Income derived therefrom shall be subject to appropriation and withdrawal by the Legislature to the extent provided in this amendment. Until and including the last day of the Fiscal Year next succeeding the Fiscal Year during which any Trust Income shall be received into the Trust Fund, the Legislature may at any time and from time to time, whether before or after the actual receipt of such Trust Income, enact laws appropriating all or any part of such Trust Income for any lawful purpose, and any Trust Income so appropriated may be withdrawn from the Trust Fund at any time after the receipt thereof; provided. however, that the right of the Legislature to appropriate any Trust Income prior to the actual receipt thereof shall not be construed to authorize the recognition and withdrawal of any moneys equivalent to such Trust Income prior to the actual receipt thereof into the Trust Fund. If any Trust Income shall not be appropriated by a law which becomes effective on or before the last day of the Fiscal Year next succeeding that during which it was received, such Trust Income shall thereafter cease to be subject to appropriation and shall become part of the Trust Capital to be held in the Trust Fund on the same terms and conditions as are applicable to all other assets constituting the Trust Capital. Any Trust Income appropriated by a law becoming effective on or before the last day of the Fiscal Year next succeeding that during which it was received shall remain

Trust Income even though it is permitted to remain in the Trust Fund after the end of such Fiscal Year, and any such Trust Income shall be subject to withdrawal from the Trust Fund at any time thereafter in the manner provided by law for the purposes for which it shall theretofore have been appropriated. (b) To the extent practicable, the Board shall keep all moneys at any time held in the Trust Fund (including both Trust Capital and Trust Income) invested in such Eligible Investments as shall, in its sole and uncontrolled judgment, produce the greatest Trust Income over the term of such investments while preserving the Trust Capital, In making any investment of moneys held in the Trust Fund, the Board shall exercise the judgment and care. under the circumstances prevailing at the time of such investment, which an institutional investor of the highest standard of prudence, intelligence and financial expertise would exercise in the manage ment and investment of large assets entrusted to it not for the purpose of speculative profit but for the permanent generation and disposition of funds, considering the probable safety of capital as well as the expected amount and frequency of income. The Board shall have full power and authority to select the Eligible Investments in which moneys held in the Trust Fund shall at any time be invested, and, to the extent not inconsistent with any express provision of this amendment, the Eligible Investments so selected shall be acquired from such issuers, underwriters, brokers or other sellers on such terms and conditions, shall be acquired for purchase prices reflecting such discount below or premium above the par or face amount thereof, shall bear such dates and be in such form, denominations and series, shall mature or be subject to mandatory redemption on such dates, shall bear interest at such rate or rates payable at such intervals or, alternatively, shall provide income to the holder thereof in such other manner (including, without limitation thereto, the purchase of such investments at a discount which represents all or part of the income or profit to be derived therefrom), shall be unsecured or secured in such manner, shall contain such provisions for prepayment or redemption at the option of the issuer or obligor, and shall contain or ed Premium be subject to such other provisions as shall, in all of the foregoing respects, be determined by the Board in the exercise of its sole and uncontrolled judgment. The Board shall have full power and authority to invest the Trust Capital in long-term investments producing

Trust Income in accordance with such schedule as the Board shall, in the exercise of its sole and uncontrolled judgment, determine to be in the best interests of the State, and in determining such schedule the

Board may emphasize future benefits in preference to near-term

needs. The Board shall

have complete and uncontrolled discretion in making decisions as to when

moneys in the Trust Fund

shall be invested, as to the purchase price or other acquisition cost to be paid or incurred in acquiring investments for the Trust Fund, as to when investments constituting part of the Trust Fund shall be sold, liquidated or otherwise disposed of, and, notwithstanding the provisions of Section 100 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, as to the amount and nature of the price or other consideration to be received by the Trust Fund upon the sale, liquidation or other disposition of investments constituting part of the Trust Fund: provided. however, that to the extent the provisions of this amendment authorize the withdrawal of moneys from the Trust Fund (including both Trust Capital and Trust income) pursuant to appropriation by the Legislature, the Board shall invest the moneys so subject to withdrawal in investments which shall mature or otherwise be subject to liquidation on such terms as will provide cash when required for withdrawal from the Trust Fund. No law shall be enacted nor any action taken by the executive department of the State which impairs or interferes with the power, authority and discretion conferred upon the Board by this amendment with respect to the acquisition, management, control and disposition of investments at any time constituting part of the Trust Fund. (c) The Trust Income for any period shall be the net

hereinafter provided) actually received in cash or cash equivalents during such period from the investment and reinvestment of all moneys held in the Trust Fund (including both moneys representing Trust Capital and moneys representing previously received Trust Income that has not become part of the Trust Capital). No accrual or other accounting calculation or classification shall constitute the basis for recognizing Trust Income unless the moneys in question shall have been actually received and paid into the Trust Fund. The Trust Income for any period shall consist of the aggregate interest received from investments during such period plus any profit realized during such period from any payment, sale, liquidation or other disposition of investments resulting in the receipt of an amount greater than the purchase price thereof, less (i) any negative audit adjustments to income and any losses which are required to be charged against the income of the Trust Fund for such period pursuant to the provisions of subsection (d) of this section, (ii) any accrued interest paid as part of the purchase price of investments acquired during such period, and (iii) all expenses of selling and disposing of investments during such period such as brokerage commissions, legal expenses referable to a particular transaction, transfer taxes and other customary transactional expenses. For purposes of determining the amount of the Trust Capital at any time held in the Trust Fund, any investment acquired for a purchase price reflecting a discount below its face or par amount shall, at all times prior to its payment. sale. liquidation or other disposition, be valued at its original purchase price. If any investment is acquired for a purchase price reflecting a premium above its face or par amount, then, for purposes of calculating Trust Income, the cumulative interest or other income theretofore received from such investment as of any time shall be reduced by the then applicable Amortized Premium of such investment. For purposes of determining the amount of Trust Capital at any time held in the Trust Fund, any investment acquired for a purchase price reflecting a premium above its face or par amount shall, at all times prior to its payment. sale, liquidation or other disposition, be valued at its original purchase price less its then applicable Amortiz-

(d) The Trust Income shall be adjusted in accordance with the succeeeding provisions of this subsection if the application of generally accepted accounting principles in connection with the annual audit of the Trust Fund requires any negative adjustment of income, including the recognition of any reduction in value or write off of investments for reasons relating to the probability of their payment or collectibility, or if any loss is realized upon any payment, sale, liquidation or other disposition of any investment resulting in the receipt of any amount less than the value thereof determined in

sions of this amendment; provided, however, that no reduction in value of any investment shall be made because the rate of interest or other yield thereon has fallen below the market rates then applicable to comparable investments. Any audit adjustment resulting in a charge against income or any loss realized from the payment, sale, liquidation or other disposition of investments, as the case may be, shall be charged first against any Trust Income which, as of the time such adjustment is made or such loss is realize ed, has accumulated in the Trust Fund and is then available for withdrawal, whether or not theretofore appropriated, and if the amount to be so charged is greater than the amount of accumulated Trust Income subject to withdrawal, such amount shall be charged against Trust Income thereafter received in the current and succeeding Fiscal Years until the full amount of such audit adjustment or loss, as the case may be, has been recovered or made good out of the investment in come of the Trust Fund and from and after the time that such audit adjustment is made or such loss is realized, as the case may be, no income of the Trust Fund shall be considered Trust Income for purposes of this amendment until the full amount of such adjust ment or loss shall have been so recovered or made good. In the event that, as a result of any audit adjustment or any realized loss the aggregate amount of income appropriated and withdrawn from the Trust Fund as of any time during or at the end of any Fiscal Year exceeds the aggregate Trust Income which, taking into account such adjustment or loss should have been available for withdrawal at or before such time, then, and in such event, the excess amount so withdrawn need not be returned to the Trust Fund from the general fund of the State or from any other source of funds available to the State, but the amount of such excess withdrawal shall be recovered through charges against future income of the Trust Fund as above provid-

(e) To the extent appropriate and not at the time prohibited by law, the Board shall use the facilities of the State Treasurer in the administration of the Trust Fund, including, but without limitation thereto, the keeping of records, the manage ment of bank accounts, the transfer of funds and the safekeeping of securities evidencing investments.

(f) The Board shall cause an annual audit of the Trust Fund to be performed for each Fiscal Year by the State Auditor or, in the discretion of the Board, by an independent accounting firm and shall cause a report of such audit to be prepared in accordance with applicable accounting principles and made public within ninety (90) days following the end of the Fiscal Year covered thereby. The Board shall cause to be prepared and publicized such financial and other information concerning the Trust Fund as may from time to time be provided by law duly enacted by the Legislature, but in the absence of any law directing the prepara tion and publication of different reports, the Board shall cause to be prepared and made public, within thirty (30) days after the end of each quarterly period in each Fiscal Year, a report containing (i) a statement of the Trust Capital then held in the Trust Fund showing any changes thereto since the last quarterly report, (ii) a statement of the Trust Income then held in the Trust Fund showing receipts and withdrawals therefrom during the quarterly period in question and further showing the portion thereof previously appropriated and the portion thereof subject to appropriation but not then appropriated, (iii) a statement of the investments then held in the descriptions thereof and the respective values thereof, (iv) a statement of the Trust Income received to date during the current Fiscal Year. (v) if such report covers the first, second or third quarterly period, an estimate of the Trust Income anticipated for the entire current Fiscal Year and for each of the remaining quarterly periods thereof, and (vi) an estimate of the Trust Income anticipated for the next succeeding Fiscal-Year and in each of the quarterly periods thereof.

"Section 6. Alternative Disposition of Certain Trust Fund Moneys. (a) By any duly enacted law or laws, whether becoming effective before or after the effective date of this amendment, the Legislature may appropriate moneys constituting Trust Capital or Trust Income or a combination of both for the use or benefit of the Alabama Housing Finance Authority in such aggregate amount as, when added to any amount excluded from the initial Trust Capital pursuant to clause (3) of the first sentence of Section 4 of this amendment, shall not exceed the sum of $19,500,000. All or any part of the moneys so appropriated may be held in the Trust Fund until disbursed for the purpose for which appropriated, or all or any part of such moneys may be immediately withdrawn from the Trust Fund and transferred to the Alabama Housing Finance Authority for the use thereof or, alternatively, transferred to the State and held by it until used to pay expenses for and on behalf of such authority, all in accordance with such law or laws as may from time to time be enacted by the Legislature. (b) In order to provide an alternative source for the moneys appropriated for the use of the Board of Corrections pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 81-764 enacted at the 1981 Regular Session of the Legislature, the Legislature may, by any duly enacted law or laws, whether becoming effective before or after the effective date of this amendment, appropriate moneys constituting Trust Capital or Trust Income or a combination of both for the use of the Board of Corrections in making capital expenditures; provided, however, that the aggregate amount so appropriated for the use of the Board of Corrections and withdrawn from the Trust Fund shall not exceed an amount computed as the difference between $45,000,000 and the sum of (i) the amount excluded from the initial Trust Capital pursuant to clause (1) of the first sentence of Section 4 of this amendment and (ii) all other amounts at any time appropriated by the Legislature from the proceeds of bonds of the State or other sources for the use of the Board of Corrections in substitution for or replacement of all or any part of the moneys appropriated pursuant to said Act No. 81-764. (c) In order to provide an

moneys appropriated for the use of the Department of Mental Health pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 81-770 enacted at the 1981 Regular Session of the Legislature, the Legislature may, by any duly enacted law or laws, whether or not becoming effective before or after the effective date of this amendment, appropriate moneys constituting Trust Capital or Trust Income or a combination of both for the use of the Department of Mental Health in making capital expenditures; provided, however, that the aggregate amount so appropriated for the use of the Department of Mental Health and withdrawn from the Trust Fund shall not exceed an amount computed as the difference between $65,000,000 and the sum of (i) the amount excluded from the initial Trust Capital pursuant to clause (2) of the first sentence of Section 4 of this amendment and (ii) all other amounts at any time appropriated by the Legislature from the proceeds of bonds of the State or other sources for the use of the Department of Mental Health in substitution for or replacement of all or any part of the moneys appropriated pursuant to said Act No. 81-770. "Section 7. Limitation of Personal Liability of Trustees. An individual Trustee shall not in any way be personally liable for any liability, loss or expense suffered by the Trust Fund unless such liability, loss or expense arises out of or results from the willful misconduct or wrongdoing of such Trustee

'Section 8. Legislative Oversight Commission. (a) There is hereby created the Alabama Heritage Trust Fund Legislative Oversight Commission to consist of the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House, and five members each from the House of Representatives and the Senate to be appointed by the Speaker of the House and the Lieutenant Governor, respectively. If the Legislature is in regular session at the time this amendment shall become effective, the original members of the Commission shall be appointed at such regular session, and if the Legislature is not in regular session at the time this amendment shall become effective, the members of the Commission shall be appointed at the next regular session of the Legislature. The original members of the Commission shall serve for the remainder of their elected terms of office as members of the Legislature, and the terms of office of members of the Commission shall thereafter correspond to the full four-year terms for which members of the Legislature are elected. If at any time there shall be a vacancy among the appointed members of the Commission, a successor shall be appointed from the same body of the Legislature as that to which the previous incumbent belonged, and such successor shall serve for the remainder of the unexpired term of such previous incumbent

(b) The Commission shall hold an organizational meeting at the State Capitol within ten (10) days after the appointment of the original members thereof, and shall elect a chairman and vice chairman from among its members. Thereafter, the Commission shall meet, from time to time, at the call of the chairman or vice chairman or upon the request of seven or more members. with such notice and in accordance with such procedure as shall be prescribed by the rules of the Commission (c) The Commission shall adopt its own rules of procedure for the transaction of business, except as otherwise provided in this amendment. A majority of the members of the Commission shall constitute a quorum for the purpose of transacting any business or performing any authorized duties. All members of the Commission, including both those who serve ex officio and those who are appointed, shall have an equal vote. The Commission shall keep full and complete minutes in writing of its proceedings, and every action taken shall be authorized by duly adopted resolution recorded in such minutes. (d) Each member of the Commission shall be entitled to his or her regular legislative compensation and per diem and travel expenses for each day he or she attends a meeting or conducts business of the Commission, and such compensation and expenses shall be paid as provided by law out of the funds from time to time appropriated by the Legislature to pay the expenses of administering the

Trust Fund. (e) The Commission shall monitor and evaluate the management of the Trust Fund by the Board, shall report to the Legislature on both the present and future availability of Trust Income appropriation by the Legislature, and shall recommend to the Legislature the enactment of such laws respecting the Trust Fund as the Commission shall deem desirable; provided, however, that nothing contained in this amendment respecting the Commission shall be construed to authorize the Legislature to enact laws inconsistent with the express provisions of this amendment." "Section 9. Amendment Self-Executing. This amendment shall be selfexecuting, but the Legislature shall have the right and the power to enact laws supplemental to this amendment and in furtherance of the purposes and objectives thereof, provided that such laws are not inconsistent with the express provisions of this amendment."

Amendment No. 8 STATE OF ALABAMA A PROCLAMATION BY THE

GOVERNOR WHEREAS, Act No. 81-1190 of the Legislature of Alabama passed during the Third Special Session, 1981, provides that an election be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of Alabama; and

vides that the election be held on March 2, 1982; and, WHEREAS, The Constitution of Alabama, 1901, requires that

WHEREAS, said Act further pro-notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, be given by a Proclamation of the Governor; and. WHEREAS, such Proclamation is to be published in each county in the State of Alabama for at least four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for such election:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, dc hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, 1901:

Notwithstanding any other provision of this Constitution, the legislature may hereafter, by general law, provide for the promotion of, the production, research, distribution, marketing, use, improvement and sale of swine and swine products. The legislature may provide for the promotion of swine and the swine industry by research, education, advertising and other methods, and the legislature is further authorized to provide means and methods for the financing of any such promotional activity by prescribing a procedure whereby producers of swine may by referendum held among the swine producers in this state levy upon themselves and collect assessments, fees, or charges upon the sale of swine for the financing of any promotional program or activity in cooperation with processors, dealers and handlers, of swine and swine products. The legislature may make provisions for the nonpayment of assessments by swine producers and shall make provisions for the refund of assessments to any swine producer dissatisfied with the assessment program The legislature shall provide for the collection and distribution of any such assessments or charges by dealers, handlers, processors and purchasers of swine and swine products and provide penalties for failure to make collection and distribution of such assessments. The legislature shall provide for the designation of a nonprofit association or organization organized for the promotion and betterment of swine and swine products to administer and carry out such promotion program which shall include the conducting of elections or referendums among swine producers. The legislature may provide the manner by which such referendum is held, including the procedure for application for approval to conduct the referendum, the appropriate action to be taken by the State Board of Agriculture and Industries on such application, the requirements and eligibility of the association or organization which will conduct such referendum, the procedures for voting and eligibility to vote in such referendum and the details of the conduct of such referendum. The legislature shall further provide for the deposit, withdrawal, disbursement and expenditure by the designated association of any funds received subject to the supervision and control of the activities as authorized herein by the Department of Agriculture and Industries and the State Board of Agriculture and Industries. The legislature shall further provide a procedure whereby said association or organization is bonded, for the examination and auditing of said association or organization, and for reasonably necessary rules and regulations to be adopted by the State Board of Agriculture and Industries to effectively carry

GOVERNOR WHEREAS, Act No. 81-1190 of the Legislature of Alabama passed ring the Third Special Session, 1981, provides that an election be held by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon certain proposed amendments to the Constitution of Alabama; and

WHEREAS, said Act further provides that the election be held on March 2, 1982; and,

WHEREAS, The Constitution of Alabama, 1901, requires that notice of such election, together with the proposed amendment, be given by a Proclamation of the Governor; and,

WHEREAS, such Proclamation is to be published in each county in the State of Alabama for at least four successive weeks next preceding the day appointed for such election: NOW. THEREFORE, I. Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, 1901: The legislature may hereafter, by general law, provide for the promotion of the production, distribution, improvement, marketing, use and sale of soybeans. The legislature may provide for the promotion of soybeans and soybean products by research, education, advertising and other methods, and the legislature is further authorized to provide means and methods for the financing of any such promotional activity by prescribing a procedure whereby producers of soybeans may by referendum among such producers levy upon themselves and collect assessments, fees, or charges upon the sale of soybeans for the financing of any such promotional program or activity in cooperation with buyers, processors, dealers, and handlers of soybeans. The legislature may make provisions for the nonpayment of assessments by soybean producers, and shall make provisions for the refund of asessments to any soybean producer who does not desire to participate in an assessment program. The legislature shall provide for the collection, disbursement, distribution or expenditure of assessments or charges authorized hereunder and to provide penalties for failure to make collection and distribution of assessments. The legislature shall provide for profit association or organization for the promotion and betterment of soybeans and soybean products to administer and carry out such promotional program which shall include the conducting of elections or referendums among producers of soybeans. The legislature may provide the manner by which such referendum is held, including the procedure for application for approval to conduct the referendum, the appropriate action to be taken by the State Board of Agriculture and Industries on such application, the requirements and eligibility of the association or organization which will conduct such referendum, the procedures for voting and eligibility to vote in such referendum, the details of the conduct of such referendum. The legislature shall further provide for the deposit, withdrawal, disbursement and expenditure by the designated association of any funds received subject to the supervision and control of the activities as authorized herein by the Department of Agriculture and Industries and the State Board of Agriculture and Industries. The legislature shall further provide a procedure whereby said association or organization is bonded, for the examination and auditing of said association or organization, and for reasonably necessary rules and regulations to be adopted by the State Board of Agriculture and Industries to effectively carry out the intent and purposes herein enumerated. Assessments, fees or other charges collected as authorized by any legislative act adopted under authority hereof shall not be considered as a tax within the meaning of this Constitution or any provision thereof. NOW, THEREFORE, I, Fob James, as Governor of the State of Alabama, do hereby give notice that on Tuesday, the 2nd day of March, 1982, an election will be held at the several polling places within the State of Alabama in the manner and form prescribed by law upon the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of

All vacancies in the office of judge of the circuit court and the office of judge of the district court of Mobile County which shall occur subsequent to January 15, 1982, shall be filled in the manner and for the time as herein provided

The Mobile County judicial commission is hereby created for the purpose of nominating to the governor persons for appointment to such a vacancy. The members of such commission shall be (a) two persons who are members of the Alabama state bar and (b) two persons who are not members of the Alabama state bar, and (c) one judge of the circuit court of Mobile County.

All members of such commission must reside in the territorial jurisdiction of the circuit court of Mobile County.

The two members of such commission who are required to be members of the Alabama state bar shall be elected by the members of such bar who are regularly licensed and qualified to practice law in this state and who reside in the territorial jurisdiction of the circuit court of Mobile County. The executive committee of the Mobile County bar association or its successor body in such capacity, is authorized and directed to make rules, not inconsistent with this amendment, for the election of such members of such commission as are required to be members of the Alabama state bar Such executive committee shall certify in writing to the probate judge of Mobile County the names of the persons elected as members of such commission by such members of such bar.

The senators and representatives in the Alabama legislature from Mobile County shall elect the two members of such commission who are required not to be members of the Alabama state bar senators and representatives shall certify in writing to such probate judge the names of the persons elected by them as such members.

The judges of the circuit court of Mobile County shall elect the member of such commission who is required to be a judge of such circuit court. The judges of such circuit court shall certify in writing to such probate judge the name of the circuit judge elected by such circuit judges as such The terms of office of all members of such commission shall be six years, except that the terms of office of the two members of the state bar first elected shall be for one and two years respectively, and of the two members first elected by the senators and representatives in the Alabama legislature from Mobile County shall be for three and four years respectively, and the term of the circuit judge elected by the circuit judges shall be for five years; the length of such terms of office of the members of such commission being indicated by the respective electing bodies. The terms of the initial members of such commission shall begin on January 16, 1982. A vacancy in the office of a member of such commission shall be filled for the unexpired term in the same manner as such member was originally chosen. The probate judge of Mobile County shall record all such certificates of election and shall safely and permanently keep the original certificates. Forthwith upon his receipt and recordation of every such certificate, he shall send to the governor a certified copy of every such certificate.

No member of such commission shall be eligible to succeed himself as such member or for nomination to the governor for appointment as judge of such circuit court or district court during the term of office for which such member shall have been selected. The members of such commission shall not receive any salary or other compensation for their services as such members. No member of such commission other than the member required to be a judge of the circuit court shall hold any public office, and no member of such commission shall hold any official position in any political par-

If, subsequent to January 15, 1982, a vacancy occurs in the office of judge of the circuit court or in the office of judge of the district court of Mobile County, such commission shall nominate to the governor three persons having the qualifications for such office. Such nomination shall be made only by the concurrence of a majority of the members of such commission. The governor shall appoint to the office in which the vacancy exists one of the three persons so nominated for such office. ## GI Bill cost $51 billion

A study of GI Bill usage over a twelve-year period has been recently published. It indicates that more Vietnam era veterans used their educational entitlements than has been previously reported.

Since the inception of the original World War 11 GI Bill in 1944, nearly 18 million men and women have used one of the three GI Bills at an expense of about 51 billion dollars. The Post-Korean GI Bill permits a veteran to use education benefits within 10 years following discharge from service, or by December 31, 1989, whichever is earlier.

A new program which requires financial particiaption by service personnel is available for those who entered the military after December 31,1976.

Housewives turn hobby into business

Two Chelsea housewives have turned a hobby into a profitable business. And a most unusual business for women, according to the reaction they usually get from folks.

"I went into a new place the other day to buy brushes and gave the man a business card, and he said, 'You a painter?'," recounted Kathryn Weston in her breathless, enthusiastic manner.

"I told him, 'Yes, I am,' and he said, 'Do you get much work?'

"I told him that the lady who works with me and I, stay busy six days a week. He said we are very lucky because most painters aren't getting much work right

"Then he asked me, 'Are you any good?' and I said, 'Did I tell you that we stay busy six days a week?""

Weston, along with Faye Myers, works as a sub-contractor, doing interior and exterior house painting, hanging wall paper, repairing sheetrock, refinishing furniture and

"One day a lady asked us, 'Do you do drapes?' so we got out our sewing machines and made drapes for her," she laughed.

Weston said she is just a frustrated artist, anyway. She plays the organ some and has always liked creweling, painting and such.

Her talents spread to house painting and papering as she moved from house to house following the work of her husband Jim who was project manager for a large construction company.

"We lived in a lot of places in the U.S. and bought a lot of houses and you usually can't get just what you want so we would look for a floor plan we liked and I'd change up the house the way we wanted," she said.

Myers, the quieter of the two, said she never did much of this sort of thing before she began working with her neighbor last summer. After Weston helped her hand wallpaper at her house she asked Myers to help out with the business.

Another friend whom Weston had taught to hang paper, also worked with the two until she moved to Florida. Now the friend has her own business in Tampa with four to six women working for her hanging paper in newlyconstructed condominiums.

Weston said she recently talked to the friend who told her, "I never dreamed your coming and helping me hang paper would turn into something like this."

Weston and Myers have done a lot of their work on a condominium complex for Wyatt Construction in Birmingham and on the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Kirkland in Montevallo.

Mrs. Kirkland laughs recalling last summer when the lady subcontractors came to paint the exterior of her house and forgot to bring the rope they use to secure themselves as a safety measure.

The oversight did not deter them from their work. They simply borrowed a long garden hose, tied it to three large trees and threw it up over the house to "tie themselves off."

Mrs. Kirkland also recalls with humor, "They would come with their faces all made up and their shorts on to climb up the ladders and paint."

She and Dr. Kirkland laugh, remembering some of the conversations they heard as the ladypainters stood on ladders outside the window where the Kirklands sat to have their breakfast.

"We heard them talking one day about how they were going to spend their money," said Dr. Kirkland, adding "and they must have been telling each other jokes sometimes the way they would laugh."

When asked how she came to start a business as a subcontractor, Weston said, she "just sort of fell into it."

It was "just the natural thing to do" when she decided to go to work while her family was away at school or work all day.

"I love people, I love the work," she said, so one day she and her friend Barbara just took the plunge, had business cards printed and "hit the bushes" calling on builders, painters and con-

"We didn't know if people would want to hire women for this kind of work," she said, "But the first thing we knew we got a call -- and from there it has spread by word of mouth."

People seemingly get "a kick" out of seeing the lady painters at work, but Weston said, "I really donet think we are getting jobs because we are females, but because we are good. We take pride in our work. We really, really do."

Lady painters

Faye Myers, left, and Kathryn Weston of Chelsea enjoy their hobbyturned-profession as they put finishing touches to the paint job they did on the home of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Kirkland in Montevallo.

THE NEW TAX-DEFERRED INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS-IRAS.

Kitty doesn't have much money these days. But if she had a taxdeferred Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at our FULL SERVICE BANK, she could have a lot of money in the days to come.

By depositing just $19.23 toward an IRA every week. she could end up with $255.800 in 30

That's worth repeating: A deposit of $19.23 a week could total $255.800.

Of course, because the maximum allowable yearly investment has been increased to $2,000, it's possible to earn even more. Making deposits by the week, by the month, or whatever is most convenient.

But whatever she invests could soon be earning high-yield interest to help make her golden years a lot more golden.

And, because our Individual Retirement Accounts are taxdeferred. Kitty could deduct each of her yearly investments from her taxable income. So she'd pay no federal taxes on her IRA until she starts withdrawing funds (minimum age: 591/2).

Then when she retires, she'll probably be in a lower tax bracket, paying lower taxes.

If you'd like to set up an affordable IRA, come talk to the professionals at our FULL SERVICE BANK

They'll show you how a regular savings plan can help almost anyone retire with a quarter of a million dollars Including Kitty.

*This example assumes 12% interest, compounded annually, based on the average quarterly balance. It is intended to be an example of how regular deposits into an IRA can grow into a substantial sum. It is not a guarantee of interest rates or end financial results.

Quick to resign tax office

by Marcia M. Sears

Fay Quick, Shelby County's tax collector since 1967, announced this week that she will resign on October 1.

Mrs. Quick told the Reporter she had every intention of completing her six-year term when she was re-elected to the post in 1978, but that several factors have combined which led to her decision to retire early.

One of them concerns the cramped quarters assigned to the tax collector's office. Mrs. Quick and four clerks collect all of Shelby County's millions of dollars in taxes in an office that measures 14 x 27 feet. A converted storage closet down the hall provides another small space.

Mrs. Quick has never had a private office, and says she sees no hope that the county will make more space available in the next few years.

The continuing property tax reappraisal programs have also created serious problems for the tax collector, over which she has no control.

This has made for difficult work days and tremendous amounts of overtime. These factors along with the fact that she can retire with supernumerary status on October 1, have influenced her to take this step, she said

Mrs. Quick has been one of the most popular of all office holders in Shelby County. She was elected with an overwhelming margin the first time she ran, and has had no opponents in her last two races.

Prior to becoming tax collector, she was chief clerk in the probate office for 16 years.

She says with pride, "Since 1942, I have not been without a job." During World War II, she worked for the Office of Price Administration in Columbiana and later with Gordon & White Insurance Company, before going to the probate office.

Her current term of office is not scheduled to end until September 30, 1985. It is assumed that the vacancy will be filled by appointment by Governor Fob James. Several persons are said to be interested in the appointment, including Shelby Patrick, Annette D. Skinner, and Myra Davis.

Death sentence given in Orr murder case

by Bert Seaman

A trail of playing cards led police to the Evansville home of Victor Kennedy on Christmas Eve day in 1980.

And those cards were part of the evidence that last week convinced a Shelby County Circuit Court jury of Kennedy's guilt in the murder of 86 year old Mrs. Annie Laurie Orr.

After finding the 20 year old Kennedy guilty of capital murder, a sentencing hearing was held and the jury unanimously agreed on the death penalty.

During the three days of testimony, District Attorney Billy Hill and Assistant DA's Bob Williams and Jim Fuhrmeister presented a detailed chain of evidence which linked Kennedy to the murder.

Mrs. Orr was a widow who lived alone at 321 Nabors St., a few blocks from the college in Montevallo where her husband,

Dr. M.L. Orr Sr., had been dean. When he found the body of his mother on the morning of Dec. 24, Dr. Milton L. Orr Jr. said that her head resembled a mum-

Photographs that were introduced into evidence showed masking tape wound tightly and uniformly around a pillow case over the victim's head.

Although suffocation was given as the cause of death, there were bruises on almost every part of Mrs. Orr's body.

Ribs on both sides of her body were broken and there was a laceration on her forehead which an expert witness said could have been caused by a blow from a gun butt.

The state contended that she had been tortured, and there was testimony that she had also been sexually assaulted.

Fuhrmeister told the jury, "This is the most horrible, upsetting, gruesome and hellacious crime that I've ever seen!"

As the trial unfolded, the team of prosecutors pulled evidence from manila envelopes, plastic bags and grocery sacks piled on, under, and around their end of the table.

One of the first items presented was the victim's wallet, which had been found on Moody St., about a half block from her home.

The playing cards which had been discovered scattered along a trail a short distance from Mrs. Orr's home were also displayed.

A half empty pack of Salem cigarettes found in the same area and a cigar found by the dead woman's body were also introduced into evidence.

One of the larger plastic sacks contained a bedsheet that was lying on the bathroom floor.

Mrs. Orr's nightgown, the bloodstained pillow case that was over her head and the eight foot strip of masking tape that had been wound around it were other state exhibits.

The blood splattered shirt Kennedy still wore during questioning the afternoon of the murder was one of the strongest pieces of evidence against him. Although the gun the defendant said he threw away has never been recovered, two slugs that a ballistics expert said could have come from a 38 calibre Smith and Wesson were found in the bedroom floor and wall.

Kennedy admitted owning that type of gun.

It was the district attorney's contention that the two shots were fired to frighten Mrs. Orr into telling where her money was hidden.

And the bathtub, filled almost to the top, had probably been used as a threat too, the DA's told the jury.

When he first talked to police, Kennedy said he hadn't gone in the house. In later statements, he admitted accompanying Darrell Grayson inside

Grayson, 21, is a co-defendant in the case and the state expects his trial to be held in April.

The prosecution called 19 witnesses to the stand during the three days of testimony.

There were no defense witnesses, but Kennedy and his mother both took the stand during the sentencing hearing.

Saying he regretted the incident had happened, Kennedy claimed he had not taken part in the assault on Mrs. Orr and placed the blame for her death on Grayson.

However, witnesses at the trial said evidence pointed to the involvement of two assailants.

Testimony given by Kennedy's mother, Mary Louise Rush, revealed that her son had been having financial problems having financial problems.

She told the court that he wanted to marry the mother of his two children but since he was unemployed, he could not afford

Kennedy has one prior conviction.

Earlier in the month he had been found guilty of the burglary of the Baptist Student Union building located near Mrs. Orr's That crime had taken place nine days before her death.

After closing arguments Friday, it took the jury only 40 minutes to bring in their verdict.

There was no question about Kennedy's guilt in the jury's mind, jury foreman Rodger Offet told the Reporter.

"It was the only just verdict," he said.

Jurors in the case were: John I. Kenney, Jackie P. Bradberry, William R. Echols, Clarence E. McMillan, Corbin White, Janie E. Johnston, Bertha L. Ross, Billy E. Farmer, William R. Lee, Martha S. Hood, Nathan E. Storey.

There were two alternates; Jimmy C. McCullers and Deborah L. Dille.

Judge Harold Walden set April 2 as the date for the sentence to be imposed. On that date he will review the jury's sentence and possibly reduce it to life imprisonment.

Alabaster eligible for highway safety funds

Members of the governing body in Alabaster were surprised Monday evening to learn the city is eligible for federal highway money.

The information was provided by Alabaster resident Martin Blankenship who works in the field of traffic safety.

Blankenship brought the matter to the council's attention during the portion of the meeting when Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin calls for comments from the audience on ways to improve the ci-

Although the council was unaware of the existence of the funds, Mayor Rubin said he had recently learned they were available and was making further inquiries.

Telling the council what he knew about the matter, Blankenship said that it came through the Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO).

He stressed that attendance at their meetings was a necessity if the money was to be obtained.

According to information from a recent news article, population figures from the 1980 U.S. Census have made areas such as Alabaster, Pelham and Helena part of the metropolitan "urbanization area."

The total amount available to municipalities is $3.8 million.

Once a city qualifies for backing from MPO and the highway department, 75% of the cost of their project will be paid for with federal money.

The city and state split the re-

The city and state split the remaining cost.

Blankenship pointed out that the money can only be used for safety projects which include such things as improvement of intersections and traffic signals, and providing turn lanes or one way designations.

One of the drawbacks is the intense competition for the funds. There are also indications that they may be phased out by the federal government in the near future.

A highway project the state is working on at the present time in Alabaster is the widening of the bridge over the John Allenby branch on State highway 119.

According to Mayor Rubin the road will be 24 feet in width with nine foot shoulders.

In other business, the council approved a liquor license for the

J&M Package store on County highway 11 and US 31.

They also agreed to give the Snack-a-Shack on Alabama 119 an off premises retail beer and wine license.

Making an appointment to the Board of Adjustments, the panel reappointed Don Bunn, who will be serving his third term.

Owner stuck sewerless in Pelham

A major Birmingham realtor with plans to develop in Pelham is up the proverbial creek without a paddle. Or a sewer. Monday night he asked the Pelham Council to help him out of his plight.

Sid Smyer, Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of Birmingham Realty, explained to the council that a sewer line was an imperative prerequisite to developing land his company owns on Valleydale Road, inside Pelham's city limits, next to Riverchase. His plight is that Pelham has no plans for sewer service in the area and Hoover/Riverchase will probably not want to serve him inside of Pelham.

Smyer said he was not asking to have the land taken out of Pelham unless it was absolutely necessary to obtain sewer service. He asked Mayor Burk Dunaway to assist him in negotiations with Hoover and Dunaway agreed.

In other business, Clifton Moor, a resident of Chandalar, commended the city on its dog leash law, but said he still had problems with loose dogs. He also requested the city to install water pressure reducers to help alleviate costly plumbing bills due to burst and leaking pipes.

Councilman Bob Cleveland, reading from an annual report, noted some of the fire department's accomplishment in 1981. Significant among the many statistics in the report, Cleveland said, was that 2,600 man-hours had been spent on training paid personnel, 500 man-hours on volunteers, the building of a new training ground, and the recer

Calera renames Miles fire department chief

The Calera City Council elected James Miles as permanent fire chief for the city at its meeting Monday night.

Other candidates for the post were Terry Snow and Bobby Austin. The names were submitted to the council by the Calera Volunteer Fire Department.

Miles was elected unanimously, with councilman Robert Loftin abstaining.

Councilman Roy Hadaway read a statement, saying his decision was one of the hardest things he has had to do. He gave eight reasons for voting for Miles. He and Councilman Doug LeSueur urged the men in the department to "let bygones be bygones" and keep the citizens uppermost in their concern.

(The full text of Hadaway's statement appears elsewhere in this issue).

In other business, the council authorized the purchase of a new tractor and mower. Two weeks ago the council had voted to buy only American made goods, but the city could find no Americanmade tractors. The low bid was for a Kubota tractor from Jemison Tractor Company for $4,787. Next lowest bid was for a John Deere from Cahaba Tractor at $5,126. Baggett Equipment bid $5,243 for a John Deere. Murray Ford Tractor company entered a bid of $5,424 and Lonnie Russell Ford offered a Ford for $6,431. All the tractors are made overseas, according to Neal

Amendments 1-3 pass;4 fails

Incomplete returns on Tuesday's amendments election showed that Shelby County voters were approving Amendments 1, 2 and 3 by a strong majority.

The votes however, were running nip and tuck on Amendment 20, which involved the City of Alabaster's attempt to straighten out a technicality on its ad valorem tax structure. Some beats in the county were reporting favorably on the amendment, and others were coming in against it.

Dianne Rooker, a representative of Executone, demonstrated a new telephone system to replace the ten phones the city now rents from South Central Bell.

Noting that the cost would be about the same for the new phone system, Mayor Charles Penhale recommended the equipment. "I looked at it, and I liked what I saw," he said.

The new phones would be leased for $172 per month, and the city would own them after seven years. Among other municipalities Rooker said were

Utility pays annual bill

The Alabama Power Company is now paying its annual municipal license fees, which total $29.7 million and include 177 Alabama municipalities.

Mr. Bobby W. Hosea, Alabama Power's manager in the Alabaster district, delivered a check to the City of Alabaster for $145,693.76 on February 26.

The payments are based on the company's total revenue from customers in each of the municipalities and their police jurisdictions. Additional payments will be made to other municipalities in March.

recipients made a mad rush Friday morning for 10,000 pounds of free cheese. But when social workers at the Community Services building in Columbiana closed the doors Saturday evening, 2,670 pounds of cheese were left over.

DPS director Susan Treadwell said food stamp families that did not receive cheese will still be eligible for a five pound package this Thursday and Friday.

Furthermore, food stamp families with more than six members will be eligible for an additional package of cheese

The cheese giveaway was set to start last Friday at 9 a.m., but due to the crowd, which started

An eager crowd of food stamp arriving at seven o'clock and soon stretched halfway around the building, the doors were opened an hour early.

At one point during the morning, police had to be called in to help maintain order, but over all, Treadwell said the operation went smoothly. "Most of the crowd was very patient-they didn't have much choice," she

Several misconceptions became apparent during the morning. One man brought six children, thinking each would be eligible for the cheese and another man drove up from Bibb County, not Thursday and Friday, Treadwell understanding that only Shelby County food stamp recipients could get cheese in Columbiana.

Also, many of the recipients who were supposed to come Saturday, showed up Friday, thus increasing the confusion. Friday afternoon and Saturday, the crowd dwindled significantly, but the flow of recipients remained steady. One man dashed out the door into the rain, saying he was on his way to "get some bread and make me some cheese sandwiches."

Treadwell said she had one report that the cheese was very good, and another person said she didn't like it at all. The retail value of the five-pound boxes of cheese, according to prices at a local grocery, is $10-$12.

Some 40 volunteers from the senior citizens' RSVP club, Shelby County Farm Bureau Ladies, First Baptist Church of Wilsonville and the Columbiana Homemakers Club helped with distribution and I.D. checks over the two-day period. Jeanette Niven is the county volunteer coordinator for DPS.

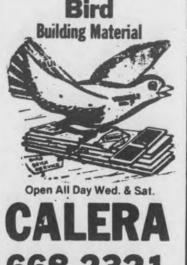

Identification checks were also made easier by the recently installed IBM terminals which tie into the central office of DPS in Montgomery.

Treadwell said no incidents of attempted fraud or misrepresentation occurred.

Of the 2,000 Shelby County families on roll for food stamps, 1,488 received cheese last week. Five-hundred and thirty-four loaves of cheese remain.

Treadwell said if the leftover cheese is not distributed this Thursday and Friday, plans will be announced as to what will be done with it.

The telephone in the county registrar's office stayed busy all day Tuesday during the amendments election, according to Board Chairman Doris Turner.

She said most of the calls were from people asking questions such as, "What hours will the polls be open?" and "Where do I go to vote?"

However, she received some scattered calls from around the county from people who had gone to the polls to vote only to be refused that privilege because their names were not on the reidentification list, she said.

Sometimes the caller was not sure that he or she had reidentified, said Turner, while in other instances the caller's card had not been returned to her office, if they had reidentified.

When the caller's name was not found on the registrar's computer list of reidentified voters, a check was made of the master voter list. If the caller was found to be a registered voter, he or she was told that if they came to the registrar's office that day, Tuesday, they could still reidentify and vote in the amendments election. Voters who came in to reidentify were given certificates signed by Turner which they could take to the polls with them and vote.

Assisting the board chairman with Tuesday's calls were Stanley Mahan and J.T. Spates.

County highway director Gary Ray said his department lost one its best employees last Friday.

Highway department truck driver Ira D. Salster had been working for the county since 1965, when he turned in his keys on February 26.

At a farewell presentation on Thursday, Ray praised Salster for the conscientious care he showed for using county equipment, and especially the dump truck he drove. "He is an example of how to treat equipment," Ray said.

With a wry grin on his face, Salster told the group of employees and dignitaries who gathered in the county garage Thursday, "This is one of the finest groups I've been associated with."

Probate judge Tommy Snowden and commissioner Alph Lowe were on hand to bid Salster good-bye. Snowden presented him with an honorary resolution passed last week by the commission, citing him for "remarkable achivement and long service."

But what was probably more welcome than that, was the check Salster was given for $900.05 in accumulated sick pay. The check reflected the new county pay raise which went into effect last week, as well as the new policy of accumulating sick pay. Salster was the first county employee to benefit from the new policies.

Lowe ribbed the retiree by noting that his wife would see to it that he stayed out of trouble by giving him plenty of "honey-do"

Ray told the story of the time Salster was stopped by a lawenforcer who "Seventy-five, at least!" "No way," Salster was reported to have answered. "It's just the hat that makes me look that old."

Before leaving, the retiree revealed that his middle initial stood for "Dallas."

The Cooperative Extension Service is coming under scrutiny by the Reagan administration. The 68 year old service is being investigated by a committee whose purpose is to "come up with recommendations that will best serve this country," in the words of Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block.

He said, "Extension's informal education work is an extremely high priority effort and we expect to have continued leadership from it." But because of the increasing competition for the tax dollar, he said, "We must re-examine the mission and scope of this system."

Extension offers educational self-help to millions of people in both urban and rural areas on a nationwide basis.

In Shelby County the service has programs in 4-H, home economics, agriculture, and community and rural development.

The committee is expected to study the service for ten months and make its report in November.

In front of the truck he drove for 269,000 miles, Ira D. Salster's coworkers Bethel Roberson and Olis Thomas help the the retiree try on a farewell gift jacket-and took one last shot a some playful pranking. Among the dignitaries on hand for Salster's retirement were Probate Judge Tommy Snowden, Highway Director Gary Ray, and County Commissioner Alph Lowe. (Photo by David F. Moore) honestly forget how long. I remember the first time I saw her. She had on high-top shoes that buttoned down the side. And one day, a little later, she passed my house in a surrey with fringe on top. And the guy who was with her had on a high hard collar and a string tie that reached down to his belt buckle.

I sent her a book in January, down Auburn way, and put a little note above my name that tickled her. And her eyes sparkled today when we talked about it, in room 240 at Shelby Medical Center.

She had a bad operation, and she's over 90 years old, but she's coming along fine because she's tough.

That's Mrs. Minnie Storey, and she's my friend.

A letter in the mail from Dot Hill Morris up Bakersville, North Carolina way. Her mother, Mrs. June Elliott, sent her a copy of my book and it stirred old memories in her mind. Some of them I'd like to pass on, knowing you will enjoy them too.

She remembers the plays at the high school and the old Leonard

She danced to the music of the Rhythm Ristocrats --Wales Wallace Jr. and Little Judge Riddle and Rux Carter and Leroy Mooney -- in the Masonic Hall and at the old airport and another place or two that slipped her mind. Yes, time is a run-away yesterday, that slips back into our minds when someone comes along and stirs our memory.

> A letter from Ray and Doris Atchison, saying they enjoyed The Best of Good Morning. It was a gift from their super friends the Earl Rileys which made it extra special. The Earl Rileys and the Ray Atchisons, and hundreds more, who grew up in Shelby County and moved away, making names for themselves in almost every field you can name. I think that's why writing a column about folks and things in Shelby County has meant so much to me through the years. I have always believed that old friends are like little candles in the dark.

County would benefit from private hospital

Letter to the Editor:

It has been interesting watching the TV commercials and reading the full page advertisements in our newspapers announcing the plans for the Cahaba Shelby Medical Center. It is astounding to think that the doctors at SMC would advocate the extended use of the tax payers money at this time.

We know how profitable hospitals have become in our area by the multi-million dollar fight that went on over Brookwood stock when it was sold, as well as the fact that four privately owned hosptials are competing for the opportunity to locate here.

Shelby County could benefit from the opening of a privately owned hospital. It would bring new doctors, new jobs, and new capital into the county. On the other hand, if it is built with our tax dollars only our present capital would be circulated, and much of this money would leave the county to pay for the multimillion dollar cost of hospital equipment.

If it is staffed by doctors already established at SMC, medical service in north Shelby will decrease, while the cost will greatly increase, for these doctors will be required to spend far more Alabama physicians. How then, can they increase their patient load and still give the sick their due consideration?

This hospital tax, which has long out-lived its purpose, has become only an added expense to the ridiculous cost of medicine. The Shelby County people could be better served if this tax was used to educate our youth, offering scholarships to those who desire to enter the field of medicine. Then we could know that the day will come when our society will be released from the grip of the vise placedupon it by today's medical profession.

Is it worth $5 for you to drive 70 miles per hour on interstate highways in Alabama? That will be your option if a measure passed by the Senate is enacted into

State Sen. Doug Cook of Birmingham won approval of a measure in the upper chamber which would set a fine of $5 on drivers arrested for exceeding the 55 mile per hour legal limit on interstates, provided they are not going in excess of 70 miles per hour. Under existing Alabama law, a motorist could be fined up to $47.50 if found guilty of driving in excess of what the CBers call "Double Nickel." Sen. Cook's contention is that the 55 mph limit is unrealistic and that no traffic safety problem is created by allowing those drivers who wish to drive up to 70 miles per hour can do so, knowing in advance that if apprehended they will be fined only $5.

Critics of the legislation have charged that Sen. Cook's plan is self-serving--he is the president of a large trucking firm in Birmingham, and it has been truckers who have most vigorously objected to the 55 limit.

Odds and Ends -- Alabama's unemployment rate hit an alltime high in January of 14.7 per cent, but state officials are hopeful this new record was due as much to severe weather as it was to economic conditions. The bitter cold wave which hit the state in January caused a massive shutdown in some work areas, and this was reflected in the statistics.

Gov. Fob James intentionally or otherwise may have done a favor to Montgomery Republicans when he called for a special election to fill a vacant seat in the State Senate. He set the date for the election so soon Republicans and Democrats to hold primary elections. This means the executive committees of the two parties will hand-pick their respective candidates. The Democratic Committee in Montgomery is dominated by a coalition of AEA-backers and blacks, and the candidate they choose might not be the strongest candidate available.

The "Bear Bryant Retirement Bill" is back in the news. A Montgomery circuit judge has taken under advisement a suit filed by Dr. David Bronner asking that the measure be declared unconstitutional. The bill would allow employees of the University of Alabama to work beyond the mandatory retirement age of 70. While it applies to all Univeristy employees, it was specifically intended to allow the Bear to coach as long as he desires. Dr. Bronner contends that this right cannot be given to some members of the retirement system without its being given to all members.

To be real honest, Montgomery is a big old country town. A Willie Nelson or Kenny Rogers will pack 'em in at the Civic Center, but when the ballet comes to town there is little more than yawning disinterest. But not so regarding the appearance of the Joffrey Ballet Company in mid-March in Montgomery. For one, a dancer in this company is a son of the President of the United States; for another, that same President will be in Montgomery that day for a speech, and rumor has it he may attend the ballet that night. All of a sudden everybody is trying to get a ticket to this performance. If you thought Auburn-Alabama football tickets were hot items, you ain't seen nothing.

I had a very moving experience this weekend. And I mean that literally.

Without giving the matter too much thought, I decided I'd run up to the mall where my daughter was one of the exhibitors in an antique show.

I had never seen her in action at one of these events, and I was anxious to see just what went on.

Well, I found out all right. But what I learned was how you pack up and go home.

It hadn't occurred to me that the evening I chose for a visit would be the last day of the

But that was the way it turned out. And I was one of those elected to help with the dismanteling, wrapping, toting and loading.

Actually, my still wounded wing kept me from any heavy lifting, but I was one of the main wrappers. While others struggled with cupboards, tables and chairs, I scrounged around looking for boxes and wrapping materials for the breakable items. I couldn't find much, and it was so frustrating to watch the lady in the next booth carefully fold wrapping paper around and around each piece of china which was then carefully laid in a box and labeled.

Everything that I wrapped and stuck haphazardly in boxes or the wicker baby buggy that everyone had admired but no one bought, was lucky to have one piece of paper all the way around it. My other daughter and her boy friend were there to help with the loading, and we were fortunate that another dealer had a dolly they were willing to share. It was a long trip down the halls of the mall and then along another corridor to the loading dock outside.

I'm glad there were better heads than mine available to figure out how to get the array of furniture into the limited space we had.

Standing there in the cold and drizzle, we compared the experience to loading up at a horse show. The only difference was, instead of trying to load a balky horse, we were trying to load bulky furniture.

Looking at the load in the back of my pickup, I suddenly decided that if somone else could be persuaded to drive, I'd just as soon ride in another vehicle.

My daughter's boyfriend said he didn't mind, so she and I and my granddaughter all piled into the front seat of the pickup so he could drive us to where his car was parked.

There was a slight delay while he went to get my car key from my antique dealer daughter who was already in her van ready to

And we were ready to panic when he came back saying he'd been told I had it.

"I know she didn't give it back to me," I declared, groping in my purse for it. But there it was.

As the driver pulled away from the platform turning to the right, my daughter shouted, "No, no left, left!"

And it seemed she was right since another van was coming at

So he backed up and tried the other direction, only to be challenged by another vehicle. It was beginning to feel like a our destination. But it was not so to be.

Boyfriend turned off unexpectedly, and the last we saw of him was the quilt over the furniture wildy flapping up and down. Then the van pulled away and we were never able to catch up with it. However, eventually, we all arrived at the same point.

So now I know how an antique show ends. When I go to another one in

Landfill work draws praise

Excerpts from a letter recently sent to the Shelby County Commission:

Dear Judge Snowden:

The closing of the Calera sanitary landfill marks the end of one of the first established sanitary landfills in the State. The Shelby County Commission, in concert with the Shelby County Health Department, established the Calera and Vincent sanitary landfills in the early 1960's. The establishment of these sites made Shelby County a leader in solid waste disposal and this leadership and interest has continued, as evidenced by the opening of the new landfill.

We appreciate the concern and interest of the Shelby County Commission in solid waste management, not only in your County, but throughout the State. This holds true for past Commissions as well as the present Shelby County Commission. We also appreciate the efforts of Mr. Gary Ray, Mr. Carlton Franks, and Mr. George Holcombe in upgrading the solid waste program in Shelby County.

Molesters seek lonely children

Children who feel lonely and neglected are the children who most often become victims of sex molestation and abuse.

This was the theme of the speech by Jill Haddad, director of the Foundation for America's Sexually Exploited Children Inc., at a public meeting in Birmingham Sunday.

Pregnancy classes offered

St. Vincent's Hospital will sponsor a series of classes during March for parents-to-be in the early stages of pregnancy.

The classes, "So You've Just Learned You're Pregnant," will emphasize the importance of the first trimester of pregnancy for the mother, and the relationship of proper medical supervision and diet during this period.

There is no charge for attendance. Each class will be complete in one session.

The classes will be held at Jefferson State Junior College in the Career Education Building on Tuesday, March 16; at St. Vin-

A short film will be included in the program. Nutritional information will be made available and discussed, as well as personal habits such as smoking, and the intake of alcohol and caffeine which might deter the growth of the fetus.

Teachers of St. Vincent's parent classes will teach the early pregnancy classes. All are registered nurses. For information: 320-7200.

Unlike shoes, you can't buy new feet when they wear out. That's why NIKE makes shoes for individuals. Shoes for the road, the trails and models for both. For feet that are flat or arched, rigid or flexible. Whether you churn out 125 miles a week or run

So come tie one on. And avoid a run-in with your feet.

MHS senior wins naval appointment

One of the first appointments to the U.S. Naval Academy this year is a Montevallo High School

Taylor Walton Lawrence, who ranked among the top 17% nationally in overall eligibility, will report to Annapolis after graduation in June.

The MHS student was the first choice for appointment of all three legislators representing the Seventh Congressional District.

Announcing his sponsorship of Lawrence, Representative Richard Shelby said, "Taylor will make a superior addition to the U.S. Naval Academy and to our nation's armed services."

During his high school years, Lawrence has made a significant contribution to the school's band program.

He has served as section leader in the marching band, played first trumpet in the symphonic band, was selected for the All-State band in 1980, 1981 and 1982, and for the first chair position in the All-County band three

Soccer and tennis are his sports interests and he has served as captain of both these teams.

Some of the extracurricular activities in which Lawrence has been involved include: the journalism, math and drama club: student government affairs and a junior achievement company of which he was president.

Lawrence also participates in local church affairs.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie L. Lawrence.

His father is a member of the U.S. Naval Reserve.

Pelham swimmer

wins at state meet

Kelly Smith upheld Pelham High School in the state high school swimming championships last week in Tuscaloosa.

Miss Smith placed in the finals in two swimming events, which placed PHS 18th out of 28 teams that entered the contest. She was the only swimmer representing PHS. The high school freshman is the daughter of Dale and Elizabeth Smith of Quail Run.

Lael Huffstutler, spelling bee chairman at Elvin Hill Elementary School, presents checks to contest winners Walinda Williams and Catherine Moore.

Winner finds missing 'e'

By failing to put the second 'e' in achievement, Catherine Moore missed her chance to be the top speller at Elvin Hill Elementary

When she spelled the word correctly, Walinda Williams became the school's best speller and claimed the right to represent the school in county competition.

Both winners are in the fourth grade so this was their first time to participate in the contest which is open to fourth and fifth grade

Who's the best Mom of 1981?

Nominations are now being accepted for Shelby County "Mother of the Year."

The six main qualifications for the title include: that she be a successful mother as evidenced by the character and achievements of her children; that she be an active member of a religious group; that she shows courage, cheerfulness, kindness, etc.; that she lives by the Golden Rule; that she have a sense of responsibility in civic affairs.

Selections are made annually to emphasize the importance of family life in our society by the Shelby County Mothers Association.

Further information may be obtained from any of the following Shelby Countians who work actively with the organization: Mrs. Grace Hays Davis, Bonnie Sorrell, Billie Blankenship, Velma McCoy, Eve Jowers, Alta King, Nina Kemp, Golda Johnson, Billie Darby, Polly Ireland, LaJuana Stubbs and Martha Luker.

STEVE WASH

Pelham High School senior Steve Wash received two standing ovations Friday after singing in a talent show sponsored by the Talent Exchange Program.

The program is made up of schools in Jefferson and Shelby counties, but Pelham is the only Shelby County school presently participating.

Each school selects its best act to send to the competition.

This year the show was held at Pelham, and school counselor Ann Bailey worked with students to organize it.

Wash sang songs made popular by Kenny Rogers and Barry Manilow. He was backed by a musical group composed of Devin Tubert, Chris Pearson and Jim Dramer. The group also played other numbers at the end of the show.

Wash said he plans to have a musical career.

He also plays several musical instruments, draws and writes poetry and songs.

Wash is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Richard Wash of Pelham.

Intersquad and Jamboree games scheduled

Pigskin players welcome rites of spring

by Richard Crosby

The gleam in the eyes of county football players glows brighter this week. Area teams are heading into some tough jamboree and spring game action tonight and Friday.

Last week was a tough one according to the players who are itching for a chance for someone to hit other than a teammate. That opportunity will come up this week for Thompson, Calera, Shelby Academy, Vincent, Pelham, Shelby County, Montevallo, and Coosa

All of those teams are involved in annual rites on the gridiron with prestige and self-esteem at stake.

Fans will also get a chance to see their favorites tangle. The problem may be that several teams are playing on the same night in locations that make getting to both rather impossible.

Seems like they'll have to choose the most important, get there early and get comfortable.

For teens, this week will provide a chance to revitalize some of the social aspects of football watching. Naturally there will be some aftergame social events as well as pre-game festivities.

The county's bands will be out in full force at many of the games and jamborees. Special performances are planned for a few spots, so the entertainment won't be composed of just grunts, groans and Enough said.

Shelby County hosts jamboree, Thompson heads to Sylacauga

Pelham, and Thompson will be showing off next year's team 14. tonight (Thursday).

The Wildcats are hosting the four team jamboree, with Vincent and Pelham set to square off at 6:30, with Shelby County and Jemison tangling immediately following. Games will consist of two full quarters of play with no kickoffs or punts.

Thompson will premier its squad at Sylacauga against the Aggies. The Warriors will play in the second game of the night. The first game gets underway at 6:30. Comer, Childersburg, Talladega and Pell City are the other teams competing in the jamboree at Sylacauga.

Thompson held its raindelayed intersquad game this past Monday night. Coach Larry Simmons told the Reporter that he has about 50 men out for the team this spring. That does not include Arthur Johnson, who is skipping the spring campaign to rehabilitate his knee which was operated on last fall.

Shelby County's intersquad

> Calera High School will hold its annual intersquad game this Thursday night also. The Blue-White game gets underway at 6 p.m. in Ricky Cairns Stadium.

Montevallo will hold an intersquad game Friday afternoon at 1:15 p.m. The Orange-Blue contest will be held at Fisher Calera, Montevallo and Chelsea will participate in a jam-Gary Griffith will coach the Blue boree at Calera on March 19th.

SA and CVA tangle this Friday night

Shelby and Coosa Valley Academy will premier their 1982 edition teams this Friday night. Shelby is the host for the District VII Jamboree which will have six teams playing a total of nine games in the evening. They will be getting underway at 6 p.m.

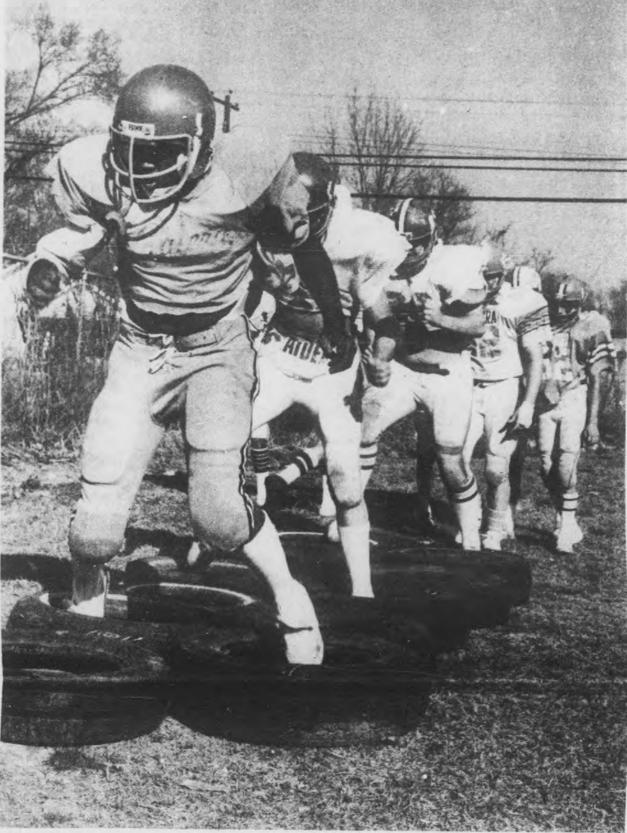

Shelby Academy will play Coosa Valley, Bessemer and Cahawba Christian. Coosa will play Bessemer and Talladega in addition to the Raiders.

Games will be 12 minutes in length after the first change of

To keep the fans happy and well fed, the Raider Booster Club will be holding a Barbeque in the gym starting in the afternoon and lasting until everything's gone. A shotgun will also be given away by the booster club at 9 p.m.

If the Raiders have their way, barbeque and football might just make a greater pair than the more publicized 'great pair'.

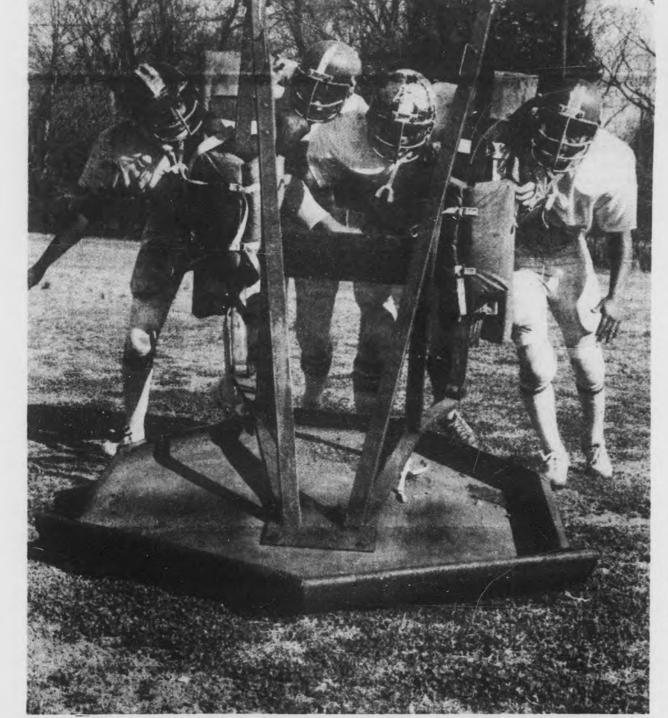

It promises to be an action packed evening that Raider and Rebel fans won't want to miss.

Vandiver is site for annual Heart of Dixie Stock Dog Trial

Vandiver is the site for the fourth annual Heart of Dixie Stock Dog Trial. Entries will be coming from all over the United States to Phillips Farm, nearthe Vandiver Community Center this Saturday and Sunday. The program gets underway at 9 a.m. both days, rain or shine.

Border Collie is the breed entered in this type of competition. They are the ancestors of 'Lassie type' collies and Shetland Sheep Dogs, often referred to as toy collies.

The 1982 trial tests all phases of work that would be required of a dog on a stock farm, including a 'fetch' of about 400 yards, a 'triangular drive' of about 100 yards per leg, pluspenning and separating one sheep.

Phillips Farm is located at the intersection of State Highway 25 and Shelby County Road 43.

The Vandiver Community Center will also be holding a barbecue during the trial, with proceeds from that enterprise and the trial all going toward completion of the softball field at the

Fishing fever strikes

by Raymond Webster Ala. Marine Policeman Lay Lake Post

The spring fishing season is about to start and the fever is about to spread among us.

Fishing fever is highly contagious. It spreads like wild fire, mostly by word of mouth once that the news of "fish biting good" gets around, a lot of people head to the river.

But wait, haven't we forgotten something? Did we buy a boat tag? Fishing license? Do we have enough personal floatation devices (life preservers). Does the "kill" switch work? What about the fire extinguisher, is it charged? Yes? Then let's go fishing!

I would like to remind you to check out your boating rig before the fishing fever hits.

I am making a lot of arrests this time of boats that do not have the current boat license onboard. Your boat tag was due last Oct. 1 and it will be good through Sept. 30, 1982. Don't be mistaken and assume it is due the same month as your car tag. The boat tag license law did not change when the car tag law did.

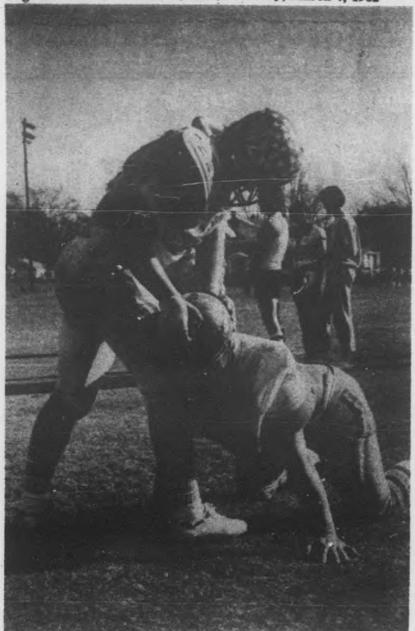

When you go in to purchase your boat tag, please take the make and serial number of the out-board motor with you. The new registration certificates require this information on them.

The fees for boat tags increased this past fall. Be sure you're prepared for fishing fever with registration. See you on the the proper equipment and lake ....

Falcons schedule nine games in six days

Baseball season gets into full swing for the University of Montevallo Falcons next week during the school's spring break with nine games in six days.

The busy week begins on Sunday with a single game at 2 p.m. against Union College of Barbourville, Ky.

Sunday has been designated as "Church Bulletin Day." Anyone presenting their Sunday church bulletin at the gate will be admitted free.

another single against Union at 2 p.m. on Monday and a twinbill against Union at 12:30 on Tues-

Wednesday is an off-day, then the Falcons host Freed-Hardeman College in games at 2 and 6 p.m. Thursday.

Christian Brothers College will furnish the opposition on Friday, March 12, in a single game at 6 p.m. and on Saturday, March 13 for games at 2 and 6 p.m.

The busy schedule will be a sharp contrast to the Falcons' first week, which had them playing only four games in the first eight days.

Montevallo split a pair with Middle Tennessee State University winning 2-1 on Saturday, Feb. 27 and losing 17-5 on Sunday,

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

Another column about one of my favorite subjects - - FOOD. Chuck Moyer, head cooker-upper guy for ARA at the University of Montevallo, put out quite a spread last Friday morning. The reason was a brunch held to honor the All State Basketball Team for the Alabama AIAW Division II. UM was hosting the tournament last week, and the naming of the super squad was part of that function.

The most enjoyable part of the brunch was the meal, and most notable was the 'Quiche'. Not that I'm a fancy food gobbler, but this stuff was the greatest. My editor has since explained what comprises Quiche, and I hope the comments I passed along to my personal cooker-upper were substantial enough for her to try it out.

Also of note on the food angle is the upcoming coaches association meeting that was set for last night (Wednesday). You can expect to read my first-hand report of the menu next week.

Moving right along...... Curtis Sherman (No. 41 for Shelby County's Wildcats) was the player who burst through the line in last week's big picture on the front page of the sports section. At last report he's offering a free tackle for an extra copy of the paper.

During the Shelby County intersquad game held last Thursday night several folks offered their services in an official capacity. Kenneth Wilder (a real-life official) was aided in the flag throwing chores by Conrad Fowler and George Bentley (real-life boosters). Things didn't get out of hand despite George Holcombe running the clock and John Jones announcingcheering over the microphone.

Well, that about wraps up this week's column. I don't know why Scrambled Eggs and Over Hard have so much trouble writing an informative and interesting column. It comes easy to

UM basketball ends with loss to B-SC

With a 69-65 loss to Birmingham-Southern College in the first round of the Southern States Conference Tournament on Feb. 22, the only option available to the University of Montevallo Falcons' basketball team ran out.

The Falcons, trying to get back into the NAIA District 27 Playoffs after missing out last year for the first time in four seasons, had to win the SSC Tournament and the automatic bid that goes with it. Had they done so, they would have knocked 'Southern out of the fourth and final playoff spot.

The loss left the Falcons with a final 19-11 mark, the third-most wins ever in UM's 18 year basketball history.

Although the finish was disappointing, UM coach Dr. Bill Elder had to admit he was pretty

"For the most part, this team played just about as hard and got about as much out of their ability as they could," he remarked. "Talent-wise, we just don't compare to some of the teams in our district, but we certainly proved we were competitive. We had a very good year, and with a break or two here or there, we might have had an excellent year."

UM golf team loses at Troy

"We just simply had a bad round on a golf course that isn't that tough," Dr. Leon Davis said, referring to his Falcons' performance in the Troy State University Multi-Match last weekend at the Trojan Oaks Golf Course in Troy.

The Falcons, who had finished strong in the fall and had high hopes of gettingoff to a rousing start this spring for a run at a third straight NAIA District 27 title, shot a 302 the first day, then dipped to a 315 the next for a 617 total, placing them 7th out of 10 teams.

"Our guys had been playing extremely well in practice rounds; I just don't know what happened," David reiterated. "Maybe we just had an off-day, but you sure won't make a living on offdays."

The Falcons' next action will be March 19-20 at the Marion Institute Invitational Tournament.

RA District champs

Pledge of allegiance

Gving the plege of allegiance in front of UM's Main Hall are the Girl Scouts from Shelby and Jefferson Counties at the "Scouts-'R-Scholars" program.

It was fun with chemistry as University of Montevallo Professor Al Harris demonstrates a project with scouts, from left, Tracy McArter of Alabaster, Alicia Mann of Montevallo and Jennifer Stinson and Jennifer Cairns, both of

And the Shelby County students who participated in Friday's read-a-thon, proved once again, that reading is fun.

The annual event sponsored by the Title I reading program included students in grades 1-8.

Some type of sustained oral reading throughout the day took place in the following schools: Calera, grades 6-8; Calera Elementary; Chelsea, grades 1-7; Columbiana Middle; Elvin Hill Elementary.

Helena Elementary, Montevallo Middle and Elementary, Thompson Middle and Elementary, Vincent Middle and Elementary, and Wilsonville.

In addition to stimulating an interest in reading, the event is also put on to draw attention to the Title I reading program.

Robot talk

Kevin Hand, Greg Davis, Daniel Dixon and Robbie Bozeman had roles in the "Last Robot," a play put on by Columbiana Middle School students during Title I's county-wide Read-a-thon Friday.

Chelsea clock maker

Will Furney explains how he makes clocks from slices of tree trunks.

Time pieces made from tree trunks

Will Furney first bought a clock-making kit for his son, then decided he would try making one, too. "That's when I got clock-making in my blood," laughed

He has tried several different hobbies since retiring from U.S. Steel around five years ago, said the Chelsea resident. He has worked with ceramics, rughooking, string and wire art, but clock-making is his favorite.

Furney said he had seen clocks made from slabs of cypress or cedar, so he has made some of those, plus some from slabs of pine. He leaves some of the pieces of wood the way they are when sliced from the tree trunk with the bark still intact. Sometimes, he highlights the grain of the wood with a burning torch.

Other slabs of wood, he cuts into the shape of the state of Alabama and burns a picture of either Auburn's or Alabama's football team mascot into the center. He has a special Alabama clock commemorating Bear Bryant's 315 wins.

On one side of the wood, Furney cuts out a small square in which he places battery-run clock works. On the other side, he carefully lays out numbers for the clock face, then covers the face and edges with a heavy coat of clear resin and attaches clock

He has also made tables from large slices of trees.

The Furneys and several friends and family members enjoy the homemade clocks and tables in their homes. But according to the clockmaker, the best part is the enjoyment he gets from making them.

Drug studies

set for Tuscaloosa

The Seventh Annual Alabama School of Alcohol and Drug Studies will be held March 23-26 at the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa.

Purpose of the school is to provide learning experiences for practitioners directly and indirectly involved in the substance abuse field.

Admission is open to anyone with a special interest in the field of substance abuse. However, it is limited to the first 200 qualified applicants, and applicants will be screened by the Director of Continuing Education in Human Ser-

Dr. Peter Balsamo may be contacted at 348-6222 for further information.

Cubs celebrate Boy Scout anniversary

"In a few years you will not have as much influence over your sons as you do now," John Weant, Jr. reminded parents of Chelsea cub scouts.

"Then, it will be their peers who influence them," he continued, and pointed out, "But as scout leaders, you have opportunity to influence not only your own sons but the boys who are their peers."

Weant was speaker at last Thursday night's Blue and Gold Banquet when Pack 354 celebrated the 72nd anniversary of Boy Scouts of America.

After the meal at Yellowleaf Lodge the pack held its monthly meeting and awarded advancement patches to two members.

Chess Harris, son of Ann and John Harris, received recognition as a Bobcat. George Griswold III, son of Beebee and George Griswold, advanced to Wolf. Presentations were made by cub master L.P. Bradberry.

Cub scouts and den leader Glenda Bradley presented a skit showing the beginning and meaning of scouting.

Members of the pack will compete in a model car building and racing contest at their March meeting. Thursday night den leader Beebee Griswold handed out kits containing blocks of wood, wheels and fittings which the boys will use to create their own cars.

Westover FD plans

spaghetti supper The Westover ladies auxiliary of the fire department will sponsor a spaghetti supper on March 6. The supper will begin at 5 p.m. at Union Methodist Church on highway 51 with proceeds going to the volunteer fire department.

The auxiliary extends an invitation to the public.

Cubs advance

cal redistricting plan aws heavy-duty flak

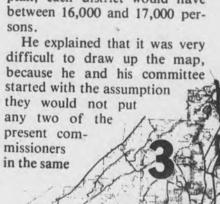

Marcia M. Sears

Bradley kicked up a iday when he proposed the district lines for mmissioners in Shelby

, who is chairman of y's Republican party, presented a map to the county commission, showing how new district lines could be set which would put 25 percent of the population in each district.

He quoted figures which showed that district 3, represented by Don Murphy has 40.55 percent of the voters in the county, while district 4, represented by J. Alpha Lowe, has only 8.85 percent. He added that district 1 has 17.54 percent, and district 2 has 33.06 percent. Jake Morris is district 1 commissioner, and Harold Davenport represents district 2.

Under Bradley's redistricting few years plan, each district would have district. But because the eastern half of the county has a much smaller population per square mile than the northern section, the district lines turned out to be radically changed.

Commissioner Lowe of Vincent exploded that the plan would disenfranchise the people in the eastern and northeastern sections of the county and give majority power to three commissioners who could live in the heavily populated northwestern section.

"It's ridiculous. I'll fight it. I'll take it to court. We've got along with (our present lines) for 60 years. I have to run countywide. I represent all the people."

Bradley stated, "If suits are filed, the county will be tied up for years and under the greatest scrutiny..."

PROPOSED DISTRICT LINES

He then moved to table it for a later time. Harold Davenport seconded that motion, and it passed, with Lowe voting 'no.' Commissioner Morris of Wilsonville was absent because of il-

Hammer sounds return, houses go up in Pelham

Three years ago, 11 new houses going up in Pelham would hardly have been news. But in this day of hampering interest rates, fresh foundations and the sound of hammers are somewhat of a rari-

However, since February 22, 11 building permits for new homes have been issued in Pelham. City clerk Willie Mae Dennis said the permits represent some $900 in fees, and are the first to be sold in the municipality in about a year.

During the housing heyday, she said 15 or 20 permits per month was not unusual. Three firms are responsible for the renewed activity.

Linda Logan of Crestwood Realty, said her firm is currently building one pre-sold and one speculation house in the Royal Oaks subdivision. A third house is planned in the near future she

In the Wildwood subdivision, Dennis said five permits were sold to the Cebu construction company.

Furthermore, on March 1, four permits were sold to Harbar Homes for new houses in the new section of Chandalar.

Harbar owner Denny Barrow said if the speculation houses, all in the $58,000 range, move within the next month to six weeks, his firm plans to start 16 more new homes there by July.

Barrow said the houses will be financed through the Alabama Housing Finance Authority at 13 7/8% fixed rate interest over 30

He said that both his firm and money lenders have come down on prices to make them affordable. The same basic houses have sold before for $70:000, he Barrow indicated that the recent passage of amendment three, which authorizes the sale of bonds to back AHFA loans to first home builders, may help spur on the building business.

He also said that more homes in the future will be sold through adjustable or variable rate mortgages, as opposed to the fixed

We're still here," Barrow said. "We just hope the buyers will be, too."

No home building permits have been sold in Alabaster or Helena for at least six or seven months, although numerous people have purchased permits for additions and repairs, according to city of-

given needed changes

The next time an election rolls around, the County Commission hopes there will be some changes in polling places.

The polling place that has been the most crowded in the entire county is the fire station in Siluria where voters in Beat 7, Box 3 go to vote.

Two years ago, the commissioners tried to move the election to the depot in the Alabaster park. However, they found that the depot was located just outside the boundaries of the box.

They took steps Monday morning to change the boundary lines, so the voters in that beat and box would have a better place to vote. Commissioner Harold Davenport commented that the fire hall had no heat and no parking.

The new boundary lines will also include the South Wind subdivision. Voters from that section have had to go to Elliottsville to vote in the past. The change will reduce the number of voters in Beat 7, Box 2.

Commissioners also voted to change the voting place for Beat 17, Box 2 from the Alabaster City Hall to the city hall annex to give voters more room. The annex is

But the other half, who said they had filled out the proper reidentification card were told there could be many reasons why their names were not on the list, and the county computer was named as one of them.

However, Ken Robinson, director of the county computer department, told the county commission Monday he did not want to take the blame for the errors of others. He showed the commission several cards that were sent to his department with improper information.

He also said that many women have been listing their husband's social security number as their own. Then the husband turns in a card with the same number on it. The computer throws out the duplicate card, because the voter list is keyed in by social security numbers.

Robinson said this may explain several errors, but that he has returned such information to the board of registrars. "I'm tired of hearing it's the computer's fault," he said.

Commissioners were alarmed at the number of voters who were turned away during the relatively small turnout on March 2.

They shuddered to think what will happen at the primary elections when large numbers of voters want to cast their ballots. Commissioner Harold Davenport said there were several very angry people in Alabaster, and "ten to fifteen percent of the poll workers themselves were not on the list."

Conflicting advice to poll workers also created problems. They had been told at the poll workers' school that no one could vote a challenge ballot unless he or she could swear to being a qualified elector.

Because the re-identification process wiped the old voting list clean on February 1, if a person's name was not on the new list, he was told he could not vote a challenge ballot.

About noon on election day Secretary of State, Don Siegelman was asked for a ruling, and he said, yes, persons could vote a challenge ballot after all, if they thought their names should be on the list.

The problem is being addressed this week by several officials and members of the Democrat and Republican parties.

'Worst bridge in county' now on tap for replacement

There's good news for travelers who use State Highway 25 east of Wilsonville. The 'double bridges' over Yellowleaf Creek are going to be replaced.

Nickels

Jim Braden, state highway engineer for Shelby County, told the Reporter that money is now available from the federal bridge replacement fund to construct a new bridge at the site. He calls it

"the worst bridge in the county." Engineers are now deciding which route will be best for the new bridge. It will, however, be built very near the present structure, he said. The new bridge will be modern and much safer, with flat slopes leading to it, Braden indicated. The present bridge has been the site of many accidents in recent years. Most motorists also believe it is too narrow for an automobile and a heavy truck to cross at the same time.

During the extremely cold weather of January, the bridge slipped from its piers and highway traffic had to be rerouted for two weeks. Braden told the Reporter a new procedure was used to put the bridge back in place, with jacks. If it had not worked the department would have had to put in new piers, he said.

Other improvements to state highways in the county that are now underway include resurfacing Highway 25 from Bibb County to Wilton, resurfacing 231 north of Vincent, and improvements to the Moore's Crossroads intersection on Highway 119 north Montevallo.

Braden said that bids have already been awarded to resurface highway 31 in the Pelham area. Improvements to Highways 261 and to 275 both north of Helena, are also in the works. Barrier rails on the bridge next to Montevallo city hall are also planned.

Braden commented that money for state highways will be getting "tighter and tighter." He said the state is now at the peak of its indebtedness for highway bonds, with $41 million in debt pervice. He added that without the four cent gasoline tax that was passed two years ago, "the situation would have been ridiculous."

Seam sealing

A project spokesman for the new section of U.S. 280, originally targeted to open last December, now says the four-lane will be from three weeks to two months more in completion. Weather will be the key factor in completing the project. Last week work crews took advantage of the few dry days to install guard rails and seal rock seams with gunite to prevent slides in the massive mountain cuts. (Photo by David F. Moore)

He still faces two counts of solicitation for the murders of Shelby County District Attorney Billy Hill and Circuit Court Judge Harold Walden.

According to tape recorded conversations that were introduced into evidence, Hope held the three men responsible for the convictions and life sentences of his sons Bobby Joe and Phillip

Columbiana eyes grant

When a representative of the Birmingham Regional Planning Commission mentioned the possibility of grant money, members of the Columbiana Council perked up their ears.

Bob House told the council Thursday evening that $30 million in community block grants are being given out in the state.

The first thought that occurred to council members was the improvement of the city's sewer system. "We've been trying to get grant money for that purpose for eight or ten years," Mayor Buck Falkner remarked, "and we're no closer than we were when we started."

It was the sewer system project that prompted the passage of a one cent sales tax, the mayor

Feds sentence Pelham man

A Pelham man was resentenced last week in federal court to five and a half years in prison for the possession of firearms while involved in a drug deal. He still faces similar charges in Shelby County in connection with the case.

Morris Davis, 54, who ran a tobacco shop on U.S. 31 in Pelham, was first sentenced in October of 1980, but filed for a hearing to reduce his sentence. However, last Thursday U.S. District Court Judge James Hancock upheld Davis' first sentence which also carries a $15,000 fine and 10 years parole after he serves his time, according to U.S. Marshall Tom Greene.

Davis' federal sentence stems from an arrest on March 12, 1980, when he sold a quanity of marijuana to an undercover agent in Hoover. Davis had weapons in his possession at the

The same day, Pelham police and county deputies raided Davis' home on the Helena Road and found about 100 pounds of pot. Further charges were levied against him in October, 1981 for allegedly receiving property in the form of a gun.

Pelham Captain Allan Wade said Davis still faces charges in circuit court on the stolen gun and the drugs recovered in the March raid.

Greene said Davis was sent last Thursday to the federal correctional institute in Talladega.

County officials found out on March 2nd that many of the 14,722 were still alive, and loudly complaining about being denied the right to vote. Over 100 were reportedly reidentified on that election day, as the board of registrars went into a semi-emergency procedure.

Although the total number of voters who showed up for the March 2 election was not tabulated, a total of 6,652 voted for or against amendment 4, the most voted-on of all the issues.

This would mean a 27 percent turnout was achieved, somewhat high for the usually-ignored constitutional amendment elections. If the old voter total of 38,437 is used, the voter turnout was only 17 percent of those registered. Voters as a percent of the county's total population is roughly half that.

Why would so many voters show up for a ho-hum election after lying low for the past two years? Many apparently had no idea that the reidentification program existed.

Many others, however, had attempted to reidentify but had not succeeded.

The Board of Registrars became the center of attention in answering questions about the process.

How did Shelby County's voter list get 38 percent too large in the first place? Well, the 38 percent error rate is itself probably in error, and the true figure may be smaller.

In addition, this is the first major purge of the list since passage of the 1965 Civil Rights Act required preclearance of all voter list action with the Justice Department in Washington. Moreover, Shelby County has had many people move in and out in that period. It's hard to keep

Since several important elections lie ahead in 1982, many are predicting that more errors will surface. If so many voters ran into trouble on such a small election, they say, what will happen when the offices of probate judge, sheriff, legislator, and governor are at stake, and the voter participation rate zooms

by UA Journalism Student Bill Todd

Sonny Moore, Representative of Shelby County does not agree with parts of the two budgets that the House has passed in the current legislature session.

First, Moore told this reporter he was not pleased with the absence of the Youth Services program in the general budget. The general fund budget deals with the normal functions of Alabama state government, and noticeably missing was the appropriation for youth services. This was ping-ponged between the general fund and education budgets, and as a result been excluded from both.

"Now, the only way to appropriate money for youth services is to amend the state constitution," Moore said. Youth services handles various youth programs, juvenile correction facilities, and job finding programs for the youth of the state.

The education budget passed Thursday, but through a technical error in its approval, the 16 percent pay raise for teachers came out of the House as only 14 percent. Rep. Moore was disturbed over the matter of getting the budget to the Senate for its approval. "As of now, we (the House) have not been able to provide ruling to transmit the budget to the Senate," Moore

The House had originally approved a 16 percent teacher pay raise. This is not a 16 percent annual increase, but really a 5.33 percent increase per year over the next three years.

However, poor definition of the pay raise portion of the Education Budget prevented the percentage from leaving the House as 16. The state teachers will receive as a result a 14 percent increase, or about 4.67 percent annually. This year would be the first time in three years that state teachers have received a raise in pay.

Rep. Moore was pleased with the passage of the first three amendments by state voters on Tuesday.

"It's the best thing to do to preserve the integrity of that money," Moore said. "It would be scrambled for in the legislature if it wasn't restricted." Moore said that money goes quickly when up for grabs in the capitol.

Collies and rain make strong showing at Vandiver dog trials

by David F. Moore

The fourth annual Heart of Dixie Sheep Dog Trials drew border collie handlers to Vandiver from as far as Manitoba, Canada, Texas and Arizona. For the fourth year, the dog trials also drew wet clouds from the weatherman.

Saturday's storms put a heavy damper on spectator turnout and, consequently, on funds raised by admissions and concession sales. Despite the weather, community center treasurer Alice Ellyson estimates $500 was raised towards the completion of the Vandiver ball field.

Co-organizer and community center president Richard Karrasch said a record number of specialized dogs were entered in the trials. In the open class, 49 border collies vied for top honors, while 18 dogs were

Although several people jokingly suggested the date of the trials be changed because of the streak of bad weather, Mrs. Karrasch said that due to the scheduled circuit of the sanctioned shows, this would not be possible without greatly hurting the number of entries.

In its four years, the Vandiver trials have gained in national prestige. They have also provided the northern Shelby County comfund raiser.

Alice Ellyson said some 40 Vandiver residents probably had a hand in putting on the show. Furthermore, many of the women in the community provided covered dishes for the handlers' feast which was given to the entrants Saturday night.

Postage stamp garden feeds family

Paul Gamble's garden is only a 30 x 60 foot plot in his backyard at Helena. But he grows enough food in it to feed his family yearround and to share with relatives and neighbors.

"In a small, compact space, you can grow a lot of things," said Gamble.

He added that he can get at least three crops if he plants real early.

He has spinach already putting out from last fall and has already set out onions and cabbage plants in rows, with radishes and turnip greens sown down the middles. He planted English peas in January and later will plant something else right beside them.

Last year he used the same space for English peas and small running limas, and the same sticks for them to run on, he said. About the time the peas started blooming, he planted the beans. He had harvested the peas and was ready to pull up the drying vines by the time the bean vines were ready to start twining around the sticks.

Gamble has ordered asparagus and strawberry plants, he said, and has beds ready to set them out as soon as they arrive. He prepared the asparagus bed with sand and barnyard fertilizer and the strawberry bed with compost and sand. He will mulch the berries with pinestraw, giving them a Saturday night, 48 people, many of whom were her coworkers over the years, gave Mrs. McGlawn a surprise farewell party at an Alabaster restaurant, the party was organized by Helena mail clerks Linda Bristow and Peggy Wilson.

Lois," Bristow said. "She is a wonderful person -- more than just a boss. She is a friend."

Mrs. McGlawn went to work as a postal clerk May 15, 1945, while in the tenth grade at Thompson High School. "I stopped by the post office one afternoon to get the mail and Virginia Tucker (the postmaster, then) asked me if I wanted a job."

Ever since, the Helena native said her life has centered around the post office.

Indeed the Post Office is where she met her husband, Millard, when he came to work as rural route carrier, 32 years ago. Between the two of them, the McGlawns booked 60 years with the postal service.

Mrs. McGlawn was named postmaster at Helena on April visiting the McGlawns' son and 23, 1973. At that time, she was told the town would receive a new post office. But the Pelham, Maylene and Saginaw post offices needed replacing first, so she had to wait eight years for the new building which stands at the intersection of highways 52 and 1/ -- exactly where she said she wanted it.

When she first went to work "We all loved working with for the post office, Helena had 415 boxes, and that number changed little until the boom hit. Up until then, Mrs. McGlawn said she knew everybody's name in Helena. But after that, it was impossible to keep up with all the newcomers as the number of boxes increased to 810.

"I don't really feel like it's my post office," she said in answer to a question. "But when I drive by it now, I do miss it. Still, it's a good feeling not to have so much responsibility."

McGlawn has been on leave since November. Her retirement went into effect March 1.

"All my life I've had to get up and go to work," she said. "Now, I'm going to do what I want to do!"

One thing on that list includes grandson Blane and Joseph in New Orleans. Their second son, Adrian, is an engineer for Harbert Construction.

The McGlawns said that at home, former boss and former employee are on common ground. And they like it that

THE ARMY COLLEGE FUND OFFERS $15,200 FOR COLLEGE WITH JUST A TWO-YEAR

If you'd rather start college with the money to pay for it than finish college in debt, it could pay you to consider two years in the Army.

If you participate in the Veterans' Educational Assistance Program (VEAP), the money you save for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if you qualify, the Army will add up to $8,000 on top of that.

That's $15,200 in just two years.

Globetrotting couple retire to Chelsea

by Shelba Nivens

They were shot at and bombed out in offices in Lebanon and played host to presidents and kings in countries around the world. Now, they have come back to settle down in Chelsea where they grew up.

But retirement from government service hasn't made Bernell and William Collis Holcombe stodgy and inactive. They stay busy sharing their knowledge and experiences with civic, church and school groups, as well as individuals who visit the virtual international museum which is their home.

The Holcombes' uniquelydesigned house reflects their life in countries where Mr. Holcombe served for 16 years in embassy posts as a representative of the US government. A tour of the house is almost like a tour around the world and through the lives of the Holcombe family.

Trays on the wall tell stories from Egypt, Syria and other exotic places. A table in the study was made from a large serving tray from the Saudi Arabian desert.

A brazier that once warmed a

snake-charmer from India. "They would drive up and unload those things (snakes) right in your front yard," recalled Mrs. Holcombe. On the back of the painting is a message from the artist, "To Mrs. Holcombe, the master charmer." Near the picture hangs one of the flutes used by the snake charmer.

One bathroom in the house is decorated in a sea-effect because of a fishing net bought in the city of Byblos in Lebanon, said Mrs. Holcombe, who has a degree in interior decorating. She recalled the morning she and her husband were eating out-of-doors in the ancient city and saw the beautiful, blue net glistening in the sun and rippling in the breeze as it hung by the sea to dry.

Across window shades are written the Arabic words meaning, "You are very welcome." A painting on the wall shows a house built high on stilts like the one the Holcombe family lived in while in Borneo.

Mrs. Holcombe uses clothing she brought from overseas to give international fashion shows for clubs and other groups.

Many of the Holcombes' treasures are simple things such as rocks from beaches around the world and a small ceramic fish from their Chinese cook in Malaysia. Among Mrs. Holcombe's fondest memories are people she helped while doing volunteer work at a Malaysian hospital, and her servants' children who fondly called her "Memsahib"

A shelf-lined display room in the basement catches the overflow of momentos. Here, are found empty gun shells and fragments of a Russian-made bomb picked up after an attack by terrorists on Holcombe's office building in Beirut. "They were always bombing and shooting at us because of our support for the Israelis," explained Mrs. Holcombe.

Once during open street warfare, a squad of armed Palestinians, took refuge inside their apartment building. The Holcombes hid in their apartment behind a barricade of heavy furniture while Lebanese soldiers surrounded the building with machine guns and tanks until called away for a more serious engagment. "We never saw the tterrorists again,"said Holcombe, "but sometimes we still look under our bed at night."

Holcombe retired in 1975 and came back to Chelsea. A few months later, his replacement in Beirut was kidnapped and tor-

Their son, Tom, married the daughter of the now-retired Commodore of the Philippine navy and they have two young daughters. He travels around the world as a chemical engineer.

Older son Bill is a management analyst with the U.S. Agriculture Department. He and his wife have two sons.

The Holcombes' sons grew up in India and Malaysia, a far cry from the Shelby County countryside where their parents spent their childhoods.

From Vincent High School, Collis Holcombe went on to earn a bachelor of arts degree in political science, a masters in public and international affairs and a doctorate in law. He is a member of the bar in Washington, D.C.

The Holcombes' home is on land homesteaded by his great grandfather. He works from it to promote peace and understanding between people of the world, and worships in the little church down the road which was established by his ancestors.

Although he and Mrs. Holcombe have traveled seven times around the world, they agree that it is really good to be back home again.

Safari room

Restaurants rated

received over all high ratings from the health department in February.

According to inspector Harry Edwards, the average rating increased from 92 or 93, to 95.16. Commented Edwards, "We dy's BBQ No. 2 (Pelham), Food don't give them the rating, it's what they deserve."

Edwards said that 100 of the county's 116 establishments were (Valleydale), Quincy's and Riverinspected. Of those not inspected, he said several had closed permanently, some had closed until the summer, one restaurant was new and still not in full swing and the cafeteria at the University of Montevallo was inadvertently skipped due to an inspector's being in the hospital. The health department is authorized to close any eating establishment with a rating of 70 or lower. Edwards said that five establishments were put on legal notice for poor ratings, but passed inspection when they were reexamined at a later time during the month.

The ratings, as compiled by the Shelby County Health Department, show that Sandwich Shop of Columbiana was the only one to score 100.

Those scoring 99 were: Bill's Deli, Briarcliff Nursing Home No. 2, Community Service Bldg., Davis Drug, Galley Restaurant, La Cheles' Restaurant, Piggly Wiggly Deli (Columbiana), Piggly Wiggly Mkt. (Columbiana), Piggly Wiggly Mkt. (Valleydale), Ranelli's Deli and Richey's BBQ.

Troop 5 hikes a segment of the Appalachian Trail

It's 55 miles from Deep Gap to Neels Gap, and Boy Scouts in Troop 5 expect to cover that distance in seven days.

The two gaps are located along the southern section of the Appalachian Trail, and they mark the starting point and journey's end for the 25 boys and seven leaders who are hiking the trail during the AEA holidays.

All of the food and shelter for the week long trip is being carried in the backpacks which were loaded several days before the troop left for Camp Glisson, Ga.

The church bus left Christ Church shortly after midnight Friday, and the troop began their trek at 9 a.m. Saturday morning. According to their itinerary, they made 5.54 miles that day, camping for the night at Bly Gap. The following day they were to would have taken them to Tray

From there, Unicoi Gap, 5.7 miles away, was the next stop. And after walking 9.6 miles the following day, the troop expected to make camp at Low Gap.

The next day's journey of 5.3 miles was to take them to Tesnatee Gap, and the final 5.7 mile leg of their hike will bring them to Neels Gap.

According to Byron White, one of the leaders who has made the hike several times, weather conditions have never cancelled a

Last year, the troop hiked over ice, he said.

Even though temperatures are unpredictable, the average daytime high for that area is around 50 degrees and it may go down as low as 10 degrees at leaders instructed their boys to "be prepared for anything."

County schools fight battle of head lice

Head lice isn't an uncommon problem in school systems throughout the country.

And elementary schools in Shelby County are no exception. However, this year the situation has aggravated some

Calera student takes his life

A Calera High School student died Tuesday morning as the results of a self-inflicted gun shot wound, according to Shelby County Coroner Billy Thomp-

Ronnie Phillips' body was discovered at 8:22 by Calera police officer Cecil Harris, who spotted the young man's vehicle in Oliver Park. Thompson placed the time of death at 8 a.m.

Phillips, 17, was manager of the football team the past two years, and was described as a good student,

He had been living with his step-father, Wayne Milstead, in Calera.

the former church building located back of the city hall. The changes are subject to approval by the U.S. Department of Justice.

Another change that is expected is at the Pelham Plaza Mall. The county has been notified that the mall will be occupied in the future, and not available as a polling place.

The former Camper City location on highway 31 north was no longer available for last Tuesday's election, and a last minute arrangement was made at the McAdams Carpet Company. But that location will not be available next time, county officials say.

The Union 76 station on highway 25 east of Columbiana was found to be closed when the voting machines were being delivered. Emergency electric lines had to be installed so the amendments election could be held there for Beat 9, Box 2.

School, several teachers have been afflicted with the problem which is generally confined to their students.

But the school is combating the problem in every way possible.

The Shelby County Health Department has instructed teachers where and how to look for lice on the childrens' heads, and also informed them on the treatment.

Out of a student body of 1,300, TES Principal Leslie Harrison reports that to date there have been only 130 cases of lice.

Letters to parents have explained the situation, Harrison said, and asked that they check their

According to the Health Department, a shampoo prescription may be obtained from them or the family physician.

There is also an over the counter shampoo available at drug stores.

According to the Health Department, head lice do not jump and can only be contracted by contact with an individual who has them or contact with infested clothing or other objects.

As an extra measure to get rid of the lice at Thompson, the school was sprayed with a disinfectant every evening.

Although Thompson was the only school where any alarm about the situation was expressed, the Health Department says they have had reports of lice in every elementary school in the

Four county firemen become only 'smoke divers' in state

by Iris F. Smitherman Only four firemen in the state of Alabama are qualified as "smoke divers" and all four are from Shelby County.

Clarence Stone Jr. of the Montevallo Volunteer Fire Department is the only volunteer fireman in the stae who has completed a 30-hour course in smoke diving at Florida State Fire Col-

The others are David Mc-Curry, Joey Lovelady, and Mike Knight all of the Pelham Fire

Citizens aid home

A three pound coffee can full of nickels won't go very far toward keeping Shelby County's Youth Attention Home running. However, every nickel is important now that federal funding has been discontinued. The can filled with money was presented to Attention Home Director Brenda Lee Sunday by the adult Sunday School class from Riverchase United Methodist Church.

"And they plan to do this every quarter," Lee beamed.

All federal funds were to have discontinued last September, Lee noted. However, the government did provide 41% funding this year, she said.

In order to make up the difference, Lee has been soliciting contributions from communities, businesses and individuals, and holding money raising events.

Referring to the young people who are helped by the home and youth services, Lee asked, "What would they do if we weren't here?"

The facility near Alabaster is licensed to care for eight youngsters, and can house ten if necessary. And they're usually full.

In some cases, parents don't want the child, Lee explained, and they have no place else to go. "It's sad," she said, shaking

Some residents remain at the facility until they're 18 and can manage on their own. "We try to help them earn GED's and find jobs," she explained.

Although the average age of residents is 14, Lee said that children as young as eight have been cared for at the home.

In addition to providing a place for troubled young people to stay, Youth Services gives counseling help on an outpatient

"And we're the only ones who don't charge anything," Lee

Foreman retires after 30 years

W.E. "Bill" Barrett, line crew foreman for Alabama Power Company's Montevallo district has retired after more than fortytwo years of service.

Barrett was employed in July of 1939 as a truck driver in the construction department. He retired on March 1.

He was presented a retirement plaque by A.C. Rogers, Jr., vice president of the company's western division and received a cash gift from his fellow employees.

lege in Ocala.

At the present time, the caseload stands at 350. And counselors deal with everything from truancy to drugs. Trying to nip in the bud anything that might turn teenagers in the wrong direction, Lee and her staff have embarked on a program called, "Pinpoint High Risk Youth."

This involves finding and working with elementary school students who are truants or who are making failing grades.

When September rolls around this year, Lee says, there won't be any more federal funds. But she noted with relief that a $10,000 trust fund has been set up by former Attention Home Board Chairman, Ed Craig.

That will at least give the facility some breathing space until other funds can be secured.

This year, Lee reported, the county contributed $15,000; Pelham, $3,000; Calera, $500 and Alabaster has agreed to provide services.

Various service clubs have also pitched in to do painting and repair jobs, Lee said.

Other communities are being asked for help, the director related, since every area of the county is served by the home and youth services.

The latest fund raising effort is a talent show May 15 at Pelham High School.

Members of the Indian Valley Womens' Service Auxiliary are assisting with that event which is open to both young people and

W.E. "BILL" BARRETT

Stone and McCurry have recently completed the course. Lovelady and Knight took it

To prepare for their training, Stone says, he and McCurry began a fitness program in November, jogging three miles a day. When they reported to Ocala on February 21, they had to complete a 220 yard sprint in 40 seconds, and walk a 20' beam carrying a 25 pound object.

Stone said the school told them that each individual would be pushed to his physical and mental limits. They each had to wear a fire protection suit weighing 25 pounds for the entire 30 hour course.

One of the exercises performed by the firemen, who were split into teams of 6 men, was to light fires on each floor of a 5-story smoke tower. After the building was completely filled with smoke, the men went to the top of the building, then had to find their way to the 4th floor crawling on their hands and knees.

During this evolution water gates were opened on all floors. At this time course instructors tried to harass the men to the point of breaking down both mentally and physically.

The men were pushed under the water, helmet and masks were knocked off, donned airpacks were bound with rope and the firefighters had to get loose from the tied airpacks feeling their way through the thick smoke.

From the 4th floor maze of the smoke tower the firemen would make their way to the first floor exit only to double-time to the next exercise at the burn-

Once there, the student would climb the 3-story building by an exterior stairwell, and once again enter the building on their knees. This time, however, the floor temperature was 460°-480° on the interior stairway. At this point the men would make their way to the 2nd floor which was covered with water.

"When I looked down the water on the floor was literally boiling," Stone commented, "Later I found out that the actual temperature of the water 16 inches from the floor was 220°," Stone and McCurry both acquired bad knee burns during the week.

Completing that evolution the group broke for a one-hour lunch break consisting of gatorade and a peanut butter and honey sandwich.

After lunch it was back to the same type of exercises.

Although 28 men started the course, only 21 finished it.

"In completing a smoke diver's course it makes a fireman like me realize that it takes teamwork in extinguishing fires that protect both property and lives."

"It also made me more aware of the high rates of death of firefighters due to stress and strain from both the firefighting and the heavy equipment that they car ry."

"Being around professional firefighters in a school of this caliber has made me realize that you can be a professional whether you are on a paid department or a volunteer one," Stone concluded.

According to these men, there are only 560 men in the nation who have completed this school.

Liquor license sought for Montevallo club

Montevallo's city council has postponed a decision on approving an application for an onpremises liquor license until March 22.

James Frazier, a Montevallo businessman, appeared before the governing body on February 22 requesting approval of his application for such a license for a proposed private club. At that time Frazier indicated he has plans to establish a private club whose membership would be made up of University of Montevallo students, faculty and staff members and UM alumni.

Frazier said he proposes to establish the club in the Basement of the former Smitherman Drug Store building which is located in the Whaley Shopping Center.

meeting a group of students led by the vice president of the student government association spoke in behalf of the proposal. The president of the Montevallo Chamber of Commerce, Don Lovelady, also spoke favorably of the proposed club.

Last Wednesday a group of students met with Mayor Ralph Sears, asking him to postpone a decision on the application until after the spring holidays. Sears agreed.

During the council's regular meeting Monday night, Rev. Thomas Mansell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Montevallo distributed copies of a letter from the Montevallo Ministerial Association. The letter requested the council to "deny this request for a liquor During the February 22 lounge license."

view of an ever-increasing crime rate in this nation, much of which originates in a lounge atmosphere, we believe that parents of students appreciate their children being in a city with adequate and professional law enforcement where the student is not exposed to this negative influence."

Mansell also called council's attention to a recent revision of state laws regarding private clubs. He warned council members that lounges frequently sell liquor for off-premises consumption as well as on-premises.

In other business council

The letter went on to say, "In members approved an agreement whereby Montevallo's volunteer - fire department will provide fire protection services to the city of Wilton, Montevallo will provide the service for a period ending September 30, 1984 for the sum of $250 per month.

The scheduled adoption of a recently up-dated compilation of the Montevallo city code was postponed when two council members stated they had not had time to study the document.

Council members elected former councilman Herbert Milstead to fill a vacancy on the Montevallo Park and Recreation Roard

Jesus Ilved during the "Dispensation," of the Law of Moses and the Prophets. Jesus observed, kept, and obsyed the Mesaical Law. See also Matt. 5:17 and way. see Matt. 5:17, Col. 2:14.

The Law was referred to in Co. 2:14 as being "The handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us. In Eph. 2:15 of the Mesaical Law it says Jesus, "abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in orin Gal. 3:13 "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the Law."

We must understand the relationship of Christ and the Law. Jesus was a man of Power & Authority, the Son of God. John 1:34. Yet, Jesus was born under the authority of the Law, Gel. 4:4.

There was and is much confusion about this relation-ship between Christ and the Law. The Law had authority, and Christ h ad authority and now Christ

Dunnavant youth to cut record

The youth choir of Dunnavant Faith church will be cutting a record albumn during AEA holidays.

The 38 member choir, composed of young people nine to twenty years of age, goes by the name, "New Direction."

They, along with choir directors Don and Judy Schubert, Pastor Billy Bertram and other adult leaders, will leave early Friday, March 12 for Nashville where they will record the album. According to a spokesperson for the group, men of the church are financing transportation.

She said the choir's album will include one song written especially for the Dunnavant young people. The author, John Kell from Tenenssee, first heard them sing when his group, "Rock City Boys," visited the church as guest singers. He suggested that they cut a record, she said.

The "New Direction" singers have sung at several churches in their area and in churches in Georgia and Tennessee. Now they are looking forward to sharing their "message in songs" with others via a recording disc.

In the past half century, the the building. Furthermore, a tem-Maylene Community Center-formerly Maylene School-has seen better days.

But a small group of area residents believe the peeling old building has definitely not outlived its usefullness.

Several work parties have been recently held to begin the long process of cleaning up the grounds and making repairs to porary board of directors was elected last Sunday and a membership drive has been kicked off.

The board members are Ann Dawkins, Houston Colburn, Tommy Foust, Charles Lint, Hazel Grubbs, Ricky Roper, Lisa Dawkins and Misty Dawkins. Joyce Colburn is heading the membership drive.

Press box destroyed

The press box at Montevallo High School's Fisher Stadium was destroyed by fire late Sunday night. Initial reports indicate the fire was set. Flames were first sighted from the University of Montevallo cam-

The number one priority is to rejuvenate the old ballfield in front of the building, according to Ann Dawkins. Although it would be too late in the season to start a little league team, the group intends to get the field in shape for summer softball play.

Major project number two will be to paint the building, and Colburn says the group tentatively has someone lined up to donate the paint. A fresh coat of paint on the building would go a long way towards making it more attractive and drawing more attention to the project, he said.

Currently, the building is only used for Saturday night dances. But the group plans to obtain playground equipment and picnic facilities in the future.

At this point, however, the most important missing ingredients of muscle and money remain to be overcome.

Dawkins said that membership to the community center is only $5 per family per year, and membership is open to area residents.

Maylene stretches along highway 17 from highway 44 just south of Helena, to highway 22 between Moore's Crossroads and Dogwood. It includes Eaglewood and Woodland Hills subdivisions Brantleyville community, Fox Valley Apartments and Griffin Mobile Home Park.

"If we can just get the interest of the people up, we can get a good thing going," said Dawkins. "We need something here, and that building is just sitting there."

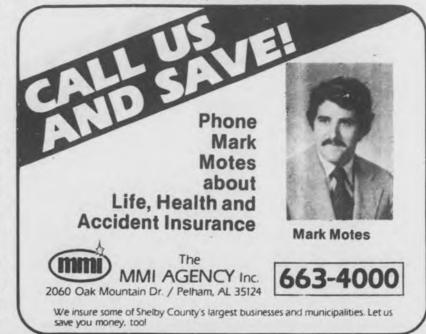

"It needs to be a project for the community and by the community, and I believe it'll benefit everyone," said Colburn.

Maylene School was turned over to the Maylene Community Center, Inc., a chartered, nonprofit organization, by the state board of education in 1969, Colburn said. In the last several years, interest in the community center has fallen off, and the elements have taken their toll of the building.

"Our main thing right now is to get more interest out of the community," Colburn said.

Volunteers usually try and work on the building over the weekends. He added that everyone is invited to pitch in and help. For more information call 663-9953.

The Yellow Jackets and Panthers spent almost the rest of the night muddled around midfield as the offenses sputtered.

Late in the game Vincent started passing down the field. Aided by penalties, Vincent crept closer. Pelham had its chance to end the drive with two sure interceptions that were dropped. Vincent quarterback Eddie Reynolds passed to Mark Kelow Forward Orlando Lee and guard Joe Hall were named to the All Southern States Conference basketball squad. Herman Bell, also of the Falcon cage team received honorable mention.

Lee, a senior, helped Montevallo to the third-most wins in the school's history. He ranks fourth in the conference in steals and blocked shots, seventh. in rebounding and fifteenth in scoring with a 11.9 average points tossed the game-tying touchdown pass to teammate Smith in the left corner of the endzone. Kelow added the PAT with two seconds remaining to make the score 7-6.

Pelham coach Joel Foshee, despite the disappointing loss, looked favorably upon his squad. "We've had a good spring. Our players have the right attitude and have put in a lot of effort. We've got good leadership on the Foshee added that his team has spent a great deal of time working on the fundamentals. That in turn has added confidence to his players and has aided in filling some key positions left vacant by departing seniors. "If we can keep our confidence and maintain the great attitude our kids have displayed, we'll be respectable," Foshee remarked.

Shelby County's game against Jemison went much in the same manner as the earlier contest. The Wildcats won the toss, received the ball and marched toward the them....except their own

That was the only serious drive for either team until late in the game. Jemison almost penetrated the goal line with six minutes remaining. The Jemison Panthers had first and goal from the two, but four plays later gave the ball over on downs as the Wildcat defense and Jemison mistakes took their toll.

As the clock wound down, Jemison got a second chance when a 20 yard pass moved the Panthers to the Wildcat 21 yard line. From there, the Panther tailback burst through the middle, turned right, and raced for the corner of the endzone for the six points. The try for two failed as the clock showed 15 seconds remaining. The score remained 6-0 after Shelby County's desperation passes fell short of the goal.

One conclusion that can be drawn from the jamboree is that there seems to be a balance among the county teams represented last Thursday night. It should make for interesting and tough contests next fall as the goal line like nothing would stop teams meet in regular season

All County players named for basketball

County coaches have announced the 1981-82 All County Basketball Players. The balloting was held last Wednesday night at the coaches' association meeting held at Briarwood Christian School.

Voted the Coach of the Year was Shelby County High School's Don Piazza.

Named to the All County squad were: Peter ClemensBriarwood, Richard Russell Calera, Kent O'Sheilds Chelsea, Tim Jones Montevallo, Todd Davis, Bobby Sutton, Devin Tubert all from Pelham, Darryl Ward and Lester Gaiters of Thompson, Mike Kelley and Maurice Kelly Vincent, Greg Bester Indian Springs, and Bruce Martin Shelby County.

The All County basketball honorees along with fellow athletes from the All County Football, Girl's Basketball and Volleyball, have been invited to the All County Banquet which will be held later in the year. The Shelby County Coaches' Association sponsors the event each year which is financed from proceeds from the county basketball and baseball tournaments, plus dues paid by the member schools.

Intersquad games reveal weaknesses, strongholds of teams

tersquad games

Pigskins were flying in afternoon. Both schools reported Montevallo and Calera last week success in the ticket booth. But as the two schools went into in- they had some problems on the field as the spring editions of The Eagles played on Thursday their teams struggled to find the evening and Bulldogs on Friday correct combination to make up an offense and defense.

The Blue team won the Calera intersquad game 22 to 8 over the White squad. Coach Danny Alverson told the Reporter that his team holds some promise.

"I'm pleased with what I saw, but we've got a long way to go. We did have some bright spots though.

"Everyone has worked real hard, but we'll have to continue putting out a lot of effort and put this thing together if we're going to be competitive. Our key will be getting some depth and staying away from injuries." In Montevallo, the Orange took the win with a 16 to 14 decision over the Blue. "We have a lot to be desired." Coach Richard Gilliam commented. "We're not as aggressive as I would have liked - or as much as we were this time last year. We did have a few good inside runs.

'Our quarterback, Howard Gaddis, threw the ball well. Our defense gave him good pass protection and that was a pleasant surprise. We'll have to wait till the jamboree when we play Briarwood to get a better picture of our strengths and capabilities."

Calera and Montevallo both play in the jamboree on March 19th at Calera's Ricky Cairns Memorial Stadium.

Chelsea will also take part in the evening's contests, with a match against Cathedral Christian. Coach Roger Hibbs told the Reporter that the Hornets have about 36 out for the spring and have been practicing hard. The Hornets did not schedule an intersquad game this spring.

It looks like county fans will have to wait another week to get another eyeful of football. There's bound to be quite a crowd at the Calera Jamboree for that's the last look we'll get till August.

Softball teams needed for tourney

Softball teams are needed for a round robin tournament planned by the Thompson High School Baseball Boosters.

The all day tournament is set for March 27th at the Buck Creek field in Alabaster. Teams are needed to complete the roster.

Trophies will be awarded for the top teams, with the benefits of the affair going to the Baseball Boosters.

For information, call Billy Woodham at 663-6380 or 663-3858.

Private schools claw for wins

by Richard Crosby

The two county academies each earned a 1-1-1 record in the private school football jamboree last Friday night. The Raiders of Shelby logged their only win against Cahawba Christian and Coosa Valley's win came against Talladega.

Six teams making up District VII for the Private School Association took part in the footballathon. Nine games were played, starting at 6 p.m. and ending more than four hours later. Each team played three games 12 minutes long. The clock did not start however until the ball changed possessions.

The big game for the local fans was the third game of the night as Shelby and Coosa Valley played each other. The game went to a scoreless tie as neither team could maintain a consistent offensive drive with the ball.

In other games for the Raiders, they lost to powerful Bessemer 0-6, and won over Cahawba 6-0. Rushing leaders for the Raiders were Keith Knowles with 73 yards on 11 runs, and Bryan Russell with 15 carries for 69 yards. Coosa Valley lost to Bessemer 0-12, and beat Talladega 20-0.

The evening of football raised over a thousand dollars for the district. In addition, Shelby Academy's Raider Boosters pocketed over $2,200. The club gave away a shotgun, and sold concessions to earn that amount.

Then they served 165 plates of barbecue which n etted them over $300.

Shelby coach DeWayne Kervin told the Reporter that the evening went pretty much as he expected. "We knew that Bessemer was a tough ballclub and we were pleased that we could hold them to six points. We had some opportunities against Coosa Valley but penalties and our inexperience kept us from being consistent. "We knew before the games that we had a lot of work left to do. I think we show promise and our guys are willing to work. They have the attitude that makes coaching here enjoyable." Kervin added that his team is getting tremendous support from the Raider Booster Club.

Coosa Valley struggled offensively until the Talladega game. That's when the dam broke and the Rebels burst with 20 points. Coosa Valley scored almost every time it had the ball during the 12 minute game.

Player depth will be a problem for the Rebels. Only 17 dressed for the jamboree last week. Coach Gary Franks believes that he'll be adding to those ranks by August.

For private school football fans, last Friday was a good day for football with even better days com-

Let's keep turkey hunters' reputation clean

It won't be long now. Shelby County hunters are primed and waiting for the first official day of the spring turkey season.

That day comes March 20th. Whether schools will experience the same amount of absences noted when 'doe day' came for deer hunters is doubtful because the 20th is on a Saturday.

Most hunt clubs have been nurturing fields for several months. Gobblers love to come and feast on fresh green sprouts that have recently burst through the top-

That may explain some of the spring fires that annually occur in the county. Whether hunters start them or not, it's a fact that the fires improve hunting. The leaves and dead grass are burned off during the brush fires, which make the growing of new grass easier. That kind of growth draws turkeys out of hiding and into the fields for an easier shot.

Let's all hope that this spring Shelby County won't be hit by a rash of fires, and that the gobblers come dancing to the well rehearsed calls of hunters. .....R.G.C.

UM to host annual spring baseball classic

A very strong field has been assembled for the 8th annual University of Montevallo Spring Baseball Classic, one which threatens the host Falcons' two year stranglehold on the Classic

The Classic is coming up March 17-20, with featured guests including Illinois Benedictine College, Lambuth College of Jackson, Tenn., and Northern Kentucky University.

Illinois Benedictine and Lam-buth are perenniel contenders in NAIA Districts 20 and 24 respectively, while Northern Kentucky, more often than not, winds up in the NCAA Division II World Series.

The Classic schedule is as follows:

Wed., March 17 - 1 p.m., Lambuth vs. Northern Kentucky; 3:30 p.m., Illinois Benedictine vs. Northern Kentucky; and 7 p.m., Montevallo vs. Illinois Benedic-

Thurs., March 18 - 1 p.m., Illinois Benedictine vs. Lambuth; 3 p.m., Montevallo vs. Northern Kentucky; and 7 p.m., Montevalo vs. Lambuth.

Fri., March 19 - 1 p.m., Illinois Benedictine vs. Lambuth; 3:30 p.m., Northern Kentucky vs. Illinois Benedictine; and 7 p.m., Montevallo vs. Northern Kentucky.

Sat., March 20 - 1 p.m., Northern Kentucky vs. Lambuth; 3:30 p.m., Montevallo vs. Lambuth; and 7 p.m., Montevallo vs. Illinois Benedictine.

The Classic will raise money for charity, so admission will be charged for everyone, including UM faculty, staff and students. Ticket prices are $3 for adults and $1.50 for students.

The Falcons get in a busy weekend of activity before heading into the Classic. On Thursday, March 11, they host Freed-Hardeman College in a doubleheader beginning at 2 p.m. On March 12, Christian Brothers College is in for a single at 6 p.m. and on March 13, the Falcons and CBC go at it again in a pair beginning at 2 p.m.

Montevallo, ranked no. 15 in the NAIA pre-season poll, swept its only two games last week, blasting Miles College 8-1 and 13-0. The Falcons are now 3-1 this year.

In the first Miles games, sophomore southpaw Jimmy White hurled a three-hitter, striking out 11. All-American candidate Greg Key slugged a home run to lead off the game for the Falcons, his fifth such shot in his career, Tommy McNorton singled and tripled in three trips and Mark Hearn scored four runs.

In the nightcap, another soph lefty, Tim Eberhart, tossed a one hitter, fannning nine and walking none. Harris Gant drilled a grand slam home run to highlight an eight run 3rd inning and the Falcons, who had only five hits, benefitted from 12 bases on balls and four errors by the Bears.

Seemed like old times last Friday night. Trouble was the night before was so different.

The weather is the subject I'm referring to. Thursday night was shirtsleeve weather for football goers at Shelby County High School. But on Friday night, the weather resembled fall football. The temperature was just cold enough to make clutching a coffee cup a measure of survival. Shelby Academy must have perked a barrel full of java.

That's not all though. (Notice how quickly I turn the topic to food). The school had a hospitality room for coaches, teachers, and dignitaries like sports writers. I did my part in reducing what might have been leftovers on Saturday.

Also of note at Shelby Academy, the Raider Boosters have scheduled the 'Shelby Academy Raider Booster First Annual Golf Tournament' for May 8th at Buxahatchee Country Club. Details will be released at a later date. The booster organization has also purchased a bus to transport the athletic teams to their scheduled away games.

Speaking of golf, this will be a busy week at area courses. With the AEA holidays, a lot of coaches, teachers and students will be heading to the links for a round.

Oak Mountain will probably be the most crowded, so head to Montevallo or Cahawba Falls for a better chance to get in 18 before dark. Buxahatchee is available for members and their Reports affirm that Montevallo's course is in great shape. If the weather co-operates I might even get a chance to chase that little white ball.

Don't start writing letters or get excited, but if you want to stir up trouble in a hurry, just refer to the University of Alabama (the one where the 'Bear' works) as UAT. UAB and UAH fans love it, but those UAT guys say that those UAB and UAH fans better clam up PDQ.

Stay tuned.....

Tricks and tools for turkeys are important items in hunters' thoughts since the season will begin booming March 20.

Two items stand out as uppermost in paraphernalia of the turkey nimrod: good shotgun and a couple of reliable mechanical

I'm glad we in Alabma outlawed the rifle as a turkey harvest tool several years ago. Anyone who has to collect his trophy with a scoped rifle bullet at 100 yards or farther cannot call himself a turkey hunter. Anybody with reasonable accuracy can hit a target as big as an 18-lb. turkey without having any knowledge of turkey habits, or without stalking skill and without a turkey caller to bring a reluctant strutting gobbler within positive shotgun range.

All Alabama hunters can be proud of our seasonal legal bag limit of five turkey gobblers. It's the most liberal in 30-odd states with turkey seasons and with a reported crop of 350,000 turkeys, we stand near the top.

No shotgun for turkeys should be less than a 20-gauge with 3-inch chambers to accommodate 11/4 ounces of shot in a "high powered" load. In my thinking, the regular 2 and 3/4-inch chambered 20 doesn't carry

Safety rules for hunters

In the spring of 1981 an estimated 36,000 hunters harvested 15,500 gobblers. This year the prospects for turkey hunters are bright.

But hunters need a review of the Ten Commandments of Gun Safety, which are:

•1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

•2. Control the muzzle of your firearm so it presents no unwarranted threat and always be cognizant of what is in your line of fire.

•3. Be sure the gun's barrel and action are clear of obstructions. •4. Be sure of your target before you squeeze the trigger. •5. Unload all guns when they're not in use. •6. Always identify your target and point a gun only at an object you intend to shoot, avoid all horseplay with firearms.

•7. Never climb a fence or tree or jump a ditch with a loaded

•8. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water.

•9. Store guns and ammunition separately, and •10. Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during shooting.

Turkey hunters have to be especially alert to these 10 Commandments, because of the nature of turkey hunting. The turkeys' keen eyesight enables them to easily detect movement and because of this, most hunters are reluctant to wear colors which do not blend in with the natural

Most turkey hunters believe the ideal outfit is a camouflage jump suit and cap which feature subdued colors. This makes it imperative that the hunter positively identify the gobbler and distinguish it from a man before firing.

Wildlife Section Biologist Gary Moody in the Conservation Department's Game and Fish Division said the hatch of turkey poults was good last year and with one of the best mast crops in several years, this should provide good hunting because the turkeys thrived in a comparatively mild

Mitchell Lake is site of bass tournament

Fishermen will be converging at Higgins Ferry State Launch, Mitchell Lake, on Saturday, April 10 to participate in the Sixth Annaul A.T. Holt Memorial Leukemia Bass Tournament

This is a buddy tournament sponsored by the North Jefferson Bass Club, with 60 percent of the proceeds to the winners and 40 percent to the Leukemia Society of America for patients treated at Children's Hospital.

A trophy and free mount will be given for the big fish. For additional information:

UM president speaks to Alabaster club

College isn't for everybody, but those who can benefit should be able to go, University of Montevallo president Jim Vickrey told members of an Alabaster civic club Thursday.

"I'm with Thomas Jefferson in believeing in 'the democracy of opportunity and the aristocracy of achievement," " the UM president said. "And that, not incidentally, is why it remains essential that we make college a real option for those in our state who can benefit from it.

"To do so, we must continue to provide more federal and state support for higher education in Alabama and America, not less."

Vickrey said he was disappointed that President Reagan has proposed what amounts to a "virtual revolution in national social policy."

President Reagan proposed eliminating three of five federal student financial aid programs. cutting the Pell Grant program by 40 percent and reducing the student work study program by 28 percent. The Pell Grant program provides grants to low income students. In the work study program, students work in college offices while they are in school.

Reagan also proposes to raise interest rates on one of the loan programs and to change eligilibity standards.

The President's proposed cuts would cost Alabama students some $32 million just from the grant programs, one loan program and work study.

"All of that just to save about $2 billion in a federal budget fast

Vickrey said. "That's less than the cost of some new bargain basement weapons system."

Vickrey said it is ironic that President Reagan was proposing the cuts when the nation needed more not fewer college graduates.

"Where else will the professional manpower come from required to lead industry and manage the use of increasingly sophisticated military hardware?" he asked.

Alabama, he said, can afford

to spend more money on higher education. Last year, Alabama had the second lowest level of state and local taxes in the na-

"And by far the lowest property taxes in the U.S.," he said.

Excluding the state support of medical schools, the UM president added, less than 15 cents of each state education dollar goes to the regular operating budgets of universities.

Add fencing to county sports scene

by David F. Moore

Chalk up another one. To the ever expanding list of sporting activities in which Shelby County people get involved, you can now add fencing.

No, fencing is not what you get hung on while trying to sneak a peach from Farmer Brown's orchard. Nor are we talking about a way to get in football games for free. We're talking about swordfighting.

Last year, a number of fencing students from a UAB special studies class formed the Birmingham Fencing Club, and it now has some 20 members.

Among them are co-chairman Elaine McDowell of Alabaster, and Galal Abdulla, a riding instructor at Oak Mountain Riding School.

Abdulla, a recent emigre to the U.S. and former member of the Egyptian National Fencing Team, reached the finals and placed fifth in the men's foil competition and sixth in the men's sabre at the recent Ft. Mc-Clellan Open.

The club's top fencer is Dr. Novera "Herb" Spector of UAB's Neuroscience department.

In February he went 12 for 12 bouts to win the prestigious Gasparilla Open in Tampa, Florida.

Co-chairman McDowell, who urges anyone interested in the club to attend a meeting, notes that one fencer is a promising 14 year old beginner, while Spector is over 60 and has more than 200 gold medals and trophies won from Southern California to Southern France.

McDowell says the sport is very fast paced, complex and demanding. Furthermore, before club workouts begin, each fencer goes through 30 minutes of exercises.

Parring jackets, mask and gloves are worn for bouts. A bout consists of five touches or points scored against you. The bouts are limited to six minutes but seldom last over three, according to McDowell.

Three types of tipped fencing weapons are used. With the foil, points must be scored with the tip on the opponent's torso. With the epee, points are scored again with the tip, but any part of the body is a valid target. Points can be scored with any part of the triangular sabre, but valid target area is only from the waist up, McDowell explained.

McDowell, who placed third at the state championships two years ago and is now one of the club instructors, says there are no prerequisites for joining the club, but liking old Errol Flynn and Douglas Fairbanks movies helps.

"Most of the people involved have romantic notions from the age of King Arthur," she says. "But basically, it's just a lot of fun."

The club meets every Wednesday from 5-7 p.m. at the Engle Day Treatment facility on 7th Avenue South in Birmingham. Anyone who enjoys the sport is urged to come and at least watch the swashbuckling action. For more information: call McDowell at 933-4247.

UM offers continuing ed

World of computers is now touching every life

by David F. Moore

Today, computers touch every life in Shelby County. Tomorrow, don't be too surprised if you have one in your home.

But 30 years ago--and to some extent, even today--the computer was the misunderstood child of technology, eyed with suspicion by the general public.

The outer limits of science fiction can be credited with the public's early notion that behind its mask of keys, dials, meters and transisitors, the "electronic brain" somehow harbored a will and consciousness of its own. Often as not, the "brain's" will was depicted as sinister in nature, and the fictionalized computer usually had something evil on its electronic mind.

So much for science fiction.

Mad computer stories eventually gave way to the public's more real fear that computers would soon ruin the job market. The ever faithful employee was pictured as an endangered species, threatened with replacement by the never tiring, cold calculations of a computer.

But according to figures from a recent teachers' seminar, some 3,200 new computer related jobs have been created statewide since 1976. That comes to a total of 19,041 jobs for keypunch/ data entry clerks, operators, programmers, system analysts and technicians in Alabama alone.

Nationwide, there were 765,000 computer related jobs in 1970. By the end of this decade, however, that figure is expected to jump to 2.1 million.

In its brief history, the misunderstood child of yesterday has made great strides in general acceptance, utility and technology.

Historically, the dawn of computers broke some 2,000 years ago when man learned to make simple calculations with beads strung across a wire frame. Known as the abacus, such primitive computers are still used in some countries today.

In 1642, Pascal, a French philospher and scientist, inspired by the turning spokes of a wagon wheel, built the first adding machine. Others followed with various contraptions, but all these visionaries proved too far

The first American calculator was invented in 1872, and before the turn of the century William Burroughs and a partner were marketing practical adding machines which showed tabulations on paper. Next time you receive a Shelby County tax notice, you can thank Mr. Burroughs, because the notice was figured and printed on the Burroughs computer in the courthouse.

When it was realized that the 1890 U.S. census would take ten years to tabulate, Herman Hollerith was called on to find a shortcut. Based on an 1801 automated rug weaver, Hollerith developed a system of processing statistical information from punch cards, and built a machine to sort them.

The machine blistered through the census data in record breaking time--two and half years. Hollerith's punch card company later became known as the International Business Machines Corporation, or IBM. (This company, with buildings in major

The first electronic digital computer is credited to Dr. John V. Atanasoff, who struggled unsuccessfully with the idea at Iowa State College during the winter of 1937-38. Frustrated, he drove across the Mississippi River one day to a roadside tavern where he finally formulated the concepts which had evaded him.

In 1946, for the Army, Mauchly and Eckert built for $400,000, the 30 ton, 18,000 tube ENIAC computer which occupied a 30 by 50 foot room. Said Admiral Lord Mountbatten, President of the British Institute of Radio Engineers, "The stage has now been set for the most (H.G.) Wellsian development of all--an electronic brain."

The two men, with support from Remington-Rand, built the Universal Automatic Computer (UNIVAC I) for the U.S. Census Bureau in 1950. But it wasn't until two years later that John Q. Public first became aware of the computer.

On November 4, 1952, CBS used a UNIVAC I to predict that Eisenhower would defeat Stevenson in the presidential elections. But the computer made the prediction so quickly (with only 5% of the votes tallied), that CBS was afraid it was wrong and withheld the information until all the votes were counted.

The computer revolution was

In 1954, Bell Laboratories developed "second generation" computers, replacing cumbersome vacuum tubes with transistors. Transistors made computers faster, smaller and less expensive, and the number of systems in the U.S. jumped from 2,550 in 1958, to 18,200 in 1964.

"Third generation" computers, which hit the market in 1964, incorporated IBM developed Solid Logic Technology (SLT), giving computers the ability to perform 375,000 computations per second. Today, 1/4-inch computer chips are capable of housing over 70,000 transistors.

A generation gap in technology caused problems with progamming and operations, however. Hardware systems were outdistancing the software programs needed to run them.

Trained computer personnel were hard to find and keep. Programs were sometimes unreliable. Reports came out in the late '60's that perhaps two-thirds of businesses with computers were not utilizing them profitably. Papers carried stories of massive "computer errors."

Government and business data banks on individuals, and overpreinstructed to perform par- ching," led to the Privacy Act of 1974, which gives you the right to inspect any personal data a computer may have stored on you.

But as colleges and universities turned out more and more trained personnel, the still growing computer community got on a more even keel.

The early '70's saw the development of silicon micro processor chips the size of a fingernail. They had as much power as the old ENIAC computer with 18,000 vacuum tubes. Furthermore, data communications were developed which allowed operators to work with computers at remote sites.

Today, research continues, technology improves, and computers become more and more involved with your everyday life.

In the U.S. alone, some 500,000 computers are now being used, and sales are reported in excess of $40 billion.

Computers are being used in offices, banks, insurance companies, hospitals, and by the government, from Uncle Sam to Cousin Shelby. In fact, this story is being writen on a computerized word processor, so you know for a fact that at least one computer has affected your life today.

Tomorrow, the general public may have a better understanding of life with computers. But despite the widespread use of the machines today, many people still do not feel comfortable with a computer buzzing around

POW tags free, but priceless

by David F. Moore

Herman Strong has found a way to recieve a car tag for life, and not shell out a penny. The tag, however, cost him 66 pounds, 38 months in captivity, andnearly his life, so one would hesitate to say the tag is "free."

Bob Barrett, James Edwards, Clyde Roberts and George "Pete" Vann don't have to pay money for their car tags again, either. They're all former prisoners of war, and through a new state law are now eligible to obtain free, lifetime car tags cod-

Although they pay no money when they pick up their tags, each recipient paid for it in his own

Strong, who retired from the IRS to live in Columbiana, was an accountant for a gold mining company in Manila when he was captured in January, 1942, by Japanese forces. In the next three years, he watched the symptoms of hundreds of fellow prisoners as they literally starved to death on two bowls of rice per day.

He figured he was 30 days from starvation when American troops liberated the prison on February 3, 1945. But since the Japanese had orders to kill all the prisoners on February 4, starvation probably wouldn't have mat-

James Edwards, now a lieutenant in the sheriffs department, started paying for his free tag when the B-29 on which he was a crew member, was shot down near the Manchurian border by MIG fighters during the Korean War. He parachuted to safety and dodged Communist patrols for five days before being cap-

That was November, 1950. Until the war ended in July of '53, Edwards was passed around to Russian, Chinese, Mongolian and Korean prison camps. Only 40% of his fellow prisoners survived. Edwards lucked out and only lost 88 pounds.

Bob Barrett, manager of Alabama Power's Columbiana office, was captured in France by Germans in late 1944. He was shipped to several different stalags and finally ended up imprisoned near Berlin.

Finally, with the Allies closing in, he and two buddies slipped past an old guard and caught up with a group of Russian soldiers. In six months of captivity, Barrett lost 35 pounds.

Clyde Roberts lives in Calera, paints for a living, and walks with a limp. The limp is from German 88 mm shrapnel, which ripped into his leg in June of '44 while he was a private in Normandy, France. The shell killed four of the last seven men in his company, and wounded the other three. "(The Germans) had me down with a broken leg, or they wouldn't have caught me," Roberts says. "I couldn't get away."

Roberts was a POW four months and 19 days, during which time he lost 86 pounds. "I could tell you lots more, but it's really not necessary..."

George "Pete" Vann, who nows lives quietly in Montevallo, was a corporal in Korea in the fall of 1950 when he was picked as a "volunteer" to make an ammunition run. The ammunition never made it through, however. Vann was captured along with his comrades, and remained a POW until the war ended 32 months

Vann says he tries not to think about those days anymore. But sometimes, in the middle of the night, the dreams still return.

All the men indicated that the POW tags meant more to them than monetary savings. The tags are a token of honor, a bit of recognition for another price they once paid.

As Barrett put it, "I'd have paid money to have one." He added that if he saw someone with a POW tag on their car, he'd pull them over for a talk.

From Shelby County, a total of eight POWs registered for the special tags. The other three, who have not yet picked up their recently arrived tags, could not be identified by either courthouse or Veterans Administration workers.

Veterans Service Officer Jim Mayhew said any POW who wants a tag, however, can call his office (669-6246). Special tags are also available for Medal of Honor recipients, but Mayhew said he does not think any live in Shelby County.

County middle school scholars

vie for honors at Calera

Montevallo Middle School students went to the Scholar's Bowl competition Wednesday with their heads crammed full of knowledge.

And they proved to be good players in the contest of speed and wits.

When they boarded their bus outside Calera High School for the return trip home, the three teams each had a prize.

Sixth grade students claimed a first prize, and seventh and eighth graders each won a second place award.

In the seventh grade division, Thompson came out on top, and the winning eighth grade team came from Riverchase.

This is the first year that all middle school students have been invited to compete in the Scholar's Bowl.

The competition had been devised for students in enrichment resource programs.

However, Dr. Lusia MacPherson, the county coordinator for that program, felt that the contest would spark enthusiasm and excitement for academics among all middle school students.

This year's Scholar's Bowl drew 120 students from middle schools in Calera, Chelsea, Columbiana, Montevallo, Alabaster and Riverchase.

There were also two sixth grade teams; Helena and Wilsonville.

In addition to studying questions from last year's Scholar's Bowl team members prepared themselves for competition by boning up on various school subjects and also by reading newspapers and watching TV news programs.

Middle School faculties and resource teachers submitted the questions that were used in the

It's a start

No doubt, Pelham Mayor Burk Dunaway won't be able to end litter problems along U.S. 31, but his efforts Tuesday morning at city hall were at least a start. The night before, in conjunction with planned work in many parts of the county, the council proclaimed March 21-27 as Pelham, Alabama Beautification Week. (Photo by Bert

Dismissal motion denied in second Orr case

Judge Harold Walden denied a . the time of the crime. motion for the dismissal of the indictment against accused murderer Darrell Grayson at a pre-trial conference last week.

The 21 year old Montevallo man is the alleged co-defendant in the Dec. 24, 1980 murder of Mrs. Annie Laurie Orr of Montevallo.

Victor Kennedy, the other man charged with the crime, was convicted of capital murder last month and given the death sentence.

In asking for the dismissal of the indictment against Grayson, court appointed attorney Dick Bell contended that it was defective.

His reason for making that claim was because the act Grayson is accused under, has since been declared unconstitu-

Rebutting that argument, Deputy District Attorney Bob Williams argued that the act that Shelby County Circuit Court governs, is the one in existence at Bell also tried to get the trial moved to another county at Friday's pre-trial conference.

He claimed that media coverage of the case would not allow his client a fair trial in Shelby County. That motion was continued until Mar. 26.

Other motions made by Bell were: to have any statements Grayson may have made supressed; to be allowed to hire expert witnesses, and to see any evidence obtained by the state.

The motion to suppress statements was continued until the trial, which is set for April 2.

Walden ordered the prosecution to provide the defense with any statements Grayson may have made, discovery evidence, if any exists, and the state and defense will swap their lists of witnesses and scientific reports.

than its present boundaries. That was the decision made Monday night by the Shelby County Planning Commission, when it turned down a request to change the park's zoning from R-3 (single family district) to M-1

by Marcia M. Sears

The Sweet Alice Industrial

(light industrial district). The park is in Beat 12, the only beat in the county to have zoning. Before the beat had zoning, however, the Sweet Alice Industrial Park was established on two acres just off Cahaba Valley Road. Guardian IPCO Inc., conducts business at the location.

Charles and Ileane Matthews, who own those two acres and 8.5 additional acres next it it, asked for the zoning change so they could build office-type warehouses on the remaining

The hearing room Monday night was filled with residents of Meadowbrook and Old Virginia subdivisions who did not want the zoning change.

The Matthews' attorneys told the commission the proposed buildings would be a maximum height of 16 feet, would have a facade of stone and would not detract from the nearby homes. "There will be no production or manufacturing of any type," they added.

Among those opposed to expanding the industrial park were co-developers Meadowbrook (Daniels Development) a planned community which will eventually have office buildings.

The main argument the opponents advanced was that an expanded industrial park would devalue their property nearby.

Mel Davis pointed out that lots in Meadowbrook cost upwards of $29,000 and homes there are worth $125,000 to $175,000.

Robert Garner noted, "If you rezone it M-1 there could be lots of uses other than warehouse space..."

Ham Perkins stated, "I bought into Daniels Development because I realize how junked up 31 had become. We've all (indicating the partners in the Daniels enterprise) been residents of Dunnavant Road for 30 years. Shelby County is the most beautiful county in Alabama."

Bob Shaw of Meadowbrook contended, "There is no way they can control the types of trucks that would go in and out of a warehouse. It would be dangerous for children."

Dennis Kaiser of Cumberland Trace said he deals in the real estate lending business at a bank. He questioned, "How many new people will invest their savings and move..(into an area with an industrial park)."

Doug Eddelman said the developers "tried to create a Mountain Brook atmosphere here," indicating an expanded industrial park would ruin it.

John Jenks, development manager for Daniels, said Meadowbrook has 179 acres designated for an office park, with over one million square feet of office space in the plan. He said the first building should start this summer. It will be six stories, located on the top of the ridge on Meadowbrook Driver. This plan had earlier been approved as a total development by the Shelby County Planning Commission.

Others who spoke opposing the zoning change were Jim Entrekin, Earl Strickland, Glenn Swinney, Doug Houston, Billy Ainsworth, Kenneth Hart, Thelma Heywood, Henry Agee, Pat Gordon and John Dickens. All stated they resided near the Sweet Alice Industrial Park.

After hearing all those who wished to speak, the commission voted unanimously not to allow the zoning change.

the top feature of a 'Care Fair' in two county cities the last of this month.

The fairs will be conducted on March 30 in Montevallo and on March 31 in Columbiana. The event will offer the public several free medical tests. In addition, information on preventive health care will be provided.

The Care Fair will provide height and weight measurements, vision tests, oral and hearing screening, lung capacity, inherited blood disorders' testing, and screening for blood pressure

Free health screening will be and anemia. These tests are all

An optional blood chemistry test will also be offered for $8, which will check 22 body functions, including the proper operation of kidneys, liver and thyroid glands, as well as evalutions for diabetes, gout and high levels of cholesterol.

Those who want to have the blood chemistry tests, should not eat or drink for four hours preceding the test. Those who want the fat and cholesterol level

Prisoner leads officers on Columbiana chase

by David F. Moore

A prisoner who took to his heels Saturday afternoon led law officers on an hour-long chase Columbiana through neighborhoods.

Obie L. Strop had been picked up earlier that afternoon by deputy Jim Roper on a nonsupport warrant as he stepped off a bus in his hometown of Harpersville. Roper drove Strop to Columbiana for booking at the county jail.

But as a reserve office let Strop out of the patrol car, the spry 26-year old made a sudden break, dashing off on foot through the broken electronic gate at the rear of jailhouse. He was gone in a cars, searching fields, woods and unoccupied buildings from Main, and College Streets to the bypass. Occasional clues to Strop's hide-and-seek escape were offered by residents who had glimpsed the white clad man dashing across a street or through their backyards.

About 5:30, an unidentified man who lives on Pine Hill Road. phoned the jail and said he'd just seen Strop dash into the woods, heading for the by-pass.

Roper headed the fleeing prisoner off at the by-pass, however, finally nabbing him in the woods near highway 25.

According to a sheriff's office secretary, Strop has been arrested numerous times in connection with failure to pay child support. Resisting arrest and the felony charge of escape have now been added to his latest non-support warrant.

Fleeing from a non-support warrant-not to mention blue lights and several jogging law officers--Obie L. Strop dashed off on foot Satur-Bell's request for expert day afternoon in Columbiana. He was nabbed an hour later, and deputy Tom Smitherman escorted him into the county jail. (Photo by

Helena calls halt to donation road blocks

The Helena Council Monday night said "no," "maybe," "maybe," and "mostly yes." They also gave last call to all

The "no" came in connection with fund-seeking road-blocks. Because Alabama law can hold the city liable for any accidents that occur due to people stopping vehicles for donations, the council outlawed all such road-blocks in the city.

Walker were flying maneuvers in the county helicopter at the south end of Shelby County Airport on March 5. According to reports, Glasgow and Walker were making a turn while hovering about five feet off the ground. The tail rotor guard and rotor struck the muddy ground and the craft went out of control.

The helicopter "started spinning and I let it down on the ground," Glasgow explained. "I knew what had happened. It made me mad."

An airport worker equated the accident with backing a car into a telephone post.

Neither man was injured in the incident, but besides the tail section, the helicopter's landing skids were also damaged. Glasgow said he is obtaining surplus parts at no cost from several other wrecked helicopters. An airport mechanic is working part time to put the craft back in action.

Since last summer, Glasgow said some 100 hours have been logged on the craft. Most of that time was spent searching over wooded areas for stolen vehicles, although none were located, he said. The helicopter, however, has been used in locating several marijuana fields.

Glasgow, the only member of the department licensed to fly the craft, has been assisting Walker in qualifying for a helicopter license. Glasgow said they had been doing manuevers for about one and half hours just prior to the crash.

The government surplus helicopter was purchased last year with pistol fund money from the Sheriffs Boys Ranch for

The county budgeted $1,700 to insure the vehicle this year. According to commission office records, gas and oil purchase orders for the craft total about $500 per month. No purchase orders for major maintenance have been issued for the helicopter.

Mental health gets new life

The Mental Health Association in Shelby County is reorganizing.

O.J. Carson and Jim Hollon of Montevallo and Sarah Head of Wilton have asked the state organization of the Mental Health Association to assist in reorganizing the chapter in this county. Gertrude Arnold, regional vice president, and Don Farrow, executive director of the MHA in Alabama, are working with the group in meetings held at the Shelby County Medical

At the most recent meeting, three new programs were developed to assist mentally and emotionally impaired people and their families.

A Community Friend program is being developed whereby volunteers will be paired up with a person returning to the community from an institution.

"The Community Friend is just that," said Don Farrow. "The volunteer is a 'friend' not a therapist. His or her job is to support the returning person and be a friend to them as you would to anyone recovering from an illness that took you out of your regular social life for a period of time."

Anyone interested in working with the chapter should call Mrs. Neal at 663-1147 after 6 p.m.

The Mental Health Associaton is a non-governmental, nonprofit, citizens organization dedicated to improving the care and treatment of the mentally ill, promoting mental health and preventing mental illness. There are 32 chapters in Alabama, 850 chapters in the nation, with about one million volunteers.

Post office grows across river

The Cahaba Heights post office is experiencing phenomenal growth along with northern Shelby County.

Although some mail boxes in the eastern end of Cahaba Valley and along highway 280 are on the Sterrett and Leeds rural routes, the real growth for this area has shown up in the Cahaba Heights post office, according to postal delivery service analyst O. E.

The area in which he has noticed the greatest growth is Meadowbrook located along the crest of the mountain east of 280. he said.

Postal service records indicate that an average of four to five families move into the Meadow Brook area each month. During a three month period at the end of last year, twelve boxes were picked up in Meadowbrook, said Dailey. In the twenty month period before that, around ninety boxes were added on the rural Mail delivery is made on Cahaba Heights city routes to Inverness, Altadena Forest and part of the Caldwell Mill Road area. "Basically, we run from Caldwell Mill Road east to 280," said G.C. Braswell of the Cahaba Heights post office.

Twenty-six boxes were added to city routes during the past three months, he said, adding that several other numbers have been given out but are not yet in

Some 760 stops are made in Shelby County by Cahaba Heights city mail carriers. Approximately 850 stops are made by rural route carriers. All Shelby County mail coming though the Cahaba Heights post office is delivered by Birmingham zip code 35243.

House numbers and street numbers or names are now used for mail delivery on both the city and rural routes.

Dailey pointed out that this is important to rural mail carriers.

When an area is growing rapidly, boxes must be continually added and box numbers changed, he said, and this makes it difficult to locate a particular resident on a long, winding route.

He urges developers in all areas of the county to name their streets and number their houses. He added that developers in Cahaba Valley and' Meadowbrook have been very good about doing this.

Hope convicted, receives 25 years

A Shelby man who has two sons serving life sentences, was given a 25 year prison term himself Friday.

However, 59 year old Hubert Hope will be eligible for parole after serving one third of his sentence.

Hope was convicted of conspiracy to murder the state's Attorney General, Charles Graddick.

The prosecution contended that Hope's motive had been revenge for the convictions and life without parole sentences of his sons, Bobby Joe and Phillip.

The trial was held in Elmore County because it was there that Hope had talked to Staton jail inmate Jesse Jett about getting a "hit" man to kill Graddick, Shelby County District Attorney Billy Hill and Circuit Court Judge Harold Walden.

The Shelby County officials were involved in the murder trials of Hope's two sons.

Jett had revealed the murder plot to officials who recorded conversations between him and

The Shelby man still faces the two counts of soliciting for the murders of Hill and Walden.

Hope's lawyer, Lawrence Sheffield, said that he will appeal the conviction and sentence of his client.

Daytime shows will be held every day through Mar. 26, and an evening performance will be put on March 23 to give preschool children a chance to see the play.

A small admission will be charged.

Cast members will also be involved with lighting, sets and costumes and seven students will make up an orchestra for the performance.

After the week long run on the UM campus, the play will travel to various schools.

UM students from Shelby County who are in the cast are: Rebecca Pool of Columbiana, who plays Gretel; Gale Domokos of Alabaster, who plays Dewman; Shawn Spicer of Montevallo, who is in the band, and Naomi Metz of Montevallo, who takes the part of a sandman.

Alabaster tax amendment passes

Alabaster officials heaved a collective sigh of relief Tuesday when they learned the final vote on Amendment 20.

In the statewide vote, 50.4% voted in favor of the amendment governing the city's tax structure, while 49.6% of the population turned it down.

Even though he said he had other options to pursue had the vote failed, Mayor H.A. "Doc" Rubin told the Reporter he felt as though he'd been reprieved from drowning when he learned the

Other cities in the state also changed their tax structure at the same time as Alabaster. But the fly in the ointment for that city was the failure to get written proof of the change from the Tax Assessor's office.

Although verbal assurance was reportedly given, auditors later said that wasn't enough.

That was the reason for the amendment being put on the ballot. It did not mean any increase in taxes, but many voters across the state apparently did not understand that fact.

One of the most disturbing things about the vote, Rubin noted, was the lack of support even in neighboring cities.

Former cop loses slander case

After waiting four years, a former Pelham policeman finally had his day in court.

Johnny Bailey, who was fired from the Pelham Police Department in 1978, spent four days in Shelby County's Circuit Court last week and Monday, trying to convince a jury he had been slandered.

But the jury had no say in the Granting the defense's motion for a directed verdict, Judge Kenneth Ingram ruled in favor of Pelham Police Chief Dave Wat-

When Bailey instituted the suit. it contained several counts and defendants besides Watson were Mayor Burk Dunaway and Police Commissioner Willard Payne.

But when the case was tried, it had been boiled down to two charges, both against Watson.

Plaintiff's lawyer Lawrence Sheffield tried to show that Watson had slandered Bailey in a telephone conversation with former Montevallo Police Chief Troy Kirkland and also in a TV interview.

The conversation with Kirkland concerned Bailey's application for a position with the Montevallo Police Department.

According to the former police chief's statement, Watson had told him there was a lot of evidence that Bailey had assaulted a girl.

The second charge of libel concerned the TV interview Watson gave following Bailey's firing. Sheffield contended the police chief implied a crime had been committed.

During the course of the trial, witnesses testified that Bailey and others dissatisfied with how the Pelham Police Department was being run had formed a "brotherhood."

The seven men had wanted Watson and Sgt. Jerry Payne dismissed, and a new police chief brought in from outside the area to correct problems they saw in the department.

Statements made by several Pelham Police officers were read which revealed Bailey had made threats against Watson and Sgt.

When he was on the stand, Bailey said his remarks had only been made in jest.

The defense team consisted of Watson's attorney, Sonny Conwill, the city's insurance attorney Paul Smith, and Conrad Fowler, whose firm represents the city.

After the judge gave his verdict, Sheffield told the Reporter he thought the jury would have decided in favor of his client.

Although he did not reveal what amount the suit asked for, he said it was "big bucks."

When the suit was first filed, it had asked for $5 million in punitive damages.

Bailey is now with the campus police at Birmingham Southern College.

In rendering his decision, Judge Ingram said that the telephone conversation was privileged information and not published so it failed to constitute slander.

He also noted that as a public figure, Bailey was obligated, more than a private citizen would have been, to show that he had been slandered with malice.

Opposition to the lounge has been expressed in a letter from the Montevallo Ministerial Association which was distributed at the last council meeting March 8.

During a discussion of last month's banquet and the awards that were presented, chamber secretary John Van Valkenberg suggested that an outstanding teacher in the community be honored each year.

Members favored the idea and agreed that the award's list include a deserving teacher from the elementary, middle, or high school level.

It was noted that a retired teacher could also be eligible for the recognition.

The chamber also considered giving awards to encourage community beautification.

Garden clubs will be contacted to see if any are giving yard beautification awards or if they would like to take on the project.

DID YOU KNOW

Duplication among electric utilities would drive your rates higher.

Competition doesn't always lead to lower prices. Competition between two suppliers of electricity in one area means unnecessary and costly duplication of poles, transmission lines, and separate maintenance crews. What you don't need in today's inflationary economy is unnecessary duplication. It simply adds up to higher costs and higher electric bills.

Do burglars get away with it?

by David F. Moore

It was 1:30 in the morning when Pelham police nabbed James Barfield and Brian Lee McGuffie with a pickup full of hot goods. The two men had just hit Showcase Mobile Homes on U.S. 31 for about $400 worth of furniture.

For his part in the June 7, 1980 burglary, McGuffie was sentenced to two years in prison. Barfield was given one year, but granted probation and fined $250.

On the night of January 18, 1980, Glen Greer and an accomplice burglarized the Indian Hills home of W.W. Graham and stole two radios, a tape player and a pair of binoculars valued at several hundred dollars.

Greer had already gotten rid of the goods when he was arrested. But because he assisted in recovering the things, and agreed to testify for the state in another case, his charges were reduced to attempted burglary. He was fined

Gene Robertson wasn't so lucky. He already had several felony convictions against him when Pelham Lt. Charlie Brown found him hiding in a vehicle parked inside C.H.& D. Tire Company the morning of September 14, 1980, Robertson had taken $60 in cash from the business's office.

He was sentenced to 10 years in What price does the convicted burglar pay for breaking in to your home or your business? The Reporter checked through the records in the Shelby County courthouse to prepare this story.

For the apprehended criminal, the Alabama Code prices burglary sentences at anywhere from one year and a day, to life. The price the book quotes and the final sentence dealt out, however, are often two different things.

According to circuit court records, in nearly 40% of all Shelby County burglary cases disposed of in 1980, the person who was arrested walked away from the judge's bench without serving any time. In these incidents, either the case was dismissed without prosecution, or the defendent was given probation in lieu of time in jail.

In 23% of the disposed cases, one to two year sentences were returned without probation, and sentences of more than two years were returned in 14.9% of the Eighty-seven burglary cases were brought before Shelby County circuit judges in 1980. Records show that 11 of these cases are still pending and two were returned to the grand jury.

(Burglary cases from 1980 circuit court records were used for the basis of this article because a higher percent of cases had been disposed of or resolved than burglary cases from 1981.)

Of the 74 disposed cases, the defendent walked away without serving time in 29 of them--or 39.2%.

In 14, or 18.9% of these cases, convicted burglars had their sentences suspended as long as they stayed out of trouble with the law during their probation period. Most of the suspension times ranged from one to three years, and the probation periods granted ranged generally from three to five years.

In four cases, or 5.4%, fines of $100-$300 were levied as part of the probation agreement.

Eleven cases (14.9%), were thrown out of court by the state and not prosecuted.

In 28.3%, or 21 of the 74 burglary cases, defendents changed their original pleas of not guilty, and pled guilty to the lesser charge of attempted burglary (or in one case, criminal trespass). Of the 21 reduced charges, seven resulted in sentences of more than one year, eight resulted in sentences of less than one year, three paid fines only, and three were given probation.

Eleven of the total cases disposed of resulted in sentences of two years or more. Three of these were less than five years; one was nine years; four were 10 years; two were 15; and one 20-year sentence was given. Most of these sentences were dealt to habitual offenders, (persons previously convicted of one or more felonies.)

In 17, or 22.9% of the total cases disposed of, convicted burglars were sentenced to one to two years. One 12 month sentence also carried with it a $300 fine.

Sentences of less than one year were handed down to convicted burglars in 12, or 16.2% of the disposed burglary cases.

Good Morning

by Milton Bird

The weekly 'Good Morning' column written by Milton Bird, is brought to you with the good wishes of the First National Bank of Columbiana, member of the FDIC.

They had a bathhouse the other side of right field. A house with just half enough hot water and a tiny iron stove and maybe half enough stalls. And an odor around that would almost take your breath. But it was all they had, and it had to do, for more years than a lot of folks live.

And there's one other thing about it. At baseball games he was the only one who could hit a home run over the right field fence and over the bathouse on beyond. And he did it, time and time again, during the three years he played baseball up there.

The football field ran all the way from this side of Mrs. Rosa Teague's back yard to the road in front of the manual training house. It passed by Harry Gordon's goose lot on one side and by the east side of the high school on the other. On both sides, from one end to the other, folks stood in long lines, each one crowded to the front so he could see better.

And there's one other thing about it. At football games, he was the only one who could run from five to ten yards every time he touched the ball.

That was the way it was over fifty years ago, this guy and a lot of other guys playing in Alma's back yard. Guys with names like Vernon Isbell and Simon Finley and Whit Finley and John Stinson and Herbert Milstead and Boling Cooper and Skillet Bird and Karl Harrison and Buster Isbell and Clay Lester and Earl Peers and Mark Barcley. Some of them still around, scattered here and there, and some of them gone to rest, under the tall oak trees on the edge of town. Vernon Isbell and Simon Finley and Herbert Milstead and Boling Cooper and Buster Isbell and Clay Lester and Earl Peers, all of 'em gone and all of 'em asleep under the tall oak trees.

And today, with a bright sun overhead and a little wind chasing the leaves around, they brought him back to the hill outside of town where the tall trees grew.

And we gathered in little groups and remembered out loud and dreamed a little, about the old school, and the games we played up there.

Yes, they brought him back. After more than fifty years, they brought William Lawrence Looney back home. Maybe the greatest athlete of us all, and the husband of Virgil Minor Looney for over fifty years.

Governor urges state spending restraints and most of that growth will be used to fund the teacher pay raises. Estimates show about ten percent growth for the General Fund, with most of that being applied to the employee raises and additional funding for mental health and prisons to help meet the court orders these departments are under.

Any attempt to divert money from the SETF to the General Fund would not only seriously damage the pay raise proposals as I have suggested, but would seriously hamper much needed appropriations to vital state agen-

In the current economic recession, state government could be hard pressed to come up with the 14 percent hike for teachers and the 10 percent hike for state employees.

As all of us are keenly aware, Alabama is suffering from double digit unemployment. We are the second hardest hit state of the 50 states. Only Michigan outranks us in high unemploy-

This unemployment situation is affecting government at all levels - city, county, state and federal - in revenue. In a changing economy it is difficult to foresee all of the impact that will be felt in the months ahead in Alabama from high unemployment and the recession.

I am confident our economy in Alabama will be improved by the passage of Amendments 1, 2 and 3 which will generate millions of dollars in new construction and create thousands of new jobs.

Even with the impact of money from the oil windfall package in circulation, state government will be in a bind to fulfill all of its obligations from the General Fund in this recession period.

The educational lobbyists are totally aware there are no funds available for the 16 percent pay hike for teachers from the SETF. State governemnt could be hard pressed to meet even a 14 percent pay increase.

Now reports are surfacing on Capitol Hill that a full scale effort will be made by the AEA lobbyists to switch $17 million in funds appropriated to various agencies from the SETF over to the General Fund.

The impact of this switch could be widespread. The General Fund would then become overloaded by $17 million which could throw it into proration.

These lobbyists know there isn't enough money in the General Fund to handle a $17 million overload or, for that matter, an overload of any type. If our General Fund is thrown into proration, it would affect services to our people statewide. It will affect the departments of mental health, prisons, public safety. Alabama Development Office all funded by the General Fund.

One of the agencies targeted for this switch of funds is the Department of Youth Services, which would account for about $10 million of the $17 million.

I have carefully analyzed all parts of the state budget. There is no sensible or practical way for state governmetn to afford to pay more than a 14 percent pay raise to teachers without reducing appropriations for other educational items in the SETF.

Any switch of funds from the SETF to the General Fund would not be in the best interests of state government or in the people's interest. It would work a critical hardship on every part of state government in these confused economic times.

by Bob Ingram

President Reagan's whirlwind trip into Montgomery Monday was described by the press as an historic event, and indeed it was. It marked the first time in history that a President has addressed a joint session of the Alabama Legislature.

His visit also underscored another fact...a political fact. Alabama has undergone some dramatic changes, politically, in the past 25 years, and because of those changes, presidential visits--- and visits by presidential candidates --- have become far more frequent.

Prior to the 1950s it was rare indeed for either a President or a presidential candidate to visit Alabama. There was no reason to. Since Reconstruction, Alabama had been a Democratic Party stronghold, and it was a waste of time for the nominee of either party to campaign in Alabama. The Democrat knew he would carry Alabama no matter what, the Republican knew he didn't have a chance, so both President Roosevelt made a couple of visits to Alabama during his long reign. In the late 1930s, largely out of his friendship to Gov. Bibb Graves, he visited Auburn and Tuskegee: and during World War II he made a secrecy-shrouded visit to Maxwell Field in Montgomery.

It was Gen. Dwight Eisenhower who was the first modern day presidential candidate to come to Alabama. He had a big rally in Birmingham in the 1952 campaign, ignoring the fact that the vice presidential nominee for the Democrats that year was Alabama's own Sen. John Sparkman.

From that day on, more often than not, presidential candidates have visited Alabama, and a few Presidents as well. President Kennedy visited the state twice during his tragically brief term, and President Nixon also came to the state at least two times during his term in office. As recently as 1980, President Carter kicked off his campaign for a second term in Alabama.

It all goes back to the politics of the state. Alabama remained in the Democratic fold in presidential elections through 1960, but interestingly, the state has gone Democratic only once since then in a presidential election. Republican Goldwater swept the state in 1964; George Wallace won Alabama as a third party candidate in 1968; Nixon prevailed in 1972; Carter the Democrat won in 1976, but it was Reagan the Republican who won in 1980. Alabama is now an upfor-grabs state, and as long as it is, the candidates and the Presidents will come calling.

Beat 12 added as meeting site

The Shelby County Planning Commission will start conducting half its meetings in north Shelby County, beginning in April.

The commissioners adopted a plan Monday night whereby they would meet at Valley School in Pelham every other month. The alternate month, the meeting would be held at its regular place, in Columbiana at the civil defense building.

Before the proposal was brought to a vote, commission chairman Joe Garity explained the reasoning behind the move.

He pointed out that only Beat 12 in north Shelby County has a zoning law, and many of the cases brought to the commission involve zoning changes in that beat. He and the other commissioners felt it would be more convenient for all concerned if the commission met at the school, which is in Beat 12, on alternate months.

When questions involving subdivisions are brought to the commission, they will be heard at the meetings in Columbiana.

"I think the system will do the county a lot of good," Masone said. "We've got to think in terms of the future and this is a step in the right direction".

Breaking ground

Mickey and Harold Griffin prepare ground in their garden for tomato and pepper plants which they plan to plant early and protect from cool

Anxious gardeners plant early

by Shelba Nivens

Mickey Griffin said she never cared for gardening until she married Harold a couple of years ago. Then, last year she "had a ball with it," and could hardly wait to get started this spring.

The couple is not waiting for assurance of warm, dry weather before planting, as evidenced by the number of rows already planted in their garden at old East Saginaw. They are, however, taking extra precautions to protect their plants.

Before planting their Irish potatoes, they cut them ready for planting and let them dry for ten days before putting them into the ground, they said. This way, the potatoes will not be likely to rot in wet weather.

They were planning to set out tomato and pepper plants early this week and plant green beans.

Griffin has used fence wire to make open-end type baskets to fit over the plants after they are in the ground. Then, he will put plastic wrappers around the baskets to create a sort of miniature greenhouse for each one to protect them on cool nights. Later, the wire will furnish support for tomato plant limbs heavy with fruit.

Although they both enjoy gardening, the Griffins are also watching for quicker and easier ways to work and harvest their garden, they said. He said that, instead of cutting poles to stick each pole bean plant this year, he is planning to run a fence down the middle between two closelyplanted rows and let the plants run on the fence.

The couple admitted that being anxious to get started was not their only reason for beginning a garden so early in the year. Mickey said that last year in August she was really busy canning and freezing. This year she hopes to get through with all of that earlier because August is the month the Griffins are expecting their first child.

Free cakes

Calera Civitans presented fruit cakes to members of the town's senior citizen organization last week. Larger cakes were presented to Zilphie Carden (1) in honor of her 84th birthday and Nellie Vassar, 92, the oldest member. Club President Wayne Causey (I) and District Governor Tommy Lawrence, passed out the treats.

In order to insure power for police communications and lighting during power outages, the council voted to purchase two generators for $2,000.

They also voted in favor of a rezoning request from Neal Bailey. He wanted two acres of land in the Peavine area along Simmsville Road, changed from R-1 to B-2.

Another favorable vote was given a request from Monthan Chauchoo, the owner of Oscar's #2 on Hwy. 31.

280 is shot to economy

During the nation's economic squeeze last year, the Standard Metropolitan Area (SMA) including Shelby, Jefferson, Walker and St. Clair counties, was enjoying economic development.

This word came from the Metropolitan Development Board.

The Board reported that announced new businesses in the four-county area represented a total investment of almost $65 million and the possibility of more than 400 new jobs.

"Expanding business is expected to account for a total investment of more than $800 million and over 1,600 new jobs," said the Board.

U.S. Steel's announcement of a $650 million expansion of its Fairfield Works to produce seamless pipe was cited as the greatest single boost to the local economy.

Another major industrial expansion boosting the economy, was Ebsco Industries' 120,000 square foot headquarters building just off highway 280 in Shelby County. Plans were also announced for a new Riverchase facility for Hydro-line Corporation, a manufacturer of hydraulic cyclinders.

IBM will be housed in the new Southpark complex.

During the past year, two of the three planned 100,000+ square foot buildings in the Inverness Center complex were completed and are rapidly being leased. The third building is now under construction.

These facilities along with South Central Bell's 450,000 square foot state headquarters building represent the beginning of the highway 280 growth corridor of office development, according to the Development premises wine license.

During the course of the meeting, city fathers also approved a proclamation for fair housing practices in the city and agreed that painting bids on the park depot be sent out.

The mayor reported that he had attended a meeting of the Metropolitan Planning Organization and had been accepted as an active, working member.

The organization distributes federal highway money.

Pelham man put on cancer

society board

Ken Williams of Pelham was recently named to the board of directors of the Alabama division of the American Cancer Society.

Williams was selected to fill the unexpired term of a member of the board who resigned. He will hold the position until August

Williams has done continuous voluntary service with the Shelby County division over the last four or five years and was named Volunteer of the Year for 1981.

While he will work with other members of the board in carrying out the policies of the national division and the state board, said Williams, his main interest will be in the crusade and unit organization committee, where he will attempt to improve the individual county system.

"There is a long way to go in getting the county divisions organized," he said. "In fact, there are many counties that don't have any organization at all."

Williams said that when he arrived in Shelby County several years ago the local group had a small following and he has worked to build it up.

Williams is president of the MMI Group, Inc., located in Pelham.

Karate kids score strong

Members of a Montevallo karate club which was organized in February showed how well they had learned their lessons during a regional meet in Mon-

Nine members of the class taught by Karen Mitchell won 16 trophies at the American Taekwondo Association's regional championship tournament.

Mitchell, a 1st degree black belt, reported that there were 425 competitors from Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Florida, and Mississippi in the competitive event.

Stressing the value of Taekwondo Karate, Mitchell pointed out that in addition to being a perfect way to exercise, the art also develops inner strength.

One of the primary reasons for it being taught to young people, she said, is because it promotes a sense of patriotism, justice and leadership.

Winners from the Montevallo club were: Jimmey Frazier, Steve Darden, Shane Hay, who won first place trophies in both forms and free sparring; Don Lowery, forms, 2, free sparring, 1.

County herds win top awards

Four Shelby Countians received Master Dairyman Awards at the annual dairymen's meeting in Montgomery last month.

Ralph Bearden of Bearden, Farms in Vincent was top contender in the high milk and fat, large Holstein herd.

To be selected for the Master Dairyman Award the herd average must be at least 15,400 pounds of milk or 590 pounds of butterfat. Bearden's herd average was 18,150 pounds of milk and 610 pounds of butterfat. There are 162 cows in the herd.

Other county dairymen receiving awards were Calvin McCarthy of Camarlea Diary in Harpersville with 44 cows, 17,429 pounds of milk and 610 pounds of butterfat; Steve Peoples of J.E. Bearden Diary in Helena with 294 cows, 16,851 pounds of milk and 608 pounds of butterfat; Mike Kent of Alabaster with 40 cows, 15,954 pounds of milk and 493 pounds of butterfat.

Pelham eyes pawn shop reins

The city of Pelham is considering an ordinance to regulate pawn brokers and second hand stores. The thrust of the ordinance is aimed at making it tougher on crooks who might want to pass off stolen goods in the city.

The ordinance, introduced Monday for action at the April 5 meeting, would require pawn brokers and businesses who buy second hand articles from the public to keep records of such purchases. Identification of the sellers would be required, as well as daily reports on purchases to the police department. The ordinance would also require dealers to hold pawned articles a certain number of days before reselling them.

An ordinance passed last year set similar requirements for gold and silver buyers in the city. That law later resulted in Bama Gold and Silver's being denied renewal of its business license because dealers there allegedly purchased stolen gold and silver.

The council also voted to crank up annexation machinery at the request of a petition from an area north of the city on county highway 35.

Mayor Burk Dunaway said the area would bring some 20-25 houses into the city. Fire Chief William Bryars and Police Chief D.O. Watson told the council that if the areas are annexed, the additional houses would add no burden to their departments.

In other action, the council passed a resolution proclaiming March 21-27 as Pelham, Alabama Beautification Week. The action, taken in conjunction with a county-wide beautification program, was at the recent request of a committee of garden club members headed by Virginia Condrey.

"It's a continuing battle with people that litter," Dunaway said. "Probably moving the landfill to Columbiana will make the situation even worse. Maybe with the cooperation of other cities in the county, we can clean it up a little."

"It's not the tourists coming through and messing up the city," he added.

Councilman Ken Maynard and Dunaway agreed that a Pelham Beautification Board, made up of a council member and garden club representatives, would greatly boost the city's cleanup efforts. But no action was taken on the suggestion. Maynard, "bringing up an old can of worms," said he would also like something done with the "bleep-bleep signs" along U.S.

"When we pick up trash, I'd like to see us put those signs in the same truck," he said. "Maybe someday..."

In other action, the council decided to investigate Sammy Bryant's overflowing water bill. Bryant told the council it wasn't the charge he was complaining about, but the fact that his water bill indicated he and his wife used 40,660 gallons of water in January.

Noting that his children were now gone, and that amount worked out to be about a gallon a minute for an entire month, Bryant protested, "This just doesn't sound right." Bryant and the city had both checked for leaks.

Water board workers were to be instructed to check the records to see if the amount was unusually high.

Tate wins with steer grader Avaon Swift, fifth grade special services

When ribbons were handed out at the state steer show in Montgomery's Garrett Coliseum, one of the winners was a 4-H member from Harpersville.

Sixteen year old Dawn Tate took fourth place in the showmanship class in which there were 38 entries.

The 11 4-H and FFA members from Shelby County who took their animals to the state show last week, sold them locally for 90 cents a pound.

Entries from across the state at the annual event totaled 319. According to Assistant Extension Agent John Jones, "This year's showing is one of the best Shelby County has ever made in state competition."

Church News

A film series featuring Dr. James C. Dobson, one of the nation's leading psychologists and an expert in family counseling, will be shown at University Baptist Church in Montevallo.

Entitled "Focus on the Family," the series will run seven successive Sunday evenings begining next Sunday, March 21 at 6 p.m.

According to a church spokesman, this series has been viewed by over 4 million individuals since it's release two years ago. Over 15,000 churches have presented the seven-part series.

Dobson's most popular presentations were filmed live during his family life seminars. The films include: "The strong-willed child," "Shaping the will without breaking the spirit," "Christian fathering," "Preparing for adolescence," and "What wives wish their husbands knew about women."

"This series offers churches and schools one of the nation's most popular authoirities on family life in a format that com-

Trucks plow through mud for trophies

by Richard Crosby

Mud fans got their fill last weekend in Westover. Wayne Archer's track was the site for two days of four-wheeling excitement that brought out several thousand enthusiasts.

Mud drags and sand drags were the events for Saturday. Many out-of-staters brought their rigs to Shelby County for the events and most of the prize money and trophies went back with them.

In the Mud Drag competition, two 100 yard long pits comprised the track. A six foot median of dirt kept the racers apart. Victor Fronk of Birmingham won the V8 Stock class. Wayne Archer placed second. Randy Ferrell of Pell City drove his Ford to a win in the Street Modified class. Jimmie Martin took second and Rusty Evans third.

Turkey season opens Saturday at dawn

by Richard Crosby Look out gobblers! Your time has come!

That may well be the most recited line of the day as turkey hunters and lovers take to the woods this Saturday morning for the opening of the 'Spring Fever' season.

Turkey hunting seas on opens Saturday at sunrise. The mild winter, good cropof acorns, and practiced calls of hunters are bound to produce results for the dinner table.

For the past several weeks the Reporter has printed several stories about safety precautions, tricks of the trade, calling contests, and turkey lore. Now it's up to the hunters to use those instructions.

One thing we haven't printed this season is recipes. If you've got a favorite, write it down (including the secret ingredients) and send it to us to my attention. We'll make sure you get some space to brag.

One last word to those fortunate hunters who start cooking up wild turkey Saturday night: If you need some help at the dinner table give me a call.

Herbert Parker of Georgia won the Super Modified class. Tom Stallworth placed second.

In the Sand Drags, Richard Conn of Sylacuaga took first place money in the Buggy class. Stan Wood placed second. Another Georgia driver, John Casteel, won the Super Modified class. Herbert Parker placed second and Tom Stallworth third.

In the Street Modified class, Pell City's Kent Brasho took the checkered flag. Brian Woodring came in second, followed by Randy Ferrell.

On Sunday afternoon, fans witnessed what was perhaps the most exciting racing - the scram-

'Turkey Talk' dominates language at Coosa Valley hunters' seminar

Yelps, gobbles, clucks. That comprised the language spoken last weekend at Coosa Valley Academy as turkey hunters from all over the South came and 'Talked Turkey' for trophies.

The Coosa Valley Turkey Hunters Association held a twoday meet at the private school, and competition was fierce for the prizes.

Victory came to Kenneth Mc-Cloud in the professional class. Aubrey Martin was second and Johnny McClain took third.

Jim Parramore took first place in the amateur class. Richard Moore of Chelsea was second and Bubba Gray third. Hunter Burns won the Youth Class. Rodney Flowers was second.

Trophies were also presented to Coosa Valley Hunters' members who won the biggest gobbler contest. Jerry Gardner of Harpersville won a free mounted turkey for winning the contest which ran in last spring's turkey season. His bird weighed 22 pounds and had an almost-12 inch beard. Morgan Hafford, also of Harpersville, took the se- footage of gobblers strutting and cond place trophy with a bird weighing nearly 20 pounds. Richard Moore won third place.

Lions Club sets site on crappie

Crappie fisherman will have a chance to display their talent this Saturday. The Columbiana Lions Club is holding a crappie tournament and the turnout will be a good one if the weather and those fish co-operate.

Kickoff time is 7 a.m. at Lacoosa Marina, and the game will end at 5 p.m. with weigh-in. There's a $15 entry fee per boat for the tourney and of course the state creel limit it 50 crappie per Trophies have been donated by local businesses and community leaders.

Reports from the Lay Lake area are promising for the tournament. Many fishermen have returned from the water with a boat load of crappie during the past few days. Lions Club officials are hoping that that trend continues.

The restaurant at Lacoosa will open up early this Saturday so fisherman can down a cup coffee or eat breakfast before launching.

Wednesday is "Purple and Gold Nite", with anyone wearing the Montevallo colors of either purple or gold admitted for half price. It will also be 35 cent Hot Dog Day.'

Thursday is "Shelby County High School Teams Nite," with team members from any Shelby County high school team admitted free when wearing either a uniform or cap and accompanied by the team coach.

Friday is "Date Nite," with all University and high school students and their dates admitted for half price.

Saturday will be "Family Nite," in which the first two members of a household pay, and the rest are admitted free.

All games during the tournament will take place at Montevallo's Kermit Johnson Field, with three games slated each day at 1, 3:30 and 7 p.m.

Sponsors of this year's Classic are the Montevallo Rotary Club, the Montevallo Lions' Club and Crump's Sporting Goods in

The host Falcons will take an 11-2 record into the Classic after winning eight of nine games last week. The Falcons stretched a winning streak to nine games by defeating Union College of Kentucky 9-0, 5-0, 10-3 and 5-2, Freed-Hardeman College 16-2 and 3-2, and Christian Brothers College 12-6. CBC ended the streak with 4-3 win in extra innings, but Montevallo came back with a 5-3 victory.

Junior designated hitter Mark Hearn of Vestavia Hills set two new UM records in the 16-2 win over Freed-Hardeman, slugging three home runs and driving in seven runs. Hearn leads the Falcons with four home runs and 14 RBI.

Senior center fielder Greg Key of Inverness, Fla., an All-American candidate, tied the UM record for hits in a game in the 12-6 win over CBC, collecting three singles, a double and a triple in six trips. Key has six straight hits, 10 hits in his last 11 times up, and has reached base 13 of his last 14 times up. He leads the team with a solid .463 average, and also has four home

Other top hitters for the Falcons include David Bailey (.452), Dennis Perrone (.417), Nelson Garcia (.409), Tod Bass of Pelham (.348) and Harris Gant

As the proceeds of the classes will go to charity, admission will be charged for everyone, including UM faculty, staff and students

Last chance to register for baseball

Most county baseball leagues have completed their registration and have started forming teams and having practices. Calera and Chelsea players still have time to come and join for the approaching season. Here's the Registration is over at Calera in the formal sense, but parents are urged to contact the following folks if they still want their children to play.

For baseball signup, contact David Downs at 668-0711. For softball registration call Sylvia Ingram at 668-1834. Officials for the league say that late registrants will have till the end of March to register.

The Chelsea Youth Club is holding registration for boys ages 7-12 and girls 6-15 on March 20. Signup will be held in the Chelsea High School gym from 9 a.m. to noon. For information, call Ann Harris at 678-6797.

This season, the Y is expecting to field 12 teams which will start practice this week. So boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 12 are urged to sign up as quickly as possible. And adults who will help out by serving as coaches or referees are asked to call the Y. On Saturday, a clinic is being held at the Y's Pelham field off Bearden Road for players, their families, coaches and referees.

The training session for coaches and referees is scheduled between the hours of 8 and 10 a.m. and players and families will meet from 10-noon.

In YSA there are no tryouts for teams, which consist of 11-15 players, and every participant is assured of playing at least half of

The assignment to teams will depend on age, school and neighborhood. Molly McGregor, the Y's ex-

In the YMCA Youth Soccer program, McGregor stressed, the emphasis is on the development of basic skills, not on winnning. Besides asking for volunteer assistance with the sport, McGregor is also encouraging businesses, service clubs and churches to underwrite sponsorship of individual teams with donations.

Anyone wishing to become a sponsor, referee or coach, may contact Program Director Tery Myles at 663-6504.

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

A week without schools....school sports happenings that is. But, fortunately there were bundles of other things going on around the county.

Buck Falkner and Welby Rasco tied into a bunch of 'hogg crappie' last week down on the Alabama River. There were 40 of those critters weighing over two pounds apiece. I don't know whether they were ever cleaned and cooked though. Seems that the two fishermen carried the fish around in an ice bucket for several days just to show them off.

Montevallo's golf course was bustling with business last week. It's still a little wet on the fourth and fifth fairways, but the greens are in excellent shape and the weather co-operated to make the week perfect for golf.

You might have heard about the bull that escaped Garrett Colesium last Thursday in Montgomery. Seems the thousandpounder busted out through a gate and headed down the street. After being chased by two police cars and two cowboys on horseback, denting up a few parked cars, charging a police car and generally wreaking havoc, it whirled around, faced its chasers and abruptly died on the spot.

What was not reported was what was done with the meat. Some folks said the hamburgers at the concession stand tasted better the next day .....

It's supposed to be kite flying weather, ut every time a highflyer was unfolded and string attached, the wind got quiet. About 10 children tried to get a kite to sail the sky last week at the First Baptist Church in Columbiana. Old Man Wind just wouldn't do his part. Apologies go to that stubborn multibranched sweet gum tree in the corner of the parking lot. "We'll try to feed you next week!"

That's about it for this week. Stay tuned ....

Undercover agents make 30 arrests in massive illegal sale of tons of deer meat

From Alabama Dept. of Conservation and Natural Resources

A massive illegal trade in wild deer and other wildlife was uncovered during an investigation concluded last week by State and Federal Wildlife officers. This long term effort carried out by undercover agents has resulted in the arrest of thirty individuals.

The investigation revealed that hundreds of deer are being taken illegally and tons of deer meat are being sold illegally in Alabama and into other states. In Alabama, it is illegal to sell any part of a wild deer. The investigation also disclosed the sale of deer antlers, mounted deer heads and deer hides. Federal law prohibits the interstate movement of any wildlife or their parts taken illegally in the states.

More than sixty state and federal wildlife officers participated in the early morning ar-federal arrest warrants were issued for 21 individuals in Escambia, Washington, Baldwin and Mobile Counties. Game and Fish Enforcement Supervisor Webber Walters said that some state charges and arrests have been made and others will follow at a later date. Arrests were also made and search warrants issued in Perry, Lowndes and Montgomery Counties in conjunction with the investigation. The federal warrants are for violations of the Lacey Act, which prohibits the interstate shipment or sale of wildlife taken in violation of state game and fish regulations.

All subjects arrested will appear before U.S. Magistrate Patrick Simms in Mobile. Arraignments are expected to be made within ten days.

More than 5,000 pounds of venison were sold to undercover agents during the course of the investigation. According to conservation officials this represented about $75,000 on the estimated five million poisonings occur each year in the United States. Ninety per cent of these involve children and occur in the child's home. Poisoning is the number one pediatric medical emergency.

The number of children being poisoned escalates sharply in the spring, according to pharmacists at the Center. The major reason is the easy accessibility children have at this time of the year to such potential child-killers as gasoline, weed killers and pesticides, they said.

The Children's Hospital encourages parents to keep these items out of the reach of young children. The kitchen is potentially the most dangerous room in the home. Drain cleaners, furniture polishes, detergents and bleaches are often stored under the kitchen sink and within a young child's easy grasp. The Information Center recommends purchasing safety latches for cabinets or storing these items on high hard-toreach shelves. Items that will not harm children such as cookies and other edibles can be stored on the lower shelves.

Hunting turkey is the 'Alabama State Hysteria'

by Jack Hogopian, Chief Information and Education Section

Looking at the new Official Highway Map of Alabama, one can find a wealth of information. Some of this information includes pictues of Alabama's state bird, state flower, state fish, and state tree. Conspicuously absent is the 'Eastern Wild Turkey.' The omission, I suggest, hinges on sacrilege, for it deserves the title, 'Alabama State Hysteria.'

For some Alabamians this probably comes as a shock. However, and in my relatively short time in Alabama I have found no two words comparable to 'wild turkey,' which can stimulate so much conversation. That is with the possible exceptions of "Roll, tide!" or "War Eagle!"

The furor raised and the excitement conjured at the mere mention of 'wild turkey' depends on the individual. The words create a level of intensity verging on near hysteria.

To many women, especially the 'turkey hunter's widow', Alabama Hysteria is the scourge of the earth, a deterrent to normal home life, a barrier against the completion of household chores.

The uninitiated person might ask, "Is it really true? Do mature men and women really become so emotionally engrossed in hunting wild turkeys? How does it affect them and why? What causes Alabamians to become so involved with the wild turkey?"

The 'hysteria' indicates that the exciting aspects of the sport are not necessarily monopolized by men. Many women are also afflicted by the overpowering magnetism of wild turkey hun-

Catch a kite

Before you can run off and fly a kite, you've got to learn to catch one of the colorful creatures. One and half year old James Rasco of Columbiana seems to be catching on pretty quickly. When this kite took a dive in the wind, the toddler reached up and plucked it out of the air like a shortstop snagging a line drive--well, almost. (Photo by David F. Moore)

Fleeing Hwy 31 speeder rams deputy roadblock

by David F. Moore

A Mountain Brook man plowed his pickup into a roadblock Saturday night after a high speed chase on U.S. 31. A reserve deputy was injured in the crash.

Tuesday morning the sheriff's department filed a warrant for attempted murder against John Goodall Yoe, 27, of Shook Hill Road. At the same time, Pelham police charged Yoe with felonious hit and run.

According to scattered police reports, the chase started at Thompson Middle School when Alabaster police officer Brian Clark went in pursuit of a speeding truck that would not yield to his flashing lights. APD officer Frank Page joined the chase near the Pelham city limits, but the officers could not keep up with the truck whose estimated speed was 90 mph.

The officers radioed for assistance and reserve deputy sheriff Lt. Justin Molloy responded.

Molloy parked his patrol car across the right northbound lane of U.S. 31 in front of the Pelham bus stop. He flicked on his flashing red and blue lights and took a position outside and behind the car.

In short order, he spotted lights racing up the highway. "I saw Alabaster's blue lights coming and the truck was leaving Reporter. "Then I saw he was coming right at my car, so I got out of the way. I heard the impact as I was running--I wish I could have run faster." "I did stop the truck, though," them behind," Molloy told the Yoe's truck rammed the right front of Molloy's car, spinning it around so that it struck the fleeing reserve officer.

Pelham accident reports show Yoe's truck skidded some 260 feet before hitting Molloy's car, then continued on for another 105 feet after impact.

The Alabaster officers arrived on the scene seconds after the crash, but the driver of the truck had already fled into the woods behind Lee Trailer Park.

Molloy was treated at the scene by Pelham rescue workers and taken to Shelby Medical Center for tests. He suffered a broken or chipped ankle bone, numerous lacerations and was given five stitches in the back of his head.

Damage to the car, which was purchased with funds raised by the deputy reserves, was estimated at $3000.

Yoe was taken into custody an hour later when he reportedly jumped out of the woods a mile north of the wreck and flagged down a passing truck. The truck was driven by Pelham reserve officer Luther Johnson.

Yoe was taken to Alabaster's police station and given an alcohol test which registered two points over the level legally set for intoxication. No charges were filed at the time and Yoe was APD Chief Bull Carter told the Reporter investigations were continuing, but it was doubtful that his department would press charges. Clark had been unable to get the tag number from the speeding truck. Furthermore, he was unable to say for certain that Yoe had been driving the vehicle, even though, Chief Carter said, Yoe later admitted to driving it.

After piecing together the story, Chief Deputy James Jones and Pelham Capt. Allen Wade swore out warrants Thursday for attempted murder and hit and run. Said Wade: "We don't take too kindly to anyone who nearly kills a policeman."

Ironically, Molloy, who is head of the sheriff's reserves, had been called from his sleep that night to assist Pelham police in searching for a nine-year old who had been reported missing from his home in Hunter's Glen. He had just checked a gameroom on U.S. 31 for the boy when he responded to the Alabaster call. (The missing boy was later found asleep on two chairs under his parents' dining room table.)

Montevallo city council gives nod to UM lounge

by David F. Moore

The Montevallo Council voted 3-2 Monday night in favor of a downtown lounge for UM students. The lounge will be a first in the city's history.

A throng of supporters and opponents packed the council chamber, sitting on the floor and standing outside in the hall. Before the council voted, about a dozen of them spent more than an hour voicing points of view on the issue ranging from a "landmark decision" to "this unleashed problem on the city."

Bob Ford, director of a Baptist student group on the Montevallo campus said allowing the lounge to open would be "a blot on the conscience" of the council. "Let (the students) go elsewhere to get this dangerous drug (alcohol)," he said.

Roger Smith, a Wilton resident with baby in arms, said that a personal decision on drinking can affect others. His child, he said, could be killed by a drunk driver coming from the lounge.

At a meeting last week, the Chamber of Commerce had voiced support of the proposed lounge. But Monday night, Rev. Thomas Mansell of the First Baptist Church said only five members of the chamber had attended that meeting. He also pointed out various ways alcohol had ruined lives.

On the other hand, UM student Jamie Achin pointed out that people need to make their own decisions on matters of the freedom to decide for themselves.

The lounge is planned as a private club for UM students, faculty and alumni, and will be located in the basement of the former Smitherman Drug location. The request was first made in February by Montevallo businessman James Frazier, but action on the issue has been postponed twice.

Monday night Frazier told the council that approval of his request would be a landmark decision for the town, and he asked them to take "an objective view" on the question.

Pointing out that the lounge would help the town's economy, and noting that students had died in car accidents returning from nights on the town in Birmingham, Frazier said, "We need to keep our people here for safety and financial reasons."

Frazier also pointed out that Montevallo citizens voted 2-1 in favor of going wet in 1972, and their vote swung the decision for the entire county.

UM student Duncan Draper said the decision on the lounge shouldn't be one of ethics or morals because "that was decided when the county voted wet."

Other proponents pointed to the town's liquor store and beer stores, saying alcohol was already available, but there was no place to go to drink and socialize.

Councilwoman Catherine Smitherman, who eventually cast drinking, and they should have the swing vote, asked if the council would be able to exercise strong control over the lounge. Mayor Ralph Sears told her

> The motion to accept Frazier's proposal was made by Councilman Johnnie Holsomback and J.A. Brown seconded it. Smitherman voted in favor of the request and Billie Lacey and Grady Parker voted no.

> The decision brought rounds of applause from the students, but the three council members voting favorably were lambasted afterwards by opponents of the lounge.

> "I have to try to represent as many folks as I can," Brown, holding his ground, told one resi-

> "It wasn't an easy decision," Holsomback admitted to the Reporter. "But Montevallo voted to go wet and carried the county. And I have to try to represent the majority of the people."

Smitherman said she was convinced the city would be able to exercise strong control over the lounge, and that she wanted to express her confidence in both the students and the business community.

MPD Chief Allen Needham said he anticipated no problems to stem from approval of the student lounge, but that if any did occur, they could be handled. He also said that his department does not pick up as many drunk student drivers as it does drunk nonstudent drivers.

Point of view

In the packed Montevallo council chamber, city resident and UM student Duncan Draper (standing, center) expresses his point of view on having a lounge in town: "We're not asking for a place to throw a drunk. We want a place to sit down and socialize without going to Birmingham." Sitting at the left in coat and tie is James Frazier, who requested the private lounge.

Nazarenes have eyes on future

Although the clothes they wore Sunday were from a bygone era, the congregation from the Nazarene Church in Columbiana have their eyes on the future.

In celebration of Old Fashioned Sunday, ladies wore long dresses and bonnets to church and the men wore bib overalls. But next Sunday the church is planning to take a step forward as they talk to Rev. and Mrs. O.W. Wilson about serving as youth ministers.

The church has been directing its efforts toward the youth lately since Sunday School attendance has risen 50% during the last

Other plans for the youth include the construction of a softball field and volleyball court with a tennis court to be added at a later date.

Burton says that besides growing in numbers, the church is also experiencing spiritual revival.

Bygone days

It was time to remember the past Sunday at the Church of the Nazarene in Columbiana. Members dressed up in long dresses, bonnets and overalls and sang some of the old time favorite hymns as (Photo by they celebrated Old Fashioned Day.

For merit

Oak Mountain Park Director, Phil Easterwood presented Alvin McGaughy a certificate of merit Monday signed by Governor Fob James and park commissioner James McMillan. McGaughy, the building inspector for the city of Montevallo, built and donated a number of bird houses and feeders to the park.

Columbiana hassles with trailers

Nine Columbiana residents sent a petition to the city council, protesting two trailers being put in their neighborhood.

A letter from the families on old Hwy. 25 was read at Thursday's meeting.

When he appeared at the council's December meeting, Planning and Zoning Board Chairman, Hilry King, recommended that certain areas be designated for mobile homes.

The areas he named wer e along the Butter and Egg Road, the middle school road and Shelby Road.

However, King's recommendations have never been put in the form of an ordinance.

So the council's policy is still to tion wanted to know why. It was the opinion of some council members that the trailers would not be occupied.

Expressing surprise, Mayor Buck Falkner said he did not know the trailers were there, but promised to contact the owner for an explanation.

There had been some opposition last year to hiring someone for the sole purpose of pumping gas for city vehicles.

But the majority of the council had felt it was the best way to keep tabs on the fuel and Willard Cross had been hired to perform that task. He worked two hours a day, five days a week and was paid $4 an hour.

However, now that he has retired, the panel decided to check with cities who use a key system which registers how much gasoline each department uses.

Until a decision is made, Alvin Satterfield, who was present at the meeting, volunteered to take over the job.

Montevallo adopts city code revision

unanimously revised its city code Monday night.

Mayor Ralph Sears called the code the "organic basis for the functioning of the city," and noted that ease of amending the code was one its beauties. That's apparently good, because several amendments were suggested before the meeting was adjourned.

The city's water board is expected to set new regulations in the near future and these rules will require changes in the water section of the code. City administrator Don Hughes and councilman Grady Parker urged that the code be adopted as is, and amended at a later date when the water board has its new regulations.

Fire Chief Mike Mahan said

The Montevallo Council there were also questions concerning fire regulations in the new code. Sears and Hughes said this could also be worked out.

Montevallo attorney Steve Sears authored the 115 page code and its 34 page appendix. Sears took on the project in the summer of 1980.

The code, he said, consolidated the long list of ordinances the city has always operated under, making the laws brief and readable. "I'm not surprised there were attempts to amend it almost before it was adopted," Sears told the Reporter. It's designed to be easily amended."

"We have adopted what I think is a necessary and viable document," Mayor Sears told the council. "I think we've done a good piece of work tonight in respect to this."

In other action:

•The council tentatively accepted the low bid of $13,339 from Clark Tractor and Equipment Company of Brierfield for a tractor and grass cutter.

•At the suggestion of Councilwoman Catherine Smitherman the council set a joint meeting of the finance committee, the gas board, and the industrial development board. The three groups will meet this Monday at 7 p.m. to study setting up a 12 member board to help prepare the city for potential industrial growth, and to seek more aggressive means of attracting new businesses.

•Chief Mahan told the council he was rewriting the mutual-aid argeement Montevallo has with Shelco because the neighboring department has upgraded its equipment. If the council passes the new agreement at its next meeting, both departments will be able to provide more assistance to each other in the event of a major fire, he said.

·Mahan also said he attended the last Wilton council meeting to explain the new mutual-aid agreement with that town. He pointed out Montevallo will respond only to calls inside the Wilton city limits, which does not include the new Wilton post office.

·Jaycees John Horton and Henry Lucas were told the city would waive the normal $1200 license for a carnival if they brought one to town. However, the councilmembers said such projects in the past have proved more trouble than they were worth. ·Hughes recommended that the council review all city expenditures and that all departments exercise conservative spending. He said that financially the city now stands "fairly well" since backpayments from the sales tax had recently come through from ·Mayor Sears instructed Hughes and Steve Sears to draft tentative ordinances and license schedules to cover lounges. These will be reviewed at the next council meeting. (See related story.)

DID YOU KNOW?

Since 1970, Alabama Power has spent over $366.7 million for environmental protection.

That's about $370 per customer over the last twelve years. Protecting the environment is an important → but expensive—undertaking. It's a cost of doing business these days and part of the reason for higher electric rates. We also are required to file 600 reports each year with some 30 governmental agencies.

GOP dinner scheduled

Shelby County GOP Chairman David Bradley, announces final plans for the fund raising dinner to be held Saturday, March 27 in Riverchase.

Dinner chairman Earl Hall of Pelham stated U.S. Congressman, Albert Lee Smith and Mayor Emory Folmar, probable GOP candidate for governor, will be the speakers at the event.

Smith is a native of Birmingham, a graduate of Auburn, and a veteran of the U.S. Navy. While building a successful career in the insurance industry, Congressman Smith was active in the Republican Party. He is also active in the Southside Baptist Church and volunteers support for many organizations in the Birmingham area.

Emory Folmar was born in Troy and was graduated from the University of Alabama in 1951. During the Korean War he was highly decorated, earning the Silver Star, Bronze Star, and several other awards.

Formerly a shopping center builder, he became a member of the Montgomery City Council in 1975. In 1977, Folmar defeated 46 opponents without a runoff for the position of mayor. He was unopposed in his reelection

Public offices up for grabs

Courthouse observers find themselves talking politics and candidates these days, as interest in the summer election campaigns begins to take shape.

Voters will have the opportunity to cast their ballots for a large number of public offices this year, as several of them on the county level will be open for elec-

The Reporter compiled a list of the local offices that will be on the ballot, so that interested readers might start considering the options, or might decide to run for one of the offices themselves.

House of Representatives: Four year term, $400 monthly year-round plus $10 per day salary and $55 per day expense allowance when in session. District lines for the House and Senate were changed last fall, but a court case is challenging them. They must be approved also, by the U.S. Justice Department. Given below are the districts and incumbents for the present districts in Shelby County.

Incumbents are: District 51. J.T. (Jabo) Waggoner Jr.; District 52, Otis H. (Sonny) Moore; and District 53, Curtis

Senators: Four year term, $400 monthly year-round plus $10 per day salary and $55 per day expense allowance when in session. Incumbents are Doug Cook, District 17 and Lister Hill Proctor, District 18.

REPUBLICAN PARTY: Three representatives on the county executive committee, no salary, candidates can run at large in the county.

Incumbents are John Sellers, Ray Ledbetter and David Bradley.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY:

Six representatives each from six beats (1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6) on the county Democratic executive committee, no salary. Can begin qualifying June 5 and have two weeks from that date. (According to Teddy Brasher, Chairman of Shelby County Democratic Executive Committee, he and secretary/treasurer Myra Davis will be at the courthouse for people to qualify on July 9. Cut-off time will be 5 p.m. that date)

Senator laments economy

by Senator Howell Heflin

If laid head to foot, Alabama's unemployed workers would stretch from the Gulf of Mexico to beyond the city limits of Birmingham -- 278 miles of unemployed.

This shocking illustration shows conclusively that Alabama is in the grips of a serious unemployment crisis. The latest unemployment figures show a Place No. 2 Incumbent: jobless rate of a staggering 14.7 percent. There are 245,000 people who are out of work in Alabama.

Among the major Alabama industries currently affected by staggering unemployment are manufacturing, construction and primary metals -- steel and aluminum specifically. These industries all tie into areas of the economy which are extremely sensitive to high interest rates -automobiles, housing and durable goods.

Some parts of the state are suffering from an even more severe economic crisis. A dozen counties in Alabama have jobless rates of more than 20 percent and 25 counties are experiencing unemployment rates of 17 percent or higher.

History has shown that the Federal Reserve Board does react to presidential persuasion concerning interest rates. I have urged the President to take immediate steps to bring about a change in the Federal Reserve's tight money policies which are pushing interest rates up.

Calera told 'no'

The state's attorney general has ruled that the City of Calera cannot legally assist the Heart of Dixie Railroad Club.

The city asked for a ruling on the matter when the non-profit Railroad Club asked for city help in site preparation. The city would have had to use city equipment and personnel to haul and level fill dirt for the site.

The city also asked the attorney general a second question, 'Can the City of Calera purchase railroad rails from federal surplus property and lease or sell the rails to the Railroad Club?"

Both questions were answered by assistant Attorney General Carol Jean Smith in the negative. She quoted section 94 of the 1901 Constitution of Alabama as the source for her opinion.

The Alabama Scene

by Bob Ingram

If you remember the early days of television, you may remember a TV show that... like a shooting star... burned brightly for a couple of seasons and then faded into anonymity. It was called "That was the week that was", quickly shortened to "TW-3." It sort of capsuled the events of the week in a satirical fashion.

A dandy re-run of that show could be made of the week that was in Alabama... the President of the United States made an historic visit to Montgomery but because of incredibly tight security, very few people saw him in the flesh... later the same day the President's son danced in a ballet performance at a Montgomery high school, but he too was as isolated from the press and the public as had been his father.

Then there were some sideshows attendant to this event. In the middle of President Reagan's speech, State Rep. Alvin Holmes, the short, stocky black activist in the Legislature, dramatically walked out of the House chamber

Give teachers

their pay raise

Letter to the Editor:

There has been quite a bit of discussion as to a pay raise for our school teachers. I, for one, would like to go on the record as being in favor for the pay raise.

There is an old saying that fits this situation quite nicely "you get what you pay for." I feel that all children should be able to receive the best education possible and if this means a pay raise for the teachers then by all means give them one.

One point to ponder: When did you receive your last raise?

I know some people can't face food in the morning. But for years and years, I used to feel it was necessary to get something in my stomach before I could start the day.

Then I came to the conclusion that by eliminating that meal I could shave some calories off my daily intake, and the result would be lost pounds.

But recently I've noticed a lot is being said about eating a good breakfast if you want to reduce.

The theory, I guess, is that you're not supposed to be as hungry the rest of the day.

A magazine article really turned me on when I read that I could lose 10 pounds in a week if I'd eat three meals a day using the menus they listed. But when I looked at the food, I decided I couldn't go that route.

The author insisted that any food dislike could be overcome. But somehow, it didn't seem sensible to me to force down food I didn't like, when the whole point was to eat less. But I did start eating breakfast

Letter to the Editor:

It took January's ice storm for the Alabama Power Company to wake up.

Finally after years of neglect of power lines, they finally started clearing the lines. Even with the help of local citizens, their work was still sluggish. Our area was unfortunate because it took one week before our power was restored.

I do not understand the high prices of electricity. Where does all the money go? If they have a budget, why don't they stick to it, instead of surprising us with higher prices?

Another matter discussed by the board was presented by Jail Administrator Lt. Wayne Lucas. He related that Sheriff Buddy Glasgow wanted the eligibility (BFOQ). Lucas told the board that females cannot be hired as corrections officers since one of their duties is to strip search male prisoners when they return from work details. And radio dispatchers have to be females, he said, because they look after the women prisoners.

Comparing the ratio of male and female prisoners, Lucas said that there were generally no more than five females and between 90-100 males. If the communications equipment is moved to the administrative section of the sheriff's department at some future date, then, Lucas said, there would be a need for female corrections officers and a man could be a dispatcher. But with the present arrangement, the board agreed that separating the lists would be a sensible idea. Board secretary, Betty Rayfield, was asked to perform that task and to bring the lists to the next meeting.

Lamenting that they couldn't split their business between two local dealers, the Shelby County Commission awarded the contract for two cars to Strickland Chevrolet.

The transaction took place at Monday's commission meeting. When bids were opened on vehicles for the sheriff's department, it was discovered that the seat. A mild surprise of the Presiwith partisan as possible.

It now seems a foregone conclusion that the AEA will be triumphant in its efforts to get a 16 per cent pay raise for teachers despite strong opposition from Gov. James. The senate has approved a budget providing for the larger raise and it seems most likely the House will concur. The governor says such a raise would put the education budget into proration, but that would have no impact on teachers' pay -salaries cannot be prorated, they must be paid in full.

homes for the, well, birds. Only six weeks into their 16 week program, the company has sold $700 worth of cedar bluebird houses. That makes it the leader in sales among all the Junior Achievement chartered companies competing in Jefferson and Shelby Counties, and puts the kids, er, stockholders halfway to their $1,200 goal.

At the end of the project the partners split up the profits. Along the way, they get paid 40 cents/hour (officers get more) and will soon get a raise in commissions from 10 percent to 20 percent.

"Counting everything, I figure I'll make $80-$90," said top salesman Jon Tate, who has already sold $200 worth of bird houses.

The company is competing to send representatives to a national business competition this summer at Indiana University. Scholarships will also be available, and a company of the year will be named from Alabama.

Each student company is sponsored by a parent company that provides leadership through the first six weeks of the program, and lends money for the project. Woodstock is sponsored by Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

President Penny Wildman said that beside money, each JA company earns points for publicity, such as being first to buy advertising (see page 15) or finagling your name into the paper.

"We're learning how to spend money and how hard it is to run a company," said Wildman, a sophomore at Pelham High.

"We're learning how businesses work and the cost of running them," Tate, the vice president of marketing said. The Pelham tenth grader added, "It's also good leadership training."

Garbage collectors told Shelby County Commissioners Monday that they were feeling the pinch of inflation.

The three companies that have franchises in the county asked the commission to approve a $1.50 rate increase. But no action was taken on the request.

The $5 per month fee being charged now is for once a week curb service.

Commissioner Don Murphy said the people in his district wanted twice a week pickup, but not at double the rate.

He advised trying to get more business when Klean Kounty owner Wayne Archer said he only had 1,200 customers out of a potential 5,000.

But he was told efforts in that direction had been largely unsuccessful.

If the commission didn't want to go along with the rate increase, the sanitation service owners suggested discontinuing the fees they have to pay at the landfill.

According to Archer, his landfill fees range between $1,700-$1,800 a month, making it $660 for the remainder of the necessary for him to tack an extra year. 75 cents on to his customers'

He made the point that it is unfair for professionals to pay for landfill use while individuals can haul their own garbage there free of charge. Commission Chairman Tommy Snowden mentioned that there might be a reduction in the fees that sanitation companies have to pay, but there was no response to that suggestion from any of the commissioners. The only rate increase the commission has approved for the companies with franchises in the county came three years ago. At that time the fee went from $3.90 to $5. The other sanitation service represented at the meeting was BFI, who has offices in Birmingham.

They have only been in the county three months, and agreed that the rate increase is needed since they have to drive a greater distance to reach the Columbiana landfill instead of going to Helena.

Shelby County might be headed for a court case to defend the boundary lines of its four county commissioner districts.

On Monday commissioners again heard David Bradley, chairman of the county Republican party, urge them to re-district the county so that each commissioner would represent 25{ of the people in the county.

The three Democrats on the commission refused to go along with the plan he submitted, and no one would second a motion made by Republican commissioner Don Murphy to do so.

Bradley said if they did not like the map he submitted two weeks ago they should come up with a redistricting plan of their own.

Frances Phelps, a member of the Wilsonville City Council also urged the commission to redivide the county so that each commissioner would represent the same number of people.

As it now stands, District 3, Murphy's district, has over 40% of the voters, and District 4, Alph Lowe's district, has only 8.85%.

But Commissioners Lowe of Vincent and Jake Morris of Wilsonville pointed out they have to run county-wide, and consider

Care Fairs to promote health awareness

Two Care Fairs are scheduled for Shelby County next week. The fairs are organized to provide health screening and medical consultation for the public.

The fair in Montevallo will be at Myrick Gym on the University of Montevallo campus from 9 to 3 on Tuesday, March 30.

In Columbiana the fair will be held at the Methodist Church the next day, March 31, from 9 to 4.

Height, weight, vision, blood pressure, oral screening, counseling and referral will all be offered free to everyone 18 years of age and older.

An optional blood chemistry test will also be available for $8. It will test 22 body functions. Those who want this test should not eat or drink anything except water and any prescribed medicines for 4-12 hours beforehand.

In the Montevallo area, people who want free transportation to the Care Fair should meet at one of the following places:

Pilgrim Rest Baptist Church, Almont, 9 a.m. Enon Baptist Church, 10 a.m. Montevallo First Baptist, 10

Everdale Baptist, 11 a.m.

Shiloh Baptist Church, 1 p.m. Mt. Olive Baptist, Wilton, 2

The transportation is being provided by Rev. David Adkins and the Montevallo Ministerial Association.

In order to surprise their pastor, the congregation moved the annual event up a Sunday and invited members of his family from out of town to participate.

Twenty five of them showed up to join the congregation in a pastor's appreciation day.

Haymon has served the church four years and according to member Bill Syphurs, "He's preached 500 sermons and never repeated a one."

"He's always there when you need him" Syphurs continued, "and of all the good pastors I've had in 36 years, I'd put him up against any of them."

There were ten children in Haymon's family. Eight were present Sunday, along with his mother. Photographs dating back to the childhoods of Haymon and his wife were put up on the wall for members of the congregation to see following the service.

After the words of appreciation and musical tributes, the congregation adjourned to the fellowship hall for a covered dish luncheon.

Army performs at Pelham

The excitement in the Pelham High School stadium was infectious Wednesday as students jumped up and down, clapped, and cheered.

It wasn't a sporting event that elicited the enthusiastic response. It was the sight of a Cobra helicopter zooming over the field as the 14th Army band played "Star Wars."

"Everbody went wild, including me," Birmingham area recruiting commander Capt. Andres Iturbi told the Reporter.

The helicopter maneuver was one of the events that students watched in connection with the school's first Army Day.

School officials said the purpose of the event was to renew an interest in patriotism and to make students aware of opportunities available to them.

In a letter sent out from the school, it noted that the military provides extraordinary opportunities to learn valuable skills, earn college credit, and obtain benefits while receiving a salar y.

Although a skydiving exhibition scheduled for Wednesday afternoon had to be canceled due to the weather, students were shown equipment and techni-

25th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Scott celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Sunday, March 21.

About 25 friends and family members attended a surprise celebration which was given in their honor at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Randy and Christy Scott of Alabaster. Their daughter, Lynn, also had a hand in organizing the party.

"We were just shocked to death," said Mrs. Scott. "We had no idea our son and daughter were going to pull this off." J.D. Scott is a native of Pelham and the couple now lives

On any given week in the spring the Reporter's classified page carries from a half dozen to 20 yard sale advertisements. For the avid yard sale browser, the listing forms a weekend social itinerary.

To see what makes for successful yard sales, the Reporter decided to follow up on some of the listings in a recent issue of the

As luck would have it, this reporter had to search no further than the first yard sale visited-er, make that basement sale. The answers were found in Deerings Downs, Helena.

Twice a year Donna Weselius, Tommie Icard, Rita Ray, Nan McFarland, Patty Thorpe, Sherri Hughey, Racheal Falls, Susan Bagley, Jeanne Riddles and Terri Meier all get together for what has become known as the Semiannual Whirlaway Garage

Their sale on March 19 and 20 raked in some $650.

Their reputation has earned them repeat customers. One man even came prepared with a pickup truck which he backed to the basement door to load his $140 worth of small purchases.

While several of the women hit me up to buy a $2 brief case, a portable rod and reel, an aquarium to practice casting, and a pair of $65 cowboy boots ("They're a real steal at $12 even if they don't fit!"), I asked Donna and Rita to explain their apparently successful tricks of the trade. This is what I got:

1) Be organized. Plan ahead. Clear a space in the basement. Have all items clearly priced. Ask your husband before you sell his magazine collection or golf clubs.

2) Make the prices reasonable. This helps build your reputation for bargains. Remember, people will buy anything that looks like a good deal.

3) Advertise. Put up posters at schools and grocery stores. Take out a classified ad in the newspaper. Put signs up at strategic intersections to let people know you're having the sale and how to get there.

4) This is important-be a little crazv.

Other ideas, especially if you plan to have sales again, is to offer coffee and provide a "free box." The "free box" is for those items NO one would ever pay for. But don't underestimate what another person might consider is worth a quarter.

Rita, with great pride, recalled that she once sold a Service Merchandise catalogue for 25 cents.

To help keep your neighbors from running you off, be sure and take down your signs after the sale, the women said. To keep from getting arrested, ask at your quired. (These can usually be obtained for 50 cents or so.) What are the hottest moving city hall if a yard sale license is re-items these days in yard sale circles?

"People come in looking for nothing but clothes--you wouldn't believe it!" said Rita. "It's unreal. It must be because of the economy." She went on to say that children's and baby's clothes are the top sellers.

Bear in mind that most yard sale browsers are women. When men come, the Whirlaway bunch said, they go mostly for tools. One man who wanted to buy something at their sale couldn't, because his wife wouldn't lend him 20 cents.

If you hold a sale on Friday and Saturday, you can usually expect a larger crowd on the first day because people want to get there before all the tables and racks are shopped over. People also tend to come fairly early, the women said. By mid-morning Friday, they had 50 people milling about the basement.

As for timing, Terri said that despite the good spring turnout, September-November and January are the most profitable months. In the first case, people want to buy gifts for Christmas, in the second case they want to sell unwanted gifts they got.

Many people, the women said, take on yard sales as a hobby. They've even seen some people buy things from them, then turn around and sell the articles at their own sale for a quarter more.

When giving a sale with other people, be sure and get friends that you really like. The going may get hectic, even crazy, and you'll need to support each other. Then again, if no one shows up, you need to be with someone you like talking to.

"It's a great oportunity to get together and be silly," Terri said.

"We've had a ball!"

"The best part is dividing up the money," said Donna. "We're greedy-we like the money! But we do have a charitable streak, too. We're donating a lot of the things we don't sell to the Pelham PTO yard sale on April 17." Soon it became apparent that I'd never escape with my paycheck intact. I had to turn down the size 7 cowboy boots. But what the heck, I thought, I can always use a $2 brief case.

Bargains are irresistible.

band contest

High School bands from all over Alabama will compete in the University of Montevallo's 6th Annual Invitational Concert Band Contest Friday and Saturday, March 26-27.

Awards will be given for the best band in each class. In addition, an overall best band will be chosen.

Ten judges for the event are Howard Nicar, Peabody School of Music, Vanderbilt University; Walter McDaniel, University of Tennessee at Knoxville; and Dr. James Croft, Florida State University.

A performance by the UM Student Wind Ensemble, under the direction of Spencer Shaw, will close the two-day event, Saturday at 6 p.m.

Three bands from Shelby County will compete: Calera High School, Montevallo High School, and Pelham High School.

Alabaster firm

wins award

Alabaster Industries has been honored as one of the best suppliers by Specialty Advertising Association International.

The award came at the 1982 winter showcase of the association, held in Dallas. More than 8,300 registrants viewed the variety of products available for use as advertising specialties.

Alabaster Industries was hailed as being among the best in performance and overall service in its volume classification of Association supplier members.

The manufacturing firm in Alabaster makes plastic insulated coffee mugs, ice buckets and tumblers, and other items. It is one of Shelby County's major employers.

SAAI represents more than 2,600 firms involved in the manufacture and sale of advertising specialties.

Homemakers meet

in Columbiana

Janice Gordon presented the program at the March meeting of Columbiana Extension Homemakers Club.

Her subject was "Colors" and she showed how to choose colors in clothing which will be the most flattering to the individual.

She gave each member an opportunity to be draped in fabrics of various colors until the correct colors were found for her particular type. She illustrated her talk with color charts.

According to publicity chairman Cleo Barden, "Club members feel they now have a chance to improve their appearance...and are indebted to Janice for the program she presented."

The club president, Polly Morris presided at the meeting.

School sets theme for Spring Fling

A country western theme will dominate at this year's Spring Fling, the annual outdoor family affair sponsored by the Valley School PTO.

One of the biggest fund raisers for the school, the event is scheduled for Saturday, March 27, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

According to publicity chairman, Janet Roberson, there will be games for children, local live entertainment, a school wide yard sale, arts and crafts with Easter items and prizes throughout the day.

She suggests, "Put on your country or western duds and come join us for a day full of fun." Rain date is scheduled for the following Saturday.

What Does Jesus Teach... About Himself

Heb. 9:16-17, For where a testament is, there must of necessity be the death of him that made it. For a testament is of force where there hath been death: for it doth never avail while he that made

For Christ's covenant to become effective, he had to die. In Christ's death we see the "Vanishing away," Heb. 8:13, of the old law, Christ "having nailed it to the cross." Col. 2:14. In Matt. 16:18-19 Jesus said. "I will build my church," and again, "I will give unto thee the keys to the Kingdom of Heaven." He stated his future plans, knowing he was not, at that time, ready to implement

In Matt. 28:18-19, Jesus said, "All authority (power) hath been given unto me in heaven and on earth." Matt. 16 is before his death and Matt. 28 is after his death and resurrection.

Before his death his testament could not be in force, nor was the Mosaical law taken out of the way, but after his death, the Mosaical law being removed made the way clear for his covenant.

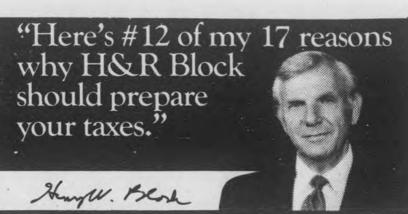

We must know the importance of these things. Many have drawn false conclusions because of their lack of knowledge and understanding of these simple truths.

We invite you to come and study with us!

A warm welcome awaits you at the Church of Christ at South Columbiana.

The long-proposed highway linking the county seat with north Shelby County may finally become a reality, thanks to the new state windfall profits.

off ahead of him on a breeze...

"We are getting better reviews on the road now," said Columbiana Chamber of Commerce vice president Dr. Charles Thornburg.

"As it stands now, money that would be allocated under normal conditions will be handled under the oil lease money," he said, adding that the increase in funds will help not only with the preliminary survey but with drainage and grading work.

The proposed highway is at the top of the Columbiana Chamber's project list along with the city's sewer system. According to Chamber secretary Buddy Wyatt, Chamber members will work with the city council to do everything they can on the sewer project.

Other current projects of the Council are an information booklet on the community and more interesting programs for monthly metings held each second Tuesday.

According to Wyatt, there was a low turnout at the March meeting due to AEA holidays. At this meeting George Bentley was appointed to the industrial committee. He will work with Bobby Thornburg to try and get new industry for Columbiana.

Other officers for the year are president Jim Strickland, and treasurer Mike Atchison.

Committee chairpers ons are: finance, Mike Atchison; publicity and public relations, Marie Atchison; retail, Ludie Grantham; industrial, Bobby Thornburg; governmental, Charles Thornburg; membership, Katie Robert-

Chamber members are asked to help on at least one committee. Persons wishing to participate in any area of special interest may contact the specified chairperson.

The group is planning a Chamber banquet for some time in the spring.

THE ARMY COLLEGE FUND OFFERS $15,200 FOR TWO-YEAR ENLISTMENT.

If you'd rather start college with the money to pay for it than finish college in debt, it could pay you to consider two years in the Army.

If you participate in the Veterans' Educational Assistance Program (VEAP), the money you save for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if you qualify, the Army will add up to $8,000 on top of that.

That's $15,200 in just two years.

Falcons share Spring Classic title

University of Montevallo Falcons are champions of the UM Spring Baseball Classic - but this year they have to share the role.

Montevallo and Illinois Benedictine College each finished the tournament with 5-1 records and are thus co-champions of this year's Classic. The Falcons and IBC split with each other, while both defeated Northern Kentucky University and Lambuth College twice.

Montevallo lost to IBC 5-4 in nine innings before coming back to win 8-2, downed Northern Kentucky 13-6 and 17-5 and beat Lambuth 11-4 and 9-1. The game Montevallo lost to IBC began on finished until Saturday after- than they were last year.

For the third straight year, the noon, as a heavy fog rolled in and suspended the game in the ninth inning.

> The Falcons put on their hitting shoes during the tournament, averaging 10.3 runs and 11.3 hits per game.

Especially destructive with the stick was sophomore first sacker David Bailey of Brent, who batted .450, socked four tremendous home runs, and drove in 12 runs. Bailey leads the Falcons a .452 average and 24 RBI.

"I'm pretty pleased to have a share of the title; I guess half a loaf is better than none," admitted UM coach Bob Riesener. "This was the best all-around field we've ever had, and Illinois Benedictine is a fine, fine Wednesday night and wasn't ballclub. They are much better

"I was extremely pleased with our hitting; it was awesome at times. I hope we can keep it up. Our pitching is a little unsettled right now, but it's a young staff and it's going to get better as we go along." The Falcons have twinbills this week with Baldwin-Wallace College on Friday and then the real "meat" of the schedule arrives. March 26 against Baldwin-

Wallace will be "Cap Day", with free souvenier UM baseball caps to be given away.

Montevallo will host one of Illinois' top teams, St. Xavier College, in double headers on Mar. 29 and 30, then hit the road for the first time to Birmingham-Southern College on Apr. 3 and Livingston University on Apr. 5, both double headers.

Turkey hunters' group expands

The sport of wild turkey hunting has a new outlet of information. The Professional Calling Association of America has been formed by Ben Rogers Lee.

Lee, five time world turkey calling champion, established the organization dedicated to the serious turkey hunter and provides many opportunities for the professional and amateur turkey hunter.

Activities of the new organization will include bringing about a coordinated effort between the turkey caller, hunter and the equipment manufacturers for the benefit of all.

'Jake and Jennie' is a youth program promoted by the calling association.

A Hunter Host Program has also been established to provide hunters who do not have the money or means to hunt turkey in other states with an opportunity to do so by being hosted by hunters in other states.

Hosts are expected to provide limited guide service and lodging. The visiting hunter is expected to pay for his transportation, hunting license fees and bring the necessary equipment. Matching up turkey hunter hosts will be a

The new organization is also involved in calling championships throughout the United States. Memberships are available by writing the group at Box 28, Mansfield, Pennsylvania,

College career ends for UAB's Donnie Speer

by Richard Crosby

The year ended a little too early. Donnie Speer wanted a trip to the Superdome and a chance at the NCAA title. Louisville changed that dream last Saturday morning.

Speer's career ended as the UAB Blazers lost in the Mideast NCAA Finals. But his four years at the Birmingham school have not been as forgetable as he might wish last weekend's game County sports fans will remember him well when he reigned at B.B. Comer. He was playing during the reign of Thompson's great teams. In 1977 and '78, the Warriors kept the Comer great from showing his talents in Tuscaloosa, by knocking his team off in the area finals.

That didn't lessen Speer's chances for scholarships, though, being one of the first state athletes to be signed by Bartow for the fledgling UAB pro-

Jubilation shows on Donnie's face as the win over Virginia becomes apparent during the final

His duties for the Blazers have been varied, from sometime starting job, to an off-the-bench exciter as came about last season when he began sharing center duties with Norman Anchrum. In that game, Speer came from the bench, scored immediately from the side of the key, got the ball next time down the court, drove inside for the layup and got the three-point play. He ended the game with 10 points, two rebounds, one blocked shot, one steal and played 16 minutes. The Blazers upset the nation's third ranked team

The loss last Saturday was disappointing for Donnie, but he didn't think it would take long till he could start smiling again. He's got a lot of work

One of his first considerations is his school work. An art studio major with a minor in political science, Speer has no thoughts of coaching. "I could always change my mind, but right now I don't think I would like to coach." What then?

"I have great hopes for professional ball," the 225 pound center revealed. "I won't know anything till after the NCAA tournament, but I'm UAB's Donnie Speer comes down with another rebound against Virginia before a full house in Birmingham last Thursday night. The senior center scored 10 points and helped to spark the Blazers'

UM's Davis takes NAIA reins

The national NAIA president resides in Montevallo. Dr. Leon Davis, athletic director at the University of Montevallo, took over the presidency of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics during that body's national convention in Kansas City during the AEA holidays.

Davis will assume his duties on August 1. In his acceptance speech, Davis said his two main objectives were to gain more visibility for the organization and to help involve more members in the NAIA activities.

NAIA members include 515 institutions with more than 76,000 athletes. Davis has played an active role in the NAIA since the late 1960s. He has been a member of the executive committee since 1975, and became fourth vice president in 1979, a position which led to his election this year as president.

Davis is not the only UM faculty member serving the NAIA. Five other staff members are currently serving in various NAIA

Elder reviews cage season with praise

For the second year in a row, that's ever happened. We did the University of Montevallo men's basketball team came within an eyelash of reaching the NAIA District 27 Playoffs. The Falcons' 6-6 record in district play left them one game behind Birmingham-Southern in the standings for the fourth and final playoff spot, and 'Southern went on to win the district title and participate in the NAIA National Tournament.

Despite that disappointment, UM coach Dr. Bill Elder had to admit he was rather pleased with his team's performance throughout the 1981-82 season.

"I've got to be pleased with the record we have, especially in our conference and district," Elder remarked of his charges' final *19-11 mark. "Even though our district winner didn't do too well in Kansas City this year, I still think we've got the toughest district in the NAIA, and to have a winning record in it is a fine accomplishment.

"We had our 13th straight winning season, and the third-most wins in the school's history. Early in the year, we were ranked among the top 30 or so in the country, and that's the first time

Little league coaches and dads defeated high school coaches and staff during the last six seconds of a basketball game last Friday night. Bobby Madison drew a 2 shot foul, and made both buckets to put the score at 56-55 with one second on the clock.

The Columbiana Youth Club sponsored the basketball game last week at the Shelby County high school gym.

During the first period the little leaguers took the lead 14-8. Then. in the second period the scroe was tied 32-32.

The high school team recovered the lead during the third period and held it until the final seconds.

have a real good record before the holidays (10-1), but then we got into the heart of the schedule against conference and district teams, and it just got very difficult to win."

The only thing Elder was proudest of, however, was simply his team's effort all season long.

"I can honestly say this is the shooting well, made it a good first time in a while I believe our team played up to its potential," he reflected. "For the most part, I don't believe ourguys could have played any harder for a whole season as they did this year. That effort, plus our defense which kept us in some ballgames when we weren't year. Talentwise, we just didn't match up with most of our opponents."

"We have a nucleus of good players who are also good people to work with returning, but we do have two problem areas we have to shore up," Elder pointed out. "We must improve our outside shooting and our rebounding.

"Word got around that you couldn't match up with us in quickness, so we saw no man-toman defenses most of the year; nothing but zones, and we didn't hit well over them (46.6% shooting for the year).

"I also believe we finished last in the conference in rebound margin and next-to-last in the district, so we're looking to recruit at least one outstanding rebounder who can help us control the boards better.

"If we can settle those two problems, with the players we have coming back, we could have the potential for a great season next vear."

Sports Scribbles

by Richard Crosby

Ran into former Thompson basketball star, and UAB Blazer alumni Glenn Marcus at the coliseum last Saturday.

While waiting in the corridor to talk with Donnie Speer, Glenn commented that he missed playing his favorite sports, but was looking forward to graduating soon and coaching.

Marcus was drafted last season for pro basketball in the eighth round, but failed to make a squad.

Saturday night, Montevallo will honor its wrestling team, and girls and boys basketball squads with a banquet. The honor night will commence at 5:45 in the Montevallo Room at the University of Montevallo.

Coach Mark Lovett is also considering a spring banquet for his basketball team and other spring sports. It would be a first for Calera to have a banquet other than for football.

Dave Houser was the subject of an interview last Monday night on Metrospect, a University of Montevallo produced public affairs program. The show was taped in February when Houser was in Birmingham on a promotional tour.

Ripping out the last few pages of the notebook..... The Blazers finished their season with a 25-6 record. They won 33 of 35 games at home in Birmingham over the past two seasons. A winning streak of 12 games was broken by Louisville. No one called me for dinner last Saturday. Despite some hunters bragging in Calera last Friday night that they would need me to take their picture the next afternoon, no one showed. Seems like that wily-ole-bird isn't as foolish as some folks thought.

Stay tuned....

by David F. Moore

One of the busiest "employees" at Harbert International's Riverchase headquarters is named Henrietta.

At least that's what she's called by a number of the engineers and other employees who from time to time have her do a job for them.

But the operators and programmers who work directly with Henrietta, don't call her that. They call her "the computer," because that's what she is--a Honeywell 2030 computer.

Harbert computer manager Mary Ann Vann postulates that many people in numerous fields who deal indirectly with computers from fringe positions, have a tendency to try and personify the machines. It seems to be a way of accepting something that's less than human, yet at the same time performs humanistic functions, such as "thinking.".

For example:

The astronauts in the classic science fiction movie and book "2001 - A Space Odyessy," have an onboard computer called a HAL 3000 (a name derived by moving back one alphabetic character from the letters "I" "B" and "M"). The astronauts talk to the computer, call it Hal. and treat it as a member of the

Another example of computer personification can be noted with the automatic (the word "computerized" is shunned here), outdoor bank tellers that came out in the mid-seventies. Because a computer-shy public was being asked to deal with these machines on a one-to-one basis, and to trust their money to them, banks hired advertising agencies to sell the idea of the tellers to their customers.

As a result, these early automatic tellers wore brightly painted faces and were given endearing names such as "Tilly Teller" in Atlanta, and "William Teller" in Birmingham.

The whole idea is to make people feel comfortable with com-

In 1967, the Reporter installed computerized IBM typesetting equipment. But in the fall of 1979, when reporters began to compose stories directly onto Compugraphic MDT 350 word processors, this writer tasted first hand the intimidation factor many people feel when first working with computers.

A nice way to put it is that a certain reluctance was experienced when it came to touching strange buttons on the computer's keyboard. After all, one can't be too cautious when punbuttons maked "EXECUTE." However, once accustomed to writing on a hightech machine, the same reporter now agrees with a statement made by Harbert computer operator Carol Ann Dunbar:

"People tend to love computers once they get used to

As might be expected in a company with over $500 million in revenues (in 1981), Harbert's Honeywell performs a virtual phalanx of jobs.

To keep employees of Harbert and its dozen or so subsidiaries happy, the computer runs 900 to 1000 paychecks per week. Besides merely figuring and printing the checks, the computer also makes monthly pay reports and keeps running tabulations for W-2 pur-

Dunbar says the computer's repertoire also includes running monthly financial statements for 22 companies; printing 150-200 checks per week for accounts payable and keeping backfiles on them at least to 1975; printing monthly insurance reports; printing excavation grids and other tasks for engineers; and calculating and printing 150-200 page bid estimates for multimillion dollar projects around the world.

Furthermore, the computer keeps equipment inventories. It cannot only tell if a certain bulldozer is currently in the Sinai or in South America, but if its oil needs changing, too.

"If a guy's mind can do it, a computer can do--faster," Dun-

Although programmed to perform other tasks, Harbert's Honeywell was installed in 1974 as an accounting computer. As such, manager Vann estimates that Henrietta does the work of perhaps 40 accountants.

Shelby County currently uses a Burroughs 1726, located in the annex at the courthouse According to the county's data center department head Ken Robinson, the Burroughs keeps land files, and produces abstracts and assessment sheets; registers vehicle tags, prints receipts and keeps vehicle tax reports; prints privilege and business and boat licenses; maintains voter registration files; produces poll listings; indexes deeds and mortages; and runs bi-weekly and monthly

Programs are currently in the making for a budgetary accounting system that will computerize the county budget. Furthermore, Robinson says an inventory system for vehicles, parts, labor and gasoline is being added for the highway department.

The county's third computer in about a decade, the Burroughs went operational in May of 1980. It is leased for $7000 per month. Its one meg memory capacity (one million bytes, or characters of memory) is only about 60% full, Robinson says, so it should be good for several more years.

Besides the director, the data center also employs one operator, two programmers and two data entry clerks, as well as a part time consultant. But with 21 remote terminals throughout the courthouse keyed in to the main computer, several county departments have access to the

"To err is human...but to really mess things up, you need a computer!" reads a card on the wall of at least one local computer room.

Although this may be common thinking, Robinson says computers are usually unfairly blamed and made scapegoats for someone else's mistake.

Robinson won't say computers are absolutely incapable of making mistakes. But he does say that 99.99% of the time, chances are the mistake is of human origin.

As Carol Ann Dunbar puts it: "Computers only do what you tell them. You tell them wrong, and they'll do it wrong."

"The computer is only a dump piece of equipment," Robinson

Which is maybe why computers don't answer when you call them, even by first name. But don't worry, electrical wizardry is working on that problem right now--and a lot of other things, as

So stay tuned. The world of computers is just getting cranked

To be concluded in a future issue of the Reporter.

one woman play

"Miss Margarida's Way," a one-woman show starring Pam Middaugh, will be presented at the University of Montevallo Thursday-Saturday, April 1-3.

Written by Brazilian playwright Robert Athayde, the play recently toured the nation starring Estelle Parsons. "Miss Margarida's Way" is set in the classroom, yet is a political work which examines the different ways to look at authority gone mad. The play is for an adult au-

Ms. Middaugh has appeared in a number of Birmingham Jewish Community Center productions. Her roles have included Nellie in "South Pacific," Irma in "Irma la Douce," Grandma Tzeitl in "Fiddler on the Roof," and Maria in "West Side Story." She has also appeared in a number of UM productions, local radio and television commercials, and other theatre-related work.

The production begins at 8 p.m. in the Chichester Studio Theatre in UM's Reynolds Hall. Admission is charged and seating is limited.

Jerry Nesmith and Tram Norris of Cahaba Valley recently received Allstate Insurance Company's Life Millionaire Award for achievement in the sale of life insurance.

Both men joined the company in 1971. They work out of the sales office on Montgomery Highway at Pelham.

Social Security reps schedule local visits

Human Services will have representatives in the county during April, May and June to answer questions concerning social security.

They will be in Columbiana at the Community Services Building each Tuesday, except national holidays, from 10 a.m. until 12

The schedule for Calera is the third Thursday of each month, except national holidays. The time is also 10 a.m. until 12 noon at City Hall.

Persons wishing service by telephone may call 252-6300 from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. every day except national holidays.

The Social Security Administration points out that one of the advantages of social security is that monthly retirement benefits are not taxable.

Persons can earn up to $6,000 this year and still get full monthly payments if 65 or over. If under 65, they may earn as much as security office.

The Department of Health and $4,440 for the year and get full monthly payments.

The Administration also reminds persons getting monthly social security checks that records at Social Security must be kept

If a person moves, gets married or divorced, or goes to work, he should notify Social Security as soon as possible. In fact, any change in income or living arrangements must be reported, even if it does not affect the amount of the social security

Persons applying for a social security card for the first time, need to show documentary proof of age, identity and citizenship, or proof of legal entry to this country. A birth certificate is the best evidence of age and citizenship. Proof of identity should include a picture, signature, date of birth, or other identifying information. If 18 or older, persons must apply in person at any social

Deb Dickerson says stalks from early corn in his big garden make an excellent shade for young, tender plants when placed on the wire covering in his vegetable bed. Such beds are ideal for persons with limited space or limited time, according to Dickerson.

SMC administrator named to Heart post

Roland Bradford has been appointed the 1982 Development Chairman of Shelby County for the American Heart Association.

Bradford who is administrator of Shelby Medical Center said, "My past relationship with the Association has made me aware of the goals they have reached. The association has spent its contributions for research, education and community service programs. This is one of the factors that I want the citizens of Shelby County to be aware of... their contributions will benefit their

Chelsea gardeners plant in metal beds

by Shelba Nivens

E.D. "Deb" Dickerson and Roland Pugh put their heads together and came up with a vegetable bed that will last.

A lot of people build such beds with crossties or planks which eventually rot. But the two Chelsea gardeners built their beds with metal.

They each used two sheets of galvanized metal 45 feet long. Old used roofing tin will also do, they said.

Pugh built his bed long and narrow so he can stand on the ground and reach across to gather vegetables. But, Dickerson built his 38 x 7 feet.

"The wider it is, the more you can grow in it," he pointed out, adding, "If I grow it, I can climb up in the bed to gather."

Dickerson said he filled the bed in layers, using first ten inches of leaf mold, then two dump truck loads of top soil, three pickup loads of rotten sawdust, one pickup load of barn yard fer-filizer and topped it off with 100 pounds of ag lime.

When it rains, the water seeps down through everything, mixing the nutrients, he noted. Dickerson built a top over his vegetable bed, using cedar posts and wire. With cornstalks or such laid across the wire, this makes a great shade for young tender plants which are easily blistered by the sun, he said.

He also pointed out that shaded plants do not have to be watered as often as those right out in the sun.

Last summer, recalled Dickerson, cucumber vines grew up the wiring and supplied needed shade for other plants.

According to Dickerson, small, running plants do much better in vegetable boxes because in the open field they get dirty and are hard to work.

The two Chelsea gardeners agree that one of the best things about growing vegetables in boxes is that they do not have to

County students win first place awards

Students from Pelham, Thompson, Montevallo and Shelby County High Schools all won first place awards at a recent district VICA competition.

Eight students from the Shelby County Area Vocational Center took part in the events sponsored by the Vocational Industry Clubs of America.

In the graphic arts division, Mike Martin of Pelham took first place, Keith McGurie from Thompson was the top student in residential wiring, Reburn Dailey of Montevallo did the best job in the small engines category and Doug Horton from SCHS was the ace student in appliance

A second place award went to Chelsea student Eddie Foster for

Methodist bishop will speak at Columbiana Lenten service

Birmingham area Bishop Frank L. Robertson will visit the Columbiana United Methodist Church for the first time Sunday

The service at which the United Methodist bishop was asked to speak is one of the congregation's observances of the Lenten

Before he brings the evening message, Bishop Robertson will join church members at a fellowship meal.

A native of Georgia, Bishop Robertson came to Birmingham two years ago from the Kentucky Conference.

Continuing the tradition of holding Holy Week services each day at noon, Columbiana Methodists have added evening revival services this year.

And speakers at both services will be former pastors.

Holy Week begins April 4.
